Revival of Trade.

Reports from the United States support the view that trade interests have vastly improved recently and that the business outlook for the future is encouraging. This will be welcome news to the people of Canada, since our own trade interest will be stimulated and improved. In nothing has this improvement been shown in a more marked way than in the increased sales of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. Times being dull everything not absolutely needed became a luxury and its sale became stationary. Now it is different. Sales have increased vastly, doubtless as it has proven the only safe, sure and painless remedy for corns, and wise people will use no other.

The Breath of the Pines.

Coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, sore throat and lung troubles are cured by Norway Pine Syrup. Price 25 and 50 cents. It breathes out the healing virtues of the pine forests.

Fashionable Combinations.

The colors used in combination this season are pink with green and heliotrope, green with purple, deep purple with ragged sailor blue, fawn with red, pale reseda and yellow. Now, fashionable as such color blendings are, they prove anything but becoming or attractive to behold, especially on women of sallow complexion, and these seem most apt to select them, or else it is the disastrous effect of the trying mixture on the majority of faces. Many "neutral" women can wear most becomingly cream serge or soft, white flannel; neither need they eschew pale tints of fawn, silver blue, brown, beige, reseda and the like, but they must choose with discretion. The depth of tone that is favorable to one woman may prove unbecoming to a sister between whose complexion and her own the difference is but slight. A good sized piece of material and its trimming placed near the face is a better method of deciding than the advice of a friend.

Plaid Summer Waists.

UNTOLD MISERY FROM RHEUMATISM

C. H. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consulted the best physicians, visited Hot Springs, Ark., three times, spending $1000 there, besides doctors' bills; but could obtain only temporary relief. My flesh was wasted away so that I weighed only ninety-three pounds; my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the muscles being twisted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, except with assistance, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was assured, by the doctors, that I could not live. The pains, at times, were so awful, that I could procure relief only by means of hypodermic injections of morphine. I had my limbs bandaged in clay, in sulphur, in poultices; but these gave only temporary relief. After trying everything, and suffering the most awful tortures, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Inside of two months, I was able to walk without a cane. In three months, my limbs began to strengthen, and in the course of a year, I was cured. My weight has increased to 165 pounds, and I am now able to do my full day's work as a railroad blacksmith."

OILING THE SEA.

The Wonderful Effect on Enormous Waves A Curious Sight.

One of the most curious sights at sea is that of an oil-bound ship.

Every up-to-date ship carries oil-tanks, the quantity varying with the size of the vessel. For instance, a steamer of 150 tons burden carries on an average sixty gallons of oil. This oil is the refuse discarded by the oil-refining factories and often consists of a mixture of whale-oil, petroleum and vegetable oil. It costs about twopence a gallon, and a large sized vessel can be well supplied for twenty shillings.

The oil is stowed in spacious zinc tanks, arranged in the hold of the ship to act as ballast. Each tank contains fifty gallons of oil, and an ingenious mechanical tap arrangement connects the tank with the outside of the vessel.

If a dangerous gale arises and the ship becomes unmanageable and likely to founder, the sluices are opened and twenty gallons or more of the oil is allowed to escape into the sea.

The effect is instantaneous. However, stormy the sea may be the vessel lies in a gently heaving millpond. There is no further danger of foundering, and the oil moves along with the vessel for some time, often half an hour, after which it breaks up and disperses. The ship must slacken speed a little, and more oil is let out from the tanks. Enormous waves may bear down on the ship, but on approaching the magic oiled circle they seem to melt away and pass harmlessly beneath the vessel.

Sailing vessels are not so often furnished with oil-tanks as steamers. It is estimated, however, that over 200 vessels have been saved from shipwreck by means of the oil-tanks since they were introduced a few years ago. It is only in case of absolute peril that the tanks are resorted to.—London Answers.

Improvement in Paper Dishes

Notwithstanding the decrease in the cost of china and earthenware dishes for the last few years, the paper dish industry has easily kept pace, and with recent improvements in manufactures the latter is becoming a strong competitor. The latest feature in this line is a process of plating or coating dishes and utensils made of pulp, to make them resemble china, silver, etc. The aim of the new process is to enamel or plate the paper pulp dishes with a substance as effective as the best used in crockery manufacture, and at the same time very inexpensive. This substance is procured from waste silk. Defective cocoons and those containing a double end, waste made in winding waste procured from the silk factory, sweepings from the silk mill, and, in fact, anything pertaining to silk wastes are utilized. The waste is gathered, dried, cut up, ground and then dissolved. Some grades of pulp, especially that made from the white woods, have but little affinity for this silk waste enamel; this is remedied by first dipping the dishes into a bath of strong sulphuric acid, after which the plating "sets" all right. If the liquor is from the waste silk direct a sort of silvery and glossy tint is procured and the plating is very beautiful. Any shade is made available, however, by the use of dyes. After the articles have secured the enameling the usual finishing processes of tableware follow, thus completing the goods for the market.—New Ideas.

"Have tried others, but like Ayer's best" is the statement made over and over again by those who testify to the benefit derived from the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Disease never had a greater enemy than this powerful blood-purifier. It makes the weak strong.

The Latest Fashions

DRESSES FOR SCHOOL GIRLS.

A Few Simple Fabrics and Styles Suitable for Them.

One of the most difficult problems for dressmakers and mothers is the dressing of the young daughter in her teens. Too often she appears to have been left out of count by dress designers, consequently she is painfully in evidence in an ill fitting frock. There is really a very subtle grace in her unformed figure, which artists recognize, if modistes do not. Here are a few of the season's materials and styles for school girls: The forms for young girls are a modification of the dress of adults, but there is a choice. Certain of the season's models suit them better than others. The blouse, for example, and not the basque; the skirt loose from the lining and full; the flenus; the loose coats, all these look well on girls whose figures are not yet formed. And the profusion and variety of ribbons ought to make the girl glad, for so far as I know her particular penchant is ribbon.

Among the colors in vogue those that seem most suited to youth are the blues and greens. Violet, with its moral analogies leaning to sadness and experience, gives an impression not quite in harmony with young life. Ecru looks well and a gown of ecru batiste on a girl, over brown, with brown ribbons, looks refined and well bred. White goes, of course, and white over color, but not white and black, writes a Paris correspondent.

Alpaca among the materials has its advantages; it is durable and cheap. On aesthetic grounds, personally, I find it detestable; it is wiry and stiff, and much less agreeable than than canvas, woven wool or serge. Crepon does not suit the young, but veiling bei.g simple in weave becomes them well; shot taffeta is too complex, but there is free choice of taffeta plain, checked or plaided, which become them to a charm, as does also taffeta flowered, provided the pattern is simple. And nothing is more delicious on young girls than a taffeta made up with sheer white muslin embroidery, say a fichu of the muslin tied behind with short ends, or a sleeveless Russian blouse of the muslin, low-necked, and making a transparency over the silk. Printed foulards make admirable gowns for the school room, while dotted Swiss muslin has so girlish an expression that old women in it even look young. The girl of from 12 to 17 whose gowns are made by the home seamstress and sent to her at school, cut by measurements of some eight months back, stands even chances of being dressed either in the fashion or in a fit. The seamstress should choose the sort of model that does not depend for its chic on a careful fit and that can have its borders easily enlarged by the improvised maid. The present fashion of putting a ribbon band round the foot of the skirt should not escape her, for such a band can be lowered at a pinch. Sashes are now made by quilling the ribbon at one end of the belt instead of adding on a separate bow. By quilling I mean plaiting the ribbon along one edge into a ruffle, which is formed into a rosette and from which the ends fall. Such a belt is easily enlarged by letting a quill or two out. The neck ribbon is similarly arranged.

New Street Costumes.

One of tobacco-brown serge had a round waist, with full basque made separate and confined to the narrow gilt belt. The sleeves had large puffs of handsome taffeta silk and there were a full vest, large collar and flaring cuffs of the same material, edged with very narrow gilt braid. A brown chip hat was ornamented with a square of a darker shade, woven basket fashion and pleated up so as to make four sharp points, standing some six inches above the crown; loops of golden-brown Dresden ribbon, showing nasturtium colors and two small tips of the same brilliant shade, completed the trimming. The gloves worn with it were of light brown, with black stitching.

Another dress, of brown broadcloth, was cut Princess and had a yoke simulated by velvet bands, which had a pretty narrow design in lighter braid put on either side of it, and under each arm a conventional design commencing some four inches above the waist and reaching six inches below. The sleeves were leg of mutton made quite full, but drooping; there were flaring cuffs with braiding finish. Brown gloves with dark stitching and a brown hat with a wreath of beautiful green leaves finished the costumes.—Georgia D. Russan, in Womankind.

What you want when you are ailing is a medicine that will cure you. Try Hood's Sarsaparilla and be convinced of its merit.

ABOUT THE LIVER.

A lazy, slow or torpid liver influences the whole system, causing biliousness, sick headache, sallow complexion, languor and dullness. Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the liver, purifies the secretions and cures all forms of liver troubles. We say so and here is the proof:—

I hereby wish to thank you for the great benefit derived by me from your Burdock Blood Bitters. For three years I was troubled with liver complaint and tried everything to no purpose. I had almost given up hope until one day I determined to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I can say now that marked improvement resulted from the use of the first bottle and at the end of the sixth bottle I discontinued its use, being completely cured.

AN EXCEPTIONAL SALE.

St. John is Much Interested in the Recent Medical Discovery.

St. John, N.B., July 20.—The many cases of marvellous restoration to health from various forms of kidney trouble which have been constantly appearing in the daily press of the Dominion have for some time awakened the liveliest interest here, and the remedy by which the cures were effected namely, Dodd's Kidney Pills are obtaining great celebrity throughout the province. The appearance of the testimonials of Drs. Rose and McCormick stating the benefits which they had personally derived from their use was considered a sufficient sign of the merits of the remedy, and the other interesting and wonderful cases which since been chronicled had caused the specific to have an exceptional sale.

INUNDATION IN B. C.

The Columbia River Rises Higher Than Ever Before. Lardeau City Presents a Venetian Appearance.

Vancouver, July 21.—The Columbia River has broken all previous records in height of water. Last Wednesday the water began to go higher, and the 1894 mark was topped by two inches. At Revelstoke large quantities of brush, with wire and rock, had to be used to prevent the bank from going into the turbulent waters. Down the river towards Arrowhead the water is over the track in several places, and has submerged many of the ranches. At Arrowhead the water covered the station platform. At Hall's Landing and neighborhood the ranches of several people—including Messrs. Adair, Helstrom, Bourne Bros., Vickers, Lovell, Corsir and Mesley — have been covered wholly or partly and their crops, mostly potatoes, badly spoiled. The water is also well up to the bridge on Cranberry Creek, and an effort is being made to save it. Hall's, and Boyd's, and Hugh Ross' places were, when reports were received at Revelstoke, in danger, but the water would have to rise two feet higher before reaching the houses. All along the Arm the water has encroached hard upon the shores, and at Thomson's and Johnson's has done damage and caused considerable inconvenience. At Lardeau City the water covers the face of the earth, and entry is made into the hotel by canoe. In Fish Creek the water was almost to the top of the bridge, which was endangered. At Trout Lake the water almost reached Hume's store. The bridge is reported safe. On the Big Bend trail bridges have been carried away, also on the Illecillewaet.

The Arrow Lake branch of the C.P.R. is closed to traffic, until the water subsides and bridges are repaired.

USED BAYONETS AGAIN.

Unruly Strikers Have to be Brought to Time at Cleveland—Mr. Brown Makes an Offer.

Cleveland, O., July 21.—On good authority it is understood that Mr. Brown of the Brown Hoisting Works has informed the State Board of Arbitration that if the men will return to work as individuals they will be granted the right of representation by committees of craftsmen. This would be a concession on the part of Brown to the locked-out men. The soldiers on guard about the works last night were compelled to use their bayonets to suppress some unruly strikers who tried to interfere with non-union men.

IN MEMORY OF BURNS.

Dumfries, Scotland, En Fete in Honor of the One Hundredth Anniversary of the Scottish Poet's Death.

Dumfries, Scotland, July 21.—The town was decorated and en fete today upon the occasion of the centennial anniversary of the death of Robert Burns, the poet, who died here July 21, 1796. There was an enormous procession in the forenoon, in which delegates from Burns' clubs in all parts of the world participated.

The procession, which also included thousands of Scottish shepherds and ploughmen, marched from the Auld Brigg to the Mausoleum, where the body of Burns lies. Here the delegates were received by Lord Rosebery, and they laid wreaths upon Burns' grave. After this ceremony there was a public luncheon, at which Mr. Forrest Macahoe of the New York Scottish Society responded to the toasts of the delegates.

SUCH IS THE HAND OF FATE.

Mr. William Cantelon Lived 90 Years to be Killed by a Train.

Clinton, Ont., July 21.—This afternoon while the 4 o'clock train from the west was passing Holmesville, a flag station, three miles west of Clinton, it struck Mr. William Cantelon, who was standing on the track, killing him instantly. Mr. Cantelon was 90 years of age and one of the pioneers of Huron.

We Can Settle The Hat Question.

"It's a Dead Sure Thing." The next seven days will make a big hole in our Hat stock, and settle the hat question. There's bustle to this business. THE ROYAL WEDDING

Another Tie Between England and Denmark.

ALBERT EDWARD, PRINCE OF WALES

Gives Away Another of His Charming Daughters in the Chapel Royal at Buckingham Palace—The People Show Their Good Will Toward the Royal Youngsters.

London, July 22.—The ceremonies attending the wedding of the Princess Maud of Wales to Prince Charles of Denmark to-day were most impressive. The Prince of Wales gave his daughter away.

A cavalcade of heralds and equerries escorted the bridegroom, who was accompanied by his parents, the Crown Prince of Denmark and Princess Louise, and his brothers Christian and Harold.

The Prince and Princess of Wales and all of the Queen's children, with their families, were in carriages, except Princess Beatrice of Battenberg and her children, who were absent on account of their mourning for the death of Prince Henry of Battenberg. The Queen passed quietly into the chapel from Buckingham Palace. The ceremony took place at 12.30 o'clock. The weather was sultry and in every way pleasant.

Princess Christian and Harold supported Prince Charles, and the bridesmaids were Princess Victoria of Wales, sister of the bride; and Princesses Ingeberg and Thyra of Denmark, sisters of the bridegroom; Princess Victoria of Schleswig-Holstein, Princesses Patricia and Margaret of Connaught, Princess Alice of Albany and Lady Alexandra Duff, daughter of the Duke of Fife and Princess Louise of Wales. The Most Rev. Edward White Benson, Archbishop of Canterbury and Primate of all England, officiated, assisted by the Bishops of London and Winchester. The Prince of Wales gave the bride away.

After the ceremony the bridal party and guests partook of luncheon in Buckingham Palace, at the conclusion of which the Royal bridal party, headed by the bride and bridegroom, left the Palace in carriages for Marlborough House. The party left the Palace at 2.45 p.m., and took the route via Piccadilly and St. James-street, both of which were beautifully decorated. All of the houses were draped with flags, bunting, etc., and there was a profusion of flowers. The streets were lined with sightseers and the windows of the clubs and other buildings along the route were filled with people, mostly ladies.

The bridal couple afterwards left Marlborough House for St. Pancras Station, where they took a special train for Wolferton, Norfolk, to take possession of Appleton Hall, which will henceforth be their home.

Among the wedding guests were the members of the Cabinet and the members of the diplomatic corps. Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone occupied the same pew with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain during the ceremony in the Chapel Royal. Vast crowds lined the streets and cheered the bridal procession as it was returning from Buckingham Palace to Marlborough House, the London residence of the Prince of Wales.

Princess Maud's bridal gown is of ivory satin. Royal customs differ from those of plain folk in that they permit a wedding gown to be cut decollete and with short sleeves. About the square decolletage are soft folds of mousseline de soie, delicately entwined with trails of the proper bridal flowers, which are orange blossoms, jessamine and myrtle, with an occasional glossy dark green leaf.

At both front and back the satin of the bodice is drawn in folds to the left side, where it forms a deep ceinture elaborately embroidered in silver and brilliants.

The sleeves are short puffs made of sheerest white chiffon, with lines of the bridal flowers drawn down between them. The skirt is, of course, plain, and hangs in deep, lustrous folds. About the bottom is a deep rouche of chiffon, with the trio of delicate flowers. The train is part of the skirt and is four and a half yards in length. It is fastened at the left side with bows of chiffon and trails of the fresh flowers.

Another departure from ordinary custom is the wearing of the bridal veil away from the face, as royal brides are privileged to do. It is of rarest old lace, and was very becoming.

ST. GEORGE'S MATCH

Was the Feature at Bisley Butts Yesterday.

CANADIANS MADE GOOD SCORES

Two of Them Got the Possible and Others Were Well Up—Seven of Our Boys are Eligible for the Final Stage in the Queen's Prize Match.

London, July 22.—The weather, which was clear and calm to-day, was much more favorable to shooting at Bisley than it was yesterday, and in the contest for the St. George's Prize at 600 yards, 24 men scored the possible 35. The Canadian marksmen did some excellent shooting, Weller and Neill each making 35, Ogg 33, Lieuts. Mitchell and Macdonald each 32, Ross, Munro, Bent and Langstroth each 31, Huggins, Hayhurst and Harp each 30, King, Armstrong and Spearing each 29, Crowe and Campbell each 28, Lavers 27, Mitchell 23 and Runions 20.

The St. George's Challenge Vase and Dragon Cup, competed for with the Martini-Henry rifle, in two stages, first stage distances 500 and 600 yards, number of shots seven.

The second stage is open to the highest hundred in the first stage. The distance is 800 yards, number of shots ten.

The first prize, the Vase, Dragon Cup, Gold Cross and £30, was won in 1894 by Staff-Sergt. King of the 45th Batt. of Canada. The ranges then were 600 and 800 yards. His score was 77 out of a possible 85.

The second stage is fired on Saturday.

The total scores in the first stage are:

	500 yds.	600 yds.	Total.
Weller	35	27	62
Munro	31	30	61
Huggins	30	31	61
Neill	35	25	60
Ross	31	28	59
Ogg	33	26	59
Armstrong	29	29	58
Macdonald	32	25	57
King	29	27	56
Mitchell, Lieut.	32	24	56
Campbell	29	26	55
Langstroth	31	24	55
Bent	31	22	53
Spearing	29	23	52
Mitchell, Sergt	23	29	52
Hayhurst	30	21	51
Crowe	28	23	51
Harp	30	20	50
Runions	20	26	46
Lavers	27	17	44

Scores of 58 will probably remain in for the second stage, which will be shot on Saturday morning. Seven of the team will thus be eligible, viz., Weller, Munro, Huggins, Neill, Ross, Ogg and Armstrong.

There was a strong wind against the marksmen at this range.

The 75 marksmen who tied at 82 in the first stage of the Queen's Prize yesterday, shot off the ties this morning. ... ut, Munro and Staff-Sergt. Lavers of the Canadian contingent were among the number. In the shoot-off they both qualified to enter the second stage. That leaves seven Canadians among the 300 who are eligible to fire to-morrow in the competition for Her Majesty's Guineas. The seven are Lieut. Munro, Sergts. Crowe, Mitchell and Lavers, Pte. Hayhurst, Campbell and Neill.

For the Martins Challenge Cup all the members of the team entered. The competition is open only to volunteers and to retired volunteers. Single entries. Seven shots at 200 yards, standing. The first prize consists of the cup and $15, and there are 110 money prizes ranging from £10 to £2.

The weather during the shooting was cloudy, and a strong cross wind was blowing. The following are the scores: Lieut. Mitchell, 12th Batt., 29; Lieut. King, 45th Batt., 28; Lieut. Weller, 59th Batt., 28; Lieut. Munro, 44th Batt., 27; Lieut. Ross, 13th Batt., 26; Capt. Spearing, 53rd Batt., 25; Lieut. Ogg, 1st B.F.A., 25; Sergt. Lavers, 6th Batt., 25; Staff-Sergt. Harp, 48th Batt., 25; Pte. Langstroth, 74th Batt., 24; Major Macdonald, 48th Batt., 24; Pte. Campbell, 45th Batt., 22; Sergt.-Major Huggins, 13th Batt., 22; Sergt. Mitchell, 13th Batt., 22; Pte. Armstrong, 10th Batt., 21; Lieut. Bent, 93rd Batt., 21; Sergt. Crowe, 1st B.F.A., 20; Pte. Hayhurst, 13th Batt., 18; Lieut. Runions, 5th Batt., 18; Pte. Neill, 71st Batt., 16.

Lieuts. Mitchell, King, Weller and Munro are likely prize-winners, the highest score being 31.

For the Daily Graphic prizes the team did well. Major Macdonald won three ten guinea sketches and £5, and Lieut. Ross, who was 76th, £2.

In the Martins' list are seen Lieut. Mitchell, 23rd place, £3; Lieuts. King, Weller and Munro, £2 each.

In the fourth series of the Scurry Lieut. Ogg won £1.

In the fifth series of the Scurry competition, five shots at 600 yards, Staff-Sergt. Harp, 48th Highlanders, and Sergt. Crowe, 1st B.F.A., each won £1.

In the first stage of the Queen's Prize Lieut. Mitchell's score was 31, not 34, as given yesterday.

Some scores of 74 win prizes in the Queen's tyros. Lieut. Mitchell, who has 393rd place, wins £1; Lieut. Ross, Major Macdonald and Lieut. Ogg win £1 each.

In the Hepplestone competition, unsquadded, open to all-comers, seven shots at 200 yards, standing, first prize a double ejector gun valued at £35, and 20 prizes totalling £30, Lieut. Ross took 17th place, winning £1.

In the Steward, which has been in progress for three days, open competition, seven shots at 200 yards, kneeling, Lieut. Ross won £1 and Lieut. Weller £2.

In the Cooper-Cooper, an unsquadded open competition, seven shots at 600 yards, Pte. Campbell was 17th, Major Macdonald 21st, Lieut. Mitchell 30th and Pte. Neill 32nd, winning £1 each.

Lieut. Weller took eighth place in the "Regiment" competition, seven shots at 500 yards, and won £2 5s. Lieut. Mitchell, with 11th place, took £2.

The team was photographed yesterday afternoon.

A DESPERATE GANG

With Whom Preventive Officers Had to Deal.

THEY WERE WHISKY SMUGGLERS

When Pursued They Fired Volleys of Stones From Ambush and Knocked Officer Phoran Senseless—Drove His Horses Over a Cliff and Killed Them.

Ottawa, July 22.—(Special)—The Controller of Customs had to deal with an important whisky seizure case today, based on a report made to the department by Chief Preventive Officer J. Phoren of Sydney, one of the coolest heads in the service.

On Wednesday, July 8, Phoren grew suspicious of the movements of a small schooner hovering off Low Point, at the eastern entrance to the Sydney roadstead. In the evening he crossed the harbor, and, hiring a team, drove to the nearest landing place east from the Point, timing his trip so as to arrive on the scene after dusk.

It is one of the most lonely and bleakest spots on the eastern coast, and there sure enough was the schooner at anchor just off the beach, with every indication on board that the smugglers were at work in the vicinity landing her contraband cargo.

Officer Phoran and his assistant left their rig and made for the beach, but they had a desperate gang to deal with. From an ambuscade near by the smugglers poured volleys of stones upon the officers, and Phoran fell in the first round, unconscious from a terrific wound on the forehead. He was dragged to a farmhouse by the officer, rallied in half an hour, and at once telegraphed to North Sydney for assistance. But by the time the steamer arrived the smugglers had landed all the cargo except two small kegs of rum, and stowed it safely away. The schooner was seized and taken in tow to North Sydney, where she lies.

Two days afterwards the officers' team and rig were discovered. The smugglers had driven the horses over a cliff at the seaside, so that they were dashed to death on the rocks below. The wagon they dumped into a lake.

Such was the report of the incident made to the department, acting upon which Hon. Mr. Paterson to-day issued orders to have criminal proceedings instituted at once against several men near Low Point who are suspected of being members of the smuggler crew. The schooner will be sold, but will not fetch much at auction, being an old craft, which the contrabandists probably bought for the purpose, caring little if they lost her so long as they landed her cargo safely.

It is evident from this case that smuggling from the French island of St. Pierre to the coast of Cape Breton has not ceased to be a paying though still a hazardous enterprise. The preventive service along the coast is far more effective than it was 20 years ago, when smuggling whisky and tobacco was quite an industry among the coasters. But, with all the watchfulness of its officers, the customs of Canada is doubtless cheated out of thousands of dollars yearly in loss of revenue through wholesale smuggling from the adjacent French possession on the shores of Newfoundland.

It is said that in every constituency in Ontario in which a Liberal was elected by less than 100 majority or so, a protest will be entered by the Conservatives where ground for it can be obtained. The two seats for Ottawa will certainly be protested.

The Journal, speaking of the contemplated policy of the Conservatives, says: "'Cest magnique, perhaps, but certainly ce n'est pas la guerre—and if the protests are made and tried and result in new elections, The Journal will gamble on the prophecy that the Liberal whips will have to quit trying to keep Liberal members in Parliament on the right of the Speaker, for there will not be enough Conservatives left in the House of Commons to occupy more than the front row on the opposite side."

In regard to the complaint that the Martini-Henry ammunition of 1896, English issue, has failed to come up to the standard and caused trouble by the base of the shell pulling off the cartridge, it appears this issue of ammunition was imported from England especially for the rifle associations, and comprises half a million rounds. At the Militia Department the information is obtained that this consignment was procured in the usual way through the War Office authorities and must have passed the Imperial Government inspection.

Asked to-day as to the story of his standing for Saskatchewan on Mr. Laurier resigning the same, Mr. Paterson replied definitely that nothing had yet been decided in the matter and it was not certain which seat he would secure.

Mr. Laurier arrived here this afternoon from Montreal. He was preceded by an hour or so by Sir Richard Cartwright, who had been at Caledonia Springs since Friday. Sir Richard leaves for the West to-morrow night and will not return to Ottawa until after his re-election in South Oxford.

Chief Justice Strong is the only member of the Supreme Court at present in the city. For the first time on record the work of the court is completed up to date and everything is in readiness for the October list.

Mr. Andrew Burrows of Smith's Falls has completed a deal for the shipment of 2000 head of steers for France. There is no embargo on cattle to that country, consequently Canada is capturing a considerable share of trade. Mr. Burrows is also purchasing 5000 sheep for the English market.

Sir Charles H. Tupper arrived from Halifax to-day.

Hon. John F. Wood was in the city to-day.

Senator T. R. McInnis was busy round the departments to-day. He says that British Columbia is determined to have a Cabinet Minister and doubtless expects he position himself.

MENNONITE SCHOOLS.

Manitoba has other school problems than that affecting Roman Catholic Separate schools. Prominent among these is the training of the Mennonite children, whose parents for years insisted that they should not be taught English, and that they should be taught according to the peculiar tenets and beliefs of a most peculiar people. The work of introducing the Public schools has been both slow and arduous. At times failure has seemed to be inevitable, but within the last few years a section of the Mennonites has recognised the necessity of adopting new methods, and a more friendly feeling has consequently been displayed.

There are twenty-four schools within the Mennonite settlements that have come under the control of the Manitoba Government, few of these are kept open the whole school year, the rest from seven to eight months in the year. Two years ago there were only three or four schools kept open during the whole school year. In some districts school is still kept in rented rooms. Most districts have teacher's dwelling house besides a school room, and in all, except four cases are the two apartments under one roof. The majority of the schools still use the long, home-made seats or benches that were in use a generation ago, but they are being gradually replaced by modern patent school desks.

The attendance of the schools is very satisfactory in most districts, the farmers not shirking the trouble of hitching up twice a day during the cold winter months to bring the children to school in the morning and to take them home in the evening. English is receiving more and more attention. As an illustration of the progress made in this direction, two districts in which three years ago no English had been taught at all are to-day represented in the Gretna Normal by students who are intelligently reading the literature prescribed for second-class teachers. In another district, where the people a few years ago were so strongly opposed to the teaching of English that they would not have put their school under government control if instruction in English had been made compulsory, the trustees recently, at the request of the annual meeting, bought English readers for their school. Another study which the Mennonites have considered superfluous, and which they had well nigh banished from their schools, is geography. But this branch, too, is fast gaining recognition in the school curriculum, and there is now hardly a school that is not supplied with two or more wall maps.

Most assuredly the Mennonite schools are on the road of improvement, and this is pre-eminently due to the wise course the provincial government has adopted in dealing with them. If no disturbing factor enters the process of development, all true lovers of education will have the satisfaction of observing the Mennonite schools come into line with the other schools of the province.

A rumour is that the Liberals will shut down the printing bureau at Ottawa. It is hoped they will if it is proven that it is unduly and unnecessarily expensive. Economy is the watchword of the hour.

In 1871, when the first school board was formed in Liverpool, the number of children on the rolls of the public schools was 47,590. At the present time it is 97,696. In 1871 the average attendance was 72 per cent. of the number on the rolls. At the present time it exceeds 86 per cent. Even in those parts of the city where the children attend school under great and exceptional difficulties, on account of the nature of their surroundings, the average attendance nowhere falls below 77 per cent. This marked improvement has come about under free and compulsory education.

TALKS WITHOUT A TONGUE.

George Welch Had His Tongue Removed Because of Cancer, But He Can Talk and Taste Yet.

New York, July 12.—George Welch, a florist, living near Ramseys, is recovering from the effects of an operation which is looked upon by the medical fraternity as being remarkable. Because of a cancerous growth Welch was obliged to have his entire tongue removed, and although there is not a vestige of that organ left he is still able to converse almost as naturally as before the operation, and still retains the sense of taste.

Welch is an inveterate smoker, especially while working in his greenhouses, and often would smoke a stump of a cigar which he had laid down in the greenhouse a few days before. Several months ago he picked up part of a cigar and was about to light it when he felt a sharp sting on the tip of his tongue. Welch spat out what he thought was a small insect and finished his smoke.

In a few days his tongue began to swell, but he thought nothing of it, believing that the abnormal size of the organ was only temporary, but finally the pain became so great that he was obliged to consult a physician.

Welch was attended by Dr. William Blundell of Paterson, who, discovering that the tongue had a cancerous growth, advised him to see Dr. Weir, the eminent New York specialist. Welch followed this advice and was told that to save his life his entire tongue must be removed. He consented to the operation and came through it most successfully. Even the New York physicians thought that Welch's speech would be greatly impaired and his taste entirely destroyed by the loss of the tongue, but fortunately the operation had neither of these effects.

AN ALARMING INCREASE.

The Prevalence of Female Complaints Found to Result Largely From the Kidneys.

Saginaw, Mich., July 13.—Doctors are beginning to turn their attention more exclusively to the causes for the great increase of what are known as female complaints during the past ten years, and to the remedies for the same. Many cases have been investigated, and among others that of Mrs. Reasy of Ashland, Wis., who was cured of this form of trouble by the use of a kidney medicine known as Dodd's Kidney Pills, which originated in Canada, but has now become widely known and used throughout the Western States. This and other similar cases go to show that these troubles are largely due to the kidneys, and that the above mentioned remedy is likely to have a great effect in lessening the number of victims to this form of complaint.

CAUGHT IN THE SQUALL.

Rowboat Adrift on the Lake at the Mercy of the Storm—Alarm as to Occupants' Safety.

Toronto, July 23.

There is great anxiety among the summer residents at Victoria Park owing to the peril, if not death, of Miss Jennie Thompson, daughter of one of the park residents, and William Darby, a young man who was visiting the park. Last evening the two were out in a small rowboat, and at 5.30, when a sudden and violent squall came up, were nearly four miles out in the lake. Those on the shore became alarmed on account of a sailboat containing five persons, one of whom was Miss Thompson's sister, the larger party being near the missing boat.

Another boat was sent out, but the sailboat was brought in without difficulty. Then it was seen that the smaller boat was being driven out into the lake, Darby being unable to make headway against the gale, though he made gallant efforts to row to the westward. The squall from the northwest rapidly drove the boat out, and when last seen it was about seven miles from shore and drifting rapidly to the southeast. The rescue party, composed of Messrs. Gardiner, Long, Stansbury and others, followed the disappearing boat for four miles, but found their task hopeless, and were forced to return, finding it difficult to make their way back in the teeth of the gale, the lake being very rough.

The young lady's relatives were distracted, and her mother became seriously ill when informed of her daughter's danger.

Darby is a clerk in the employ of Shutcliffe & Sons, and lives with his mother at 73 1-2 Shuter-street. Mrs. Darby, when seen this morning, was waiting for her son to come home. When told of his danger she became hysterical and expressed the fear that he was drowned, as she did not think he could manage a boat.

At 3 o'clock this morning a dozen of the searching parties returned, but with no tidings of the missing boat. Beacon fires were burning on the cliffs of Victoria Park, and watching parties were still there. Mrs. Thompson was on the lake front, in company with Beach residents, and was in a very distracted condition. The general impression is that the young people are drowned.

KILLED IN THE WHEEL BOX.

Francis Belanger, Engineer of the Steamer Reliance, Accidentally Meets a Sudden Death.

L'Orignal, Ont., July 22.—Francis Belanger, engineer on the steamer Reliance, was killed yesterday afternoon while the boat was at the wharf getting ready to start for Ottawa. Through some misunderstanding of the captain's orders, Belanger was drawn into the wheel box and instantly killed. His head was smashed, one arm and one leg badly broken. A deck hand was slightly hurt trying to save him.

The verdict at the Coroner's inquest this afternoon was accidental death, no one to blame.

Belanger was buried this evening. He leaves a wife and two small children.

The big, hearty, healthy man is a continual irritation to his dyspeptic friend. Constipation is the root of nine-tenths of the sickness of men, and of a large proportion of the sickness of women. It can be cured easily, naturally and quickly. Nature is continually working as hard as she can to throw off impurities, and to force out poisonous refuse matter. When there is an impediment, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets set the wheels working again without any trouble. They assist nature in a gentle, healthful, efficient way. There is nothing violent about their action, and yet it is just as certain as if it were twice as violent. "You do not become a slave to their use." They are different and better than any other pill for the cure of constipation, headache and kindred derangements. Almost all druggists understand this, and are conscientious enough to tell you so. The druggist who tries to sell you a substitute is not a safe man from whom to buy medicine. Send 21 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

A New Pipe

FITTED WITH

which absorbs the hurtful acrid matter that accmulates in the ordinary tobacco pipe, and prevents the nicotine poison which produces most of the ill effects arising from smoking.

Sir Morrell Mackenzie,

the late celebrated English Throat Specialist, wrote the following opinion of Herr Pflunger's invention:—

DEAR SIR,—I think that Herr Pflunger's invention is a very good one. I have tried it and find that it answers well. The only suggestion that I can make is that it should have an additional mouthpiece which could be screwed into the proximate extremity of the pipe so as to make the stem twice the length it now is. This would lower the temperature of the smoke as it comes into the mouth. That the smoke should be cool is almost as important as that it should be free from acrid matters. You are at liberty to make whatever use of this letter that you may think fit.

Yours Truly.

UPRISING AGAINST TOLLGATES.

Farmers of Essex County Gently But Firmly Remove the Toll Takers and Burn Down Their Houses.

Windsor, Ont., July 22.—There was a popular uprising against tollgates in Essex County last night, and three of them, together with the residences of the toll takers, were burned down. It is said to have been the work of the farmers in the vicinity, some 18 or 20 or whom drove down, without any attempt at disguise or concealment, and in as orderly a way as possible turned the toll-takers out of their houses, removed the furniture to the side of the road, poured kerosene liberally over the floors and walls and applied the torch. The Essex tollgate was the first visited. It was burned down a few weeks ago, and had been rebuilt only a week ago. The building was said to be fireproof, but a liberal application of kerosene removed all difficulties in that respect, and it was soon blazing merrily. The incendiaries then drove to Maidstone, where two men were stationed. They used a beam as a battering ram on the back of the house, and before the third stroke the occupants rushed out and took to flight. When that building was ablaze similar action was taken in the case of the one at Old Castle, but in no case was anyone injured or any damage done to the furniture. There still remained one tollgate between the farmers and Windsor, but they did not go near it. The offence is punishable by imprisonment for life.

Vancouver, B.C., July 22.—The steamer Empress of India, which arrived here to day from Japan, brings an official list of the casualties in the late disastrous tidal wave, which swept over the northern part of the Island of Yezso, as follows: Deaths, 30,360; wounded, 6112; houses destroyed, 10,-962. Besides the above a large number of persons are missing. Five hundred and ninety-seven vessels of various sorts were swept away or damaged by the wave.

THOSE Q.C. APPOINTMENTS.

Sir Oliver Mowat's Course in Regard to Them Has a Point in It.

Ottawa, July 23.—(Special.)—In connection with the proposed cancellation of the recently-appointed Queen's counsel it may be pointed out that there is more involved than the mere rescinding of the act of the late Government. Students of Ontario politics know well that Sir Oliver Mowat has all along contended that the power to appoint Queen's counsel was vested in the Provincial authorities and not in the Federal authorities, but no action was ever taken to settle the point. The Federal Government has for years been nominating Queen's counsel and a few years ago Sir Oliver did the same and there the matter rested. One of the reasons, therefore, which have led the Minister of Justice to recommend the rescinding of the order in council is the point for which he has all along contended.

THEY ROBBED THE STABLE.

How Two Waterloo Young Men Got Themselves Into Serious Trouble.

Waterloo, Ont., July 22.—About 1 a. m. two bad young men of the town—George Reib and Herman Kalbfleisch, alias "Jesse James," forced an entrance into Mr. Holsworth's barn and stole therefrom his horse and buggy. The owner, on going to the barn in the morning, found the stable empty. He promptly reported the matter to Chief Flynn, who, in a short time, ascertained that the robbers had gone towards New Hamburg. Writing Chief Fraser of that town, a good description of horse and buggy, that official located the turnout in short order, and promptly arrested both parties. High Constable Klippert of Berlin has gone to bring the culprits to the county jail at Berlin.

Cocoa and its Uses.

We are wont to associate this new drug of wonderful medicinal properties with the grateful beverage of the breakfast table, but they are quite different in source and in properties. Cocoa is a most beneficent gift to the sick and suffering, as is attested by its rapid rise in estimation and the reliance now placed upon it by the most eminent practitioners in Europe and America.

Maltine with Coca Wine is the most reliable form in which the full medicinal value of coca may be obtained and the striking results derived from its use in nervous exhaustion, debility, weakness, or palpitation of the heart, warrant the high appreciation of its merits expressed by medical men who have used it in their practice. Maltine with Coca Wine is not a patent medicine, but a highly specialized pharmaceutical product, designed to cure disease in the only way disease can be cured viz., by helping nature. This it does by aiding digestion and assimilation. Sold by all druggists.

THEY STRUCK OIL.

This Valuable Product Was Encountered While Boring for Gas in the Vicinity of Leamington.

Leamington, July 22.—The Ontario Standard Oil Company have been exceedingly fortunate in striking a large flow of oil about a mile east of this town upon the farm of James Foster and Cornelius Quick. The country to the south and west of Leamington is rich in natural gas, and it has always been supposed that adjoining a field of natural gas will be found oil. The company have several gas wells in the gas territory and began testing the territory east of the town, ostensibly for gas, but anxious to strike oil, which would be a much richer fuel. In the Foster well they struck what must prove a good well. When they got through drilling there was a small flow of gas and at least a hundred feet of oil in the well. It was then securely capped and little was said, but that there was a small flow of gas, but when yesterday they finished the Quick well it was admitted a good flow of oil was struck. When drilling was commenced upon the Quick well a pipe was run about a mile and a half from the Foster well to supply them with fuel. The bursting of the pipe near Talbot-street, about a mile from the supply, let out the secret. Oil was gushing out at a great rate and a great pool was formed in a small ravine alongside the road, where barrels were going to waste. The pressure required to force this out of the Foster well to so great a distance shows that the well must be a good one. What is called shooting the wells will also greatly increase the pressure. The oil has been declared by an experienced oil man, who happened to be here to-day, to be far superior to the Petrolea oil and very much like that produced at the American wells. There is no doubt but that lots of testing will take place and it is supposed by those who profess to be experts in oil, that the territory lies to the east and northeast of this town.

New York, July 23.—Nicola Tesla, the electrical expert and engineer, was shown to day the published statement which was telegraphed from Buffalo, to the effect that he had discovered a method for successfully transmitting electricity long distances, and, being asked as to the truth of it, replied: "Yes, I did state that electricity can be transmitted long distances upon a commercial basis over a distance of at least 500 miles. I will stake my reputation and my life upon it. I only qualify it by adding that the amount of power transmitted must be quite considerable."

TWEED TOPICS.

Mrs. James Davenport Makes a Statement for the Benefit of Others.

Mrs. Davenport is well-known in Tweed, and this is how she spoke to our representative concerning Doan's Kidney Pills. Said Mrs. Davenport:—

"I have suffered for some years from dizziness, puffing under the eyes, pains in the side and back, sleeplessness, poor appetite, and, in fact, was in a bad state generally.

"I took two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at P. K. Newton's drugstore, and experienced immediate relief from their use.

"I am now very much better indeed; appetite improved, pain almost disappeared and I feel stronger and healthier in every particular.

"I can heartily recommend them to all sufferers from kidney trouble."

"JANE DOE" IS MRS. KNAPP.

The Woman Charged With Passing Counterfeit Coin Admits Her Identity.

New York, July 21.—Mrs. Mary Knapp, who has been "Jane Doe" since her arrest in Hoboken on July 1, for passing counterfeit silver dollars, in the Hudson County, N.J., jail acknowledged her identity to-night. She admitted that she was the wife of A. D. Knapp of Boston, with whom she parted last October. She said she had given the wrong name to save her family from disgrace.

Mrs. Knapp comes from a highly respectable family in Canada. One of her sisters is Mrs. W. H. Logan of Buffalo, the other Mrs. Joseph Fathers of South Cayuga, Ont., Canada.

A FATAL CLOUDBURST.

Ten Lives Were Lost in the Flood at Frankfort, Ky.

Louisville, Ky., July 21.—Reports from Frankfort, Ky., state that a cloudburst this morning at 4 o'clock on Benson's Creek, four miles from Frankfort, resulted in the drowning of James Bradley, a farmer, his wife and five children, and Mrs. Bryant, a widow, and two small children.

SEQUEL TO HER ARREST.

Alice Marjoram of Smithville Attempts to Turn the Tables and Makes a Serious Charge.

St. Catharines, Ont. July 21.—Last week the particulars of the arrest of Alice Marjoram or Smithville, charged with deserting her four-months-old babe, appeared in the papers here. Alice appeared before the judge, pleaded not guilty and her trial was set down for next Saturday. To-day there is another chapter of the story to be related. Colin McIntosh, husband of the woman, who laid the information against Alice Marjoram, and Reuben H. Tisdale were arrested by County Constable Frank Newton at Attercliffe last night. When Newton laid his hand on McIntosh, the latter uttered an exclamation, and said he knew what it was for. The charge against them is that of attempting an illegal operation, and Alice Marjoram is the informant. The girl claims McIntosh is the father of her babe, and hence her plea of "Not guilty," when charged with desertion. She merely left the child with him until she should call for it. The baby is a healthy little bundle of humanity, and is thriving at the McIntosh home. The family of Mr. Davis is going to adopt the youngster. The confederate of McIntosh is well known in Calstor. The prisoners will be taken before the magistrate.

HOG CHOLERA AT THE HUMBER.

One Hundred Animals Slaughtered and the Pens Disinfected.

Toronto, July 23.

In 1894 the Ontario Government established a piggery at the Humber, to be supplied with food from the refuse from the Central Prison, the Mercer and the Queen-street Asylum. Three weeks ago 100 new hogs were bought at the cattle market and taken to the piggery. A few days later hog cholera broke out, and, as a precautionary measure, the whole herd has been slaughtered and burned, and their pens have been disinfected.

At the public library at Macon, Ga., there is a barometer made simply of a thin strip of cedar and a thin strip of white pine, placed together and stuck perpendicularly in a base rest of wood. When it is going to rain, the strips bend down and when it is to be dry they stand rigidly stiff and straight. It is said to indicate coming storms unfailingly.

When the island volcano Krakatoe, at the northwest end of Sumatra, blew up thirteen years ago, destroying over 100,000 lives, every vestige of vegetable life was destroyed. An observer after the eruption found that what was left of the island was red hot. Four years later a naturalist found that the ashes had cooled enough to allow plants to grow, and that 246 different species of plants had started up, the seeds for many of which must have been blown across the surrounding water.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Sparks From the Wheels—Cinders for the Eye.

Montreal Gazette: Passengers passing through the Grand Trunk Railway yards at Point St. Charles have been inquiring about a short line of trestels which has recently been built. This marks the departure from the old way of distributing the coal supplies by carting, to the modern way of trucking in overhead cars. The cost of this new car line is not very great, yet the expense of handling the coal in this way means $30,000 a year less than by the old way. This is one of the many lines in which economy is being practiced in the Grand Trunk, and without in the slightest degree impairing the efficiency of the company's operations. The shareholders will be surprised to find that this single saving will nearly meet the new general manager's salary.

A startling rumour in railway circles yesterday was that the G.T.R. workshops at Toronto are to be removed to Stratford. While the rumour cannot be confirmed, it is pretty generally believed among the Grand Trunk employees that something of the kind is in the wind, and great uneasiness exists among the men employed in the shops. The Grand Trunk workshops employ a large number of hands, and those men who would be continued in the service of the company would be forced to remove to Stratford, while a considerable amount of money now spent annually in Toronto would be lost to the city. What lends colour to the story is that Mr. F. H. McGuigan, General Superintendent; Mr. F. W. Morse, Superintendent of the Motive Power; and Mr. E. H. Fitzhugh, the new Master of Transportation, have been for several days past inspecting the company's works at Toronto and outside points. The party left this morning for London, where they will meet General Manager Hays, who is on his way back from Chicago. If there is any intention of removing the workshops from Toronto it will probably be announced after the meeting of these gentlemen at London.

Another rumour that has been flying around lately is to the effect that the new management of the Grand Trunk proposes making a change in the Canadian Express Company, which is controlled by the Grand Trunk. The story is that a new manager is to be brought on from the United States to supersede Mr. Bryce, the manager of the company at Montreal.

OUR JUNIOR LACROSSISTS.

They are Deserving and Worthy of Encouragement.

For many years the name of Peterborough has always been identified with a good lacrosse team and season after season as the older players dropped out of the ranks young blood was always found to fill the vacancies and keep up the good name of the team.

As the composition of a team is constantly changing and every year sees the younger player pushing forward to fill the gaps it will at once be apparent how much depends on keeping up the interest in the game amongst the rising generation.

In order to encourage and keep alive the interest then of the younger men, as well as to develop their playing abilities, there are always a certain number of games arranged exclusively for them during the season. In this way the famous Peterborough Juniors sprang into existence and their name has grown to be a power in the land amongst second twelves, in which company they have become as much feared as the first team amongst the senior clubs of the district. Proof of this fact is found when the statement is made that from thirteen junior clubs challenged not one acceptance was received, even the crack Orillia Juniors backing down. Not being able to get a match in their class, the Juniors are flying at higher game and have issued challenges to several senior teams. Amongst these are Tweed and Oshawa. The first named aggregation will be here on Monday afternoon next and the Oshawas come up on August 10th.

The Peterborough Juniors are most anxious for a game and they may be expected to give a good account of themselves, and although matched against a senior team victory will perch on their sticks if hard work and clean play can bring it there. Monday's game will be called at 4.30 p.m., sharp.

The local team will be picked from the following players:—Lionel King, R. Glover, Lynch, Crossley, Thompson, Rutherford, Green, Craig, McCabe, Dobbin, Wasson, Rickie, McWilliams, Logan, Barrie and others.

BICYCLE RAFFLE.

A New Scheme for Making Money—Prices of Tickets Vary.

The bicycle raffle is catching on, says a Montreal exchange, and the number of wheels disposed of in this manner every week is astonishing. The raffle tickets are arranged in cumulative order and range in prices from 1 cent to $1.50 for high grade wheels, $1 being the maximum limit on tickets for wheels of inferior make. The purchaser draws from a bunch of sealed envelopes and pays the price marked on the enclosed ticket. This method of selling tickets, which lends an additional element of chance to the lottery has proved every effective. Strong, indeed, must be the will of the young man who can resist the temptation to try his luck at securing a good wheel at small cost. The people who conduct the raffle always assure prospective victims that "nearly all the high numbers have been drawn." Thus encouraged the young man grows reckless and draws three innocent-looking envelopes. The first ticket may read 49c. That is not bad, but the others may cost $1.36 and $1.45 respectively. Slowly and thoughtfully the victim pays the bill, while his friend who holds the cards, smilingly sympathizes with him for a moment and then goes off to seek other game, leaving the speculator to reflect upon the fact that he is out $3.35, and has only three chances in 150 of winning a second-hand wheel.

PETERBOROUGH TO CHEMONG.

Why Doesn't Someone Establish a Record for the Distance.

Messrs. R. H. Kells and W. L. Allen state that there is some misunderstanding existing regarding the time which they were stated to have made in last evening's EXAMINER, between Peterborough and Chemong.

The two riders say that they never claimed to have negotiated the distance in 20 minutes, but know on the contrary that it took them almost half an hour.

Mr. Allen thinks that with Mr. Kells to assist him on the tandem, the distance between Mr. A. Dixon's corner and Chemong can be covered in 20 minutes. In the old days Mr. Alex. Gibson's record on the high wheel for this distance was 18 minutes. Now that the subject has come up for discussion some of the cracks should go out and establish a new record for aspirants to go after.

Mr. G. J. Horkins is under the obligation of going out and back, starting from the post office, in 45 minutes. The trial takes place some time next month, and if George wins he will wear one of Lech's best silk hats at the cost of the junior member of the firm.

BICYCLES ON THE SIDEWALKS.

The Bylaw Being Ignored by the Wheelmen.

Notwithstanding the fact that the town council passed a bylaw prohibiting wheelmen riding on the sidewalks, the practice is being indulged in daily and is particularly noticeable in muddy weather. An offender against the provisions of the the bylaw was heavily fined when the prohibition first went into effect, but since then the police department has grown most lax in this particular.

The sidewalk on Water street is turned into a regular race track at noon and at six o'clock every day, much to the annoyance of the pedestrians. Only a few evenings since a wheelman passed a policeman on the sidewalk and not a word was said to him.

Early in the week a bicyclist rode recklessly between two ladies on Water street just in front of Dr. Halliday's residence, throwing one against the fence and frightening the other into the ditch.

THE LOST IS FOUND.

The Prodigal Will be Received With Open Arms.

The young lad who came under the notice of the Children's Aid Inspector, Mr. F. W. Miller, and who gave his name as Bryce, claiming to have come from Ottawa, being hired out to work by his father, is at last identified.

Chief Roseel wrote the Ottawa Chief of Police concerning the matter and received an answer to the effect that no such boy hailed from Ottawa.

Notice of the affair, however, crept into the Ottawa papers, and this morning Mr. Miller received a letter describing the boy to a nicety, and stating that he was Alphonse Joyce, son of Luke Joyce. It seems he had run away from home a year ago and had never been heard of since. His parents will come for the boy as they requested a telegram to be sent if their description of their lost son tallied with the lad's appearance.

VIOLATION OF THE HEALTH ACT.

Clean Your Premises or There Will be Trouble in Store.

This morning a citizen was before the magistrate charged with a violation of the Health Act, in not having the closets on her premises properly cleaned. She was given a week to comply with the regulations.

The police wish it thoroughly understood that unless the provisions of the Health Act are strictly complied with in regard to the cleanness of premises, that prosecutions will summarily follow.

One Fool Surely.

The fools are not all dead, for occasionally one is found in the newspaper business. In New York one of them was seen on Park Row polishing shoes. On a card was printed a statement that the "newspaper man" had made a bet of $1,000 that he would walk from Chicago to Buda Pesth in a specified time, crossing the ocean per steamer and raise the expenses for the undertaking by polishing shoes for "one cent and upwards."

He watched her riding down the street,
So fleet!
Propelled by dainty, twinkling feet,
Petite;
Her cycling suit was trim and neat,
Complete;
A prettier girl you'd seldom meet—
Or never.

She looked at him—the shyest glance,
Askance;
Took in his quiet elegance,
Perchance.
Then how his laughing eyes did dance!

This is the kind of silly nonsense sent from the Thousand Island resort to New York State papers:—"It is reported along the river that the Prince of Wales will visit the Thousand Islands some time during the latter part of August. It is an open secret that the Prince is expected in Canada some time after the middle of the month in the interest of some personal business matters. The Prince will undoubtedly be accompanied by his son, the Duke of York. Arrangements have been made for the entertainment of the royal pair at Gananoque Inn, the new hostelry at Gananoque on the Canadian side of the St. Lawrence."

Baseball Rules.

THE BALL GROUND.

Rule 1—The ground must be an enclosed field, sufficient in size to enable each player to play in his position as required by these rules.

Rule 2—To lay off the lines governing the positions and play of the game known as baseball, proceed as follows:

From a point, A, within the grounds, project a right line A E out into the field, and at a point, B, 154 feet from point A, lay off lines B C and B D at right angles to the line A B; then, with B as centre and 63.63945 feet as radius, describe arcs cutting the lines B A at F and B C at G, B D at H and B E at I. Draw lines F G, G I, I H and F H, and said lines will be the containing lines of the diamond or infield.

THE CATCHER'S LINES.

Rule 3—With F as centre and 90 feet radius, describe an arc cutting line F A at L, and draw lines L M and L O at right angles to F A; and continue same out from F A not less than 90 feet.

THE FOUL LINE.

Rule 4—From the intersection point, F, continue the straight lines F G and F H until they intersect with the lines L M and L O, and then from the points G and H in the opposite direction until they reach the boundary lines of the grounds.

THE PLAYERS' LINES.

Rule 5—With F as centre and 50 feet radius, describe arcs cutting lines F O and F M at P and Q; then, with F as centre again and 75 feet radius, describe arcs cutting F G and F H at R and S; then from the points P, Q, R and S draw lines at right angles to the lines F O, F M, F G and F H, and continue same until they intersect at points T and W.

THE CAPTAIN AND COACHERS' LINE.

Rule 6—With R and S as centres and 15 feet radius, describe arcs cutting lines R W and S T at X and Y, and from the points X and Y draw lines parallel with lines F H and F G, and continue same out to the boundary lines of the ground.

THE THREE FOOT LINE.

Rule 7—With F as centre and 45 feet radius, describe an arc cutting line F F at I, and from 1 out to the distance of 3 feet draw a line at right angles to F G, to a point marked 2, then from point 2, draw a line parallel with the line F G to a point 3 feet beyond the point G, and marked 3; them from the point 3 draw a line at right angles to line 2, 3, back to and intersecting with line F G, and from thence back along line G F to point 1.

THE PITCHER'S PLATE.

Rule 8—With point F as centre and 60.5 feet as radius, describe an arc cutting the line F B at a point 4, and a draw a line 5 6, passing through point 4 and extending 12 inches on either side of line F B; then with line 5 6 as a side, describe a parallelogram 24 inches by 6 inches.

THE BASES.

Rule 9—Within the angle F describe a square, the sides of which shall be 12 inches two of its sides lying upon the lines F G and F H, and within the angles G and H describe squares the side of which shall be 15 inches, the two outer sides of said square lying upon the lines F G and G I and F H and H I, and at the angle I describe a square whose side shall be 15 inches and so described that its sides shall be parallel with G I and I H and having point E for its centre.

THE BATSMAN'S LINE.

Rule 10—On either side of the line A F B describe two parallelograms 6 feet long and 4 feet wide (marked 8 and 9), their length being parallel with the line A F B, their distance apart being 6 inches, added to each end of the length of the diagonal of the square within the angle F, and the centre of their length being upon said diagonal.

Rule 11—The home base at F and the pitcher's plate at 4 must be of whitened rubber and so fixed in the ground as to be even with the surface.

Rule 12—The first base at G, the second at E and the third at H must be of white canvas bags, filled with soft material and securely fastened in their positions described in rule 9.

Rule 13—The lines described in rules 3 4, 5, 6, 7 and 10 must be marked with lime, chalk or other suitable material, so as to be distinctly seen by the umpire.

THE BALL.

Rule 14—The ball.

Section 1—Must not weigh less than five nor more than five and one quarter ounces avoirdupois, and it must measure not less than nine nor more than nine and one quarter inches in circumference. The Spalding League ball or the Reach American Association ball, must be used in all games played under these rules.

Sec. 2—For each championship game two regulation balls shall be furnished by the home club to the umpire for use. When the ball in play is batted to foul ground, and out of sight of the umpire, the other ball shall be immediately brought into play. As often as one of the two in use shall be lost a new one must be substituted so that the umpire shall at all times after the game begins have two balls in his possession and ready for use. The moment the umpire delivers an alternate ball to the pitcher it comes into play, and shall not be exchanged until it, in turn, passes out of sight to foul ground. At no time shall the ball be intentionally discoloured by rubbing it with the soil or otherwise.

Sec. 3—In all games the balls played with shall be furnished by the home club, and the last ball in play shall become the property of the winning club. Each ball to be used in championship games shall be examined, measured and weighed by the secretary of the league, backed in a paper box and sealed with the seal of the secretary, which seal shall not be broken except by the umpire in the presence of the captains of the two contesting nines after play has been called.

The home club shall have at least a dozen regulation balls on the field ready for use on the call of the umpire during each championship game.

Sec. 4—Should ball become cut or ripped so as to expose the interior, or in any way so injured as to be, in the opinion of the umpire, unfit for fair use, he shall, upon appeal by either captain, at once put the alternate ball into play and call for a new ball.

THE BAT.

Rule 15—The bat.

Must be made entirely of hardwood, except that the handle may be wound with twine, or a granulated substance applied, not to exceed eighteen inches from the end.

It must be round, and it must not exceed two and three-quarter inches in diameter in the thickest part, nor exceed forty-two inches in length.

THE PLAYERS AND THEIR POSITIONS.

Rule 16—The players of each club in a game shall be nine in number, one of whom shall act as captain, and in no case shall less than nine men be allowed to play on each side.

Rule 17—The players' position shall be such as may be assigned them by their captain, except that the pitcher must take the position as defined in rules 8 and 29.

Rule 18—Players in uniform shall not be permitted to occupy seats or to stand among the spectators.

Rule 19—Section 1—Every club shall adopt uniforms for its players, but no player shall attach anything to the sole or heel of his shoes other than the ordinary baseball shoe plate.

Sec. 2—The catcher and first basemen are permitted to wear a glove or mitt of any size, shape or weight. All other players are restricted to the use of a glove or mitt weighing not over ten ounces, and measuring in circumferance around the palm of the hand not over 14 inches.

PLAYERS' BENCHES.

Rule 20—The players' benches must be furnished by the home club, and placed upon a portion of the ground outside of and not nearer than twenty-five feet to the players' lines. One such bench must be for the exclusive use of the visiting club, and one for the exclusive use of the home club. All players of the side at the bat must be seated on their bench, except such as are legally assigned to coach base runners and also the batsman when called to the bat by the umpire, and under no circumstance shall the umpire permit any person, except the club president, managers and players in uniform, to occupy seats on the benches.

THE GAME.

Rule 21—Sec. 1—Every championship game must be commenced not later than two hours before sunset.

Sec. 2—A game shall consist of nine innings to each contesting nine, except that

(a) If the side first at bat scores less runs in nine innings than the other side has scored in eight innings, the game shall then terminate.

(b) If the side last at bat in the ninth innings scores the winning run before the third man is out, the game shall terminate.

A TIE GAME.

Rule 22—If the score be a tie at the end of nine innings, play shall be continued until one side has scored more runs than the other in an equal number of innings, provided that if the side last at bat scores the winning run before the third man is out the game shall terminate.

A DRAWN GAME.

Rule 23—A drawn game shall be declared by the umpire when he terminates a game on accounts of darkness or rain, after five equal innings have been played, if the score at the time is equal on the last even innings played; except when the side that went second to bat is then at the bat and has scored the same number of runs as the other side, in which case the umpire shall declare the game drawn without regard to the score of the last equal innings.

A CALLED GAME.

Rule 24—If the umpire calls 'game' on account of darkness or rain at any time after five innings have been completed; the score shall be that of the last equal innings played; except the second side at bat shall have scored one or more runs than the first side at bat, in which case the score of the game shall be the total number of runs made.

A FORFEITED GAME.

Rule 25—A forfeited game shall be declared by the umpire in favour of the club not in fault, at the request of such club, in the following cases:

Section 1—If the nine of a club fail to appear upon a field, or being upon the field, fail to begin the game within five minutes after the umpire has called 'play,' at the hour appointed for the beginning of the game, unless such delay in appearing or in commencing the game be unavoidable.

Sec. 2—If, after the game has begun, one side refuses or fails to continue playing, unless such game has been suspended or terminated by the umpire.

Sec. 3—If, after play has been suspended by the umpire, one side fails to resume playing within one minute after the umpire has called 'play.'

Sec. 4—If a team resorts to dilatory movements to delay the game.

Sec. 5—If, in the opinion of the umpire, anyone of the rules of the game is wilfully violated.

Sec. 6—If, after ordering the removal of a player as authorized by rule 60, sec. 5, said order is not obeyed within one minute.

Sec. 7—In case the umpire declares a game forfeited, he shall transmit a written notice thereof to the president of the league within twenty-four hours thereafter.

THE RISING GENERATION.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR—In your last evening's issue appeared a short but forcible article concerning the manner in which the children of the present day were being brought up and asking for suggestions as to the remedy.

Rev. Dr. Talmage on Sunday preached on Hannah, an old fashioned Christian mother, whose industry, intelligence and devotion refined her for heaven. The doctor's most denunciatory passage was this: "Out from under flaming chandeliers, and off from imported carpets, and down the granite stairs there is coming a great crowd of children in this day untrained, saucy, incompetent for all the practical duties of life, ready to be caught in the first whirl of crime and sensuality. Indolent and unfaithful mothers will make indolent and unfaithful children. You cannot expect neatness and order in any house where the daughters see nothing but slatternliness and upsidedownativeness in their parents. Let Hannah be idle, and most certainly Samuel will grow up idle. Who are the industrious men in all our occupations and professions? Who are they managing the merchandise of the world, building the walls, tinning the roofs, weaving the carpets, making the laws governing the nations, making the earth to quake and heave and roar and rattle with the tread of gigantic enterprises? Who are they? For the most part they descended from industrious mothers, who, in the old homestead, used to spin their own yarn and weave their own carpets and plait their own door mats and flag their own chairs and do their own work. The stalwart men and the influential women of this day, ninety-nine out of every one hundred of them, came from such an illustrious ancestry of hard knuckles and homespun. And who are these people in society—light as froth, blown every whither of temptation and fashion—the peddlers of filthy stories, the dancing jacks of political parties, the scum of society, tavern lounging, store infesting, the men of low wink and filthy chuckle, and brass breastpin and rotten associations? For the most part they come from mothers idle and disgusting, the scandal mongers of society, going from house to house attending to everybody's business but their own, believing in witches and ghosts and horseshoes to keep the devil out of the churn, and by a godless life setting their children on the very verge of hell.

"Every child is a bundle of tremendous possibilities, and whether that child shall come forth in life, its heart attuned to the eternal harmonies, and after a life of usefulness on earth go to a life of joy in heaven, or whether across it shall jar eternal discords, and after a life of wrong-doing on earth it shall go to the home of impenetrable darkness and an abyss of immeasurable plunge, is being decided by nursery song and Sabbath lesson, and evening prayer, and walk and ride, and look, and frown and smile. Oh, how many children in glory, crowding all the battlements and lifting a million-voiced hosanna—brought to God through Christian parentage!

"Every mother gets full pay for all the prayers and tears in behalf of her children. That man useful in commercial life, that man prominent in the profession, that master mechanic—why every step he takes in life has an echo of gladness in the old heart that long ago taught him to be Christian and heroic and earnest. The story of what you have done, or of what you have written, of the influence you have exerted, has gone back to the old homestead—for there is some one always ready to carry good tidings—and that story makes the needle in the old mother's tremulous hand fly quicker and the flail in the father's hand come down upon the barn floor with a more vigorous thump. Parents long to hear good news from their children."

Are You Aware

That that beautiful singing quality of tone which is inherent to the Mason & Risch Piano, and which is spoken of by connoiseurs as the "Mason & Risch tone" has been attained only by many years of labor and costly experiment?

Do you know that it has taken many years to gather together the skilled artizans who are employed by this firm? Nearly every country in Europe is represented in their staff in the different departments—men who have been "imported" by them owing to their more than ordinary ability in some particular department of piano construction.

The Mason & Risch catalogue which is mailed free on application, gives a good idea of the different processes a high grade piano goes through before it is completed—an artist's instrument.

When any part of the body isn't doing the work that nature intended it to do, it puts the whole system out of tune—out of harmony. When all of the parts do not work well together, none of them can work just right. Sickness in one part of the body is likely to run into all parts of the body. It isn't necessary to be sick all over the body, in order that you may feel sick all over. When children stand a row of bricks on end, they knock the whole row down by upsetting one brick. That is exactly what happens to the health when the bowels fail to perform their proper function. Constipation makes trouble all along the line—puts the liver out of order, is bad for the kidneys—bad for the stomach. It holds in the body poisonous matter, and because it cannot go any place else, it gets into the blood. The blood carries it all over the system. That makes sluggishness, lassitude, bad breath and foul taste in the mouth, fills the stomach with gas and causes windy belching, stops digestion in the stomach, causes sour stomach, heartburn and flatulence. It makes pimples and blotches and causes sick and bilious headaches. Nine-tenths of all human ailments are due to this one seemingly trivial cause. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. They really cure it. Nobody becomes a slave to the use of the "Pellets." They cause no griping and are as mild as they are efficient. At any drug store. Look out for the druggist who tries to sell you something which he says is "just as good." There is nothing just as good. There is nothing that is nearly as good. Anybody who tells you there is is mistaken—or worse.

A GREAT MEDICAL WORK FREE.

We have arranged to give away absolutely free 680,000 of Dr. Pierce's great book, "Common Sense Medical Adviser." The Latest Humor.

A SACRED CONFIDENCE.

A Modern Story With a Flavor of the Craze in It.

"O, Kitty, I've something awful to tell you."

"What is it?"

"You'll never breathe it to a living soul?"

"Never!"

"If you do!"

"O, but I won't!"

"I'm so mortified over it. You see, Gussie Lillypad came around on his wheel the other afternoon and I got out my bike and we started off for a spin together."

"Well?"

"I had on my new bicycle suit and cap, and we were spinning along in great shape away out in the country, when Gussie's wheel struck a stone in the road and he took a header and nearly broke his neck. He fainted, mind you, and while I was bathing his head with some water I fetched in his cap a stupid old farmer came along and asked:

"'What's the matter of her?'"

"O, Maude!"

"And before I could reply he says:

"'Is she much hurt?'"

"Why, Maude!"

"I was so mortified! And Gussie came to in time to hear the old simpleton say:

"'Better cut her corset strings an' fan her a little,' I thought I should die! And when Gussie sat up and said coldly, 'I am a gentleman, sir,' the awful old coot capped the climax by pointing to me and saying coolly, 'Why, ye don't say! I thought this one was the gent!'"

"O, Maude! Maude! Tee hee, hee!"

"Kitty! If you don't stop laughing I'll never speak to you again! It was just awful!"

"O, it was too, too funny!"

"Funny? I thought—it's real mean of you to laugh so, Kit. But, mind, you've solemnly promised never to tell!"

"No, I never will!"

"If you do!"

"Tee, hee, hee, hee!"

"Tee hee!"

"Hee hee!"—Detroit Free Press.

The Day I Carved the Duck.

I went to dine the other day
With my mother-in-law elect,
And lost thereby my fiancee,
So my future hopes were wrecked,
We'd reached the roast, when, woe is me,
(I never did have luck),
The hostess asked me pleasantly
If I would carve the duck.

With confidence born of youth
I hastened to comply,
And little thought that fowl forsooth
Could make a fortune fly,
Nor did I deem so small a bird
Like any goat could buck,
But gained some points I had not heard
The day I carved the duck.

I drove the fork up to the hilt
Within its bosom browned,
And sought to see how it was built,
But not a joint I found,
I sawed it here and jabbed it there,
With pertinacious pluck;
O, deep was my desire to swear
The day I carved the duck.

A cold dew pearled my forehead fair,
As I chased it round the plate;
It could not, built on wheels, I swear,
Have struck a livelier gait,
The table was a maddening sight,
As if by lightning struck;
You'd ne'er have dreamed the cloth was white
The day I carved the duck.

The hostess cast a gorgon glance,
Rose were a ghastly pallor,
As spinning round that bird did dance,
In most Satanic style.
I pinned it down—it upward soared
And to my bosom stuck;
There were pallid cheeks around that board,
The day I carved the duck.

Then, seized with rage I could not still
And here I could not hold,
From me I kicked that bird of ill,
With fury accentuated,
Then from that scene I fled away
Like one who runs amuck,
And I've never seen my fiancee
Since the day I carved the duck.

A FARM RAILROAD.

A Novel One Successfully Run by a Young Farm Lad.

The very attractive illustration herewith re-engraved from the American Agriculturist, is a picture of the engine of the Buck's Hill railroad and its youthful builder, engineer, fireman, brakeman and conductor, Robert M. Tyler, 17 years old. The young man laid and spiked the rails, built the cars and placed engine and boiler in place, with very creditable mechanical genius and thoroughness. The roadbed is quite smooth, and the car travels fast or slow, as desired. This railroad is built on the thrifty-looking and well-farmed property of the boy's father, Mr. William M. Tyler, on the hills of Litchfield county, Conn., near Waterbury. This railway runs from the homestead of buildings, past the extensive peach orchard with strawberries between its rows, through mowings and across pastures and over brooks, until it reaches a fine walnut grove on a part of the farm nearly a mile distant, which has long been appropriately called World's End. The saving in time and work of man and beast makes it financially a profitable investment, and it is doubtless of still more value because it makes farming so much easier and agreeable and so attractive to the young man, who certainly ought not to leave such a place. Mr. Tyler thus describes the system:

"The rails are of steel, T shaped, the lightest made of this description, weighing only 8 pounds to the yard. The cross ties are of chestnut, 2 1-2 feet long, 4 inches face and 3 inches thick. The gauge is 26 inches. The grade is quite steep in places, the steepest being 37 feet to the mile. The whole cost of constructing the railway was at the rate of $600 per mile, the engine, boiler and car costing about $300 more. The engine is rated two-horse power, stands upright, is double-acting, reversible and makes 800 revolutions a minute. The boiler is also a two-horse power, upright, holding six gallons of water. It generates steam rapidly, can get steam in five or six minutes, and uses but little fuel. This small engine and boiler will propel a car up the steep grade, drawing quite a load. We find the engine and boiler very useful for other purposes, such as grinding grain, cutting feed, sawing wood, spraying etc."

What is there to prevent farmers joining hands to lay down these light steel rails to connect their farms and homes with the village, town and city? With such means of rapid transit as the steel rail affords, much of the isolation and loneliness of farm life would disappear and distance would be almost annihilated. The church, the high school, the grange, all social gatherings and a market for our farm products, would be brought almost to our doors. The bright farm girls and boys would not be in such a hurry to leave the old farm. Mr. Tyler adds: "In my humble opinion, the value of our farms would be doubled, farmers would become more intelligent, prosperous and happy and that vexed question, how to have good roads, would be answered, at least as far as the farmer is concerned, by the construction of such neighborhood railways." By laying rails heavy enough, and of standard gauge, such roads could readily adopt electricity whenever it became feasible; or horses could be used if preferred to a steam engine. It is only a step from this idea to Martin Dodge's scheme of steel rails in all country highways of sufficient width to take in all ordinary tires of wagons, carts and carriages. Some such simple, cheap and effective scheme of rapid transit is within reach of any thrifty neighborhood or community. It is marvelous how cheaply some such system can be constructed and operated when the work is done at cost by those directly interested, instead of being "promoted," "watered," "financiered" and "reorganized," by any one of the gangs of schemers that have fattened at the public expense in building steam railroads, and are now repeating the same old tricks in developing electric railways.

Green Corn Oysters.

Take young corn, grate in dish; to every pint of this add one egg well beaten, 1 teacup of flour, 1-2 cup butter (rich sweet cream is better if it can be procured), salt, pepper to taste, mix well. One tablespoon of batter will make the size of an oyster, frying pan well buttered, fry light brown, spread with butter, eat hot.

The Care of Cutlery.

A case made of dark cotton flannel for cutlery is excellent to absorb the moisture and prevent rust. It should be made with a separate compartment for each knife. The case for the knives in daily use may be tacked inside a pantry door, and the others may be rolled and kept in drawers.

Revival of Trade.

Reports from the United States support the view that trade interests have vastly improved recently and that the business outlook for the future is encouraging. This will be welcome news to the people of Canada, since our own trade interest will be stimulated and improved. In nothing has this improvement been shown in a more marked way than in the increased sales of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. Times being dull everything not absolutely needed became a luxury and its sale became stationery. Now it is different. Sales have increased vastly, doubtless as it has proven the only safe, sure and painless remedy for corns, and wise people will use no other.

HOW THE SUN LIFE
FULFILS ITS PROMISES.

A Matured 10 Year Endowment.

Profits Paid by the SUN 21 per. cent more than the Estimates.

The following letter, which speak for itself, was received by the undersigned this morning from a gentleman in Brockville, whose ten year endowment which he held in the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada matured last week and was paid him. The Sun is modest in promises but UNEQUALLED IN RESULTS. The public are benefitted by results, not by promises unfulfilled

BROCKVILLE, November 7th, 1895.

W. H. HILL, Mgr. Central Ontario Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, Peterborough, Ontario:—

DEAR SIR,—I should have acknowledged the receipt of yours enclosing cheque for endowment policy No. 12,571 before, only I wanted to write something more than a mere receipt. I am pleased to hear of the continued prosperity of the "SUN" and it speaks well for your Company when the profits are greater (by 21 per cent.) than you as the Company's representative promised or rather estimated, as was the case with this policy.

I hope your Company will continue to prosper and I often regret that I do not carry more Insurance than I am doing. I might have carried twice as much as I do when at Minden without any great effort, still what little I do carry I feel is perfectly safe being in the "SUN."

I must thank you for your promptness and kindness regarding this policy just settled. I hope we will both be alive and well when the new one I now hold will be due in 1905 and assuring you of very best wishes, I remain,

Yours Sincerely,

(Signed) F. R. C.

The above voluntary testimonial is significant and shows in a most practical way the SUN'S standing as a profit paying institution.

NOT A SICK DAY

For Over Thirty Years!

RESULT OF USING

AYER'S PILLS

"Ayer's Cathartic Pills for over thirty years have kept me in good health, never having had a sick day in all that time. Before I was twenty I suffered almost continually—as a result of constipation—from dyspepsia, headaches, neuralgia, or boils and other eruptive diseases. When I became convinced that nine-tenths of my troubles were caused by constipation, I began the use of Ayer's Pills, with the most satisfactory results, never having a single attack that did not readily yield to this remedy. My wife, who had been an invalid for years, also began to use Ayer's Pills, and her health was quickly restored. With my children I had noticed that nearly all their ailments were preceded by constipation, and I soon had the pleasure of knowing that with children as with parents, Ayer's Pills, if taken in season, avert all danger of sickness."—H. "What ails him?" the caller mildly wondered.

The editor mopped off his forehead.

"His baby's just beginning to say things," he answered, with a shudder; "we printed one of 'em last month, and now"——

Rattle—rattle—rattle! went the latch, and then silence followed. A cold light glittered in the editor's eye.

"Saved!" he muttered, pouring something out of a bottle.

HAS SHE ARMS FOR CUBA?

A Mysterious Vessel in the Gulf of St. Lawrence Being Watched by the Canadian Authorities.

Ottawa, July 22.—(Special.)—The possibility of the territorial waters of Canada being made the scene of Cuban filibustering operations has led to the issue of an important order in the admiralty enjoining strict compliance with the terms of the Foreign Enlistment Act and prohibiting the issue of clearances by Canadian customs officers to vessels destined for Cuba.

At the present time there is a strange vessel under surveillance in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. She has been hovering off the coast for some time and suspicion has been aroused that she is desirous of transhipping a cargo of arms and ammunition to some vessel destined for Cuba.

If a vessel enters at the customs with arms and munitions of war on board the cargo is liable to be seized, unless permission to import is first obtained from the Minister of Customs. Another clause in the act provides that the Governor-in-Council may prohibit the exportation of arms, ammunition, etc., from Canada, so that attempted transhipment in Canadian waters would also render the vessel liable to seizure.

Eggs in China.

The Chinese esteem shrimps, above all other things. At a well-served table they are brought on swimming about in a glass bowl of water flavored with oil and vinegar, which renders the creatures hysterically alive, says the New York Mercury. With an unerring thumb and forefinger the Chinese diner out plucks forth the struggling fish, nips off the tail at one bite and carts the useless head behind him. Shocking as it may seem to an American housekeeper, the older the egg in China the more perfect from an epicurean standpoint does it become, for no Chinaman who has a right regard for his palate eats a fresh boiled egg.

Taken fresh, eggs are sent to soak, after having been washed in a tub of aromatic water. After a time they are removed, and the water is used in mixing a paste of lime and salt, in which the eggs are packed in jars. These are hermetically sealed and set aside to stand for a month, when they are supposed to be fit for eating. Those left packed in salt and lime for twelve months or more, when opened, are found to have changed color, solidified partly and are odorless.

The chief care of the Chinese is to eat nothing cold. Warm or hot food they absorb in abundance, but rightly they maintain that cold food lowers the temperature of the stomach, beyond the point where digestion can continue, and so the whole health of the body is endangered.

ABOUT THE LIVER.

A lazy, slow or torpid liver influences the whole system, causing biliousness, sick headache, sallow complexion, languor and dullness. Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the liver, purifies the secretions and cures all forms of liver troubles. We say so and here is the proof:—

I hereby wish to thank you for the great benefit derived by me from your Burdock Blood Bitters. For three years I was troubled with liver complaint and tried everything to no purpose. I had almost given up hope until one day I determined to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I can say now that marked improvement resulted from the use of the first bottle and at the end of the sixth bottle I discontinued its use, being completely cured.

SHE HELPED HIM OUT.

He Very Sensibly Took His Wife's Advice.

A man on Capitol Hill had been outrageously insulted, as he thought. He felt compelled to call his enemy to the field of honor, but was restrained by the thought of his wife and children. All day the affront rankled in his bosom. As he neared home, thinking every second of what he would, could or must do, he happened to think of his wife, and it dawned upon him like a sunburst that she was a woman of spirit and judgment, and that she might be able to help him in his sore difficulty and suggest a soothing balm to his hurt honor.

With this new thought urging him on, he hastened into her presence, as soon as he hopped off the car, and kissed her.

He did this thinking that possibly by this time to-morrow evening he would be beyond the power of osculation.

Naturally, this unusual demonstration surprised the good woman.

They had been married fifteen years.

"Why, Henry," she exclaimed, "what is the matter with you? You seem strangely excited."

It was a minute before he could control his voice sufficiently to use it for talking purposes.

"I am!" he fairly snorted. "I have been insulted."

"How? Who did it?" and his wife's spirit rose.

"By a scoundrel who came into my office this morning. I have nursed my wrath all day and now come to you for advice. What would you do, if a man were to tell you to go to the devil?"

As he strode about the room he kicked over a table, two chairs and the cat.

"Why, Henry," she replied after the impulsive manner of women, and with the utmost sincerity, "I wouldn't go!"

Then he sat down and concluded that a good wife's advice was an anchor to windward in a husband's most tempestuous moments.—Washington Star.

St. John, N.B., July 20.—The many cases of marvellous restoration to health from various forms of kidney trouble which have been constantly appearing in the daily press of the Dominion have for some time awakened the liveliest interest here, and the remedy by which the cures were effected namely, Dodd's Kidney Pills are obtaining great celebrity throughout the province. The appearance of the testimonials of Drs. Rose and McCormick stating the benefits which they had personally derived from their use was considered a sufficient sign of the merits of the remedy, and the other interesting and wonderful cases which since been chronicled had caused the specific to have an exceptional sale.

RICH FARMING DISTRICTS

EXCELLENT CROPS IN PORT HOPE AND PETERBOROUGH.

The Yield of Fall Wheat — All the Grains Promise Good Returns—Roots and Hay Plentiful—The Pea Blight May Affect that Crop—Apples Not Up to the Mark—Rust in the Manitoba Wheat—Mixed Farming Pays the Best.

The Toronto Globe has been publishing a number of reports on the prospective crops of the province, and yesterday their correspondent was in Peterborough and Port Hope and speaks as follows :

If all the country east of Toronto can give as good an account of itself as can the two districts visited to-day, Ontario will indeed be fortunate in its crops this year. There is to-day a record of almost unvaried excellence to report from the Port Hope district, comprising the Townships of Hamilton, Hope, Clarke and Cavan, and from practically the entire County of Peterborough. Fall wheat, which hitherto has proved a weak crop, is here, except immediately along the lake shore, an excellent crop, good alike in quantity and quality. Hay is also good in Peterborough, a welcome variant to what hitherto has been the almost stereotyped declaration that "hay is half a crop." The crops of oats and peas are excellent, as is the case generally throughout the country. Potatoes and root crops are doing well, and the only thing to be noted on the other side of the ledger is that in this locality the prospects of the apples may not be as remarkably fine as they are in other places and even they are described as fair. This region has come off far better than the west in the matter of rainfall, and the pastures now are in far better condition than they are in most parts of the provinces. So far as produce goes, it should be an excellent year for the farmers, for not a single crop can be styled a failure. "The best crops I have known in ten years," said one man, and all declare that the year promises to be the best for the past three or four years. The season is middling early, but not so forward as it is in some other places.

PORT HOPE DISTRICT.

In the Port Hope district the fall wheat may be described as being generally good. Immediately along the lake front the wheat has been mostly winter killed, and the majority of the fields were ploughed up in the spring and sowed with various spring crops. What has been left of the fall wheat has proved to have been a good sample, the berry being plump and fine. This condition prevails for some distance along the lake. Further back from the lake matters are different, and through Cavan and the back portions of Hope, Clarke and Hamilton, and in fact outside of a radius of a very few miles from Port Hope, the fall wheat is fine both in point of quantity and of quality. The acreage devoted to fall wheat this year was much the same as last year. Not a great quantity of spring wheat is grown here, though this year the usual amount was sown, but what there is promises to give a fair crop. Reports say that in this immediate neighbourhood it is not doing really well, the head being rather deficient, the fields being rather thin.

Some reports from immediately around Port Hope make the hay crop light, the dry weather of last summer and fall having injured the seeds. Other accounts say that it will be a fair average crop, though none make it out to be large. The quality is good.

Oats will be very fine ; will, in fact, furnish an extra good crop. There is a very large acreage of this crop in the Port Hope district, and some have been cut already, early as it is. With this grain, as in some other cases, the early sown fields have frequently had the best of it. This is especially noticeable on clay lands, where the late sown oats have not come up nearly so well as those sown at the same time on loam. The straw is of good length and the heads are good.

MR. HUME'S VIEWS.

The great crop in this section is usually peas, and Port Hope possesses in the person of Mr. John Hume perhaps the most expert grower of peas on the continent. The general report as to the pea crop is enthusiastic. It will be an extra fine crop, it is declared, the straw being good and all the indications favourable. Mr. Hume when seen upon the subject was less enthusiastic in his expressions. "The crop will be fair," he said, "in fact it will be over the average of the past two or three seasons." He spoke, however, of a blight which has within the past week or ten days appeared in some of the fields. It is a sort of mildew, caused by hot weather closely following a rain, and will shorten the yield by retarding the podding out process and making the sample inferior. The district will, however, be able to produce a fair proportion of peas of a good quality.

Not a great quantity of barley is sown here, but what is planted is looking well, both straw and head being good.

Little corn is grown here, the greater part being for use as fodder. What there is looks well.

The buckwheat is not far advanced but it has had a good start and is blossoming out well.

Potatoes promise well, and so do the roots, which have had a good catch.

The apples, though fair, will hardly give as big a crop as they did last year, though the quality will generally be good. The earlier ones will probably be rather the better, and the northern spies will not be very good ; otherwise the crop will be good. The year will probably be a clean one, and the apples promise to be a good size.

The plums have not been good this year, and the cherries have been rather scarce.

Pears will be pretty good this year ; the Bartletts are a failure, but Flemish beauties will be good.

The crop of currants is immense ; the raspberries are fair, and there is a large crop of gooseberries.

PETERBOROUGH DISTRICT.

This was cheese board day in Peterborough and the large influx of farmers and cheesebuyers made the task of gaining information easy. Here, too, there is an excellent report to make. Fall wheat is fine all over, the yield being good and the sample satisfactory. The straw is good, and the crop favourable in every way. Otonabee is perhaps the most highly favoured in this respect of the townships around here. Some sections are rather light, but the average is made up by the extra good showing made in other places. Rather a large amount of this grain is usually sown, and this year rather more was sown than is ordinarily the case. This crop is going to be excellent. Not a great quantity of spring wheat is sown here, and what there is planted is thin in some places. It will give a fairly good crop and is heading out well.

The hay crop is fine, and will be good over practically the entire county. There is a prospect, too, that reasonable prices will prevail. This good hay crop extends over into Northumberland. Oats will give a full average crop, the straw being of medium length and the heads filling out well. Some odd fields are affected by the frost, and so have come up unevenly, but as a general rule the crop will be good. The acreage of this crop is very large. Peas are excellent, and probably have not been better for many years. The straw is heavy. The pods are filling out well, and no defects are reported ; and they are an important crop. A large area is devoted to them. The comparatively small quantity of barley which is sown is doing well, having headed out well. The buckwheat is blossoming out well. Some corn is grown for feeding purposes, and it is getting along well.

Potatoes are looking in remarkably good shape, and the root crops give good promise.

The pastures have kept up exceedingly well, far better than for two or three years past, and the flow of milk has not decreased to any great extent.

In some of the northern townships of Peterborough, and in part of the Haliburton, Snowdon, Glamorgan and other townships, where there is sandy soil, and where the summer has been dryer than here, there are great armies of grasshoppers, which have cleaned the farmers out of nearly all that they possess. This district is quite far back and the farmers here are not worrying over the matter, though there is a report that the pests are now moving southward.

The army worm has stripped a few fields in Dummer, and has also done some damage in the Port Hope district, but the period for its active work seems to be pretty well over, and the damage it has done, though severe in individual cases, will not be likely appreciably to lessen the total yield.

THE MANITOBA WHEAT CROP.

Winnipeg, July 24.—The Nor'Wester discussing the Manitoba crop prospects to-night says : "The latest reports are not encouraging as to the condition of the wheat crop. There is less acreage in wheat this year than last, as a result of the fact that the crop was so heavy in 1895 that it took so long to handle it that the fall ploughing could not be finished, and the spring has been so wet that farm operations have been seriously retarded. The smaller acreage is possibly not the most serious matter, however, with the wheat crop. The constant rains during the spring, it seems likely, will affect the quality, a considerable proportion of the crop now showing the appearance of rust, so that it is quite evident that the crop will not only be smaller, but will not average as well as last year, either in quality or quantity to the acre. Last year's crop, however, was simply phenomenal and the Manitoba farmer can stand a considerable falling off from last year's returns and still do well. It is gratifying in this connection to note that more cattle were shipped from Manitoba last year than ever before, and that there will probably be large shipments also this year, so that farmers who do not succeed in raising as much wheat or wheat of so good a quality will not feel the loss of the crops so keenly as in previous years, when they had nothing to depend upon except wheat. As a matter of fact, Northwest farmers are learning to appreciate the wisdom of the old saw, that it is better not to put all the eggs in one basket, and that mixed farming is much safer and much more profitable."

NORTH HARVEY.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The first rain we have had for a long time fell last Friday evening and night, and did a lot of good, as everything was just burning up with the dry weather. It would take a lot of it to do the pasture any good as the fields are as brown as the roads.

There is considerable Government money being spent on the roads in this locality at present, which is a great boon to the settlers here. Besides the benefits derived from the improvement of the old roads and the opening up of new ones they have a chance of earning the money which is so badly needed these hard times. The people here appreciate the efforts of Mr. Stratton on their behalf in that line ever since he has been our representative.

There is to be a huckleberry social next Tuesday evening at Oliver's Point in behalf of the Presbyterian Mission here.

The 12th was celebrated at Buckhorn this year, and Mine Host Eastwood reaped a rich harvest, of course. There was an excursion party from Bobcaygeon, and quite a number drove. There was a very enjoyable time spent, with lots of dancing and speeches by some of the members of the lodges present. Several of the older members and sons of the old leaders were conspicuous by their absence, whether the result of the late elections had anything to do with it or not we will leave to surmise. At any rate they got along without them; perhaps they didn't whoop 'er up quite so hard or wave the old flag, but they got there just the same. Something very remarkable, but there was hardly a man there the worse of liquor, which was very creditable to those present.

Owing to the poor prospects of feed for this winter people are running wild in quest of beaver hay, of which this part of the township is very well supplied, but there is very strong competition as to who will get there first. It would not be at all surprising if some of it goes up in smoke, as there is sure to be some dissatisfied parties.

"Good fences make good neighbours," so the saying goes, the truth of which is proved every day. Two neighbours living here, one a widow and the other a widower, came very near having trouble over it lately. It seems, by reports, that the widow's cattle took a notion to visit the widower's crops, but the visit was not appreciated at its proper value, as he put the dog on them, which act on the widower's part raised the widow's ire and nearly caused trouble, but we understand that it has been amicably settled and peace reigns.

The Presbyterians of Bobcaygeon have tendered a call to the Rev. Mr. Hall, a graduate of Knox College, to fill the place of Mr. Anderson, resigned. Mr. Hall is a young man of great promise, but it will not be known for a short time whether he accepts or not. The pulpit has been vacant for a considerable time now, and it is hoped that they may secure the services of Mr. Hall.

Mrs. Strachan, of Southampton, is down here on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Jas. Beatty.

The item in our last with regard to the decease of Mrs. Dunn was rather premature, as her removal to the hospital was the cause of the children being taken away. However, there are very slight hopes, if any, of her recovery.

We understand from good authority that Mr. John Barr, foreman for Columbia River Lumber Co. of British Columbia, who was on a visit here recently, has cleared $150 on the result of the late elections. This goes to show that Mr. Barr is as clear-sighted as ever he was, and is bound to keep abreast of the times.

Nowadays when ladies take part in so many active sports it is necessary to have gowns that will preserve their graceful shape thro' every kind of exercise, and this is why Fibre Chamois is so immensely popular. It never loses its charming stiffness, yet owing to its flexible nature it imparts a sinuous grace to your gowns which nothing can disturb. Dresses interlined with it will have just the same style at the end of the season as at the beginning.

But don't expect these results from imitations, always see the label on each yard to be sure that you are getting the genuine Fibre Chamois—it never disappoints.

Young Darby and Miss Thompson Rescued

AFTER DRIFTING ACROSS THE LAKE

Joyously Greeted on Returning Home—A Young Man and Woman of Port Hope Endured a Similar Experience as a Result of the Squall.

Port Dalhousie, July 23.

Toronto World: Steamer Canisteo arrived ten a.m. with Miss Thompson and Darby. Picked up off Niagara. All well.

W. B. CLARK,
Collector Customs.

Such was the welcome news from Port Dalhousie yesterday morning. This intelligence was with all despatch carried to the stricken and hopeless relatives of the young people who had all night been tossed about in a small rowboat on the angry waves of Lake Ontario, not knowing at what moment their frail craft would go to pieces, and enduring all the horrors of waiting for death.

Mrs. Thompson, the mother of Miss Jennie, sat watching at the cliff for hours after many of the aiding campers had gone tired out to bed, until it seemed that all hope had disappeared. Fervently she prayed to God to give back to her her bonnie child. Her prayers were piteous in the extreme, and brought tears to the eyes of many who were near. A hope had existed along the beach that the couple would be picked up by some of the incoming boats.

At 6 o'clock in the morning the almost frantic parents of the girl came to the city, and telegrams were sent to all ports on the lake, asking that a lookout be kept for the boat. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson then went to their city home, 20 River-street.

The two sisters of the missing girl remained at the park until later, and sobbed in a heartrending way. The elder, who, when rescued, declared that as they were coming shoreward she had heard a piercing shriek from her sister in the waning hour, constantly exclaimed in her grief that she was to blame for her sister's loss, and called on her mother to forgive her.

The joy of the family cannot be imagined when newspaper men carried to them the happy news that their child was saved. They could hardly realize at first that their loved one was safe, but after being reassured and given particulars, the great cloud of sorrow was lifted, and the family, especially the sisters of the girl, became hysterical.

Mrs. Darby, the widowed mother of the young man, was also notified of the news and was overcome with unbounded joy, when she realized that her pet boy would soon be back to her.

It was an excited but happy little group that impatiently awaited the arrival of the Empress of India at Yonge-street wharf soon after 1 o'clock. When the boat pulled up in the dock amongst the first to cross the gang plank were Mr. William Darby and Miss Jennie Thompson. Of her night's awful experience Miss Thompson was inclined to be communicative, but her father thought she was too fatigued to go into details. She said:

"I never expected to see land again. When the oars were carried away I just almost gave myself up, but I did what Mr. Darby told me to do, and we were saved by a boat, the name of which I don't know."

After he had shaken hands with Miss Thompson, Mr. Darby was besieged with newspaper men, to whom he told the story of the night's adventure. He is a tall, slim young fellow and does not look to have the endurance and pluck he must have manifested during the past few hours. He said: "We thought it was a case of 'all over.' When I lost the oars Miss Thompson said, 'We're lost,' but after that one exclamation she maintained her nerve wonderfully. We talked a good deal. When Miss Thompson said that we would never see land again I could say nothing. I thought it better to bring her into the bow of the boat, where the two of us huddled up through the night. Miss Thompson did her best to help me to bail out with my hands, but I insisted on her keeping still. You see, before last night I thought I knew all about managing a boat. I knew that swimming would be of no use when the capsize came. We agreed that we should both cling to the boat as long as possible. I remember that it had become daylight when we were talking about this. The American shore was visible about ten miles away. Then we heard the booming sound that we thought was caused by the cannon. We looked around as far as we could see, and there was the coal barge, which we thought was a man of war by the noise the rolling coal made. I tell you we were glad to see those grimy sailors come up in their boat. It was not until Miss Thompson was on board that she weakened at all, and even then she did not faint."

A SIMILAR CASE.

Mr. George Stott and Miss Mabel Glidden of Port Hope Also Spent the Night on the Lake.

Port Hope, Ont., July 23.—(Special.)—Last night about 8 o'clock several parties of ladies and gentlemen were out in boats enjoying themselves. In one boat were Mr. Jas. Clark, Frank Pengelly and Miss Nellie Dunn; in another were Mr. George Stott, a young man 22 years of age, and Miss Mabel Glidden, a young lady of 21 years. The two boats kept close together and were nearly a mile from the pier when the storm commenced.

Both boats started for the harbor together, but in Mr. Clark's boat there were two rowing, so they left the other boat, in which were Mr. Stott and Miss Glidden, some distance behind. When entering the harbor Mr. Clark saw a boat following them in and thought it was Stott; so they went on to the boathouse and put away their boat.

After some time, when Stott and Miss Glidden did not appear, their friends became alarmed, and on making enquiries it was found that they had not returned.

About midnight they aroused Capt. Nixon and the lifeboat was manned. The shore was followed between Port Hope and Cobourg, but no trace of the boat or its occupants could be found.

About daylight the Government tug St. Paul got up steam and went out in the lake for 15 or 20 miles, but could find no trace of the missing ones.

As no word was received during the day, nearly everyone had given up hope of seeing them alive.

This evening, between 7 and 8, word came from Brighton that the boat and its occupants had been picked up by a fisherman named Davern; that they had landed at the Blums late in the afternoon and were now at Brighton Station waiting for a train to take them home.

Brighton, Ont., July 23.—Miss Glidden and Mr. Stott, the young couple who were out rowing and were driven out in the lake in a small boat from Port Hope Wednesday evening by a sudden squall and given up by relatives and friends as lost, succeeded in reaching the bluff, an island opposite Brighton, about 8 o'clock this afternoon, after experiencing the most trying time of their lives, being tossed about by a heavy sea for over 20 hours without food and having to sit in two feet of water. They were brought to Brighton by Mr. William Palmer and P. Davern, who were on the island. After having something to eat and telegraphing to their parents of their safety, they left for Port Hope, where a large crowd awaited them. They were carried home on the shoulders of their jubilant friends.

THE SECOND STAGE

Of the Contest for the Coveted Queen's Prize.

MAYHURST CLOSE TO THE LEADER

But He Fell Back at the 600 Yards Range and is Now Tied With Lieut. Mitchell—Scores Made by the Canadians in the Graphic Match.

London, July, 23.—The second stage of the shooting contest for the Queen's Prize at 500 yards was begun at the Bisley camp this morning.

Thus far Thompson of Edinburgh leads in the contest, with an aggregate score of 40. Hayhurst of Canada is second, with an aggregate of 179. Hayhurst scored 46 at the 500 yard range.

The scores of other Canadian marksmen at the 500-yard range were: Campbell 41, Crowe 38, Neill 36, Sergt. Mitchell 40, Lavers 37, and Munro 40, out of a possible 50.

Sir Donald A. Smith has offered a cup for the best Canadian score in the Volunteer aggregate. Weller and Munro are tied at 170 for the trophy. The tie will be shot off later.

Hayhurst and Sergeant Mitchell each have an aggregate score of 184 for the Queen's Prize, and Munro a score of 182. These marksmen will shoot in the third stage for the Queen's Prize, but the others are out.

How the seven stand now will be gathered from the following table.

	Total 1st stage.	Total 2nd stage.	Aggregate.
Hayhurst.. ..	93	91	184
Mitchell	87	97	184
Munro	82	100	182
Campbell	90	89	179
Crowe	89	89	178
Neill..... ..	83	92	175
Lavers..	82	90	172

Aggregates of 182 and upwards will likely be in the final stage, 800 and 900 yards, ten shots at each, to be fired on Saturday. This will leave three Canadians in the final, the same as last year. Capt. Foster of the Surrey Battalion leads, with 196, 12 points in front of the leading Canadians. The Scotchman is close behind the leader.

Capt. Foster wins the N.R.A. silver medal and badge for attaining the highest score in the second stage of the Queen's Prize.

The Graphic, fired with Martini-Henry rifles. Open to all comers. Distance 500 yards. Number of shots seven. Prizes, a silver cup worth 50 guineas, and framed sketches, all given by the proprietors of The Graphic.

The cup was won last year by Watt, of the 6th Royal Scots, with a possible on a shoot-off tie. There were 24 possibles made.

The following are the scores made by the Canadians. The first two are probably included in the prize winners; Pte. Hayhurst, 13th Batt., 31; Pte. Campbell, 45th Batt., 31; Lieut. Ogg, 1st B.F.A., 30; Sergt. Lavers, 6th Batt., 30; Staff-Sergt. Harp, 48th Batt., 29; Sergt. Mitchell, 13th Batt., 29; Pte. Langstroth, 74th Batt., 29; Pte. Neill, 71st Batt., 29; Capt. Spearing, 53rd Batt., 28; Lieut. King, 45th Batt., 28; Pte. Armstrong, 10th Batt., 28; Sergt. Crowe, 1st B.F.A., 28; Sergt.-Major Huggins, 13th Batt., 27; Lieut. Weller, 59th Batt., 27; Lieut. Bent, 93rd Batt., 27; Lieut. Runions, 59th Batt., 27; Lieut. Ross, 13th Batt., 26; Major Macdonald, 48th Batt., 25; Lieut. Munro, 44th Batt., 25; Lieut. Mitchell, 12th Batt., 24.

For the Volunteers' Aggregate, highest collective scores in the Queen's Prize (first stage), St. George's (first stage), Martin's Cup, Daily Graphic, Daily Telegraph and Alexandra, make up the highest aggregates, the Canadians showed up well, the possible being 210. Sir Donald Smith, High Commissioner for Canada, donates a cup for the best Canadian score, and Lieuts. Weller and Munro are a tie at 170 and will shoot off for the trophy. The other winners of the Association's prizes will be announced on Friday.

The Canadian marksmen gave a garden party at their quarters at Bisley this evening. Messrs. Starke, Bruce and Macdonald, in full uniform, received the guests. Among those present were Colonels Trumbull, Mackinnon, Powers, Cotton and Gordon, General Herbert, Lord Waldegrave, Majors Bell and Roy, General Strange, Doctors Thornton and Deeks, Messrs. Colmer and Magee of Ottawa, and Mr. Wyld of Toronto. The secretary of the Canada Club presented the Smith Cup to Starke.

The Daily Graphic Prize was won by Davidson of the Kent Regiment. Campbell, the Canadian marksmen, won a small money prise in this contest.

FIRE IN HER BUNKERS.

The Little Steamer Elliott of Charlottetown, P.E.I., Had a Narrow Escape.

New York, July 24.—The British steamer Clenlora, which arrived here this morning from Hamburg, reports that on Tuesday, July 21, south of Shoal Light, a vessel bearing N.N.W., 20 miles the little steamer Elliott of Charlottetown, P.E.I., was spoken. Capt McDonald of the Elliott said he was on the voyage from Philadelphia for Halifax. That morning, the 21st, at 10 o'clock, a fire broke out in the bunkers, which extended to the main hold. Every effort was made to check the progress of the flames, and the captain believed that he had succeeded in getting the fire under control. No assistance was desired.

HE WOULD NOT WAIT.

SUMMER HYGIENE.

An excellent article on "Summer Hygiene," written by Marcia Duncan, M.D., appears in the July issue of Demorest's Family Magazine. It will doubtless be of interest to our readers, and is as follows:

Many persons are laying up for themselves, not "treasures in heaven," but days of painful reckoning here, because they are too heedless to recognize the fact that they should adapt their daily habits of life to the changes of temperature in the varying seasons. During the summer months we should make as complete a change in our manner of living as our duties will permit.

The diet is the first thing that needs regulating when the thermometer begins to ascend the eccentric and alarming heights. Everything should be done now to keep the body cool, and the food it consumes has as much to do with this as the manner in which we clothe it. For this reason the hearty eater of greasy meats, fats and oils, and unlimited quantities of starchy foods, always suffers more on a hot day than his temperate comrade who sensibly restricts his diet to sparing rations of lean meat with plenty of fresh fruits and vegetables. It is understood, of course, that those who are engaged in active work require in summer as much food to repair the waste of tissues—sometimes accelerated at this season—as at any time; but it should be of a cooling nature, for the heat-producing foods that form an important part of the winter diet not only cause immediate discomfort in the rise of the body's temperature, but also entail upon the digestive organs an unnecessary and dangerous tax.

We should save to spend, all through these months, and relegate all unnecessary tasks, mental and physical, to more favorable days. Over exertion of any organ is trebled in danger under the climatic conditions of our erratic summer, and we should endeavor to so regulate our occupations as to lessen the high pressure and intense absorption which, always a menace to health, become little short of slow suicide during the season of torrid waves. There is a something in the atmosphere which encourages perplexing and baffling conditions most unfavorable to intense application, and, at the same time, favors the development of all the ills that flesh is heir to if the healthful tone of any organ be allowed to fall below the normal condition.

Nature gives us an example of what summer should be for all human beings. It is the season of growth, and men and women, like children, should be growing, not tiring themselves. This does not imply idleness; work in moderation is necessary alike for growth and development and health and happiness. But after many months of the closest application, when body and mind both give unmistakable evidence of the strain they have been under, we should lighten our tasks, change our occupations where possible and store up strength for the next race. Everything in Nature favors this, if we try to adapt ourselves to her conditions. She provides us abundantly with delicious fruits and vegetables; and when these form the principal part of the diet, supplemented with milk, eggs, and cereals, with fish, poultry, and lean beef and mutton used sparingly, other things being favorable, people enjoy the best health and suffer little discomfort from extreme heat.

The Frenchman, not without reason, calls our iced drinks, "American poisons." As a matter of fact, cool spring water will allay thirst much better than iced water; but it is very difficult to convince those addicted to the iced water habit of this fact. The grave harm caused by iced water is from swallowing it quickly and in large quantities. If sipped slowly and held in the mouth for a moment, the temperature is raised appreciably before it reaches the stomach, and its cooling effects reach that part of the body where they are most needed—the head, throat and upper part of the chest. For this reason ice cream is much less dangerous than iced water; we eat it slowly, and it is not only entirely melted, but also perceptibly warmed, before it enters the stomach.

This well-known fact, which everone can verify for himself, is entirely ignored by those alarmists who draw so harrowing pictures of the internal economy, representing the stomach and its contents as almost paralyzed by the suddenly congealing influence of the introduction of a mass of frozen cream. Of course if this were so the danger would be immense, for when the stomach is attending to its appointed duties—actively engaged in the process of digestion—it is a little furnace, and any tampering with its fires results in the immediate discomforts of its owner and overseer. When you deluge it with ice water you put out the fires, and arrested digestion means acute pain and much discomfort. Don't ask it to do so much work when the thermometer goes above 80 degrees; then the fires will not have to be so hot, and you will not suffer from what you feel is a consuming thirst.

All the time possible in the summer should be spent in the open air, and too much attention cannot be given to the ventilation of sleeping rooms. Fresh air should have the sweep of the whole house at some hour in the day, and the sunshine, too, be admitted freely, except through those torrid waves when suffering humanity, with an instinct of self-preservation, seeks the darkness. On an ordinary summer day, with the temperature at about 75 degrees, the sun should be recognized as one of nature's most beneficent influences for growth and health. We should admit its purifying influence as much as possible to our homes, and be out under its blessed rays ourselves.

In planning our amusements and recreations we should adapt them also to the temperature, and never attempt on extremely hot days out-of-door games nor take long bicycle rides. There are always plenty of days when we can do all these things with the greatest benefit; but we can utterly defeat and undo all the good derived from a month's vacation well spent by obstinately—we call it "firmly," when we do it ourselves—carrying out some programme which chances to fall on an unfavourable day and causes us to become greatly heated and overfatigued.

TO PROTECT THE U.S. TREASURY

New York Bank Magnates Raise Many Millions of Gold—Efforts to Prevent Export of the Metal.

New York, July 22.—The movement inaugurated Monday to protect the treasury gold reserve made further and important progress to-day and is brought with it a firmer and more confident tone for stocks and bonds generally. President Tappen has thus far secured tenders of sixteen millions of gold and there is no doubt the total will reach the amount originally decided upon, namely, twenty millions. Up to the close of business $7,750,000 of this gold had been turned into the sub-treasury, and if occasion warrants it the remainder can be handed over within the next 24 hours.

There was another development to-day which promises to be far-reaching in its beneficial effects and that is the desire of the foreign bankers to assist local capitalists in their policy of keeping the treasury gold at the hundred million mark. It is obvious that the home bankers would have their work for nothing, if gold exports should continue on the same scale as they have since April last.

With a view of correcting this evil, Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan to-day invited the representatives of the leading foreign exchange houses and others who ship gold to a conference at his office. The conference was largely attended, and, after the meeting, Mr. Morgan issued the following statement:

"An informal meeting was held to-day at the office of Messrs. J. Pierpont Morgan & Company, of foreign bankers, who met to consider what could be done to prevent or diminish gold exports, or in any other way in their power to assist in the maintenance of the gold reserve, supplemental to the action of the banks in putting their gold at the disposal of the treasury. A committee was appointed, to which the whole subject was referred to formulate a plan."

While nothing of an official character was known, the general impression is that the foreign bankers have practically agreed to supply the wants of remitters until the crops begin to move. The street is firmly convinced that the deal with the foreign bankers will be carried through and for this reason the withdrawal of over two million gold from the sub-treasury to-day caused no uneasiness. Of this two million a Canadian bank took out $200,000.

DROWNED AT A PICNIC.

Lawyer William Cline of Port Huron Loses His Life by the Capsizing of His Boat.

Corunna, Ont., July 22.—A sad drowning accident cast a gloom over the happy picnic at Stag Island at 4 o'clock this afternoon, when Lawyer William Cline of Port Huron, Mich., met a watery grave in the blue St. Clair. It appears that the deceased, in company with J. J. Cronan, J. H. Boardman and Dr. Henderson, left the island in a small boat to take part in a fishing tournament. When about 100 feet off the Canadian shore the boat in some unaccountable way capsized, leaving the unfortunate men struggling in the water. Mr. Cline started to swim ashore, but soon turned back to the boat, when he sank. He leaves a widow and two children. He weighed 175 pounds and was 45 years of age. He was a member of the Anglers' Protective Club of Port Huron. His body has not been recovered.

The big, hearty, healthy man is a continual irritation to his dyspeptic friend. Constipation is the root of nine-tenths of the sickness of men, and of a large proportion of the sickness of women. It can be cured easily, naturally and quickly. Nature is continually working as hard as she can to throw off impurities, and to force out poisonous refuse matter. When there is an impediment, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets set the wheels working again without any trouble. They assist nature in a gentle, healthful, efficient way. There is nothing violent about their action, and yet it is just as certain as if it were twice as violent. "You do not become a slave to their use." They are different and better than any other pill for the cure of constipation, headache and kindred derangements. Almost all druggists understand this, and are conscientious enough to tell you so. The druggist who tries to sell you a substitute is not a safe man from whom to buy medicine. Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

A New Pipe

FITTED WITH

HERR PFLUNGER'S CARTRIDGES

which absorbs the hurtful acrid matter that accmulates in the ordinary tobacco pipe, and prevents the nicotine poison which produces most of the ill effects arising from smoking.

Sir Morrell Mackenzie,

the late celebrated English Throat Specialist, wrote the following opinion of Herr Pflunger's invention:—

DEAR SIR,—I think that Herr Pflunger's invention is a very good one. I have tried it and find that it answers well. The only suggestion that I can make is that it should have an additional mouthpiece which could be screwed into the proximate extremity of the pipe so as to make the stem twice the length it now is. This would lower the temperature of the smoke as it comes into the mouth. That the smoke should be cool is almost as important as that it should be free from acrid matters. You are at liberty to make whatever use of this letter that you may think fit.

Yours Truly,
MORRELL MACKENZIE.

THEY DEMAND SILVER.

The Free Silverites Declare That the U.S. Has Been Injured by Maintaining a Gold Standard.

St. Louis, July 24.—The Committee on Resolutions of the silver convention completed its work this afternoon by adopting the platform and address to the people which had been prepared by the sub committee. The platform and address are as follows:

First—The paramount issue at this time in the United States is indisputably the money question. It is between the British gold standard, gold bonds and bank currency on the one side and the bi-metallic standard, no bonds, Government currency, and all American policy on the other. On this issue we declare ourselves to be in favor of a distinctively American financial system. We are unalterably opposed to the single gold standard, and demand the immediate return to the constitutional standard of gold and silver, by the restoration by this Government, independently of any foreign power, of the unrestricted coinage of both gold and silver into standard money at the ratio of 16 to 1, and upon terms of exact equality as they existed prior to 1873, the silver coin to be of full legal tender, equally with gold, for all debts and dues, public and private.

We demand such legislation as will prevent the future the destruction of the legal tender quality of any kind of money by private contract.

We hold that the power to control and regulate a paper currency is inseparable from the power to coin it, and hence that all currency intended to circulate as money should be issued and its volume controlled by the general Government only and should be a legal tender.

We are unalterably opposed to the issue by the United States of interest-bearing bonds in time of peace, and we denounce as a blunder worse than a crime the present Treasury policy concurred in by a Republican House of plunging the country into debt by hundreds of millions in the vain attempt to maintain the gold standard by borrowing gold; and we demand the payment of all coin obligations of the United States as provided by existing laws, in either gold or silver coin at the option of the Government and not at the option of the creditor.

We affirm to be unquestioned that there can be no such economic paradox as over-production and at the same time tens of thousands of our fellow-citizens remaining half-clothed and half fed, and who are piteously clamoring for the common necessities of life.

Inasmuch as the patriotic majority of the Chicago Convention embodied in the financial plank of its platform the principles enunciated in the platform of the American Bi-metallic Party, promulgated at Washington on Jan. 22, 1896, and herein reiterated, which is not only the paramount, but the only real issue in the pending campaign, therefore, recognizing that their nominees embody these patriotic principles, we recommend that this convention nominate William J. Bryan of Nebraska for President, and Arthur Sewall of Maine for Vice-President.

THE POPULIST CONVENTION.

Committee on Resolutions Frames Its Planks on the Money Question.

St. Louis, July 23.—The Committee on Resolutions appointed by the Populist convention, assembled at 12.30 o'clock at the Lindell Hotel and was called to order by James B. Weaver of Iowa. General Weaver won the Chairmanship by a majority of one vote, the total cast being 22 to 21. Robt. Schilling of Wisconsin was made secretary of the committee.

The various sub-committees got together at 9 o'clock to night for the purpose of putting their planks into a harmonious whole, but it is said that midnight will arrive before final action is taken, if then.

The preamble will re-affirm the declaration of the Omaha platform. The financial platform as reported to the full committee and as it will be reported to the convention to-morrow, is as follows:

First, we demand a national currency, safe and sound, issued by the general government, only a full legal tender for all debts, public and private, and receivable for all debts due the Government, and that with the use of banking corporations, a just, equitable, efficient means of distribution, direct to the people, through the lawful disbursements of the Government.

Second, we demand the free and unrestricted coinage of silver and gold, at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, by the United States, and that without awaiting the consent of foreign nations.

Third, we demand that the volume of the circulating medium be speedily increased to an amount sufficient to meet the demands of the business and population of this country, and to restore the level of prices, labor and production, and thereby re-establish the prosperity and happiness of the people.

Fourth, we denounce the Democratic and Republican plicies that seek to enslave our people by the issuance of interest-bearing United States bonds, to be sold on English and foreign markets, and stedfastly adhere to an American policy that will produce revenue sufficient to maintain legitimate and economic expenses.

Fifth—We demand such legislation as will prevent the demonetization of lawful money of the United States by private contract.

Sixth—We demand that the Government in payment of its obligations, shall use its option as to the kind of lawful money in which it shall pay them, and we denounce the present and preceding administration for surrendering this option to the holders of the obligations.

Seventh—We demand a proper income tax, to the end that aggregated wealth shall bear its just proportion of taxation.

Eighth—We demand that postal savings banks be established by the Government for the safe deposit of the savings of the people and to facilitate exchange.

In the convention, on a call of States, the Bryan men carried the day by a decisive vote of 758 to 564. The middle of the road men yielded gracefully and Cyclone Davis, the most active opponent of Mr. Bryan, introduced Senator Allen to the convention. The permanent chairman soon restored order to the proceedings and pushed them along, previously making a characteristic speech of an hour or more.

The Committee on Rules reported in favor of limiting the nominating speeches to-morrow to ten minutes for proposers and five minutes for seconders. After some little opposition, a Committee on Conference was authorized to meet a similar committee appointed by the Silver party's convention, and at 10.05 p.m. the Populists adjourned until to-morrow, when they may possibly succeed in adopting a platform, nominating a ticket and adjourning.

The Silver convention did little but listen to oratory and music, and wait the action of the Populists.

INTERCOLONIAL TRADE.

Manager Thompson of the Ogilvie Milling Company Relates Some Interesting Details—The Australian Service.

Montreal, July 23.—(Special.)—Manager Thompson of the Ogilvie Milling Company, Winnipeg, in an interview to-day says: "Business in Manitoba has been, on the whole, very good during the past year. Our own firm is now doing quite a trade with Australia, which promises to become a new and important outlook. To give you some idea of how this trade with the sister colonies has grown, I may say that during my stay in Montreal I have received word that all space on the Australian boats has been contracted for as far as the end of October, and many shipments are being made by way of China, the competition in rates from San Francisco making this possible.

"The people of Winnipeg are still hopeful that something may yet be done for the Hudson Bay Railway, although of course the change of Government has dashed their hopes of immediate assistance. Personally, I think the scheme is quite feasible and the road would be useful for the cattle shipments."

TO WIND UP A BANK.

A Petition Presented in the English Courts to Liquidate the Commercial Bank of Australia.

London, July 23.—A petition has been presented to the English courts asking for the winding up of the Commercial Bank of Australia on the ground that it is unable to pay its debts. The bank's report for the half year ending June 30 shows a debit balance of £24,000.

The Times, in its issue to-morrow, will deprecate the position, which, it says, may possibly excite another panic in Australia. Anyhow, it adds, it would have been fairer to have awaited the approaching meeting of the deposit holders in Melbourne.

THOUSANDS WERE KILLED

Mohammedan Rebels Almost Totally Annihilate 6000 Chinese Troops Sent to Suppress Them.

Vancouver, B.C., July 22.—Chinese advices to July 8, received here to-day, say that the Mohammedan rebels at Tanchue have routed and almost totally annihilated the force of 6000 Imperial troops that were sent to suppress them. The rebels are now said to be marching through the country, killing and pillaging on all sides. The authorities now purpose sending 3000 troops, but these will, doubtless be killed like the others. It is estimated that it will take at least 50,000 troops to subdue the Mohammedans.

Every July we start a GREAT CUT DOWN all along the line in Prices of our Superior Men's, Boys' and Children's Ready-Made Clothing, Ordered Clothing, Suitings, Trouserings, Furnishings, &c. WE ARE FIGHTING FOR CASH now and, in the Reduced Prices, you will find abundant evidence that the fight is to a finish.

When you see "The City Clothing Store" cutting the prices to a point which means, in many cases, a genuine loss, you may rest assured that it means something away out of the ordinary.

A Cool Suggestion

"Montserrat" Lime Fruit Juice is, without exception, the king of summer drinks. Cooling, fragrant and delightfully pleasant. It should be on every table during the hot weather, and is always to be had where summer drinks are sold. No other drink is so wholesome and refreshing.

It can be taken with plain or ærated water, claret and soda or spirits of any kind.

If a Lime Juice Cordial is required "Limetta" will be found the finest article of its kind on the market. 76

To Exempt Bikes from Seizure.

The Toronto World says:—Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.L.A. for Peterborough registered at the Rossin last night. He is here for the purpose of looking after some title questions for his constituents in the Crown Lands Department. By the way, Mr. Stratton told The World last night that he proposed introducing a measure in favor of bicyclists at the next session of the House. The bill will provide that a man's wheel shall be exempt from seizure under a county execution, just as a mechanic's tools, or certain household furniture are exempt. Mr. Stratton says that in many cases a bicycle is necessary to a man's earning a livelihood and should not be taken from him.

RAILWAY INSPECTORS.

Some of the Canadian Pacific Railway Officials Visit the Town.

One of the neat little inspection engines of the Canadian Pacific railway paid a visit to Peterborough yesterday, when Mr. J. Hershberg, Mr. T. L. Brady and Mr. J. J. Ross made an inspection of the line. The chief attention in Peterborough was paid to the spur line to the Dickson Company's mills, and in the course of their inspection of it a remark was passed as to the probability of having the town side of it filled in. This would be a good thing for the town, particularly if the council's application for the deed of the lots lying along the foreshore has been granted by the Ontario Government.

The inspection engine was a great attraction for a number of our citizens, being very compact and polished up in a beautiful manner, such as is bound to catch the eye. There is seating room in it for about six people, and the coach part is to the front and is entered over the tender, the engineer's cab being immediately behind. For a small engine it can travel very fast and runs along very steadily.

The inspectors left to inspect the western lines.

SERVICES AT THE S. D. A. MISSION TENT.

A Review of the Sanctuary Question as Presented on Thursday Evening.

The introductory of the discourse on Thursday evening was a review of the sanctuary question which had been presented on Tuesday evening. The earthly tabernacle and priesthood was a type of the heavenly sanctuary, and the ministrations connected therewith.

The cleansing of the earthly sanctuary on the tenth day of the seventh month typified the cleansing of the heavenly in 1844, when the 2300 days of Dan. viii, 14 ended. The speaker plainly showed this service to be the investigative judgment, hence the solemn proclamation (in 1844) "the hour of God's judgment is come," not was to come, but "is come." This note of warning constitutes the first angel's message of Rev. xiv, 6 and 7. Two other messages follow in quick succession, as will be noticed by reading further on in the same chapter. These will be noticed in future discourses.

Services at the tent (corner of George and McDonel streets) on Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings, also on Sunday at 2.30 o'clock.

MAN PROPOSES, BUT—

Sad Death of a Traveller in Belleville Last Night.

David Fleming, traveller for Gault Bros. of Montreal, for the past twenty-five years, died of apoplexy this morning at Belleville. Mr. H. LeBrun received a postal card this morning from deceased written last night, stating that he would be here on Saturday, the intention being to pass Sunday on Stony Lake at Mr. LeBrun's cottage. Not an hour afterwards Mr. LeBrun received a telegram from Belleville, stating that Mr. Fleming had been found dead in bed this morning, and a little later on a telegram was received from the house of Gault Bros., Montreal. Mr. Fleming had been a warm personal friend of Mr. LeBrun for over twenty years, and was a great favourite amongst the Peterborough merchants as a whole.

NOT MR. JOYCE'S BOY.

The Boy at the Police Station Is Not Claimed by the Ottawa Man.

Mr. Lake Joyce arrived in town from Ottawa last night, only to find that the boy who is at the police station was not his long lost son, although the description tallied almost exactly and the lad actually stated that the photograph which had been sent on was of himself.

The boy has a different story to tell every time he is questioned concerning his parentage and certainly is possessed of a wonderful penchant for lying. He has been remanded to the county gaol for a week until further enquiries are made concerning him.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Will. Lech returned to the back lakes this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred. Wesley and party have broken up camp at Jubilee and returned to town.

Miss Minnie Clark, of Toronto, is visiting Mrs. Jno. A. Cameron and Mrs. Charles McClelland, her sisters.

Rev. W. M. Loucks, of Christ's church, Ottawa, and formerly of St. John's here, is holidaying at Amherst, N.S.

Mr. J. J. Turner, Jr., left last night for London, Eng. He will go via the S. S. Labrador, which sails from Montreal Saturday morning.

Mrs. F. Clancy and Mrs. F. Irwin, of Toronto, who have been visiting friends in town for the last week, leave for home to-morrow.

The Belleville Intelligencer says:—Miss Edith Johnson completed her holidays to-day and this evening will return to Peterborough. Miss Johnson will graduate from the Nicholls Hospital in Peterborough in October and intends taking a post-graduate course in one of the large hospitals in New York immediately afterwards.

Mr. F. H. Dobbin, manager of the Peterborough Review, Mr. Robt. Fair, Principal Fessenden, H. R. H. Kenner, of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, passed through town this afternoon on bike on their way home. These gentlemen have been on a cycling tour from Peterborough to Toronto and Rochester. They report an excellent.—Port Hope Times.

LACROSSE.

Tweed won from Belleville yesterday by six goals to three so a fast match may be expected on Monday afternoon when the Peterborough Juniors play the Tweeds on the P.A.A.A. grounds at half past four o'clock. The hour is a most convenient one, and the match should undoubtedly be liberally patronized. The fine work of the three juniors who played in the Orillia match was favourably commented upon, and the rest of the juniors are not far behind them in fast work.

No Rest, But Lots of Pleasure.

Work in the country during the spring and summer is more arduous and plentiful than at other times and yet the men don't seem to mind it nearly as much as the tasks which fall to their lot during the autumn and winter. To be out in the fields while nature smiles, glorying in her renewed emerald robes, is always a pleasure; but October's leaden skies and piercing winds, followed by winter's bitter gales, make everything a hardship. The best known antidote yet discovered for the woe, cold and frost of outdoor work in winter is a layer of Fibre Chamois through your garments. It gives splendid satisfaction, being light in weight, inexpensive and completely wind and frost proof.

Men who suffer from mental worry and overwork will find prompt relief in Miller's Compound Iron Pills. 50 doses, 25 cents.

LINDSAY CHEESE BOARD.

An Unsatisfactory Meeting—Prices Low and Buyers not Anxious to Purchase at 6¾c—1,400 Boxes Boarded.

Lindsay Post.

The regular monthly meeting of Victoria county cheese board took place in the council chamber here Thursday morning at 11 o'clock. President Robertson, Vice-President Cruess and Sec. J. L. Read, were in attendance. The buyers present were Messrs. Whitton, Fitzgerald and Flavelle.

The factories boarded the following quantities:

Star	100
Lorneville	95
Cameron	73
Dunsford	77
Mariposa	80
Derryville	45
Cambray	70
Janetville	65
Fenelon Falls	90
North Verulam	72
Minden	45
Leaskdale	60
Valentia	73
North Ops	50
Kinmount	105
Maple Leaf	65
Pearboro	110
Bobcaygeon	135
Ingoldsby	55

Mr. Whitton opened the ball by bidding 6¾ for selections.

Mr. Cruess pointed out that at Peterborough on Tuesday a sale had been made 7 1-16c. and that twenty factories had received 7c.

Mr. Whitton—"They paid too much; I bought every box on Campbellford board Tuesday evening at 6¾c." He then named Fenelon Falls, North Verulam, Derryville, Janetville, Maple Leaf and Dunsford, all accepting.

Messrs. Fitzgerald and Flavelle also offered 6¾c. for selections. The former named, Bobcaygeon, Star, Pearboro and North Ops, but the salesmen of the two first named factories refused the offer. Mr. Fitzgerald then offered a sixteenth better to Bobcaygeon and Mariposa but without success.

Mr. Flavelle picked Cameron, Valentia, Minden and Lorneville. Mariposa and Cambray refused to sell at 6¾c.

Mr. Whitton then offered to take Leaskdale subject to inspection at Belleville, and the offer was accepted. Kinmount was also included, but refused as the salesman said the last inspection had not been satisfactory to the patrons.

The remaining factories decided to hold their cheese till next meeting, two weeks hence.

LINES

ON THE DEATH OF THOMAS DORIS.

A loving one from us is gone,
A gentle voice is stilled;
But in the realms beyond the clouds
Another seat is filled.

Cold death claimed you so suddenly,
We scarcely could believe
That you were going to leave us,
Until you ceased to breath.

In the bloom of life you've gone to rest,
So free from care and pain;
But in the mansion of the blessed
We hope to meet again.

Dear friends how fast time glides along,
Soon we must join the other throng;
Our friends like autumn leaves by tempest whirled,
Are swept forever from this busy world.

Then sisters, brothers, weep not for thy brother dear,
He is at rest;
Beyond the reach of suffering and of care—
Among the blest.

And mourn not dear ones, for thy con-in's death,
Dust must to dust return;
But his bright soul is now within the urn,
Thou'l't all greet soon.

Thoughtful Mrs. Jorkins.

"Are you going to the convention, pa?" asked thoughtful Mrs. Jorkins, as they sat down to supper.

"Yes, Mrs. J., I start to-morrow morning."

"Well, I have the pictures all ready."

"What pictures, Mrs. J.?"

"The family portraits," answered Mrs. Jorkins, serenely.

"Is thy servant a traveling art gallery that he should do this thing?"

"I put in the silhouette of great-grandmother Smith, and the ambrotypes of grandmother Jones, and Aunt Sally Ann Green, and one of her husband, who went to congress, the photograph of mother Jorkins and yours when you were a baby, and again when you were 5 years old, and all your grown-up——"

"Mrs. J., will you stop? Now, will you allow me to ask what in thunder you mean?"

"Why, my dear, I thought you might be elected for something before you got back, and the newspapers would want to print all the family likenesses, and it would save express rates if you had them with you."

"Thunder!" said Mr. Jorkins, "but you are thoughtful! Chuck 'em in with the rest of the baggage," and he vainly tried to look as if he objected to the plan.

ST. LUKE'S S. S. PICNIC.

Highland Park was the Objective Point —An Ideal Spot for an Outing.

With splendid weather and a large crowd of adults and children of St. Luke's Sunday school and congregation, the North Star and palace scow attached sailed down the river to Highland Park, to enjoy their annual Sunday school picnic. This beautiful point should be popular, for it combines the chief requisites for a good excursion ground, viz: plenty of shade for tea and repose, with dry and level meadow for games and races. From four o'clock until seven games and races were indulged in, whilst the Sunday school teachers provided an excellent tea for all comers.

On the return journey the children were supplied with candies by the liberality of one of the Sunday school officers, and Col. H. C. Rogers distributed the prizes won in the races.

Following is the list:

OUR LACROSSE BOYS DOWN THE ORILLIAS

BY A SCORE OF FIVE GOALS TO ONE.

The Visitors Home Men Could Do Nothing Against the Peterborough Defence and the Local Home Men Played Rings Around the Orillia Guards.

The largest attendance of the season graced the grandstands at the P. A. A. A. grounds yesterday when hundreds of the citizens turned out to witness the lacrosse game between the Peterboroughs and the Orillias. The visitors, however, were hardly fast enough to make the game exciting, although at spasmodic intervals they besieged the Peterborough goal in a manner which gave the local defence an opportunity of showing the material of which they were made and they stood the test in a manner which proved them fully as fast as the famous Peterborough home division. Dobbin didn't have much to do in goal but made one beautiful stop which brought him a cheer. Brown played his usual steady game at point and his fine catches and long throws were greatly admired, as were Lynch's. The latter player was on for the first time this season and did some exceptionally fine work. Mein was all there when he was called upon and was very sharp in his checking. Glover gave a good account of himself and his relieving was brilliant at times, but he did not have much opportunity for extending himself, as early in the game, after making a magnificent throw, he fell over his cheek and the weight of the fall coming on his right arm, it was dislocated. Drs. McGrath and King quickly remedied the difficulty, but Roly was through for the day. Wasson was taken on in his place. "Billy" Borland who has been playing very fast this year acquitted himself well yesterday, and of course Tom. McDonough played his usual hard game at centre, his sprinting powers being of good service. Rubidge, Lipsett and Galley delighted the spectators with their pretty combination play and time and again the spectators encouraged them with hearty cheers as through their nice manoeuvring the ball would be carried down through the Orillia defence without touching the ground until the shot was made on goal. McCabe and King did around the flags and the latter was closely watched as this was his first senior game. Though, of course, not as proficient a stick handler as the older members, Lionel's play gave promise of becoming very fast when he has been developed through a little more practice. When Glover dislocated his arm King was put on the defence and did even better work there than on the home. Wasson, who at the time was taken on, played inside home with his usual dash and vim, although greatly hampered by the fact that he has done no practicing to speak of this year.

The work of the Peterborough defence was made a great deal easier by the fact that the home division of the visitors spread themselves out from the flags and when they did secure the ball there was plenty of time for the Peterborough defense to mass themselves in front of the goal and save it. Peard played a magnificent game on the defense for the visitors.

The two teams lined up as follows:—

Orillias.		Peterborough.
C Hammond	Goal	F Dobbin
M O'Conner	Point	F Lynch
D O'Connor	Cover Point	J Brown
W Peard	First Defence	J Mein
W Dunn	Second Defence	R Glover
T Thompson	Third Defence	W Borland
J Curran	Centre	T McDonough
R Quinn	Third Home	P Rubidge
J Blain	Second Home	G Lipsett
G Armstrong	First Home	W Galley
D McKay	Outside Home	J McCabe
J C Quinn	Inside Home	L King
J Peard	Field Captain	E Wasson
H R H Kenner	Umpire	L LeBar

Referee—H Phelan.

The ball was faced at three o'clock and an attack was immediately made on the Peterborough flags, but Lynch relieved. Back came the ball again, but Glover's long throw transferred the scene of operations to the visitors' territory, and King got a shot, nearly scoring. Some pretty combination work between the two Quinn boys, resulting in the first game going to the Orillias in five minutes.

In the second game the Orillias seemed to have things somewhat their own way on the start, but by this time the local defence had warmed up and began to play rings around their opponents and the play was soon all on Orillian territory. King made a splendid shot, which was well stopped by the goalkeeper and Peard relieved. The ball was speedily returned by Glover and Galley taking the rubber out of a scrimmage scored in five minutes.

THE NEXT GOAL

was scored in less time than it takes to tell it. McDonough took it at centre, passed to Galley, who when pressed passed it back to McDonough again and the latter scored. Time ½ minute. Score 2 1 in favor of Peterborough.

Orillia did some neat passing at the opening of the fourth game, but Mein by quick work got the ball and relieved. Up and down travelled the rubber, the defence men on both sides doing some great work. Rubidge and Lipsett did some pretty work but failed to score. Lynch showed up splendidly relieving time and again and Brown got in some of his long throws which are so astonishing when the marvellous celerity of their return is considered. Dot never keeps a ball on his stick any longer than strictly necessary. It was in this game that Glover met with his misfortune and had to retire, King going in his place on defence and Wasson taking King's place on the home. After resuming play, King did some good work on defence and passed to Galley, who tipped to Rubidge, who in turn passed to Lipsett, the latter scoring in just a minute after play was resumed.

BERNIE RUTHERFORD

was taken on as field captain in Wasson's place and acquitted himself with a great deal of credit, being quick and accurate in his judgment.

At the opening of the fifth game Peterborough's home did the prettiest piece of the prettiest piece of passing of the day, much to the delight of the spectators. A shot was made on goal and the umpire's hand went up, but as many thought the ball had not gone through, the game was not counted. In eleven minutes Borland made a low shot down the field and as each Peterborough man held his cheek's stick down firmly the ball travelled all the way in to McCabe before it was touched. Jack made a shot on goal and as Ernie Wasson forced his cheek's stick to earth at the same instant the shot scored. Time 11 minutes. Score 4 to 1 in favour of Peterborough.

The sixth game started out fast and the Orillias made a great effort to score and nearly succeeded, but Dobbin saved his flags by, perhaps, the finest stop seen on the P. A. A. A. grounds for many a day. Fighting hard to avoid being defeated by five goals to one the visitors did their best. They only postponed their doom, however, as in 23 minutes King passed to Lipsett who tipped to Galley when the latter scored.

As the visitors were anxious to take the five o'clock train for home the match was called at this juncture and Orillia retired from the field after having taken the worst beating ever inflicted on her lacrosse team. As Peterborough has thus asserted her prowess by beating such a team an effort ought to be made to bring the Torontos down for a game.

FRESH AIR.

The following appeared a generation ago in the New York Independent:—

A APELE FOR ARE: 2 THE SEXTANT OF THE OLD BRICK MEETIN'OUSE.

(By A. Gasper.)

O sextant of the meetin' 'ou-e, which sweeps
And dust, or is suppose too! and makes fires,
And lites the gas, and sometimes leaves a scrub loose,
In which case it sme'ls orful—wus nor lam-pile:
And wrings the bel, and totes it when men dyes,
To the grief er survivin pardners; & sweeps paih:
And for these services gits $100 per annum,
Which them that thinks deer, let them try it;
Gettin up before star-lite in all wethers, and Ki dlin' fires when the weather is as cold
As Nero, and like as not green wood for kindlin's;
I wouldn't be hired to do it for no some.
But O, Sextant! there are 1 kemoddity
Worth more than gold, which doan't cost nothink—
Worth more than anythink except the sole of Manu:—
I mean pe er are, Sextant! I mean power are!
O, it is plenty out o' doors, so plenty it doan't no
What on airth to do with it self, but flies about
Scaterin' leaves and blowin' off men's hatts.
In short, it's jest as free as are outdores,
But O, Sextant, in our church its as scarce as piety,
Scarce as bankbills when ajants beg for missions,
Wich sum say is purty often, (taint nothin' to me;
Wot I give ain't nothin' to nobody); but O, Sextant,
U shet 500 men, wimin & children,
Speshaly the latter, up in a tite place,
Sum has bad breths, none ain't 2 sweets,
Sum is fevery, sum is scrofu ous, sum has bad teeth,
And sum hain't none & sum ain't over clean;
But 1 of em brethes in an out, and out and in,
Say 50 times a minit, or 1 million & a half brethe an our,
Now how long will a church ful of are last at that rate,
I ask you? say 15 minits, and then wots to be did;
Why then they mus brethe it all over agin,
And then agin, & so on till each has took it down
At least 10 times, & let it up again. And wots more,
The same individdible doant have the privilege
Of breathin' his own are and no one's else;
Each one must take whatever comes to him,
O, Sextant, doan't you know our lunks is bellus-es
To blo' the fier of life and keep it from Going out; & how can bellusses blo' without wind?
And ain't wind ARE? I put it to your consent.
Are is same to us as milk to babies,
Or water is to fish, or pendlums to clox,
Or roots and sirbs unto an Injun doctor,
Or little pills unto an omepath,
Or boys to girls. Are is for us to breath;
Wot signifies who preaches if I can't breathe?
Wots Pol. wots Polus to sinners who are ded?
Ded for want of breth? Why, sextant, when we dye,
It's only cos we can't breathe no more—that's all.
And now, O, Sextant, let me beg of you
I let a little are inter our church,
(Fewer are is certing propper for the pews),
And do it week days & on Sundays to.
It ain't much truble—only make a hoal,
And all the are will cum of itself.
It lures to cum in where it can get warm,
And O how it will rouse the people up,
And spirit up the preacher and stop gapes,
And yauns and fijitts as effectual
As wind on the dry Beans and Profit talks Of.

AN ALARMING INCREASE.

The Prevalence of Female Complaints Found to Result Largely From the Kidneys.

Saginaw, Mich., July 13.—Doctors are beginning to turn their attention more exclusively to the causes for the great increase of what are known as female complaints during the past ten years, and to the remedies for the same. Many cases have been investigated, and among others that of Mrs. Remy of Ashland, Wis., who was cured of this form of trouble by the use of a kidney medicine known as Dodd's Kidney Pills, which originated in Canada, but has now become widely known and used throughout the Western States. This and other similar cases go to show that these troubles are largely due to the kidneys, and that the above mentioned remedy is likely to have a great effect in lessening the number of victims to this form of complaint.

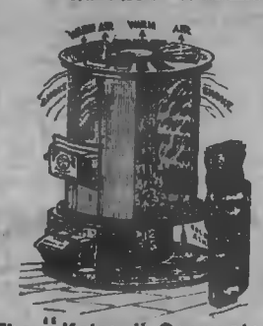
The Most Economical House Warmer



The "Kelsey" Corrugated Warm Air Generator.

Any ordinary Hot Air Furnace will produce heat if you will only supply enough fuel. The "Kelsey" has several special and valuable features but most important is that it will give more heat with less fuel and is the most durable heater made.

The "Kelsey" fire pot being constructed of several upright, tubular, corrugated, cast iron sections (see cut) around which the fire passes and up through which the cold air passes while being heated, and this entire section being wrapped with a heavy steel casing which becomes heated by the fire striking it when passing down outside of upright sections towards smoke pipe, it in turn warms the air that passes up between this steel casing and the galvanized iron casing, this explains why the "Kelsey" has three times more radiating surface and warm air capacity than an ordinary Furnace. The "Kelsey" heats every room evenly, wherever located, with a nice, mild, healthful warm air that will not injure your furniture.

The "Kelsey" will heat rooms 60 feet distant.

The "Kelsey" does not heat your cellar.

The "Kelsey" is absolutely gas and dust proof.

Are You Aware—

That that beautiful singing quality of tone which is inherent to the Mason & Risch Piano, and which is spoken of by connoisseurs as the "Mason & Risch tone" has been attained only by many years of labor and costly experiment?

Do you know that it has taken many years to gather together the skilled artizans who are employed by this firm? Nearly every country in Europe is represented in their staff in the different departments—men who have been "imported" by them owing to their more than ordinary ability in some particular department of piano construction.

The Mason & Risch catalogue which is mailed free on application, gives a good idea of the different processes a high grade piano goes through before it is completed—an artist's instrument.

An important message often comes by telegraph, but the most important message that ever was delivered to mankind has been given to them through the newspapers. It is given again in this article.

It is the information that 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption can be completely and permanently cured. There is no doubt about it. The statement is not made recklessly, but after the experience of thousands has made it an indisputable fact. Consumption is not a disease of the lungs. It is a disease of the blood, which in weak lunged people manifests itself by the formation of tubercles in the lungs and the wasting away of lung tissue. The cure for consumption is simple. It consists in the administration of a medicine that will assist the lungs in throwing off tuberculous matter, and that will cleanse the system so that this refuse matter will be replaced by strong, healthy tissues. That sounds like a very simple operation, and yet consumption baffled the combined medical skill of the whole world for hundreds of years. Consumption was considered incurable until the advent of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This great remedy is the most wonderful blood purifier and strengthener that the world has ever known. It is the result of years of study and experiment, by a scientific physician and has been tested in every way by him for over 30 years. It has an unbroken record of success. It cures a great variety of diseases, because almost all diseases have their origin and support in impurity and weakness of the blood. As long as a man's blood is rich and pure, he is in no danger from diseases. The blood is the medium through which food is carried from the digestive system to all of the tissues of the body. If it carries impure things, or an insufficient quantity of good things, trouble will ensue. There is nothing about that so very hard to understand. It is perfectly plain and natural and rational. The "Golden Medical Discovery" puts the digestive system in perfect order, purifies and enriches the blood and so puts the whole body into perfect tune.

"DISCHARGED."

The Justice Had Private Information of His Own

The judge leaned forward to get a better view of the prisoner's face.

"Well," he said, "drunk and disorderly, were you? What have you got to say for yourself?"

"It's not true, y'r honor," the prisoner answered. "I ain't sayin' that I hadn't had nothin' to drink, but I wasn't drunk, y'r honor; not by a lot, I wasn't."

The prisoner was not a large man, and his countenance, naturally woebegone, was rendered almost pitiful by his anxiety.. The judge betrayed the least bit of interest. Usually he betrayed none at all.

"They tell me that you were found fighting with your wife."

"I wasn't, y'r honor. We was through fightin'. I had her licked an' was just poundin' her with a chair leg so's she'd remember it."

"What's your name?" asked the judge

"O'Rourke, y'r honor."

The judge showed even more interest.

"Where do you live? Out on Twelfth street?"

"Yes, y'r honor."

"Why, I know who you are. I remember you now. You say that you had your wife whipped?"

"There wasn't any more fight left in her, y'r honor."

"Discharged. You couldn't have been drunk. I've seen your wife. No drunken man could whip her."—Chicago Tribune.

They Have to Like It.

All the defeated candidates and all the friends of the defeated candidates are perfectly delighted with the ticket, of course. Their feelings probably must resemble those of the tenderfoot who ventured into a barroom out in one of the mining camps once upon a time, and, walking up to the bar, was asked what he would take.

"A pousse cafe, if you please," was his polite response.

"A what?" asked the astonished barkeeper.

"A pousse cafe, if you please," repeated the tenderfoot.

"Young man," said the barkeeper, "you'll take whisky; just ordinary, plain whisky, and you'll drink it out of a tin dipper. And you'll have to like it, too."

And the young man allowed that it was so.—Boston Herald.

Speaking of the Weather.

"Well, sir, they have the hottest weather and the deadest towns down in Georgia that I ever struck. Did I ever tell you what happened when I was in Restingtown last summer?"

"No, what was it? So still you could hear the day break?"

"You see, it was right in the midst of their hottest weather. The town caught on fire one night and burned, and no one noticed it. People thought the night was a trifle hotter than usual but they were used to it and never suspected a fire, until a shower came up along toward morning and they found their roofs gone."—Truth.

SHE BROKE IT TO HIM GENTLY.

A Summer Girl's Tenderness of Heart Rewarded.

It was at a summer resort, and she was swinging in a hammock with a very thoughtful air as her dearest friend came slowly around the side of the porch and whispered:

"Is he gone?"

The girl in the hammock nodded and went on swinging.

"And how did he take it?" went on the dearest friend. "Did he speak of suicide, or——"

"He did not," said the girl in the hammock. "He——"

"Oh, then, I suppose he called all his pride to the rescue, as they say in novels."

"Humph! If you ever saw a man that acted as they do in novels, it's more than I did," said the girl in the hammock. "They——"

"Oh, well, you needn't feel so badly about it. I'm sure it was very honorable of you to tell him that you are engaged, and before Algy has actually arrived, too. Many a girl would have waited until she was sure that he had not missed his train or anything like that before telling the only other man at the hotel that she——"

"You forget, dear, that Algy's sister arrived last night, and has nothing to distract her mind from letter writing."

"To be sure. Well, do tell me all about it. Did you break it to him gently?"

"Oh, very gently," replied the girl in the hammock, as she made a vicious dab at a mosquito. "You see, I could tell by his manner that something was coming. He kept clearing his throat as if about to speak, and then——"

"Oh, pshaw!" said the dearest friend, "lots of men are like that. You are kept wondering for half an hour whether they are getting ready to ask you to marry them or merely to suggest a cream soda——"

"He would open his mouth as if about to speak, then close it in silence," went on the girl in the hammock, without heeding the interruption. "I wished to spare him the pain of a rejection, so I said that I had something to tell him, and he replied that he, too, had something to say to me."

"Go on, do," breathed the dearest friend. "You are as mean as you can be to make me force it out of you. Now I'm always ready to share anything with my friends. Why, even last winter, when I had the measles, I——"

"I will tell you all about it, if you will only listen. I——"

"Oh, go on. I don't mind your groundless accusations—a girl who has just ruthlessly blighted a noble young life is——"

"H'm; I don't think that his is exactly blighted. He—there's the whistle of the train now; he was in time!"

"The train? Oh, I see," said the dearest friend. "Rather than witness your happiness with another, he has rushed away, anywhere, and——"

"Well, not exactly. When I told him that I was engaged to Algy, he said—"

"That he would never know another day's happiness in his life? I know. That is the rejected lover's first cue; he——"

"N-not exactly," replied the girl in the hammock. "He—he said that he was glad to hear it; he was to be married himself in September, and he had just received a telegram telling him to meet his affianced and her mother at the 3.15 train, and was wondering how on earth to tell me!"

And in the silence which followed the mosquitoes went on singing their low, sad song.

Revival of Trade.

Reports from the United States support the view that trade interests have vastly improved recently and that the business outlook for the future is encouraging. This will be welcome news to the people of Canada, since our own trade interest will be stimulated and improved. In nothing has this improvement been shown in a more marked way than in the increased sales of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. Times being dull everything not absolutely needed became a luxury and its sale became stationery. Now it is different. Sales have increased vastly, doubtless as it has proven the only safe, sure and painless remedy for corns, and wise people will use no other.

Experience Taught Her.

Mrs. Bowline had a tussle with that "gentleman peddler" who did College street so brown. He rang the bell and said, "Do you admit gentlemanly peddlers?"

"No, I don't," said Mrs. Bowline. "We don't admit nobody but tramps and dogs, and we don't want no furniture polish, young man."

"Can I see your mother?" said the peddler, trying the old game, with an insinuating smile, intended to soften the adamantine female heart.

Mrs. Bowline, who is 53 and rather fine looking, was up to his game.

"No, you can't," said she. "My mother is busy learning the two-step, but grandmamma and grandpapa are in. They are busy just now, because they are dressing my elder sister for the children's party this afternoon, but perhaps you can see them."

He didn't care to see the family.—Lewiston Journal.

They Were All Losers.

"Oh, I wonder whose pocketbook this is?" said a man, stooping down and picking a wallet out of the gutter.

Immediately a crowd gathered.

"Who lost a pocketbook?" he asked.

About ten out of the crowd of twenty immediately spoke up and said that they had been so unfortunate.

"Then, what kind of one is it?" asked finder of the man nearest him.

A detailed description followed, but the finder shook his head.

"This cannot be the one."

Another gave a description, and still another and another, but the real owner did not materialize.

"It's a funny thing," finally said the man who had found the pocketbook, "that there should be so many people right here together who had lost pocketbooks."—Louisville Commercial.

NOT A SICK DAY

For Over Thirty Years!

RESULT OF USING

AYER'S PILLS

"Ayer's Cathartic Pills for over thirty years have kept me in good health, never having had a sick day in all that time. Before I was twenty I suffered almost continually—as a result of constipation—from dyspepsia, headaches, neuralgia, or boils and other eruptive diseases. When I became convinced that nine-tenths of my troubles were caused by constipation, I began the use of Ayer's Pills, with the most satisfactory results, never having a single attack that did not readily yield to this remedy. My wife, who had been an invalid for years, also began to use Ayer's Pills, and her health was quickly restored. With my children I had noticed that nearly all their ailments were preceded by constipation, and I soon had the pleasure of knowing that with children as with parents, Ayer's Pills, if taken in season, avert all danger of sickness."—H. TALKED RATHER TOO MUCH.

Joke Was on Loquacious Sewing Machine Agent.

It was a warm day, and when he came into the room he wiped his brow with his pocket handkerchief and gasped just once before he began to talk. After that we did the gasping. "Madam," he said, addressing the largest woman in the room, who was not "the lady of the house," by any means, "I have called to introduce to your attention some of the most obvious advantages of the New House sewing machine. It runs noiselessly, can be taken apart and put together again by a mere infant, threaded in the dark and run on bedticking or muslin without change of gear. Oil does it good, but it positively does not need oiling once a year. To learn running it is mere play, and, best of all, its work cannot be pulled apart by a pair of elephants, though by a newly patented process things are so arranged that old gowns made by it are picked to pieces without trouble."

As he stopped to take breath, the "woman of the house" remarked, "I—," but he broke in with. "Of course you doubt my word. That is ever the fate of a self-respecting man who won't beg, and who goes from house to house introducing people to a labor-saving contrivance. I am not selling the machines. I would scorn to take an order. I merely desire you to accept a few of these circulars, and if you do not desire to brand me as a falsifier, to allow me to call again in the morning for your order. I think I see a smile of scorn on your face. You consider me an ordinary agent, and you will discharge the servant for admitting me to the house. Very well, ma'am, I can go, I will go. When you are sweltering over your summer sewing with an inferior machine, purchased at an exorbitant price, you will regret that you did not at least listen to me. Good-morning." And with a very sweeping bow, he left the room. There was silence for the space of half a second, and then some one asked the hostess, "What was it you tried to tell him that time?" "Oh, nothing important," she responded. "Merely that the machine I now own is a New House."—Boston Home Journal.

A Barb Wire Boomerang.

"I've effectually stopped those blamed dogs from digging up the lawn," said Mr. Baxter, as he sighed and dropped heavily into his chair at the breakfast table.

"What have you done, dear?" inquired Mrs. B. as she raised the lid and peered into the coffee pot.

Mr. Baxter chuckled.

"I got some pieces of barb wire and buried them in the lawn, sprinkling just enough dirt over them to hide their outlines. The first neighborhood dog that goes for that lawn will get a jolly pair of sore paws."

Mrs. Baxter joined in his laughter.

"That's a very clever idea, my dear," she sweetly said.

Just at that moment a frightful chorus of yelps and howls came from the front yard, and in rushed little John Wesley carrying the family pet dog.

"Oh, mamma," he cried, "Pippo's foot is all bleedin'."

Mrs. Baxter received the wounded dog in her matronly arms with a look of supreme contempt at her liege lord.

"John Wesley Baxter," she tressingly remarked, "of all the fool schemes I ever heard of, this last one of yours takes the blue ribbon for unmitigated idiocy."

And she swept from the room.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"Have tried others, but like Ayer's best" is the statement made over and over again by those who testify to the benefit derived from the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Disease never had a greater enemy than this powerful blood-purifier. It makes the weak strong.

KATY'S COQUETTING.

sure now, Katy, 'tis cruel the way that ye've thrated me.
Kapin' off at distance, as tho' ye quite hated me!
Ye're just scarin' me heart out to thramp-s upon it,
Yet ye used all yer wiles, O, ye witch, e'er ye won it!
Like a cat wid a mouse, ye delight in thormintin' me.
Goin' out of yer way, now, to kape from contintin' me;
But, O, Katy acushla, ye know when ye're cruel
To the flame Cupid's kindled ye're feedin' fresh fuel!
Ah, ye wicked coquette, ye well know that ye've chated me!
Wid yer locks and yer smiles, O, my beauty, ye baited me!
Since ye caught me, my queen, tho' to love ye pretended!
Bethune heaven and hell ye have kept me suspended!
And yit, Katy, mavourneen, don't think ye're deceivin' me,
Tho' a prey to dishpair ye'd delight to be givin' me,
Tho' ye've vowed ye'd not care if the grass grew above me,
Sphite of all now, asthore, ye know that ye love me!

INTERRUPTED BICYCLE PROPOSAL.

And Its Dire Results So Far as the Fair One Was Concerned.

She was young and fair, and that was evidently the reason why he brought out her bicycle with such promptness. She was wearing a suit of such perfection that it marked her as an amateur, and the druggist at the corner, glancing out of the window, asked his clerk an apparently irrelevant question concerning the supply of arnica in stock.

"Oh, I—I'm so frightened, Mr. Goldie," she quavered. "Do you really think I can ever learn?"

"Of course you can, Miss Daisy; just feel perfect confidence in me and——"

"Oh, but I always do that, Mr. Goldie. Oh—h, had I better try it to-day?"

"Well, er, just as you think." He glanced at the thermometer. "If you think it too warm to-day, Miss Annie said——"

"Oh, not a bit. I—I like warm weather. By the way, don't you think dear Annie a very grasping sort of a girl?"

"Most girls are grasping when they are learning to ride, Miss Daisy."

He led the wheel into the street and carefully assisted her to mount, upon which several window blinds in nearby residences began to move as if suddenly endowed with life.

"Now, all you have to do is to keep your feet on the pedals, and don't hesitate to lean on me, Miss Daisy. Why, bravo!" as the wheel moved evenly down the street.

"Am I doing quite right?" she asked.

"Wonderfully, Miss Daisy; why, you don't seem to need any help at all!" At this juncture, however, the wheel began to wobble and its fair burden gave the ghost of a scream.

"Wonderful, Miss Daisy! Why, to think that this is your first attempt to ride. I've never seen such——"

"Oh, I'm afraid you flatter me, Mr. Goldie. Of course, I've never tried to ride before, and I just know I'm awfully awkward. Oh, here comes poor, dear Annie with her little brother helping her to ride. Perhaps it would be kindness not to notice her."

"Perhaps so. Why, what a remarkable girl you are, Miss Daisy; I—I feel that a girl who can master a wheel on her first attempt would make a—Don't hesitate to lean on me, Miss Daisy."

"Oh, no, Mr. Goldie, you were saying?"

"Ah, yes, that a girl who can ride the first time she mounts a wheel would make——"

"Look out, there, Daisy," cried the girl who was wobbling down the street with the aid of a precocious looking small brother, "be careful in turning that corner; remember what a hard fall you got that way last week at the riding school!"

"You were saying, Mr. Goldie," said the pretty girl, without heeding the interruption, "that I would make a——"

"I was saying, Miss Falsely," replied the young man, and there were icicles in his voice, "that I am sure you would make a capital actress! By the way, as you do not seem to need my assistance, I think I shall go and help Miss Annie a bit."—Chicago Times-Herald.

ABOUT THE LIVER.

A lazy, slow or torpid liver influences the whole system, causing biliousness, sick headache, sallow complexion, languor and dullness. Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the liver, purifies the secretions and cures all forms of liver troubles. We say so and here is the proof:—

I hereby wish to thank you for the great benefit derived by me from your Burdock Blood Bitters. For three years I was troubled with liver complaint and tried everything to no purpose. I had almost given up hope until one day I determined to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I can say now that marked improvement resulted from the use of the first bottle and at the end of the sixth bottle I discontinued its use, being completely cured.

AN EXCEPTIONAL SALE.

St. John is Much Interested in the Recent Medical Discovery.

St. John, N.B., July 20.—The many cases of marvellous restoration to health from various forms of kidney trouble which have been constantly appearing in the daily press of the Dominion have for some time awakened the liveliest interest here, and the remedy by which the cures were effected namely, Dodd's Kidney Pills are obtaining great celebrity throughout the province. The appearance of the testimonials of Drs. Ross and McCormick stating the benefits which they had personally derived from their use was considered a sufficient sign of the merits of the remedy, and the other interesting and wonderful cases which since been chronicled had caused the specific to have an exceptional sale.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Am Now Completely Cured—So Says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What ills come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual, I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

BRANE AND BROWN.

Each Charging the Other With Capt. Nash's Murder.

THE INVESTIGATION AT HALIFAX

Brown Swears He Saw Brane Strike the Captain With the Axe—Brane says Brown is the Guilty Man—To Go to Boston for Trial.

Halifax, July 23.—It took two hours for Lester Monck to make a sworn statement at the Consul General's formal enquiry into the Fuller tragedy to-day. It was similar in all important respects to his story as already given in these despatches.

Brane, the alleged murderer, was examined after Monck had finished. He was taken from his cell under a special guard. Brane is a powerful-looking man, and certainly has a bad looking face. He said that he had never been asked on ship board if he committed the murders; there was no conspiracy between him and Brown. He said, in answer to another question: "I assure you I did not commit the murders."

He left Brown at the wheel to go forward, and while returning saw Monck with a revolver. The reason he threw the piece of wood at Monck was because he thought Monck was going to kill him.

Second Mate Brown's statement was to the following effect:

"I saw the mate go into the chart room and strike the captain with the ax and knock him off the couch. He then struck him while he was down."

Brown, in answer to the question, "Did you hear the woman scream?" said, "I did; I heard the woman scream, and immediately after the mate came on deck and approached me. He asked me how the ship was steering and then went forward.

Brown, in answer to another question, said, "I smelt whisky on the mate's breath." He also stated that he did not further talk with the mate, because he was afraid of his life. When the mate came from the cabin Brown said, he had no ax in his hand. One was subsequently thrown overboard.

Detective Power and others who had heard Brown's statement, remarked that the consul and others were much impressed with its straightforwardness, Brown answering freely the questions put to him.

In a statement to a reporter Brane said: "Yes, I have stated to the effect that it was not I who committed the murders, and I feel sure the matter will be cleared up in a short time, and it will then be shown that I am innocent. I have nothing to fear."

The mate seemed to be in good spirits and apparently did not fear the result of the trial. He said: "When the truth is all out, the guilt will be on another's shoulders."

Brane stated that he would rather be tried in Halifax than in Boston. Although he did not fear the issue of a fair trial anywhere, yet in his opinion, the citizens of Boston would be prejudiced against him, owing to the fact that a Boston man had played so prominent a part in the case.

It is now settled that the trial will not take place in Halifax. Late last night the American Consul received word to that effect, and was making arrangements looking to have the entire crew and the passenger taken to Boston on the steamer which leaves here Saturday night.

Besides the statement of Passenger Monck and Seaman Brown, who declared he saw Brane murder Capt. Nash, all the other members of the crew gave their evidence and that of Spencer, the colored steward, and Frank Loohes, the forward watch, were very damaging to Brane. Loohes stated that Brane was drunk just before the discovery of the murder, and went down to the cabin several times, the last time he came running up the companion way, and almost immediately Monck appeared with the drawn revolver. Brane was deathly pale and trembled like a leaf. Spencer swore that after the crew were called on deck they were addressed by Brane in words substantially as follows:

"The living should not suffer for the dead. We had all better say that the murded occurred in this way. The captain, having come out of the chart room, and, going into his wife's apartment in the cabin, found the second mate cohabiting with her, and he then picked up the ax and immediately slaughtered her. The captain then struck at the mate and wounded him with the ax, but the mate, being a big, powerful man, wrenched the ax from the captain's hands and dealt him several blows on the head. The injuries of both were so severe that they died from them."

On hearing these words the steward looked at the first mate and said: "I don't think the story of yours will do."

Spencer says the mate looked at him in such a ferocious manner that he became frightened and withdrew his comment on Brane's falsehood, promising to accept it and live up to it.

Consul Ingraham, having secured the consent of the Dominion Government to send the men to the United States without extradition proceedings, and the entire crowd having agreed to go, including Brane, they will leave for Boston immediately after the city stipendiary's investigation of the tragedy.

In an interview Brane said: "I am not the murderer. Brown is the one who committed the crimes and he is shielding himself by accusing me. I did not see him do the killing. I might not be able to convict him of having done it, but I am certain that he is the murderer as I stand here. It could be no other. I could not kill a man or woman, it is not in me. You need not say I may have done this in a fit or insanity, that is impossible. I am wrongly accused, and if I suffer it will be for the crime of another man. He is putting it on me to save himself; he may be able to do to me what I cannot do to him. The public think I am the man, but they are wrong; it looks hard against me, but I am helpless."

"Brown is a crazy man," went on the prisoner. "He is my enemy. He has it in for me because we did not get on together. He told me himself that he killed a man in Holland once and escaped on the ground of insanity. I am sure he is insane, because he acted that way. He was always queer and I had to watch the wheel a few minutes before 2 o'clock that morning. That day he swore he knew nothing about the murders and four days after he had been put in irons, he said he saw me do it. Why did he keep quiet all that time? He thought he would be given his liberty by saying I was the man, but he was kept in irons until the vessel got into port. I knew nothing about the killing until after Monk came on deck. When I saw him with a revolver in his hands I thought he was going to shoot me and I picked up a piece of wood to defend myself. It was after that, that I heard of what had been done below.

"So help me God, I did not do it," cried Brane in solemn tones.

"Honest to God, if my heart was torn out, I would say I am innocent."

"Why did you not ring the bell for change of watch as usual that night?" asked the chief of police.

"We were not very particular about it," answered Brane. "There are somethings we do not need to be careful about at sea, sometimes."

"They say you had a horror of the bodies," remarked the reporter. "How is it that you kept away from them so much?"

"I was down in the cabin with the rest looking at the bodies and there were lots of men there to handle them without me. I did not keep my hands off for any particular reason, or because of any fear against touching them."

AWFUL DEVASTATION.

Forest Fires Doing Great Damage in British Columbia—Many Narrow Escapes From Death.

Vancouver, B.C., July 23.—Along the Northern Railway, between Whatcom and Goshen, bush fires have burned many farm buildings, and a quantity of fencing and railroad ties. At Vancouver last night there were two fires, caused by the sparks from the bush fires, a house and steamer being burned. Unless rain comes soon, large tracts of timber along the Fraser River will be destroyed.

Dense smoke has settled down over the seaport towns and it is with the greatest difficulty that navigation can be carried on. The bush fires are more extensive and destructive than in any season during the past ten years.

The southern half of Vancouver Island has not seen clear atmosphere for several days. The worst reports of the damage reached this city from Alberni last night. That city is surrounded by one immense fire, which has taken entire possession of "Mineral Hill," a wealthy section. The flames have destroyed all buildings at the Duke of York mine, China Creek, and are now within two or three miles of the town, having burned numerous camps, bridges, etc.

There were many narrow escapes from death. Women and children had to be kept under the piping of hydraulic mines and drenched with water to prevent them from being scorched. The damage to property thus far is estimated at over half a million dollars, and the loss on burned timber will reach well into the millions.

News by Spokane, Wash.

Spokane, Wash., July 23.—In the mountains to the north a strong breeze has been the means of fanning the forest fires into raging walls of flame, which are sweeping into the valleys with terrible rapidity.

News from Kaslo and points along the Arrow Lakes in British Columbia is to the effect that the high wind has fanned the smouldering embers into fresh blazes and where the miners thought they were safe, the fire having passed over them, they find themselves surrounded by flames. In some cases escape is almost impossible, and a number of deaths may be the result. On the north fork of the Salmon River, nearly all the cabins and shaft houses have been burned with large quantities of provisions and tools.

Rossland in Danger.

Rossland, B.C., is in danger. The citizens of the town are out in the hills trying to prevent the fire from reaching their homes. Cabins within four miles of the town have been burned.

The United States Forestry Commission estimate the damage at many millions of dollars.

Coca and its Uses.

We are wont to associate this new drug of wonderful medicinal properties with the grateful beverage of the breakfast table, but they are quite different in source and in properties. Coca is a most beneficent gift to the sick and suffering, as is attested by its rapid rise in estimation and the reliance now placed upon it by the most eminent practitioners in Europe and America.

Maltine with Coca Wine is the most reliable form in which the full medicinal value of coca may be obtained and the striking results derived from its use in nervous exhaustion, debility, weakness, or palpitation of the heart, warrant the high appreciation of its merits expressed by medical men who have used it in their practice. Maltine with Coca Wine is not a patent medicine, but a highly specialized pharmaceutical product, designed to cure disease in the only way disease can be cured viz., by helping nature. This it does by aiding digestion and assimilation. Sold by all druggists.

Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam cures coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, and all throat and lung troubles.

A jaunty summer girl can keep her gowns looking fresh and stylish through the wear and tear of the whole holiday season when she uses Fibre Chamois, as the interlining, through them all. It's splendid lasting stiffness and the elasticity, which it never loses, added to its weather proof qualities make it possible to keep your skirts in their original waving lines even thro' the severe test of a summer at the country, mountains or sea shore. The charming grace it gives to dresses and wraps is never lost—they will be just as stylish in their 'hang' and 'set' when worn out as when new. But only the real Fibre Chamois gives these lasting results, so find the Red Star label on each yard to save yourself from disappointing imitations.

But the Populists Don't Want Sewall.

A RIGHT LIVELY TIME AT ST. LOUIS

Watson of Georgia Was Chosen for Vice-President and a Scene of Great Disorder Followed—Bryan Will Not Break Away From Sewall—Lights Out.

St. Louis, July 24.—The strain of the last few days showed on the delegates to the silver convention this morning. They were slow in gathering in the hall, and the somewhat diminished attendance showed that the fear expressed yesterday by Mr. Shinn of Kansas that the delegates could not all be kept here was well founded. The chairman rapped for order at 10.40, and introduced Rev. W. R. Covert of the Missouri delegation, who opened the proceedings with prayer.

Mr. Baker of California, chairman of the Silver Convention Committee of Conference, announced that the two committees had met this morning, and would meet again at 1 o'clock. The Silverites were assured that the Populists were now working harmoniously along the lines laid down by the convention. He believed that a unanimous report from the Conference Committees of the two conventions would be one of the strongest campaign documents that would be circulated. In order that this might be successfully accomplished he moved that the further proceedings of the convention relating to the adoption of a platform and nominations be deferred until this afternoon at 3.30 o'clock. This was carried.

At 3.55 o'clock Chairman St. John called the silver convention to order and introduced Rev. Mr. Hagarty, who invoked the divine blessing upon the convention, its proceedings and the country.

Mr. Baker (California), chairman of the Silver Convention Committee of Conference, reported the resolution adopted in connection with the conferees from the Populist Convention. He said the delegates of that body were fully in accord with the sentiments entertained by the convention; they earnestly desired to bring about the reforms which are so necessary to the people of the United States. The time at their disposal was so brief that the committee had be content themselves with a general statement of the sentiment animating them all. The reading of the resolution adopted by the committees was received with applause.

Mr. Shinn (Kansas) moved that the report of the committee be accepted, adopted and the committee discharged. This was agreed to without debate or division.

The next business was the report of the Committee on Resolutions by Senator Jones (Nevada). Senator Jones read the platform and address to the people of the United States as previously sent in these despatches. The recommendation that Bryan and Sewall be nominated brought the whole convention to their feet with cheers.

Francis C. Larno (Oregon) moved that the resolutions be adopted as read.

This was agreed to unanimously.

Mr. Pace (Nebraska) moved that the convention proceed to the nomination of a candidate for President and Vice-President.

Gen. Warner explained why the Committee on Resolutions had recommended nomination instead of endorsement—which was to meet the exigencies of the situation in several States whose nomination was necessary to enable the silver electors to be voted for.

Mr. Pace's motion was adopted and T. C. Little of Kansas was requested to place Mr. Bryan's name before the convention. He did so in a graceful and at times forceful speech.

A. J. Wedderburn (Va.), Col. Dunlphan (Mo.), ex-Congressman John R. McBride (Wash.), also seconded Mr Bryan's nomination.

Mr. Towne highly eulogized Bryan's personal, private and public characteristics, chief of which, he said, was his intense sympathy with the people of the United States and pledged the support of the young man of the country.

At this point Mr. Doud (Mo.) moved that the roll of States be called and the vote recorded. Another delegate moved that the nomination be made by acclamation. This was carried unanimously by a rising vote.

The band played "America," and a verse of that grand old hymn was sung by the delegates and spectators. An effort was made by a portion of the delegates to sing "Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow," but it was pitched in too high a key and the attempt lamentably failed. Chairman St. John was at last enabled to announce that Arthur Sewall (Me.) had been nominated as the convention's candidate for the Vice-Presidency.

HOW THEY GOT TOGETHER.

For a Time It Looked as If the Populists and Silverites Wouldn't Hitch.

St. Louis, July 24.—The Conference Committee appointed by the Silver and Populist conventions finally got together this afternoon and reached an agreement, although for two hours the effort promised to be fruitless.

The organization of the committee was effected by making W. E. Irwin (Minn.) chairman. For two hours the committee debated all sorts of propositions, the fight particularly centering about the proposed endorsement of Mr. Sewall for Vice-President. The Southern Populist members of the committee rejected every suggestion likely to favor the Chicago nominee for Vice-President, and the Silver members finally becoming discouraged confined their efforts to getting the parties united on "common ground." This was effected by the adoption of the following:

"Resolved—That it is the sense of this Conference Committee that a union of all forces, including the People's party, Silver men, free silver Democrats and Republicans, is expedient and should be effected at once for the purpose of achieving victory for the advancement of free silver in November."

The adoption of this resolution leaves each party free to pursue any course it sees proper.

WITH THE POPULISTS.

They Swallowed Bryan Holus Bolus, But Could Not Take Sewall.

St. Louis, July 24.—The majority report on the platform of the People's party is substantially as reported last night, and was read to the convention this afternoon.

At 6.35 p.m. the People's party convention was again called to order by its permanent chairman, Senator Allen. The chairman announced a message had been received from the silver convention, and it would now be read.

Delegate Pollock (Mississippi), a member of the silver convention, was introduced by the chairman, and proceeded to read the platform adopted by that body. When he reached the conclusion, to the effect that Mr. Bryan had been nominated for the Presidency, there was an outburst of applause, drowning the further announcement of Sewall for Vice-President.

The next order of business was the call of States for nominations for Vice-President. Mr. Baumann of Alabama appeared as the spokesman of that delegation and nominated for Vice-President Representative Harry Skinner, the Populist Congressman from North Carolina. Mr. Baumann said: "If this convention wants to nominate William J. Bryan as candidate for the Presidency, it will have to eliminate Arthur Sewall from the ticket as Vice-President. Mr. Skinner is the peer of any man in Congress."

Representative Howard (Alabama) placed in nomination Hon. Thomas E. Watson, the late Populist Congressman from Georgia. Mr. Watson's name was received with demonstrations which fully attested his popularity. Mr. Sovereign, Master Workman of the Knights of Labor, seconded the nomination of Mr. Watson on behalf of the State of Arkansas, and said that the contest was "between the common people of this country and the combined foe of two continents." Mr. Watson's nomination was also seconded by Delegate Johnson (California).

Colorado, being called, yielded to Mr. Lafe Pence, now of New York, who began by saying: "Mr. President, in order to draw the poison quickly and have it out, let me say my purpose is to give some reason or try to give some reason why we should nominate Mr. Arthur Sewall of Maine for Vice-President. This announcement was received with considerable applause and followed by hisses.

Mr. Pence closed his speech with the declamation of the verse:

There are ninety-and-nine who live and die
In want and hunger and cold,
That one may live in luxury and lie
Wrapped in its silken fold.
The ninety-and-nine in their hovels bare,
The one in luxury, rich and rare;
They toil in the fields, the ninety-and-nine,
For the fruits of our mother earth;
They dig and delve in dangerous mine
To bring its treasures forth.
But the wealth released by these sturdy blows
To the hands of the one forever flows.

Mr. Murphy (Ga.) seconded the nomination of Tom Watson. He insisted that the Democratic party should be as patriotic as they asked the Populists to be, and meet them half way by pulling down Sewall.

Asked by a delegate if Tom Watson would stand on the platform adopted by the convention, Mr. Murphy replied, amid laughter and cheers: "Yes, sir, till hell freezes over."

L. H. Stockwell (Ind.) also seconded Watson's nomination. Mr. Weller of Iowa, once familiarly known as "Calamity" Weller, nominated Frank Burkitt (Miss.)

The discussion lasted for hours, and the roll call of States began.

At 11 p.m. it was rumored that Mr. Bryan had wired to friends that unless the People's party nominate Mr. Sewall for Vice-President he will not be able to accept the nomination of that party for the first place on the ticket.

At midnight, Gen. Weaver took the platform and suggested an adjournment.

Watson was nominated. The ballot was close, but States began to change immediately, and at 12.38 Central time nomination was made by acclamation. Pandemonium reigned in the convention.

Convention Hall, St. Louis, July 25.—William Jennings Bryan, the nominee of the Chicago convention, will not accept a nomination at the hands of the Populists if they turn down his running mate, Sewall of Maine. This announcement is made on the authority of Mr. Bryan himself. Senator Jones (Ark.), Chairman of the National Democratic convention, who has been in the city for the past week laboring to secure the indorsement of the full Chicago ticket, has frowned upon the proposition to "split" the Populist ticket, and has been charged with having pointedly told the leaders that they must nominate Bryan and Sewall or do nothing at all.

It has been evident to Senator Jones for the past 48 hours that he could not win over the men who have been so bitter in their antagonism to Mr. Sewall on account of his identification with a national bank against which system the platform adopted this afternoon inveighs. As soon as the convention decided to nominate the Vice-President first, Senator Jones wired Mr. Bryan at his home in Lincoln, Neb., as follows:

St. Louis, July 24.—The Populists have decided to nominate the Vice-President first. If it is not Sewall what shall we do? I favor your declination in that event. (Signed) James K. Jones.

Mr. Bryan certainly did not hesitate long in determining the character of his reply.

Senator Jones, within 10 minutes after he sent his message, had the following reply handed to him in his room at the Planters' Hotel:

Lincoln, Neb., July 24.—I agree with you fully. If Sewall is not nominated, have my name withdrawn. (Signed) W. J. Bryan.

Out Went the Lights.

St. Louis, July 25, 12.33 a.m.—The lights went out as Watson was declared nominated. The hall is in complete darkness and pandemonium reigns.

1.43 a.m.—The convention is beyond the control of the chair and the sergeant-at-arms. The hall is still in darkness and no order can be obtained.

2.50.—The convention adjourned until to-morrow at 9 a.m.

STRICKEN IN A RAGE.

Cornelius Vanderbilt Was in a Violent Altercation With His Son Whom He Fell Unconscious.

Newport, R.I., July 24.—The recent serious illness of Cornelius Vanderbilt is still the theme for talk here. Many of Mr. Vanderbilt's most intimate friends and associates have expressed the utmost surprise that one of his physique should have been the victim of a paralytic stroke, especially when his abstemious life and habits are taken into consideration.

No event which has ever happened in this generous, courtly gentleman's life has ever affected him so much as the determined effort by his son, Cornelius, jr., to marry Miss Grace Wilson, and the cause for this terrible blow is now told for the first time and is vouched for fully.

As far back as last August, young Vanderbilt, who has since proven himself a young man of great determination, confided to his father his desire to make Miss Wilson his wife. At first the Vanderbilts, the father especially, smiled and said nothing, and made no serious opposition to the young man's suit, believing that his feeling would in time die out. A trip for him was planned, first abroad, then West, but he stubbornly refused to leave New York.

Miss Wilson had shown a great and decided preference for young Vanderbilt, but no one of her set ever dreamed that she contemplated so serious a step as matrimony with the boy, for the discrepancy in their ages made everyone think that she was only amusing herself with him. It is stated now, however, that at a tea given last February to a lot of girls she positively affirmed her intention of marrying young Vanderbilt, and so the news commenced to spread rapidly.

It naturally got to the ears of Mr. Vanderbilt, and in consequence a stormy interview was held between the father and son early in April. The father first gently pleaded, then commanded. The son showed perfect indifference to the wishes of his father, and, remaining obdurate, went at once to the house of Miss Wilson and implored that their engagement be formally announced.

A meeting of the Wilson family was held, and they were then made fully cognizant of the violent opposition to the union of the young people. Notwithstanding all this and knowing that the young man's career in life would be seriously affected, if not completely blighted, the Wilsons gave a dinner at which the announcement of their daughter's marriage in May to young Vanderbilt was made and duly chronicled.

Mr. Vanderbilt at once made a codicil to his will, cutting off his eldest son with $6000 a year in trust invested. The wedding did not occur in May, for the delicate lad was attacked by inflammatory rheumatism and the event was postponed, at first indefinitely, and then set for the first week in August. Daily the lines deepened in the face of the anxious father and his friends knew that his mental trouble and anxiety for his son's happiness and health were making sad inroads on his own health.

As a last resort, a week ago Tuesday morning, Mr. Vanderbilt went, with Drs. Janeway and McBurney, to admonish the obdurate young man against the step he was about to take, and to urge him to travel and regain his shattered health. Young Vanderbilt declared that nothing would move him; that no power could make him alter his determination to make Miss Wilson his wife, and that, if need be, he would repudiate the whole family which loved him so dearly.

It was at this juncture that Mr. Vanderbilt arose, his face livid with rage and anger, but before the anathema which he would have hurled at his disobedient son could be uttered he clutched at his throat and fell from the stroke of paralysis which startled the world.

When it was announced that death might follow, Mrs. Vanderbilt and her daughter went to her son, who persistently refused to approach his father, and pleaded with him to ask forgiveness of his father and seek a reconciliation. This young Vanderbilt refused most positively to do, and then Mrs. and Miss Vanderbilt went on their knees and prayed the boy to do as they asked. He stubbornly refused to see his father or to enquire as to his condition.

Since Mr. Vanderbilt has been conscious and has been able to talk he has requested the marriage be at least postponed until late in the fall, but even this request, it is understood, has been denied.

UPSET HIS APPLE CART.

So Said Cecil Rhodes When He Heard of Jameson's Raid on Grandpa Kruger's Dominions.

Capetown, July 24.—The testimony taken before the Parliamentary Committee investigating the circumstances of the raid into the Transvaal made by Dr. Jameson and his followers last December, is published here to-day.

In the testimony given by Mr. Schreiner, formerly Crown Advocate in the Cape Government, that gentleman says: "I visited Mr. Cecil Rhodes on Dec. 30 and found him alternately dejected and agitated. When I asked him what was troubling him he replied: 'Jameson has upset my apple cart. I did not tell you yesterday because I thought I had stopped him. Poor old Jameson. We have been friends for 20 years and now he goes in and ruins me.'"

Mr. Schreiner added: "Rhodes appeared to be utterly broken down. I do not believe that he was acting; if he was, then he is the best actor I have ever seen."

AN EXAMPLE FOR CANADIAN FARMERS.

Denmark is both an exporter and importer of butter. So excellent is the quality of the butter produced in that little country of Northern Europe that it pays to sell nearly all the whole product abroad at a high price, and to import a cheaper kind of butter for home consumption. In a single year the imports amounted to 37,800,000 pounds of Swedish and Finnish butter, to which they added 16,700,000 pounds of good native margarine and 2,200,000 pounds of foreign. This allowed so much more superior Danish butter to be sold abroad. In England during 1895, besides the ten per cent. increase in the amount of Danish butter sold, there was also a steady rise in prices. This market alone would make the dairy production of Denmark remunerative. The sale of Australian butter during the same year marked no increase in England. In India it would seem that Australia and New Zealand will soon control the butter market. But Denmark, besides its heavy trade with South America, exports large quantities of butter to the Continent of Europe in the face of competition on the spot from France, Germany, Holland and Italy. Already, in 1893, its exportation of butter amounted to the value of $17,000,000. That of the United States in 1894 was $3,077,808.

That so small a country as Denmark should be able to export ten times as much butter as the United States seems strange. England is the principal market. The order of the country supplying the English market with butter is —Denmark, Sweden, Australia, Germany, Holland, France, New Zealand, United States and Canada. Denmark furnishes more than twice as much as Sweden, more more than 20 times as much as the United States. It has no advantage over its competitors in facility or cheapness of transportation, and it is not using the English market as it once did for a distributing point to distant consumers. The butter of Denmark if bought in England for British consumption, because it is found to possess qualities superior to the product of other countries.

The superiority is a direct result of the rational and practical education given in Denmark to farmer's sons, and especially to farmer's daughters. Primary education is universal, and it is nearly always supplemented by a course in the high schools, where practical instruction is given in all that concerns agriculture. From these schools some 10,000 young men and women are graduated each year and return to their farms. The butter is worked by the hands of these girls who know enough about microbes to boil scrupulously the water in which it is to be washed. The very excellent agricultural newspapers, which are read in every home, make known the latest applications of science to their industry; and, during the winter there are practical lecture courses in the public hall, which is found in every village. It is completeness of education which has enabled the Danish peasant to meet triumphantly the hard times weighing on agriculture during these last years. First his grain crops ceased to be profitable, and he turned successfully to cattle raising. Then protective tariffs and other frontier restrictions interfered with his dairy production. Meanwhile the French peasant seems incapable of changing from the wheat-growing which no longer supports him. On the American continent it would seem worth inquiring if the market for dairy exports could not be strengthened by the means employed in Denmark.

Besides the absolute cleanliness which the British consumer thinks he finds in Danish butter, he is also sure that he will not have it compounded with margarine. He knows this is done in France (by merchants of his own nation) and elsewhere. Efficient legislation has been adopted in Denmark to prevent any introduction of margarine into boxes like those in which the butter is packed. This has been done with the express aim of protecting the good reputation of the Danish butter. In its final preparation, also, the Danish product is not afflicted with the peculiar salting and colouring which the careful British housewife finds obnoxious in most American butter.

The packing of butter in Denmark for exportation is particularly worthy of note. Over 4 per cent. of the whole, comprising the richest, though not the costliest butter, that of the full summer, is put up in tins, holding all the way from one-half to twenty-eight pounds. These tins are surrounded by rice husks inside wooden cases to preserve the butter from heat during exportation. It is the use of these boxes which has helped to do away with the English middlemen that formerly distributed Danish butter to distant parts. Direct orders for as little as five or ten cases are now filled in Denmark itself. This packing of butter in tins is increasing equally with the trade.

The exportation of frozen milk from Jutland to England is also becoming quite a profitable business. A certain quantity of milk is first frozen solid, and then broken into pieces, which are put into suitable vessels for the voyage. These are filled up with liquid milk at the ordinary temperature, which is soon frozen in turn by contact with the milk ice. The frozen mass thus obtained when thawed out after ten or twelve days, is said to furnish milk of perfect freshness. The process, which is patented is to be worked by the Danish Company for the milk trade of the city of Copenhagen, and also for exportation.

Every Mother Can Afford to Buy Lactated Food.

The poorest mother in the land can, if she has the proper love for her babe, afford the cost of Lactated Food for her struggling, puny and sickly infant. Lactated Food is not only the best of all food, but it is the most economical. A twenty-five cent tin will make ten pints of nourishing food that will give strength and health to the fading and dying infant.

The satisfaction expressed by physicians who have used Lactated Food in their practice, should be a guarantee to mothers that it is the safest and best.

MISS TAPP WANTS $10,000.

An Ottawa Girl, Now a New York Cloak Model, Sues Dr. Tuck for Breach of Promise.

New York, July 24.—A breach of promise suit for $10,000 damages has been brought in the Supreme Court by Miss Emily Tapp, a cloak model, against Dr. George H. Tuck, a dentist. She is tall and attractive in appearance. He is of medium height and badly pock-marked.

The quarrel between them is bitter and, apparently, irrevocable. She says that he has been cruel to her and that she cannot forgive him.

Miss Tapp is a farmer's daughter, 23 years old. Her parents live in Ottawa, Ont. They are poor, and she came to this city with friends, in search of work, several years ago. In the boarding house of Mrs. Montague, at 111 West 31st-street, she made the acquaintance of Dr. Tuck. This happened in 1891.

The dentist, who is an Englishman, 30 years old, is the son of Dr. Richard Tuck, of Truro, Eng. He fascinated her by the tale of a duel in Paris, wherein he acted a hero's part. She declares that he was very much in love with her and threatened to shoot himself if she did not promise to marry him. She promised and he took her to an apartment which was to be theirs forever, at 250 West 39th-street.

Then, in 1894, they went to Ottawa, where, she says, Dr. Tuck introduced her to her parents and to her friends as his wife. He had money and spent it freely while it lasted, but in Montreal his funds gave out and she had to work. He then, she says, began to beat her.

They returned to this city last September, and Miss Tapp went to work as a cloak model for several firms that she names and to whom she refers. Her wages were but $6 a week, but she used it for their common support until he found employment at his profession. After that he met somebody else and agreed to give her $3 a week if she would live alone for a while, and she agreed to do so, for she dared not return to Ottawa. Dr. Tuck paid the money for a few weeks and then, suddenly, desisted. It is not the money that she regrets, Miss Tapp now says, and it is a pity that money has to be mentioned at all, but this money was the last link between them. As long as she received it from him she had the hope that they would be married.

Now, however, she has decided to sue him for breach of promise. Dr. Tuck refuses to discuss the case.

The big, hearty, healthy man is a continual irritation to his dyspeptic friend. Constipation is the root of nine-tenths of the sickness of men, and of a large proportion of the sickness of women. It can be cured easily, naturally and quickly. Nature is continually working as hard as she can to throw off impurities, and to force out poisonous refuse matter. When there is an impediment, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets set the wheels working again without any trouble. They assist nature in a gentle, healthful, efficient way. There is nothing violent about their action, and yet it is just as certain as if it were twice as violent. "You do not become a slave to their use." They are different and better than any other pill for the cure of constipation, headache and kindred derangements. Almost all druggists understand this, and are conscientious enough to tell you so. The druggist who tries to sell you a substitute is not a safe man from whom to buy medicine. Send 21 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

A Boon to Smokers!

NO MORE NICOTINE.

A New Pipe

FITTED WITH

HERR PFLUNGER'S CARTRIDGES

which absorbs the hurtful acrid matter that accumulates in the ordinary tobacco pipe, and prevents the nicotine poison which produces most of the ill effects arising from smoking.

Sir Morrell Mackenzie,

the late celebrated English Throat Specialist, wrote the following opinion of Herr Pflunger's invention:—

DEAR SIR,—I think that Herr Pflunger's invention is a very good one. I have tried it and find that it answers well. The only suggestion that I can make is that it should have an additional mouthpiece which could be screwed into the proximate extremity of the pipe so as to make the stem twice the length it now is. This would lower the temperature of the smoke as it comes into the mouth. That the smoke should be cool is almost as important as that it should be free from acrid matters. You are at liberty to make whatever use of this letter that you may think fit.

Yours Truly,
MORRELL MACKENZIE.

Letters Come.

Letters come day by day telling us that this person has been cured of dyspepsia, that person of Bad Blood, and another of Headache, still another of Biliousness, and yet others of various complaints of the Stomach, Liver, Bowels or Blood, all through the intelligent use of Burdock Blood Bitters.

It is the voice of the people recognizing the fact that Burdock Blood Bitters cures all diseases of the Stomach, Liver, Bowels and Blood.

Mr. T. G. Ludlow, 334 Colborne Street, Brantford, Ont., says: During seven years prior to 1896, my wife was sick all the time with violent headaches. Her head was so hot that it felt like burning up. She was weak, run down, and so feeble that she could hardly do anything, and so nervous that the least noise startled her. Night or day she could not rest and life was a misery to her. I tried all kinds of medicines and treatment for her but she steadily grew worse until I bought six bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters from C. Stork & Son, of Brampton, Ont., for which I paid $5.00, and it was the best investment I ever made in my life. Mrs. Ludlow took four out of the six bottles—there was no need of the other two, for those four bottles made her a strong, healthy woman, and removed every ailment from which she had suffered, and she enjoyed the most vigorous health. That five dollars saved me lots of money in medicine and attendance thereafter, and better than that it made home a comfort to me.

LOST FORTY POUNDS.

AN ILLNESS THAT ALMOST CARRIED AWAY AN ONLY CHILD.

She Suffered Terribly From Pains in Back, Heart Trouble and Rheumatism—Her Parents almost Despaired Her Recovery—How it Was Brought About.

From the Arnprior Chronicle.

Perhaps there is no better known man in Arnprior and vicinity than Mr. Martin Brennan, who has resided in the town for over a quarter of a century and has taken a foremost part in many a political campaign in North Lanark. A reporter of the Chronicle called at his residence not long ago and was made at home at once. During a general conversation Mr. Brennan gave the particulars of a remarkable cure in his family. He said: "My daughter, Eleanor Elizabeth, who is now 14 years of age, was taken very ill in the summer of 1893 with back trouble, rheumatism and heart disease. She also became terribly nervous and could not sleep. We sent for a doctor and he gave her medicine which seemed to help her for a time, but she continued to lose in flesh until she was terribly reduced. When first taken ill she weighed one hundred pounds, but became reduced to sixty pounds, losing forty pounds in the course of a few months. For about two years she continued in this condition, her health in a most delicate state, and we had very little hopes of her ever getting better. Our hopes, what little we had, were entirely shattered when she was taken with a second attack far more serious than the first. This second attack took place about two years after the first. We now fully made up our minds that she could not live, "but while there is life there is hope,' and, seeing constantly in the newspapers the wonderful cures affected by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, we decided to give them a trial. Before she had finished the first box, we noticed that her appetite was slightly improving, and by the time she had used the second box, a decided improvement had taken place. By the time she had used four boxes more she had regained her former weight of one hundred pounds and was as well as ever she had been in her life. Her back trouble, heart affection, rheumatism and sleeplessness had all disappeared. She now enjoys the best of health, but still continues to take an occasional pill when she feels a little out of sorts, and so it passes away. Mrs. Brennan, together with the young lady, who is an only child, were present during the recital, and all were loud in their praises of Dr. Williams Pink Pills. Mr. Brennan also stated that he had used the pills himself and believed that there was no other medicine like them for building up a weakened system or driving away a wearied feeling; in fact he thought that as a blood tonic they were away ahead of all other medicines.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly upon the blood and nerves, building them anew and thus driving disease from the system. There is no trouble due to either of these causes which Pink Pills will not cure, and in hundreds of cases they have restored patients to health after all other remedies had failed. Ask for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and take nothing else. The genuine are always enclosed in boxes, the wrapper around which bears the full trade mark, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." May be had from all dealers or sent post paid on receipt of 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MAKING THEMSELVES SCARCE.

A Couple of Johannesburg Raiders on Their Way to Australia.

San Francisco, July 24.—When the Mariposa sailed for Australia to-day, she had among her passengers two political refugees from England, who were ringleaders in the Johannesburg outbreak, and who left Paris three weeks ago, at the instance of the British Government, to make themselves inaccessible as valuable witnesses for an official inquiry into the origin of the uprising in South Africa.

The men are now on their way to Australia. One is Capt. W. S. Patterson of Stirling, Scotland, who is bound for Sydney. The other is Thos. Graham, an Englishman, upon whose card appears the address: "269 West 125th-street, New York City." His destination is Brisbane.

Charles J. Booth, Olivewood, Cal., says: "I have used Ayer's Pills in my family for several years, and have always found them most effectual in the relief of ailments arising from a disordered stomach, torpid liver and constipated bowels.

AS TO FREE SILVER.

A Montreal Bank President Gives His Views.

LITTLE MONEY IN IMPORTING GOLD

Free Silver Coinage Would Give an Impetus to the Mining of Gold—Bryan's Election Does Not Mean the Adoption of Bimetallism in the United States.

Montreal, July 24.—(Special.)—The silver campaign in the United States, coupled with the reported arrival of a large quantity of gold into Canada, is still a fruitful topic of conversation in financial and commercial circles. Mr. William Weir, the President of the Ville Marie Bank, was seen today by your correspondent and asked if it were true that the Canadian banks were bringing an unusual quantity of gold into the Dominion just now. He replied that there was some gold being brought in by several banks, but this did not indicate any fear of a panic in Montreal banking circles.

Mr. Weir proceeded to say that there was a little money to be made at present in bringing in gold, as there was no demand here for American funds. He figured that as gold can be brought in for 1-10 of 1 per cent., the profits on the transaction would be about 87 cents on $1000.

He was then asked to describe the effect that would probably be produced if the United States currency were established on a silver basis.

"The result would be," he replied, "as near as I can see, to enhance the value of silver bullion compared with gold, so the difference would not be as great as some people might imagine. It would, of course, give a marked impetus to gold mining, while attention would consequently be given to the production of silver and not bring about a greater demand for the latter metal, as the advocates of the free silver have all along pretended in their campaign speeches and newspaper articles."

"You mean, then, that there would be a premium on gold?"

"Yes, and this fact would set people to work producing it more abundantly."

Continuing, the President said that the two metals, gold and silver, would approach nearer to each other. But after all, the election of Bryan to the Presidential chair does not mean of necessity that the United States would come to a silver basis. In the regulation of its currency the President of the republic, except in the exercise of the veto, is not a powerful man, and the banker said he could not believe both Houses of Congress would pronounce in favor of such a policy for that country.

"But if it did come to pass, then what?"

"No doubt," Mr. Weir replied, "the effect would be largely discounted in advance. English and European holders are paying lower prices for American securities and they are willing to run the risk. As far as we are concerned, our holders are running a certain risk, as all stock, bonds and other securities are payable in United States currencies, and if the currency were put on a silver basis there would be a large reduction in values. The Canadian banks are now lending their money payable in gold, their contracts being made thus; but if the impression became general that the United States would resort to a silver basis the American borrowers would decline to borrow further on such conditions and our banks would find themselves in the position of calling in the $18,000,000 now loaned in the United States or take the risk of being paid in silver. However," added Mr. Weir, "I think this is a remote possibility."

"You do not think, then, that Bryan will be elected?"

"Well, I make no predictions after the recent election in Canada."

AN ALARMING INCREASE.

The Prevalence of Female Complaints Found to Result Largely From the Kidneys.

Saginaw, Mich., July 13.—Doctors are beginning to turn their attention more exclusively to the causes for the great increase of what are known as female complaints during the past ten years, and to the remedies for the same. Many cases have been investigated, and among others that of Mrs. Reasy of Ashland, Wis., who was cured of this form of trouble by the use of a kidney medicine known as Dodd's Kidney Pills, which originated in Canada, but has now become widely known and used throughout the Western States. This and other similar cases go to show that these troubles are largely due to the kidneys, and that the above mentioned remedy is likely to have a great effect in lessening the number of victims to this form of complaint.

IMPALED ON A FORK HANDLE.

The Painful and Probably Fatal Accident to a Madoc Farmer's Daughter.

Madoc, Ont., July 24.—A daughter of Andrew Howell, farmer, aged 20, living in Madoc Township, met with a very painful accident this morning. While looking for eggs on top of a pile of newly-harvested barley she went too near the edge and slipped down falling upon the end of a fork-handle, which had been left standing against the barley, penetrating her body 12 or 15 inches. She withdrew the forkhandle and became unconscious, remaining so since, except for short intervals. There are slight hopes of her recovery.

KILLED ALMOST INSTANTLY.

Mr. John Cotter of Burlington Loses His Life in a Runaway.

Burlington, Ont., July 24.—Mr. John Cotter of this village was this afternoon thrown from a rig, of which he had charge and almost instantly killed. The horse had become frightened by a passing train.

FOUND A JEWEL.

An Important Find by a Brockville Jeweller.

Mr. Joseph Lane, the well-known jeweller of Brockville, says: "For some years I have suffered with severe pains in my back and sides and flashes of heat between my shoulders. I had a tired, wornout feeling. "The numerous medicines that I took gave me very little relief. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills I thought I would try a box, and got one at Curry's drugstore.

"After the first two or three doses I felt much relieved, and the longer I took them the greater the change for the better in my condition. I am much better in every respect and recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to all sufferers from kidney trouble as the best remedy I know of."

THAT TRAGEDY AT SEA.

Close of the Preliminary Examination of the Crew of the Herbert Fuller—A Sailor's Scheme.

Halifax, N.S., July 24.—The examination of the men belonging to the barque Herbert Fuller was unfinished by City Stipendiary Fielding until late to-night. It was conducted in private, and when it was concluded each man signed his sworn statement in relation to what he knew of the tragedy. It is understood that the statements were substantially the same as those previously made by the men, and which have already been telegraphed to Toronto.

The men, including Passenger Monck, will probably leave for Boston to-morrow night, although Consul-General Ingraham has not yet received final instructions from Washington.

Lester Monck, who is at liberty, and his father spent most of to-day driving about the city. The statements made by the Fuller crew are considered by Consul Ingraham as a complete exoneration from any complicity in the tragedy. A new discovery was made on the vessel this evening. One of the police officers placed on board found written in pencil on a piece of timber in the deck load a memorandum of what had occurred the night of the tragedy. Frank Lobegue, the French sailor, says he wrote it there, and it is not unlikely he feared that further tragic events might occur before the vessel arrived in port, in which case he intended to throw the piece of timber overboard in hope that it would be picked up by another vessel.

Bar Harbor, Maine, July 24.—The remains of Captain and Mrs. Nash, who were murdered on the Herbert Fuller, arrived to-night at Franklin-road Station, where they were placed in a wagon waiting to convey them to Harrington, 35 miles across the country. The coffins were adorned with bunches of flowers placed on them at Bangor. The bodies will arrive home in Harrington about 2 a.m. Capt. Nash's brother accompanied the remains from Halifax.

VITALITY in MEN Restored

Failing Sexual Strength in Old or Young Men can be QUICKLY and permanently RESTORED, by me to a healthy, vigorous state. Sufferers from Nervous Debility, Weakness, Varicocele and all wasting diseases, should write to me for advice.

I have been a close student for many years of the subject of weakness in men, the fact is, I was a sufferer myself. Too bashful to seek the aid of older men or reputable physicians, I investigated the subject deeply and discovered a simple but most remarkably successful Remedy, that completely cured me, and fully enlarged me from a shrunken, stunted condition to natural size and strength. I want every young or old man to know about it. I take a personal interest in such cases, and no one need hesitate to write me, as all communications are held strictly confidential. I send the recipe of this remedy absolutely free of cost. Do not put it off, but write me fully at once, you will always bless the day you did so. Address,

"Going to Insure."

THE Man who is simply "going to insure" is usually no better than the man who has'nt made the decision. In fact he is usually worse, because he has considered the subject and been convinced of his duty, but has not done it. "Nothing is done so long as anything remains undone." On application to either of the undermentioned gentlemen, full particulars will be furnished in regard to the Unconditional Accumulative Policy issued by the North Smith Picnic.

The annual picnic of the North Smith Presbyterian church was held on Thursday of last week at Breden's grove, on the shore of Chemong Lake. Quite a number of members and children were present. The afternoon was spent in different ways, after which a bountiful supper was partaken of. After supper a football match was played between the married and single men. The single men won, but the way in which the married men kicked was surprising to their better halves, who have them well deserved praise. The picnic was a decided success in every way.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Herb. Hall is up from Philadelphia on his holidays.

Mr. W. A. Sanderson came in from the lakes for the day.

Mr. George Bliss has returned after a business trip to Lindsay.

Mr. J. R. Stratton left this afternoon to spend a few days at the Lakes.

Rev. W. R. Young is recovering from a rather severe attack of malaria.

Ven. Archdeacon Casey is home from a pleasant trip up the back lakes.

Miss Mercer has returned home after a pleasant visit with Miss Neill in Lindsay.

Mr. Joseph Hall, formerly of Peterborough and brother of Mr. Geo. Hall, is in town visiting for a week.

Miss Edith Nesland, of Lindsay, is a guest of the Misses Kempt, corner of George and Murray streets.

Mr. A. H. Stratton went to Belleville this afternoon. Mrs. Stratton will accompany him home on Monday next.

The Theological Inspector from Toronto paid a visit to Thomas Telford, our weather observer, yesterday, finding everything in A 1 order.

The Lindsay Post says: "Mrs. H. Matthews, of Downeyville, and Mrs. Morrisey, of Peterborough, spent Wednesday with friends in town."

The Archbishop of Ontario has been obliged to cancel all appointments for the present, being quite unable to fulfil them until he has had complete rest.

Mr. John W. Harvey, of Erie, Pennsylvania, and brother of the late Dr. Harvey, is in town visiting for a few weeks with relatives and friends in Smith and town.

Mr. Robt. Hall, of the legal firm of Stratton & Hall, Peterborough, was in town yesterday, says the Lindsay Post, and received a warm welcome from old friends.

Mrs. Margaret Kelso, widow of the late Joseph Kelso, of Hebbingpeon, is at present visiting Warden Middleton. Mrs. Kelso is 81 years of age and was in Peterborough 60 years ago, when there was only one store here, kept by a man named Sandford, whilst one Jackson kept an inn. There were then only two houses in the settlement. Mrs. Kelso walked from Fort Hope on a "blaze" road.

The many friends of Mr. Wm. Harty, Commissioner of Public Works, will be pleased to know that his condition is not as serious as is currently reported. While it is admitted that he is not at all well, it is anticipated that a rest will restore him to his usual vigour. Mr. Harty is a very capable administrator of his department, and it would be regrettable if, after his brief term of management, anything should arise which would necessitate his retirement.

Lost a Finger Tip.

Samuel Larmour, an assistant in the G.T.R. roundhouse, met with an accident whilst at work Thursday night by which he lost a portion of his second finger.

Stolen Goods.

Grafton & Co. received a case of goods yesterday from which fully half the contents were abstracted. It seems a car on the G. T. R. was broken into just west of Toronto. A statement of claim has been issue in to the Railway Company.

A Monster Fish.

Mr. John Lebrash of Meyersburg, can claim the diploma for good fishing this season. On Friday last while he was trolling about two miles below Percy boom he captured a sturgeon that measured six feet in length and weighed 75 pounds. Mr. Lebrash thought at first that he had hooked a log, but when he found out that it was a fish that had taken the bait he tied the line to one of the oars and pulled ashore, securing a club and returning killed the sturgeon with a blow, striking it upon the head. He afterwards pulled the monster into his boat.—Campbellford Herald.

St. Luke's Garden Party.

A garden party under the auspices of St. Luke's choir, Ashburnham, will be held at the residence of Mrs. Sedgwick, Douro, on the old Anson Cartwright farm, about two miles from town, on the Warsaw Road, Thursday afternoon and evening, August 13th. A sale of fancy work will take place. Refreshments will be served, the band will be present, sports will take place and other attractions are on the programme. Extensive preparations are being made to make this the leading event of the season in the way of garden parties, as St. Luke's congregation always make the most elaborate arrangements for affairs of this nature. Busses will run from the post office for the convenience of those not having bicycles or conveyances of their own. Remember the date.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Sparks From the Wheels—Cinders for the Eye.

Mr. Saunders, successor to Mr. McMillan formerly mail clerk on the Lindsay-Haliburton run, has been transferred to the Barrie-Meaford route, and the vacancy here is being filled by Mr. G. Anderson, who will likely be permanently appointed.

Conductor Fry, of the Beeton branch, G.T.R., has been transferred to the main line north of Toronto, and has taken the place of the late P.C. Hendrick. Conductor Sam Lawrence, for many years on the mixed between Allandale and Gravenhurst, takes Fry's place.

A muscular young stationmaster on the G.T.R., not far from Lindsay, has made a practice of ducking in a horse trough every tramp that came in his way. The water cure has in this case proved most effectual, and his station is as free of wandering nuisances as the place where they are made saw wood.

THE AUBURN BRIDGE.

Arrangements Made for the Completion of the Structure.

Mr. Sangster of the firm of contractors whose tender was accepted for the erection of the new railway bridge at Auburn, was in town yesterday.

Mr. Sangster states that since being awarded the contract his firm has been busily engaged in making arrangements to carry the contract through to completion as speedily as possible. Mr. Sangster is at present at the Longford quarries making arrangements for procuring the necessary stone for the sub-structure.

Gloom

Of ill health, despondency and despair, gives way to the sunshine of hope, happiness and health, upon taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, because it gives renewed life and vitality to the blood, and through that imparts nerve strength, vigor and energy to the whole body. Read this letter: "Hood's Sarsaparilla helped me wonderfully, changed sickness to health, gloom to sunshine. No pen can describe what I suffered. I was deathly sick, had sick headaches every few days and those terrible tired, despondent feelings, with heart troubles so that I could not go up and down stairs without clasping my hand over my heart and resting. In fact, it would almost take my breath away. I suffered so I did not care to live, yet I had much to live for. There is no pleasure in life if deprived of health, for life becomes a burden. Hood's Sarsaparilla does far more than advertised. After taking one bottle, it is sufficient to recommend itself." MRS. J. E. SMITH, Beloit, Iowa.

The many friends of Mr. Wm. Harty, Commissioner of Public Works, will be pleased to know that his condition is not as serious as is currently reported. While it is admitted that he is not at all well, it is anticipated that a rest will restore him to his usual vigour. Mr. Harty is a very capable administrator of his department, and it would be regrettable if, after his brief term of management, anything should arise which would necessitate his retirement.

Lost a Finger Tip.

Samuel Larmour, an assistant in the G.T.R. roundhouse, met with an accident whilst at work Thursday night by which he lost a portion of his second finger.

A Monster Fish.

Mr. John Lebrash of Meyersburg, can claim the diploma for good fishing this season. On Friday last while he was trolling about two miles below Percy boom he captured a sturgeon that measured six feet in length and weighed 75 pounds. Mr. Lebrash thought at first that he had hooked a log, but when he found out that it was a fish that had taken the bait he tied the line to one of the oars and pulled ashore, securing a club and returning killed the sturgeon with a blow, striking it upon the head. He afterwards pulled the monster into his boat.—Campbellford Herald.

St. Luke's Garden Party.

A garden party under the auspices of St. Luke's choir, Ashburnham, will be held at the residence of Mrs. Sedgwick, Douro, on the old Anson Cartwright farm, about two miles from town, on the Warsaw Road, Thursday afternoon and evening, August 13th. A sale of fancy work will take place. Refreshments will be served, the band will be present, sports will take place and other attractions are on the programme. Extensive preparations are being made to make this the leading event of the season in the way of garden parties, as St. Luke's congregation always make the most elaborate arrangements for affairs of this nature. Busses will run from the post office for the convenience of those not having bicycles or conveyances of their own. Remember the date.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Sparks From the Wheels—Cinders for the Eye.

Mr. Saunders, successor to Mr. McMillian formerly mail clerk on the Lindsay-Haliburton run, has been transferred to the Barrie-Meaford route, and the vacancy here is being filled by Mr. G. Anderson, who will likely be permanently appointed.

Conductor Fry, of the Beeton branch, G.T.R., has been transferred to the main line north of Toronto, and has taken the place of the late P.C. Hendrick. Conductor Sam Lawrence, for many years on the mixed between Allandale and Gravenhurst, takes Fry's place.

A muscular young stationmaster on the G.T.R., not far from Lindsay, has made a practice of ducking in a horse trough every tramp that came in his way. The water cure has in this case proved most effectual, and his station is as free of wandering nuisances as the place where they are made saw wood.

THE AUBURN BRIDGE.

Arrangements Made for the Completion of the Structure.

Mr. Sangster of the firm of contractors whose tender was accepted for the erection of the new railway bridge at Auburn, was in town yesterday.

Mr. Sangster states that since being awarded the contract his firm has been busily engaged in making arrangements to carry the contract through to completion as speedily as possible. Mr. Sangster is at present at the Longford quarries making arrangements for procuring the necessary stone for the sub-structure.

Gloom

Of ill health, despondency and despair, gives way to the sunshine of hope, happiness and health, upon taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, because it gives renewed life and vitality to the blood, and through nerve strength and energy to the whole body. Read this letter:

"Hood's Sarsaparilla helped me wonderfully, changed sickness to health, gloom to sunshine. No pen can describe what I suffered. I was deathly sick, had sick headaches every few days and those terrible tired, despondent feelings, with heart troubles so that I could not go up and down stairs without clasping my hand over my heart and resting. In fact, it would almost take my breath away. I suffered so I did not care to live, yet I had much to live for. There is no pleasure in life if deprived of health, for life becomes a burden. Hood's Sarsaparilla does far more than advertised. After taking one bottle, it is sufficient to recommend itself." MRS. J. E. SMITH, Beloit, Iowa.

Know How to Handle Crowds.

The handling of big crowds has been reduced to a science by the Great Wallace Shows. It provides more than one ticket wagon, has several entrances and plenty of employes to assist its patrons in seeing its wonders and getting seats that are satisfactory. The arrangement of its rings and stages is such that no seat is bad. Nor does this circus reserve nearly all the space; only about one fifth of the seats are extra. Although thousands see the show daily they are handled so perfectly as to avoid all jostling. At Peterborough, Aug. 10th.

Spanking a Scorcher.

There is a woman in a village not far from Lindsay that bicyclists don't run into any more. One man did it and was not able to sit down for several days. He was going at a pretty fair gait the other day, and either by accident or premeditation, ran into the above mentioned lady. She did not wait to send a complaint to the council, but just grabbed the young man by the nape of the neck, laid him across her knee and bore down heavy. As he crawled away with his wheel she said, "I let you off pretty easy this time young man, but if you ever run into me again you'll wish bicycles were never invented." The woman is six feet tall, and very powerful, and the rider was a full-grown man.

To School Boards.

Public School Boards should notify municipal Councils not later than August 1st, of the amount required to be levied for the current year. Trustees in townships when preparing their estimates should know that the municipal grant heretofore made by county councils has been dispensed with. This was formerly received on Public School Inspectors order and in fixing the amount of the requisition was considered as an asset. Under the new Act, the municipal council of every township is required to levy and collect by assessment upon the taxable property of the Public School supporters of the whole township the sum of $150 at least for every Public School that has been kept open the whole year exclusive of vacations. Where the school has been kept open for 6 months or over a proportionate amount of the said sum $150 at least shall be levied and collected by assessment on the taxable property of the whole township. An additional sum of $100 at least shall be levied and collected in similar manner for every assistant teacher engaged for the whole year, and a proportionate amount if such assistant teacher was engaged for 6 months or over.

MILLBROOK HOLDS A SUMMER RACE MEET.

TYRONE AND RAMPART II. RUN A MILE RACE.

Trotting and Bicycle Events Also on the Programme—The Summer Race Meet Should be an Annual Fixture.

About two thousand people assembled at the Millbrook Driving Park yesterday to witness the summer races which were looked forward to with so much interest. Great numbers were present from Peterborough, Lindsay, Port Hope and other places, while Millbrook and the surrounding townships turned out to a man. Of course the great event of the day was the race between the celebrated blood stallions Tyrone and Rampart II, and it was unfortunate indeed that the race ended as it did, in Rampart falling, throwing his jockey violently to the ground, breaking his collar bone and thereby preventing a satisfactory finish. A pleasing feature of the occasion was the presence of a great many ladies. The race was a mile dash which meant three times around the track. Tyrone, which is the property of T. H. Hassard, V.S., of the town, was by far the favourite, and was ridden by E. A. Jones, of Peterborough. Rampart was in charge of one of Doane's jockey's from Toronto. He is the property of Messrs. Patterson Bros., of Millbrook, and was imported from Ireland some two years ago. It was when, after several unsuccessful attempts at a fair start, the judges gave the word "go," and the two animals shot forward, Tyrone having the inside track. At the quarter post Rampart sailed by Tyrone and was greeted with cheers from that animal's admirers. At the three quarter post Tyrone came even with his opponent and the excitement was naturally intense. As they reached the judge's stand on the first lap Tyrone was in the lead and the enthusiasm from Dr. Hassard's backers knew no bounds. Tyrone still kept the lead on the second lap and when the judge's stand was reached he was steadily gaining. One more lap and the race was over. Rampart made a desperate attempt to shorten the distance between him and opponent, but when nearing the quarter post he was seen to stumble and in an instant both he and his rider on the ground. The rider was at once picked up and upon examination, it was found that his collar bone was broken, besides other internal injuries which will cause him to be laid up for sometime. In the meantime Tyrone had gone over the course and came up to the judges' stand amid wild enthusiasm. Mr. Hassard was warmly congratulated on the success of his horse, which truly was worthy of it. After Rampart's jockey had regained consciousness and the excitement had subsided, the next race, which was the open trot, was called. It resulted as follows:

WERE IN A HEAP

Purse $100—1st Miss Striten, $60, by W. Sherin, Peterborough.

2nd—General, $35, by Mr. Beattie, Port Hope.

3rd—Daisy, $15, by Mr. Baptie, Springville.

The bicycle race resulted as follows:—Purse $10, Green of Lindsay (?) first. There were six entries in this race, among which were four from Peterborough, one from Lindsay and one from Millbrook. The team race did not come off on account of there being only three entries.

The day was a most decided success and we hope to see it an annual event in Millbrook. The success is in a large measure due to G. H. Small, the Secretary, and Messrs. Nattress, Scott and Lancashire of the Committee.

DEPRAVED CHILDREN.

How often as one passes a group of children is the ear shocked with language vile and profane. Instinctively we turn to see who utters the words, and we are met with the shameless stare of a child who should be in leading strings. They gather at night in groups, they use tobacco, and they swear and give back talk to any one who would chide them. Petty offences of trespass and larceny, and even house-breaking are common, and at the police court they frequently appear in groups—mere infants—charged with serious offences. The guilt may be proven, but what is to be done with them? They cannot be fined for larceny—they have no money to pay with if they were fined—and to send them to jail is to deprave them still further. The great aim of the law is to save the children, rather than to destroy them. They may be cautioned by the magistrate and let go. Often they laugh and go away to repeat the offence. To send children to a reformatory is of doubtful expediency, and it is costly. A child which judiciously treated at home might grow out of his folly, at a reformatory is brought into contact with a lot of boys, probably worse than himself, and he comes out, perhaps, confirmed in vice. It is a chance he may be reformed, he may be worse.

Now the question is perplexing for the magistrate as to what he is to do with youthful offenders. It has been suggested that the law should enable the magistrate to direct the imposition of the birch. A flogging judiciously and calmly administered under police supervision would put a stop to many a youths criminal course, and many wise people heartily approve of such a change in the law as will allow the application of the birch to youthful offenders.

At the last meeting of the Prison Reform Society in Toronto, the use of the birch was strongly advocated, and the Hon. Senator Allen stated that when passing the Criminal Code, he seriously considered the question and would have introduced a provision for flogging juvenile offenders, but refrained simply because it would have led to delay in passing the Act.

The experience of magistrates and police shows that the evil habits of young criminals arise largely from their street life. They gather bones, iron and other junk, and sell them to men who ask no questions. They are thus led to steal what ever they can put their hands on—being out of nights and loose parental control is another and perhaps the most effective cause of degeneracy of the youth. Wretched and badly governed homes drive children to the street. The great responsibility rests on the parents and it cannot be too strongly impressed on them of the necessity for such government of themselves, their homes and their children, as will secure pure and good lives for these whom God has intrusted to them.

STONY LAKE ITEMS.

What is Going on at Lakefield's Suburban Summer Resort.

The exodus to Stony Lake has commenced in earnest, and every day the boats are well filled with cottagers and baggage for the lakes. Stony Lake is fast coming to be recognized as the most delightful summer resort in Canada, and every year the number who frequent it grows larger.

It is now that the season is at its height and the many islands present a very attractive appearance with their handsome cottages gaily decorated with flags and in the night time with many coloured lamps which reflect their light far out on the water and serve as a beacon to many who would otherwise be unable to find their way.

On Monday last a jovial crowd of Rochester people arrived and proceeded to Lovesick Locks, where they pitched their tents and will stay for two weeks. The party consists of J. Gould, Pres., W. H. Holden, Treas., Geo. Ramsdell, Purser, Geo. Heath, Commissary, J. P. McSweeney, Amusement Director, Eddie Kuntz, Historian, Geo. Adams, Captain, S. Bartlett, Doctor and Chaplain, H. Buyall, Cook. The camp is called "The Recreators," and this is their fifth annual encampment. Among the party are several musical and dramatic lights of the stage and all are up for a good time, which it is expected they will have.

Church services will be held at "Headlands," on Sunday. At 8 a. m. holy communion; morning service at 11 o'clock; evening service at 7 o'clock. Services will be held as usual at Otter Island, morning and evening.

Good morning, have you read Thos. Slater's advertisement for men on page 3?

THE FORTNIGHTLY CLUB.

The Editor Takes a Few Weeks' Holidays.

To the readers of the Fortnightly Club Column, the news of the discontinuance of the publishing of the interesting matter furnished by contributors weekly, will be received with regret, but when the statement is combined with one to the effect that the editor of the column is in need of a rest for a few weeks, the matter is placed in a different light. The column, which has appeared so regularly in Saturday evening's issue, however, will be greatly missed amongst the class of readers who take pleasure in perusing deep and thoughtfully arranged articles on topics involving time and care in their preparation.

Are You Aware——

That that beautiful singing quality of tone which is inherent to the Mason & Risch Piano, and which is spoken of by connoisseurs as the "Mason & Risch tone" has been attained only by many years of labor and costly experiment?

Do you know that it has taken many years to gather together the skilled artizans who are employed by this firm? Nearly every country in Europe is represented in their staff in the different departments—men who have been "imported" by them owing to their more than ordinary ability in some particular department of piano construction.

The Mason & Risch catalogue which is mailed free on application, gives a good idea of the different processes a high grade piano goes through before it is completed—an artist's instrument.

Loose clothes and downy cushions bring only a negative sort of comfort to the woman who is suffering with some disease or derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. Some clothes and some positions make the pain and discomfort seem less. Nothing will ever completely relieve but a radical cure. The effects of such disorders are not limited to mere local discomforts but extend over the whole body. Perhaps the nerves are most affected, and this in turn disturbs the digestion. After that there is no telling what form the trouble may take. With irritable nerves and poor digestion, a woman is on the straight road to the grave Women are notoriously negligent in matters pertaining to their health. Too many of them understand too little about their own physical make-up. They do not understand their possibilities or their limitations, and they do not know enough about themselves to know when a symptom is really serious and when it is not. This naturally makes them overlook the plainest of danger signals. The start of everything is simple. The start of so-called "female complaints" may be a very slight thing indeed. It may be that in the beginning some small hygienic measures would stop the trouble. Certainly at this time, a little bit of the right medicine would stop it. When the trouble becomes worse, it is harder to cure, but still it can be cured. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will positively cure any trouble of this character. It may be absolutely relied upon. It affords immediate and lasting relief to a woman whose natural modesty has kept her from consulting physicians.

The whole story of the "Favorite Prescription," and what it has done for thousands of women is told in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. This is a 1008 page book, profusely illustrated, written in plain language for the use of every-day people, and gives in a clear and lucid way an immense amount of valuable information about health and medicine. It will be sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to cover customs and mailing only.

THREE CONQUERING HEROES

Kidney Disease, Rheumatism and Stomach Trouble Conquered by the Three Great South American Remedies.

Prompt Relief for Every Sufferer.

Safety to the sufferer from kidney disease is in driving the poison from the system. Pills and powders, whilst they give apparent relief and thus deceive the patient, do not eradicate the disease. The hard, sand-like particles that gather in the blood must be dissolved if the system is to be cleared of the poison, and it is only a remedy like South American Kidney Cure that will do this. Mr. Michael McMullen, a well-known resident of Chesley, Ont., was a victim of kidney disease so severe that at times he could not lie down, or remain in any one position for a length of time. Where other medicines accomplished nothing he secured immediate relief from South American Kidney Cure. The soreness and weariness after using the medicine soon left him, and to-day there is not a sign of the trouble in his system.

There is no question of the magical character of South American Rheumatic Cure. This remedy will drive the worst forms of rheumatism from the system. Mr. Robt. E. Gibson, of Pembroke, Ont., suffered untold misery. Doctors blistered him and applied every known remedy, but did no good. "The first dose of South American Rheumatic Cure," says Mr. Gibson, "gave me instant relief, and half a bottle cured me."

The nervous prostration that comes to many women can be quickly overcome by the use of South American Nervine. This medicine attacks the nerve centres, which are the fountains of all health, and the disease banished from these the system can soon be built up. Mrs. M. Williams of Fordwich, Ont., wife of the well known manufacturer of that town, suffered intensely from nervous prostration for years, and seemed beyond relief of the best medical skill. "I was under medical treatment," says this lady, "for two or three years, but my condition only got worse. I read of the wonders performed by South American Nervine, and tried a bottle. One bottle gave me sufficient relief to encourage me to continue the medicine with the result that it was not long before I was completely cured."

SOUND MONEY CONVENTION.

The Conference at Chicago Takes Steps to Appoint a National Committee to Make Arrangements.

Chicago, July 24.—When the Sound Money Conference reassembled to-day a report from the committee appointed yesterday was submitted and adopted unanimously. It provides for the appointment of a National Committee of one from each State to meet in Indianapolis, August 7, for the purpose of issuing a call for a national convention, and to decide on the time and place, to be not later than Sept. 2.

An Executive Committee of five to name state representatives, who shall arrange for the holding of state meetings, to give expression to their sound money sentiments, and to send delegates to the national convention, is to be appointed by the chairman.

Minneapolis, Detroit and Indianapolis, through their delegates, announced that they were in the field to get the national convention, and offers of halls and expenses were received. Minnesota and Texas were represented at to-day's meeting.

Revival of Trade.

Reports from the United States support the view that trade interests have vastly improved recently and that the business outlook for the future is encouraging. This will be welcome news to the people of Canada, since our own trade interest will be stimulated and improved. In nothing has this improvement been shown in a more marked way than in the increased sales of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. Times being dull everything not absolutely needed became a luxury and its sale became stationary. Now it is different. Sales have increased vastly, doubtless as it has proven the only safe, sure and painless remedy for corns, and wise people will use no other.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn' says: "Shiloh's Vitalizer 'Saved my Life.' I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For dyspepsia, Liver or kidney trouble it excels. Price 75c. Sold by John Nugent, 399 George Street.

The Breath of the Pines.

Coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, sore throat and lung troubles are cured by Norway Pine Syrup. Price 25 and 50 cents. It breathes out the healing virtues of the pine forests.

A TERRIBLE CONDITION IN MIDSUMMER.

Paine's Celery Compound a Fortifier and Builder.

"I have no ambition, vim or energy these days, I feel all gone, listless, despondent and miserable, and I often wish that this weary, weary life was o'er.

The above declaration and humble confession is made at this particular season by young and old who are out of gear physically and as a consequence are easily prostrated by the prevailing hot weather.

It is suicidal for sickly men and women to attempt to pass through the terrible heat of summer without the help of such a health and strength builder as Paine's Celery Compound.

Weary, weak and used up people, who complain of langor, lassitude, want of buoyancy, mental depression and fatigue by day, require the toning effects of such a medicine as Paine's Celery Compound. The use of this great stimulating and health-building remedy soon restores mental and bodily vigour, and gives that true health and strength that can combat all the dangers that beset us in July.

Paine's Celery Compound to-day is doing a mighty work for thousands of half dead people. Letters received daily from all parts of Canada show that the great medicine has rescued people from the grave and is giving them a new life.

Reader, we counsel you to give Paine's Celery Compound an honest trial if you would be well, vigorous and happy during the trying months of the year.

BOYCOTTING CANADA.

The British Government Prevents the Importation of Canadian Cattle.

London, July 24.—In the House of Commons to-day, Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, said, in reply to a question by Mr. G. W. Wolff, Conservative member for East Belfast, that the Canadian Government had protested against the refusal of the Home Government to permit the establishment of a wharf in Belfast to be devoted to the landing of animals from foreign ports, thereby entirely forbidding the importation of Canadian cattle into Ireland. The Government, Mr. Chamberlain added, had given careful consideration to the protest, but he regretted that they could not alter their decision to prohibit the establishment of such facilities for landing cattle.

CHAUNCEY DEPEW

Says the Action of the Chicago Convention Has Created Distrust of American Credit and Will Help England.

New York, July 24.—Hon. Chauncey M. Depew, who arrived from Europe to-day, having been called home by the alarming illness of Mr. Vanderbilt, was seen by a representative of the United Press this evening. He had nothing but the pleasantest words for the English people's hospitality, as exemplified by the recent treatment of the boat crews and the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Boston. The English were unanimously for arbitration, instead of war, he said, as far as this country is concerned, and as a consequence Mr. Bayard, from championing that policy, was the most popular Minister ever sent to the Court of St. James.

Mr. Depew said the action of the Chicago convention had given international bi-metallism a body blow in Europe from which it will require years to recover. It has killed the bi-metallism party in Great Britain and paralysed it in Germany. This movement has created a widespread distrust of American credit and sense of honor. It has stopped investment in the development of American resources, and will send American securities back on our own market and give unprecedented prosperity and employment for capital and labor in Great Britain.

Mr. Depew called upon Mr. Vanderbilt and remained an hour. Upon leaving the house he said the patient would be all right in a very short time.

I received no benefit from their treatment. Nine months ago I was lucky enough to try Manley's Celery-Nerve Compound, and, after taking two or three bottles, the pain entirely left me, and I have had no return of it for 8 months now."

NOT A SICK DAY

For Over Thirty Years!

RESULT OF USING

AYER'S PILLS

"Ayer's Cathartic Pills for over thirty years have kept me in good health, never having had a sick day in all that time. Before I was twenty I suffered almost continually—as a result of constipation—from dyspepsia, headaches, neuralgia, or boils and other eruptive diseases. When I became convinced that nine-tenths of my troubles were caused by constipation, I began the use of Ayer's Pills, with the most satisfactory results, never having a single attack that did not readily yield to this remedy. My wife, who had been an invalid for years, also began to use Ayer's Pills, and her health was quickly restored. With my children I had noticed that nearly all their ailments were preceded by constipation, and I soon had the pleasure of knowing that with children as with parents, Ayer's Pills, if taken in season, avert all danger of sickness."—H. WEITSTEIN, Byron, Ill.

CAUGHT IN THE DERRICK.

The Awful Death of Charles Thompson, a Young Married Man of Orangeville —He Lived Twenty-Four Hours.

Orangeville, July 24.—(Special.)—Chas. Thompson, a young married man who lived in Orangeville, died at his home at noon yesterday as a result of injuries received in a terrible accident the day before. Thompson was an employe of the Owen Sound Stone Company, whose quarries are about a mile from Orangeville. He was standing on a coil of rope, which was attached to a derrick. The workmen on the derrick, never dreaming that Thompson was on the rope, commenced to hoist it. Thompson endeavored to get off the rope and became entangled in it. He was carried up into the air and then fell with terrific force between two large rocks. Fellow-workmen picked him up in a terribly mangled condition, his brains oozing from a horrible gash in the skull. He was carried to his home, where he struggled hard for life for 24 hours.

The Fat Man's Hat Fan.

"Hot, hotter, hottest!"

As he panted the words the fat man mopped his red and perspiring brow with a silk handkerchief, shaded his eyes from the glare of the blazing sun with one chubby hand, and, says Harper's Bazar, uttered a sigh that sounded like the explosion of a pneumatic tire.

His collar had wilted, his neck-tie was awry, and his face and neck were a shrimp pink.

"That's right. It is rather warm, Dumplin," said his cynical friend Teazer.

"Rather warm!" gasped the fat man, turning purple with indignation. "I tell you, this weather is volcanic, equatorial, sheolic!"

"Why don't you make more of an effort to keep cool, old man?" asked Teazer. "They say mind has a great influence over matter. Why don't you try to imagine that you are cutting a great deal of ice nowadays?"

"I am trying, you idiot," growled the fat man, mopping his brow until it glistened like a billiard ball. "I had some cracked ice in my hat, but it all melted in two minutes, and the water drizzled down the back of my neck. Ugh!"

"What you need, Dumplin, you miserable mountain," continued Teazer, "is one of those patent brow-cooling, perspiration-paralyzing, fly-chasing rotary fans all the restaurants use. You could keep as cool as a cucumber on ice if you had such fan on your hat."

"Rotary nothing!" panted Dumplin. "That's about as sensible as the most of the advice you wise men are giving. Rotary fan on my head! The idea! Suppose I had one, where under heaven would I get the power to keep the thing running?"

"Have a belt on the shaft of the fan—"

"Yes; but what could I connect it with?"

"What could you connect it with?" replied Teazer, in mock astonishment. "Why, connect it with the wheels in your head, of course!"

Then he sprinted for safety, with the raging, panting, perspiring fat man in hot pursuit.

SNATCHED FROM DEATH.

Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart Saves the Life of a Lady Resident of the Northwest.

His Wonderful Catarrhal Powder Cures a Nova Scotia Resident of Catarrhal Deafness.

When heart failure overtakes a person, unless the action of the heart can be immediately accelerated, the very worst results may follow. This is where we hear of so many cases of sudden death from heart disease. The elements that constitute Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart are such as to give relief in this particular immediately, without producing any hurtful effects. Then, continued with a little patience the disease becomes banished from the system, Mrs. J. L. Hillier, of Whitewood, N.W.T., says very plainly that this remedy saved her life. She had been much affected with heart failure, finding it almost impossible to sleep or lie down for fear of suffocation. The best doctor's skill in these Northwest Territories was of no avail. She says: "A local druggist recommended a bottle of Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. I tried it and with the result that I immediately secured ease, and after taking further doses of the medicine the trouble left me. The fact is, knowing how serious was my condition, this remedy saved my life."

It would be a mistake to suppose that Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder will only cure the milder forms of catarrh. It will certainly do this, and with wonderful expedition. But, as in the case of Mr. John MacInnes, of Wathabuck Bridge, N.S., it will cure the worst cases of catarrh. This gentleman suffered from catarrhal deafness, but after using one bottle of this remedy he was able to hear as good as ever. Painless and delightful to use, it relieves in ten minutes, and in a little time permanently cures catarrh of all kinds.

Not So Monotonous.

"Your life must be very monotonous," said Gus De Smith, looking in the window of the Austin postoffice at the clerk stamping letters.

"What makes you think so?"

"It would drive me crazy to be everlastingly pounding letters with a hand-stamp. It's the same thing over and over every day."

"Oh, no, it's not," replied the clerk. "Yesterday I was stamping 27 on the letters, to-day it's 28 and to-morrow I'll be stamping the 29th of the month; so you see it's not so monotonous after all.—Texas Siftings.

A lazy, slow or torpid liver influences the whole system, causing biliousness, sick headache, sallow complexion, languor and dullness. Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the liver, purifies the secretions and cures all forms of liver troubles. We say so and here is the proof:—

I hereby wish to thank you for the great benefit derived by me from your Burdock Blood Bitters. For three years I was troubled with liver complaint and tried everything to no purpose. I had almost given up hope until one day I determined to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I can say now that marked improvement resulted from the use of the first bottle and at the end of the sixth bottle I discontinued its use, being completely cured.

St. John is Much Interested in the Recent Medical Discovery.

St. John, N.B., July 20.—The many cases of marvellous restoration to health from various forms of kidney trouble which have been constantly appearing in the daily press of the Dominion have for some time awakened the liveliest interest here, and the remedy by which the cures were effected namely, Dodd's Kidney Pills are obtaining great celebrity throughout the province. The appearance of the testimonials of Drs. Rose and McCormick stating the benefits which they had personally derived from their use was considered a sufficient sign of the merits of the remedy, and the other interesting and wonderful cases which since been chronicled had caused the specific to have an exceptional sale.

AN ATTRACTIVE MARKET.

Large Displays in all Seasonable Lines of Fruit and Vegetables — Immense Attendance of Dealers and House-keepers.

Greater and more beautiful than ever were the displays on the market to-day, and the free exhibition was enjoyed by hundreds of house keepers. The market is not only the favourite resort of house-keepers twice a week, but it has come to be a favourte resort for the citizens generally, and this forenoon the walks in the market square were crowded for hours by cheerful looking people.

The scene on the market this morning was worth going some distance to witness even if one did not care to make any purchases. However, very few of the great crowds of people who were on the market this morning failed to buy something.

The offerings of fruit and vegetables were larger to-day than they were a week ago, but there was not so much meat on sale. There was plenty though for everybody and in all lines of offerings the prices were reasonable.

The vegetable offerings were arranged very attractively. The latest thing in vegetables is green corn. While corn did not make its first bow to the market patrons to-day, this was the first day of the season for it to be offered freely. Nearly all had corn for sale. It sold at 15c per dozen ears.

Other vegetable offerings were little, if any, changed in price. Potatoes were 45c per bushel, peas 10c per peck, onions 10c per dozen bunches, beets and carrots 10c per dozen. Two cucumbers went for 5c, and two small heads of cabbage for the same price. Large cabbage was 5c to 7c per head.

A good deal of honey in the comb was on sale at 15c per pound. It was clear and nice-looking honey.

Raspberries and black currants were the chief features of the fruit offerings, and both were plentiful and cheap. Raspberries were 3 boxes for a quarter, and the fruit was not only cheap but of good quality. Black currants were offered in greater quantities than on any previous market day this season, and they sold at 8c per quart, or 75c per basket.

Huckleberries were 10c per quart. A few boxes of thimbleberries were on sale at 13c per box.

Apples were a feature of the market, red Astrachans and harvest apples offering in great plentitude. The apples were not large, but they were fairly ripe and they sold well at 50 and 60c a bag.

Eggs were more than plentiful, yet the prices were firmer than they were last week. The quotations ranged from 9 to 10c per dozen.

Butter was a little more plentiful to-day but the prices remained up at a pretty high notch. The quotations for good quality were 17c to 18c per pound.

Coca and its Uses.

We are wont to associate this new drug of wonderful medicinal properties with the grateful beverage of the breakfast table, but they are quite different in source and in properties. Coca is a most beneficent gift to the sick and suffering, as is attested by its rapid rise in estimation and the reliance now placed upon it by the most eminent practitioners in Europe and America.

Maltine with Coca Wine is the most reliable form in which the full medicinal value of coca may be obtained and the striking results derived from its use in nervous exhaustion, debility, weakness, or palpitation of the heart, warrant the high appreciation of its merits expressed by medical men who have used it in their practice. Maltine with Coca Wine is not a patent medicine, but a highly specialized pharmaceutical product, designed to cure disease in the only way disease can be cured viz., by helping nature. This it does by aiding digestion and assimilation. Sold by all druggists.

THE CROP REPORT.

Excellent Yields in South Victoria Reported.

The Globe makes the following report on Victoria County crops :—

For the southern portions of the County of Victoria the same tale of excellent crops has to be told. Further north a combination of drouth and grasshoppers has proved disastrous; but in the Townships of Mariposa, Ops and Emily and in the southern portions of Verulam the crops are uniformly good. "Could not in fact easily be surpassed," "the best in 25 or 30 years,' said as competent and experienced an observer as Mr. J. D. Flavelle, the well-known ex-President of the Dominion Millers' Association. As in Peterborough, there are no real failures in this locality. Farther north, in the northern portions of Verulam and in Eldon, Bixley and Carden and in the neighbourhood of Fenelon Falls, Dunsford and other places the crops are reported to be poor, the grasshoppers having done great damage, and the weather having been very dry. In the southern townships there has been a fair amount of rain. The army worm is reported to have made its appearance in one or two places, especially in the neighbourhood of Cambray and Cameron, but no great amount of damage has been done so far by it.

Fall wheat here is very fine and is now well out of danger, nearly all of having been cut. Mr. J. D. Flavelle, whose enthusiastic summary of the situation has already been quoted, stated that the crop will be exceptionally good, it being practically free from rust and almost entirely free from blemishes. The quality will be very fine, and the greater part of it will come close to No. 1 grade. In all probability the sample will weigh about 61 pounds, which is heavy for white wheat. Rather more has been grown this year, Mr. Flavelle said: of late the farmers here have almost gone out of wheat, but this yield and this prevailing low prices of coarse grains may lead to an increase of the area devoted to this cereal. Other accounts but confirmed this estimate.

Very little spring wheat is sown here, a portion of the wheat sown being goose wheat. It is promising well, but, of course, is not beyond doubt. It is fairly heavy, though not so good as the fall wheat.

Oats are, of course, an exceedingly important crop here and are looking very well. Unless something happens to them they will furnish a splendid crop. The straw is good, the heads are filling out well, and unless rust, of which there is no indication at present, makes its appearance, everything will be well. The earlier sown fields are almost safe now. There is a big acreage devoted to oats, possibly one-fifth of the total tillage. About the same acreage is devoted to peas, and fully half of the peas belong to the fancy varieties, to which great attention is paid here. Mr. N. H. Cowdry, who is well known here as an expert in the culture of fancy peas, declared it to be his opinion that the crop in fancy peas will be good, rather better, in fact, than the average. The straw is good and the pods are filling out well. So far no rust or mildew has appeared, though a few days such as yesterday, which was a damp, close, warm day, would have promoted it. Fortunately, to-day is bright and cool.

In Prince Edward County it is reported that some blight has appeared and has done mischief.

Ordinary peas will also be good, perhaps a little better than the fancy varieties, as they are hardier. Some peas have been threshed here recently and the yield was satisfactory.

A smaller area is devoted to barley this year than last, but a good yield is promised, what is grown coming up well. If there is dry weather from now on it will be good in colour. The berry is plump and good and it is expected that the sample will average close upon 50 pounds to the bushel.

Hay will prove a light crop here this year. Some accounts say that it will be about the same as last year; others say it will be better than it was then. The dry weather of May is chiefly accountable for the shortage. Not more than half a crop is the general verdict. Alsike is an important crop here, but not more than one-third of the acreage of last year was grown this season.

Messrs. Spratt & Killen, who are well-known produce dealers here, stated to-day that it was largely killed out in the seeding. What is grown is pretty short in the straw but is well filled out.

The pastures are keeping in good shape and the ensilage corn which is planted is doing well.

The roots generally were looking very fair.

Little is said about the apples this year. They will probably give a fair but not unusually fine crop. There are plenty of harvest apples and the winter apples are fair. So far all the apples seem free from scab and similar defects.

The plums are fairly good. The wild raspberries have been very scarce, but garden raspberries have been fair though hampered by the drouth in early spring. Gooseberries have been plentiful, and currants are fair.

HEAVY STOCK OF OLD CHEESE ABOARD.

The New York Produce Review says :—It has been difficult for many of the farmers and cheesemakers of Ontario to understand why the foreign demand for cheese has been so slack this summer at the low prices that have been ruling, but some facts are coming out in recent correspondence with English operators that throw light on the situation. It appears that an unusually heavy stock of cheese, largely Canadian, was carried into the summer, and the pressure to dispose of this old stock gave but a small place for the new crop.

"I believe," said a prominent exporter, after looking over a mass of correspondence, "that if all the old cheese in England alone were gathered together there would be upward of 100,000 boxes. I do not mean that there is that much cheese in first hands, but what must be consumed this season." A very heavy operator on the other side writes that it is a shocking wind up—about the worst ever known." Another writer says new cheese is blocked by an inexhaustible quantity of old cheese." And so the reports go, telling a tale that is beyond what was known here. Circulars have been sent here with advertised large blocks of cheese to be sold at auction in London and Liverpool. On June 9th, 12,980 boxes were sold, on June 23, 11,000 boxes more, and July 7, at Bridge House Hotel, London Bridge, 10,000 boxes August and September make.

In view of these conditions and the fact that Canada must ship her stock almost exclusively to Great Britain, it is perhaps wise that our farmers are making less cheese this season. There is a point at which production of any article ceases to be profitable, and, while we believe in encouraging every industry, it is sometimes wise to curtail the make until conditions change for the better.

A New Spelling.

A bishop of a Northern diocese wrote to a publisher in New York for a book called "New and Contrite Hearts." In a short time he received a postal from the publisher saying: "We have no 'New and Contrite Hearts,' neither are there any to be found in New York." The Northern prelate, it is said, enjoyed sending the postal to the Bishop of New York, calling his attention to the state if his diocese.—Harper's Magazine.

Hats are Trump

Keep Cool as a Cucumber.

We Can Settle The Hat Question.

"It's a Dead Sure Thing." The next seven days will make a big hole in our Hat stock, and settle the hat question. There's bustle to this business. The crowds come pouring into our "Two Big Stores" to our Slashing July Sale look like as if we were GIVING GOODS AWAY. We are not exactly doing that but we are coming pretty close to it. Not because we want to but because we must clear out our Summer Stocks. We make less on Men's Hats than on anything else, and there's nothing else appeals so directly to a man's head. We are making prices of Hats so low that anybody can raise the wind, and have a change of Hat for week days and Sundays.

The "New York" Hat.

This is our newest, nobby novelty, direct from Messrs. Eichhold & Miller, the Hat manufacturer of New York, makers of the celebrated Enfield Hats. They knew where they would have the biggest outlet for their leading Hat in Peterborough and sold them to us only. They come in Stiffs, Softs and Fedoras, in all shades and sizes. High-toned Hatters get $3 for the "New York" Hat, but we don't have to, for the makers have put us in a position to sell them to high-toned gentlemen for..... $1.75

Wilkinson's "Stanley."

Who has not heard of or worn this favourite English hat, of which we are the sole handlers here. The "Stanley" is made of the very purest fur felt. They sell easily at $2.50 and $3, by hatters who have to pay $19.50 and $24 per dozen for them. We have re-marked these hats for our July Sale and crowded the price down to..... ..... $1.50

Belgium $1.00 Hats.

These are the showiest Hats we've ever sold for a dollar. They have pure silk bands, summer shades and crown and rim forms to suit oval, round or squarish faces; made of beautiful soft fur and in taking light weights. Best shapes and colours and recognized as a popular Tourist Hat. We don't say what they are worth, but others ask double the money for the Belgium Hat, we sell for $1.00

Maud Miller on a summer day,
Raked the meadows sweet with hay,
Now Maud might rake the world in vain
To find Straw Hats so low again.

English Wool Fedoras.

Our "Special" line of Fedoras, that hatters would scorn to take less than $1.50 and $2, we sell you for 75c. Its a wonderfully fine hat for the price and have been going with a whirl at $1.50 up till now But we have other lines of our Wool Fedoras which no one else can match in value, because they start at..... .25

Boy's Caps.

As much style in our Boy's and Youth's stock as in our Men's—Knockabouts, School Caps, Tweed Caps, Bicycle Caps. We dump in a dozen lines that would ordinary go like hot cakes, at 25c to 50c, for..... .10 .15 .20 .25

Men's Boating Caps,

Bicycle Caps, Tennis Caps, with the prices all cut it two to clear them out. Money does not come so easy to every man nowadays that he should pay the hatters of fancy prices. Nothing newer than than what we have in stock. Starting price..... .35

Men's and Boy's Straws.

In addition to the wagon loads Straw Hats we had on hand, we secured a snapping bargain in 2 cases of American Straws the other day from a large New York house. We can sell a $1 split-straw, fine braided, fine trimmed and silk banded Straw for 60c. We have Straws for all ages—the 49c line, soft or stiff brim, with black and coloured bands, are great value at.. 30

These are only a few of the HALF-PRICE offerings, but you can take them as a fair criterion fo all the other prices during our Slashing July Sale. You know, or should know, that we are always getting the best possible goods at the LOWEST prices—and that's the sort of refreshing ozone that refreshes all kinds of pocket books. Come in and blow yourself. Whether you are taking a holiday or not, remember WE ARE GIVING THE PROFITS ON HATS A HOLIDAY.

Our next Slashing Sale will be in Boy's Clothing, but if you or the boys need a Hat just now, you might get the bargains in Clothing, now, too, as well as in the Hats.

THE LIBERAL POLICY

Announced by the Premier at St. John's, Quebec.

REFORM OF THE TARIFF PROMISED

The Manitoba School Question to be Settled—No Ante-Election Pledge to be Abandoned—No Doubt of the Election of Hon. Mr. Tarte.

St. John's, Que., July 25.—A grand popular demonstration in honor of the new Liberal Ministry took place today in this old Rouge stronghold. It was primarily intended to afford Hon. J. Israel Tarte an opportunity of meeting the electors whom he asks to endorse his acceptance of the portfolio of Public Works. Judging by the way he was received by all classes, Liberals and Conservatives alike, it is safe to say that he will be elected by acclamation. The demonstration was noteworthy as being the first occasion on which Mr. Laurier made a public address since accepting the task of forming a new Government. It is needless to say that every word he uttered was heard with the keenest interest. St. John's also is the home of Hon. F. G. Marchand, the leader of the Liberal party in the Province of Quebec, and this gave the speakers an occasion of warning the electors to prepare for the local elections, which must necessarily be held at an early date.

Hon. F. G. Marchand, the local member, and leader of the Local Opposition, made a brief address, welcoming Mr. Laurier and Mr. Tarte.

Senator Bechard, who had been member for Iberville since Confederation, and was again elected for Iberville, St. John's, at the last election, thanked the electors for the confidence they had so often reposed in him, and commended Mr. Tarte as his successor.

Mayor O'Cain presented Mr. Laurier with a complimentary address, welcoming him to the town, congratulating him on the composition of his Cabinet, referring especially to the Department of Agriculture, eulogizing Mr. Tarte's abilities, and declaring that they would elect him by an overwhelming majority, if not by acclamation.

Mr. Laurier was heartily cheered in coming forward to respond.

The Premier began by saying that Iberville was historic ground, and that the soil had been consecrated by the blood of the patriots of 1837. He asked them to return Mr. Tarte unopposed, for, if there is one man whom he particularly desired to see in the Government, it was his friend the Minister of Public Works. The Premier enumerated the strong men of the Cabinet, and said people thought Sir Richard Cartwright would be Finance Minister, but for reasons personal to himself, and which he would soon explain, Sir Richard thought it his duty to decline that portfolio. Regarding the portfolios, he said the law had to be adhered to, but a reorganization of the departments would soon be the order of the day.

Hon. Mr. Laurier also said the Conservative press was most anxious to have an announcement of Ministerial policy. He could tell them, as leader, that the policy of the Liberal party in power would be identically the same as in opposition. "What we advanced then we will now put into practice," said the Premier. "When in Opposition we advocated tariff reform. This was the first article of our program. The people gave us power on the understanding that this policy would be carried out, and our pre-election promises will not go unfulfilled. This reform will not be proceeded with blindly or imprudently. Nothing will be done in this direction during the coming session, which will be exclusively devoted to the voting of supplies. The following session will probably take place in January, 1897, and ere then Hon. Mr. Fielding will have put himself into communication with the manufacturers of the country, and, in fact, all sections of the people, and bring down a tariff that will, besides giving sufficient protection to the industries of Canada, lighten their burden of taxation which now weighs so heavily upon the masses."

Agriculture, he said, must be aided, and, although the price of farm products is regulated by the demand on the other side, we can encourage cold storage and better facilities for transatlantic commerce.

The Northwest must be developed and a greater population got into that fertile country. Hon. Mr. Laurier then figured out that if five million Canadians pay $27,000 interest each day on the public debt, that if we had ten million people in Canada each taxpayer would only have to contribute half the present amount.

The Canadian Premier then declared for preferential trade with Great Britain, stating that it would be the policy of the new Government to urge upon the Imperial authorities the wisdom of giving Canadian products preference in her markets by a slight duty against foreign countries. He held, however, that the relations between Canada and the United States were not sufficiently amicable. During the past quarter of a century the Governments at Ottawa and Washington had not treated each other in a proper manner. He proposed to use his best endeavors to bring about a change, so that the one will treat the other as a friend, rather than an enemy, for he believed we could be loyal to Great Britain and still be friendly to the United States.

The leader then took up the Manitoba school question, stating that he had every reason to believe the whole matter would be settled within six months.

Discussing the result of the late election and the cry of French domination, he said that the formation of the Laurier Ministry was the best answer he could give to this accusation.

"Quebec Province," concluded the Prime Minister, "does not wish to be dominated, neither does she wish to dominate any of her sister provinces, and, although she may hold the key of the political situation, never will my native province abuse that power."

Hon. Mr. Tarte delivered a vigorous address, denouncing in strong terms the Toryism of Ontario. He said one of the first measures proposed by the new Government will be the abolition of the Dominion election law. He claimed that Quebec in the past had not been properly represented in the councils of the nation, and thanked God that this province was no longer represented by the Langevins and the Carons. He had chased out the thieves who had robbed the treasury. "Just think of it," cried Mr. Tarte, "I am sitting in Sir Hector Langevin's chair, and," he added with a smile "I had it cleaned before taking possession."

The Minister also made an attack upon capitalists and monopolists, and said that the Laurier-Mowat Government are independent of them.

Speeches were also made by Hon. Messrs. Fisher, Geoffrion, Mitchell and Messrs. Brodeur, Stenson, Desmarais and Monet, M.P.'s, after which Mr. Tarte proposed three cheers for the Queen, and the meeting dispersed.

A THEATRICAL TICKET.

This is What Some Delegates Call the Nominations Made by the Populist Party.

St. Louis, July 25.—The National convention of the People's party, after four days of heat, turmoil and unlimited oratory, completed its labors at 4.40 this afternoon and adjourned sine die.

Notwithstanding the receipt of one or more telegrams from William J. Bryan declining, to permit the use of his name on the Populist ticket unless Arthur Sewall, his associate on the Chicago ticket, was also endorsed, Mr. Bryan was put in formal nomination as originally contemplated by Gen. Weaver of Iowa and was seconded by one or more spokesmen from every State and territory with about ten exceptions, and on a ballot received 1042 votes against 321 for Col. Norton of Chicago, who at the last moment was selected as the candidate of the unreconstructed "middle of the road" element. It was the intention of this faction early in the morning to place Eugene V. Debs in nomination and thus to force the labor issue to the front, but Mr. Debs telegraphed declining to serve and his telegram was respected.

Strenuous efforts were made, without avail, by Ignatius Donnelly and others to obtain some kind of an assurance that Mr. Bryan would accept the nomination and stand upon the platform. The permanent chairman, Senator Allen of Nebraska, admitted that he had received some kind of a telegram from Mr. Bryan, but he said he had paid no attention to it. He also said he received one supposed to be from Gov. Stone, but would not open it until he reached his home in Nebraska.

The convention separated in bad humor, many of the delegates openly denouncing the ticket as a "theatrical" one.

COOL-HEADED THUGS.

The Long and the Short Man are Still at Work in Chicago—Two of a Gang Captured.

Chicago, July 26.—Shortly after 8 o'clock last evening store hold-up No. 22 took place. Two young men entered the jewelry store of C. M. Robertson at 387 North Clark-street, and asked to be shown several articles of jewelry, which they endeavored to pocket. Mr Robertson, however, got the drop on the visitors and, locking the door to prevent their escape, held them at bay with a revolver until the police came to his assistance. At the Police Station the young men gave their names as James Robinson and Frank Harper. The police claim to know Robertson as a tough character.

Store hold-up No. 23 was successfully carried out about 8.30 o'clock, when the "Long" and the "Short" men entered the grocery store of James O'Reily at 154 Morgan-street. While one man held a revolver under Mr. O'Reily's nose and robbed him of his watch, the other scooped $15 out of the money drawer and then both escaped in the darkness.

STRIKERS MAKE TROUBLE.

Two Hundred Men Visit Barclay, Ill., and Stop Others From Working.

Barclay, Ill., July 26.—A mob of 200 striking miners from Riverton and Spaulding, Ills., marched to this place yesterday morning and compelled the miners to return home. They wouldn't allow the men to go to work on account of a reduction in wages from 35 cents to 32 1-2 cents per ton. The men had all assembled around the mine when the striking miners made their appearance. Some confusion followed and when the first cage of men was let down into the mine there was a general riot. The Barclay miners finally went to their homes and agreed to work no more till next Tuesday. An effort is being made to call out all miners in this district, and a large mass meeting will be held in Spaulding to-morrow to take action on the matter. It is said that the miners here will resume work to-morrow morning, and serious trouble is expected if they do.

Unrest Caused by the Action of the Silver Democrats—Mr. A. J. Balfour in Parliament Shows Himself to be a Clever Political Leader.

New York, July 26.—Mr. Isaac N. Ford cables from London to The Tribune as follows:

The Populist and silver side shows at St. Louis have not attracted much attention here, but have served to deepen the impression that an anomalous political revolution is in progress in America, with all the moral forces of public opinion on the Republican side. The demoralised Democracy, with its Populist allies, has succeeded in temporarily discrediting the nation and clouding its future. Wherever American affairs are discussed, grave apprehension is expressed of the secession of the West and South from the East, the repudiation of the national debt, and a possible catastrophe by which republican institutions all over the world will be shaken to their foundations. Forecasts of the election of McKinley and the restoration of American prosperity are accepted suspiciously as premature and oversanguine. The grotesque performances of the Populist convention, following the nomination of a stump orator on the strength of a chance metaphor rather than a career of public service, have convinced cautious observers that America is seething with social unrest, and that nobody can foretell what will happen in November.

The moral that is generally pointed is that merchants cannot be too cautious in business dealings with American houses, and that American securities should not be purchased under any circumstances. I asked a prominent and well-informed banker yesterday whether the gold shipments would continue from the United States and the gold reserve again be depleted so heavily as to force the Government to issue a new loan. He replied that the American banks would undoubtedly come to the rescue of the Government and make good the losses of gold. They could protect the Government till November if they wished to do so, and they could be depended upon to stave off a new financial crisis. He did not apprehend that there would be a large shrinkage in the gold reserve in the next three months.

If Bryan were elected gold would leave the country, and nothing could stop it. Gold payments would be suspended, as it would be impossible to float a new loan after the triumph of the party which is committed to repudiation. The situation would be greatly improved if McKinley were elected, and a new issue of bonds could then be negotiated if necessary, in order to maintain gold payments. American credit abroad had been greatly damaged, however, by the recent proceedings of the Democratic and Populist conventions, and the faith of Europeans in the perpetuity of republican institutions had been seriously impaired. The assurance which was anxiously awaited in Europe was an explicit declaration by the new administration, supported by Congress, that the nation meant to pay its debts in gold, and not repudiate them. Any issue of gold bonds would be saleable in Europe after McKinley's election, and it would suffice to keep up the Treasury gold reserve; but what was indispensable was the conversion of the Treasury deficit into a surplus, coupled with a thorough scheme of currency reform, which should include the cancellation of greenbacks when redeemed. This opinion is generally held in Lombard-street, and is reflected by all financial journals.

The effect of Bryan's nomination is causing social unrest and political demoralization has been shown by the heavy fall in American railway securities. If the lists of stocks of a fortnight ago and to-day be compared, the decline will be found to run from 14 to 20 per cent. McKinley's nomination was followed by a rise in all classes of American securities, but this movement was checked by shrewd speculators in New York, who sold heavily in anticipation of the adoption of a silver platform by the Democracy and the consequent depression of the market.

Any permanent recovery in prices cannot be looked for while the political situation is clouded with uncertainty. There are no buyers abroad for anything American; investors are waiting to find out whether Americans have dropped the Eighth Commandment from the Decalogue.

Mr. Balfour, after receiving handsome tributes from his colleagues—Mr. Chamberlain and Sir Michael Hicks Beach—has taken matters into his own hands and proved that he can lead the House when he tries. The Government have been exposed on the Irish Land Bill to a double fire from landlords and tenants, and have been in a delicate position. It was the old story of landlords being bent upon reserving for themselves the full resources of the soil, and the tenants insisting that they had an absolute property right in all improvements. Mr. Balfour, after witnessing the defeat of the Government one night on an amendment through the defection of the Unionists and the light attendance on the Ministerial benches, thrilled the House on Thursday night by turning upon the landlords and rebuking them for the madness of their course in obstructing the passage of the bill. The Nationalists not only cheered his refusal to destroy the Land Bill by accepting the landlords' amendments, but also declined, one after another, to move their own proposals, and thereby greatly facilitated the progress of the measure, which passed the committee stage. Mr. Balfour's personality came out strongly in this dramatic episode, with the effect of restoring his prestige in no small degree. The Government are now in smoother water, with a prospect of drifting out of the session without throwing overboard the entire cargo of proposed legislation.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A regular agricultural correspondent of the Winnipeg Tribune makes somewhat alarming statements in regard to the prevalence of rust in the wheat of that province and predicts that the crop will be very much lessened. The farmers of the province, as well as everybody else, are, as the writer remarks, interested in the truth being made public. It is now nearly two weeks since this report was written.

THE Ottawa Journal has the following good story on one of Mr. Tarte's acquaintances: "That the Hon. J. Israel Tarte, Minister of Public Works, intends to continue to appear at his office at 8 a.m. seems little less than a certainty. Shortly after returning from Montreal last evening he was approached by a gentleman who wished to fix an hour to meet him in his department. Mr. Tarte said he could see him at eight o'clock this morning. The gentleman mildly suggested that 8 a.m. was a little early, but was courteously informed by Mr. Tarte that he had another engagement at nine o'clock, and it would be necessary to come around at the time mentioned if he wished to see him."

ACCORDING to a calculation based on the Government returns received from Europe, relating to the percentage of children attending school, Bavaria heads the list with 21.2 per cent., whilst Montenegro comes in last with 1.4 per cent. On this continent the North Central United States lead with 25 per cent., Haiti coming in at the end with 1 per cent. So far no returns are to hand from Puerto Rico but its position will be low. Canada ranks 6th with 21.2 per cent., standing between the North Atlantic United States, 21.5 per cent., and the Western United States 19 per cent. The cost of education per capita of population is:—North Central States, $2.81; North Atlantic States, $2.76 per cent. Canada, $1.85.

M. Marion, in a striking monograph on the "Movement of Pedagogic Ideas in France," says that 'to make primary education compulsory is the necessary guarantee of social order." He further declares that the three cardinal points of reform in France are that primary education should be compulsory, free and secular If the State demands the first, it must grant the other two. We cannot say to a man:—"Take this or we'll punish you." and then claim payment for the gift; we must in addition make the gift good, and therefore carefully train the teacher. Since it is impossible in every district to make a separate school for each separate religious body, the teaching in the compulsory school must be secular. This does not exclude morality, which is as necessary to the state as salt to the sea. Religion, the private concern of each individual, belongs to the clergy and the family. The truth of these statements have been, and are being proved more fully every day.

THE ARMY WORM.

Leucania Unifunota.

This is one of the most noted insect enemies of American agriculture, and has been particularly troublesome in some parts of Canada during the last and the present season. During 1895 it committed great depredations in North-western Ontario along the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and this season it has appeared in the vicinity of Port Colborne, Chatham, Guelph and other parts of south-western Ontario. As if to give professors, students and visitors of the Ontario Agricultural College ample opportunity to study its habits, it has appeared in great force at the Model Farm, and Professor Panton has been devoting a large amount of time to an investigation of its natural history. It has also appeared in many parts of the United States, and according to bulletins issued by the Agricultural Department at Washington, the losses occasioned by it to farmers will mount up into the millions of dollars. It preys on a variety of cereal and forage crops, but has not been so prevalent during recent years as formerly. It is closely related to the cut-worms, to which it is similar in life history and habits. It hatches from eggs laid by a handsome brown moth between the sheathes of grass blades. The young larvae hatch in a week or ten days, and are at first green, but later become ornamented with longitudal stripes of yellow, gray and black. The larva feeds upon the leaves of the grass, wheat, oats, rye and other green forage crops, and becomes full grown in about a month from the time of hatching. Usually it remains concealed about the bases of grass or grain, feeding there unnoticed, but when the larvae become so numerous as to exhaust the food supplies that are near at hand, they mass in army form and go forth on the march to seek 'fresh fields and pastures new.' At such times it is no exaggeration to say that vast armies of them appear and moving in solid phalanx, pursuing their course, eating all before them. Their movements at the Model Farm have been a sight for the curious, and multitudes of visitors have made their way to the institution to see the 'army worm.'

This insect fortunately has many enemies that prey upon it and prevent its otherwise rapid increase. Many predacious and parasitic insects feed on it, and it is subject to the attacks of certain bacterial diseases that often sweep the larvae off by millions. Many birds devour it. Foremost among these is the English sparrow. Its fondness for the army worm is one redeeming feature in a bird for which few have a good word to say. Since the appearance of this insect at the Model Farm the city of Guelph has been well nigh deserted by the sparrows, who have, in imitation of the example set them by thousands of farmers, gone picnicing to the Model Farm. Prof. Panton has made the following among other reports to the local papers concerning this insect:

1. Ground beetles (Calosoma) have appeared in numbers on the fields to aid in destroying the worms.

2. He observes a marked increase in the number of worms attacked by the Tachina fly.

3. The English sparrow is destroying myriads of the worms, and great numbers of these birds are collecting on the roadsides and lanes after the invading army.

4. He finds green oats scattered on the ground and sprayed with Paris green very effective in killing the worms. Thousands lie under the heaps dead in a short time.

5. Several of the worms have passed into the pupa stage.

6. The worm's chief food is oats, timothy, corn, wheat. They will not touch peas, beans, potatoes, mangolds, turnips or clover, if any of the preceding can be got, and in fact will not feed upon them unless starved to do so.

Peas were two days in the feeding cages before they were touched. They fed on clover sooner but will leave it for oats. As soon as grain begins to ripen they desert it for that which is green. The college crops will be very little injured, as the grain is too advanced. Hence the importance of early sowing.

The burning of pastures and meadows during fall, winter or spring, especially during the latter, is very often recommended as a remedy for the army worm, and a large number of the larvae and chrysalids may thus be destroyed. The migration of worms from field to field may be prevented by ploughing deep furrows with the perpendicular sides away from the worms, or by setting fence boards on edge, leaning a little towards the worms, and smearing the upper edge with coal tar. Prof. Fletcher, entomologist and botanist of the Experimental Farm at Ottawa, has the following to say about remedies for the army worm in his report for 1896:

"Although only occurring occasionally in excessive numbers, and then in but few localities, this moth is very widely distributed in Canada, and may generally be found in most parts in low lands where the caterpillars have suitable conditions for growth and an abundance of food. It has also been observed that the army worm is most abundant in wet seasons following a dry autumn, the damp weather giving them the same conditions over a large area as they would find in their own special habitation, viz., low, swampy and grassy places.

When the caterpillars appear only in moderate numbers they have an abundant food supply and do not then acquire the habit of "marching," which is merely moving from one place where all the food has been devoured to a fresh pasture. When, however, their appearance is excessive, they must of necessity move on to some other place or starve. They may be prevented from marching from one field to another by ploughing a deep furrow across their path. This should be cleared out so as to have the edge nearest to the field to be protected perpendicular or slightly overhanging. Along the trench so formed pits must be dug about twelve feet apart. When the caterpillars come to the trench they are unable to climb up the opposite side, and after a few trials, walk along until they fall into the pits, when they may be destroyed by covering them with earth and trampling it down, or, as Prof. Lugger, of Minnesota, suggests, "with a liberal dose of kerosene oil and water. Even a shallow ditch will answer this purpose if the earth is made friable enough to keep the worms from ascending. If a log is dragged continually through such a ditch, nearly all the worms collected there are either killed or maimed."

If pits are not dug, where the caterpillars occur in large numbers, the trench will soon be filled, and they will walk over on the bodies of their fellows. In case any of the worms succeed in crossing the ditch, a narrow strip of the plants on the opposite side of the trench should de dusted or sprinkled with a strong mixture of Paris green diluted either with twenty-five times its weight of flour, ashes or land plaster, or mixed with water as strong as one ounce to o pailful of water.

When an attack has been very severe in any locality, much good may be done by burning the old grass and stubble in autumn or spring; in this way many of the young larvae are destroyed, as well as the old stems, which, it seems, are the favourite place for the spring brood of moth to lay their eggs upon.

An encouraging feature in connection with an invasion by the army worm, is the fact that it is extremely rare for the insects to appear in large numbers two years running in the same place. This is due to the fact that they are almost invariably attended by parasitic foes, which destroy them so effectually that the occurrence of two "army worm years" in the same locality is almost unknown.

The discussion of this subject would not be complete without a word on the extent to which the multiplication of injurious insects is caused by the wholesale and wanton destruction of birds. Most birds are the farmers' friends, from the fact that a large proportion of their food consists of insects. Even the English sparrow, which is so generally decried, is mainly insectivorous in its habits. It no doubt consumes a proportion of the small grains, but along with them it devours a large quantity of weed seeds. A vast number of birds are destroyed for the purpose of trimming ladies' hats and bonnets—one of the many sins for which fashionable folly has to answer. We kill our friends the birds, and are punished by the necessity for expensive spraying machines and poisonous compounds with which to destroy the insects, which, through the scarcity of birds, multiply to excess. How much injury is done to our vegetables and fruits by the poisonous liquids we use, science has never informed us. 'What fools we mortals be!'

Failure and Success.

It is often all the little things that constitute the wide difference between success and failure. Some men, earnest in purpose, capable in many ways, seem unable to discern the import of minor, nevertheless important elements, and neglect in consequence to grasp the opportunities that if accepted would carry them on to victory. In the same way people are imposed upon by mercenary druggists, who to gain an additional profit, practice the dishonest method of substitution. Calling for Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, they accept some worthless flesh-eating substitutes, only to be disappointed or suffer injury. Putnam's Corn Cure is the only reliable one.

DEAR SIR,—I think that Herr Pflunger's invention is a very good one. I have tried it and find that it answers well. The only suggestion that I can make is that it should have an additional mouthpiece which could be screwed into the proximate extremity of the pipe so as to make the stem twice the length it now is. This would lower the temperature of the smoke as it comes into the mouth. That the smoke should be cool is almost as important as that it should be free from acrid matters. NATIONAL SILVER PARTY

Decides to Notify Mr. Bryan of His Selection at Baltimore—How a Deficit Was Met.

St. Louis, July 25.—The National Committee of the National Silver Party completed its work to-day and adjourned, subject to the call of Chairman Lane of California. Chairman Lane, I. N. Stevens of Colorado, Mr. R. St. John of New York, Tone of Minnesota and Diffendorfer of Pennsylvania were appointed a committee on finance. It was decided to recommend to the notification committee that Mr. Bryan be notified in Baltimore of his selection as the candidate of the National Silver Party. Mr. Greott of Ohio was chosen chairman of the committee appointed to notify Mr. Bryan of his nomination. The expenses of the National Convention were found to exceed the receipts by $2500. Mr. Lane of California settled the matter by presenting his cheque for the amount. An address to the people, drafted by Mr. St. John, was unanimously adopted. It appeals to "all true patriots, without regard to previous party affiliation, to vote for Hon. William J. Bryan for President and Hon. Arthur Sewall for Vice-President of the United States. A result of their election will be the coinage of the metals on equal terms, providing thereby a growing volume of money which will tend to disseminate rather than to aggregate wealth, which will relieve the present profound depression and replace it with a wide prosperity. We urge you to unite upon this ticket, as your sole hope of escape from the rigors of a grinding monopoly. Ours is a poor man's campaign. We, therefore, call for contributions toward legitimate expenses, the same to be sent to William P. St. John, treasurer, at 121 East 34th-street, New York city. Contributions of $1 or more will be regularly acknowledged."

IT IS ALL TALK.

Yes, but it is Norwood Talk—The Kind That Tells in Norwood.

Talk that tells.
Talk that is endorsed.
Every day talk by people that know.
City talk.
Kidney talk.
Do the kidneys talk?
Well, yes, both loud and long.
You are learning the kidney language.
Backache in kidney language means kidney ache.
Lame back means weak kidneys.
Weak back means weak kidneys.
The kidneys are talking trouble.
Here is some Norwood talk:

Mr. George Taylor, well known in Norwood, has this to say about Doan's Kidney Pills:—

"For a great many years I have been a sufferer from kidney disease. Terrible pain in my side and back made my life a burden. The urine was a dark wine colour, and I was greatly troubled with frequent urination. My sleep was destroyed because of this annoying trouble.

"I have taken scores of medicines, but could get no relief, and thought that I would never be cured. Happily I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills, and got a box at J. C. Moffatt's drug store, and have continued their use for one month.

"I am thankful to say as a result that they have fixed me up. I feel like another person. I do not now have to get up at night, and in fact am entirely cured.

"I think they are the grandest medicine ever placed before the public, and I heartily recommend them to all sufferers from kidney disorder of any kind."

A Big Frog.

A frog caught in New York State last week is said to have weighed ten and three-quarter pounds. His right leg weighed two and three-quarter pounds, and his left leg weighed two and a quarter pounds. He was eighteen inches long and twelve inches wide. The width of his mouth was eight inches; the length of his leg, thirteen and a half inches. That's a "fish" story pretty hard to beat, but Eddy Welsh is willing to wager he can produce a larger one at reasonable notice.

Fatal Accident at Fenelon Falls.

A young lad named Barry, about 14 years of age, was killed in Howry's yard on Wednesday evening. He was riding on their shunting engine, which was coming from the new yard with a load of empty trucks. It is supposed that he was struck by a piece of lumber which was sticking out from one of the piles and knocked under the trucks, which ran over his body. He died in about twenty minutes. He had been warned of the danger by the yard men on a number of occasions.

Still They Come.

It is not generally known there is a large and growing trade in ordered clothing done in Peterborough from outside places. But a glance at the order book of the firm of P. Simons & Co. establishes the fact. He received last week orders from Port Colborne, Windsor, Lindsay, Perth and other points. This speaks well for the excellent work turned out in this well known establishment. Their suitings are of the latest designs and textures. Any person in want of a fashionable, well-made suit will do well to give Pete a look through. Note the place, 408 George street.

Seventh Day Adventists.

Services in the S. D. A. mission tent still continue with a good interest. The speaking Sunday at 2.30 p. m. consisted in the examination of a prophecy recorded in the 7th of Daniel, concerning the change of the Sabbath, giving in addition the quotations from suitable historians, also noting the claims of the Catholic church themselves, concerning the important subject. Sunday evening the services proved that the old paths and ancient truths are the only safe guides in true Christianity. The pathway of Jesus revealed in the Book which He has given, is the only straight and direct road to the eternal kingdom.

No meeting to-night. Services Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings at 8 o'clock. The "signs" which show the second coming of Christ to be near will be discussed on Tuesday night.

MUSICAL FESTIVAL.

It Will be Held in Picton on Labour Day.

At Deseronto on Thursday last the representatives of a number of the bands of Central Ontario met and formed themselves into a permanent organization, electing the following officers:

Pres.—A. Abermother, Kingston.
1st Vice-Pres.—L. Rourigh, Trenton.
2nd Vice-Pres.—S. Cronk, Deseronto.
Sec.-treas.—G. M. Farrington, Picton.

It was decided to hold a musical festival at Picton on Sept. 7th, Labour Day, and to invite the various bands of the district to attend. As only a few of the bands were notified of the first meeting, the majority of them will not attend the Festival.

The object is excellent, but the promoters have gone the wrong way about it to make the affair the success it otherwise would have been.

A MYSTERIOUS GRAVE.

What Dark Mystery is it Hiding?—Police Investigation.

Residents in the neighborhood of Park and Albert streets are considerably worked up over the fact that in a certain backyard a mound has suddenly made its appearance bearing a great resemblance to a grave.

The story goes that two Frenchmen were observed making a mysterious excavation at the spot in the middle of the night, and the police have been asked to investigate. The chief does not think, however that he would be justified in digging a man's yard up on the strength of such surmises.

An Old Idea Exploded.

The old-fashioned notion that to keep warm one had to be loaded with a succession of garments until the weight of them was a burden, and one felt too bulky to move, has been exploded. The age of common sense and comfort has arrived, when a man can adapt his clothing to suit all weather, without swathing himself like a mummy. Fibre Chamois, the interlining which makes this possible, has gained its great popularity because it is an absolute non-conductor of heat and cold. No breath of cold or frosty wind can penetrate it from without, neither can the natural heat of the body escape through it, and it is so light that clothing may be interlined with it all through, without its adding any perceptible weight.

OTONABEE.

Council Meeting.

From Our Own Correspondent.

All the members present. George B. Cooney was present, requesting to be allowed to commute his statute labour for widening the base line road at the foot of Cooney's hill. Left over to next meeting, Mr. Weir to see the pathmaster. Wm. McBride requested that the statute labour tax against Harris Island owned by him be struck off.—No action taken. A petition was presented to take the necessary steps to detach lots 9 and 10 east half 11, con. 1, Asphodel, from Union School Section No. 2, Asphodel, and 6, Otonabee, and east half lot 8, con. 1, Asphodel, from Union School Sections 13 and 18 Asphodel and Otonabee, and attach them to School Section No. 1, Asphodel. Robt. Harrison of Asphodel was appointed arbitrator for Otonabee. A petition was presented from five ratepayers of Asphodel and Otonabee to detach the west half of lots Nos. 2, 3, 4 and 5, and west 123 acres of lot 5, con. 3, Asphodel, from School Section No. 5, Asphodel, and attach them to Union School Section Nos. 12 and 18, Asphodel and Otonabee. A letter was received from Henry Humphries objecting to the petition on the ground of illegality as it was not signed by public school supporters, and requesting to know when the next sitting of council would be held as it was his intention to be present. The consideration of the petition was postponed to next meeting of Council, the Clerk to notify Mr. Humphris to that effect.

Councillor Weir reported that he had viewed the gravel pit on the 9th line, where Jas. Cooney had applied for pay for filling in, that he, Mr. Weir, cannot tell by the present appearance of the pit if any award should be granted, but would recommend that Jas. Cooney get three neighbours, who would know the facts, and certify as to the justice of the claim.

The following commissioners were appointed to expend what money they consider necessary on the boundary roads:—Messrs. Anderson and Lancaster, Asphodel and Otonabee; Anderson and Johnston, Douro and Otonabee; Johnston and Deyell, Ashburnham and Otonabee.

Councillor Weir was given a special grant of $30 to repair the roads in his division, being an equivalent to what timber was sold on road allowances in his division.

J. J. Howden applied to have the road allowance opened north of lot 26, con. 13. No action could be taken, as the road lies in the corporation of Ashburnham.

Mr. Anderson was appointed to interview the North Monaghan Council and insist on an immediate settlement of the sewerage arbitration expenses.

Councillor Weir was instructed to have the town hall painted and repaired. Messrs. John Carey and W. J. Miller were appointed to inspect the work performed on the roads this summer by the different overseers as to the quality and quantity of the work for the money expended, with a view to compare the new and old systems of expending the road appropriations, and report to the council on or before the 21st Sept. next.

The following accounts were passed:—James Duffus, removing stones out of Sullivan's pit, $6.75; Timothy Crowley, cedar, $9 60; John O'Leary, gravel, $3 76; John Hanbidge, cedar, $7 38; Stephen Thorn, gravel, $5.74; Geo. Eson, gravel, $1.80; Patrick Heffernan, cedar and repairing culvert, $2.50; S. Griggel, removing stones off road, $1; James Douglas and James Rennie, each $9 for same; gravel accounts, John McDonell $5.60, R. J. H. Hurt $7.86, C. Howson $11.52, J. Anderson $5.22, W. Porter $3.18, W. Drury $18.60, E. J. Hair $12.04; M. Guerin 77c, John Welsh $68, Edmond Foley $8.70, D. McCarthy $50.61, John Johnston $17.15, W. Hatherly $7.60, W. Borland $8.12, Jas. Robertson $2.34, P. Sullivan $20.99, Thos. Fox $6.79, James Hayes $23 20, Edwin Howson $16.84; and for cedar, M. Landregan 84c, James Conroy $1.30; Joseph Elmhirst, damages gravel, $3; Peterborough Examiner Co., printing and stationery, $32.93.

Council adjourned to 21st Sept.

THE CANADIAN FROG.

An Important Export—How They are Caught — Getting Scarce and Cunning.

This is how the Ogdensburg Journal talks of the succulent Canadian frog:—Yesterday a consignment of several hundred pounds of frogs' legs passed through Ogdensburg on its way to market in New York. The goods were from Canada and passed the custom office as fresh meat. The Canadian frogs' legs are valued, when they are entered here at 30 cents a pound, but when they reach the consumer in the city they bring as high as 80 cents a pound. They come principally from the Rideau river, and as many as fifteen tons from that region pass through Ogdensburg in the course of a season. In New York they bring a higher price than the American product, being larger and tenderer. The Rideau river is one of the greatest frog fishing localities in the world. At one stretch in the river there is about 32 miles of nearly stagnant water, and the frogs, undisturbed for years, grew to enormous size, and were almost fearless. They would sit upon mossy logs, with their yellow throats shining in the sun, looking as large as chickens. All that was necessary to do was to drop a fish hook baited with red flannel down in front of them, and they would grab the bait and the frog was caught. Or, if the fisherman desired, he could take a long limber pole and hit them on the head and pick them up. Of late years having been hunted so much, the Rideau River frog is becoming very cunning and it requires as much skill to catch one as it does any much hunted game. One of these frogs can now see a man five or six rods away, and will dive under the water at his approach.

A New Remedy in General Use in Manitoba and the Northwest.

WINNIPEG, July 27th—The effects of the regular wave of sickness which sweeps over this portion of the Dominion in the spring are noticeable in the increasing amount of the druggists' sales. There has been quite a run on the kidney remedy now so well known under the name of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The recovery from Bright's disease of Mr. Arthur Coley, of Somerset, through their use, an account of which appeared in the papers, gave a considerable impetus to the sale, and the remedy has become indispensable in many Manitoba households, its fame having penetrated into the remotest parts of the province and Northwest Territories.

EPISCOPAL VISITATION.

The Mission of Minden Visited During the Week.

(Minden Echo.)

On Friday of last week the mission of Minden was paid a visit by Rev. Messrs. J. C. Davidson, of Peterborough, and F. H. Hartley, of Buckhorn. These energetic clergymen have for the past fortnight been visiting the Church of England missions of this county, beginning at Cardiff in the far east and thence westward. Services were held at all available points and the local clergy much aided and encouraged in this work for the church and her Lord. On reaching Gelert, Mr. Hartley remained there for a service, which some 40 or 50 attended and heartily appreciated. In the meantime Mr. Davidson pushed on to Minden where evening service was held in St. Paul's church, at which there was a large attendance. Rev. Mr. Davidson in his address spoke of the hearty reception that greeted him at the various places he had visited. He said he came to wish them God speed, and brought with him the Christian greeting of his congregation, who at the same time and in the same manner, were holding divine services in Peterborough. He urged his hearers to the support of the dear old church to which they belonged, reminded them of their privileges and spoke words of encouragement and hopefulness which were fully appreciated by his hearers. He congratulated the congregation on their pretty little church, claiming that the House of God should be a place to meet for the Master's service. He had brought with him a few books for distribution merely as a slight reminder of his visit, which he hoped would be profitable both to himself and them. He was glad to find the good work of the Gospel being so energetically and satisfactorily carried on; he wished them continued progress and God's best blessings.

On Saturday, after matin in the church, Mr. Davidson left for Coboconk, being driven down by Mr. J. H. Delamere, there to take Sunday services for Rev. Mr. Chaffey. Mr. Hartley remained in Minden and preached an excellent sermon at morning prayer. He also administered Holy Communion. In the afternoon at St. Peter's, Maple Lake, he again preached and administered the Sacraments, both of Holy Baptism, while at the Orange hall, Hindon, on Monday night he met a crowded congregation of interested and attentive listeners, amongst whom were also six candidates for Holy Baptism. After making several visits on Tuesday and giving the Sacrament to the sick at home and one adult baptism, Mr. Hartley left on Wednesday morning, accompanied by the prayers and good wishes of many whom his zeal and earnestness in the Master's work had thoroughly impressed and stirred up to further effort in the service of their church.

THE CANADIAN GENERAL WORKS FIRE! IT OCCASIONS THE LOSS OF OVER $50,000

An Explosion Occurred in the Compounding Department.

Highly Inflammable Material was Flung Broadcast Throughout the Building.

The Loss will be over Fifty Thousand Dollars, but it is Impossible to Place an Estimate of it before the Public at Present—Hundreds Witness the Great Conflagration, and the Fight the Firemen Made Against it.

As the result of a most disastrous fire on Saturday evening, the Canadian General Electric Company have sustained a heavy loss through the burning of several buildings together with their contents. Fortunately the exertions of the town fire brigade and that of the company, as well as the excellent provision made for fighting fire on the premises, prevented the spread of the flames to a greater degree.

The alarm was sounded shortly after ten o'clock, but before the bell was heard the attention of hundreds had already been drawn to the south end of the town by the vivid glare which lit up the sky and illuminated the streets adjacent to the Canadian General Electric Company's works. The employees who live in the neighborhood were speedily on hand and before the town brigade arrived on the scene fully half a dozen streams of water were already playing on the fire from the company's hose attached to the hydrants which about the premises. Under the experienced direction of the town firemen precautions were at once taken after their arrival to confine the fire to the one building and their efforts were in the main successful, although a couple of small frame store houses were destroyed through being in too close proximity to the doomed building, which has been known as No. 4.

As there is a watchman on the premises, many will wonder how the fire obtained such great headway before the alarm was sounded, but the explanation given by Mr. J. W. Kennedy, who was in charge on the night in question, explains the mystery.

It appears that the watchman makes his rounds every hour. It takes just forty minutes to inspect the premises and during the other twenty minutes the watchman sits in the gatehouse. It was whilst he was resting here that the fire started and he was first apprised of the danger in which the property stood by hearing a tremendous report. This was quickly followed by three others and in an instant he knew, as did every employe of the works who heard the explosion, that there was trouble in

THE COMPOUNDING DEPARTMENT.

This particular portion of the works is devoted to the preparation of the compound which is put upon the wires for insulation purposes, and the material of which it is composed is highly combustible as well as inflammable. The explosion, therefore, which took place almost simultaneously in four of the twelve pots, which are kept constantly simmering, scattered the contents of the remaining dozen about the interior of the building and in another second the flames were bursting through the windows. The compounds are of such a nature that, if on fire, water has no power whatever to quench the flames but on the contrary aggravates the danger by causing the flaming mixture to spread. The only way in which to check the flame is to smother it, and as the woodwork of the building was quickly on fire it was impossible to get close enough to the inflammable material to successfully and in consequence the whole building was apparently doomed.

The compounding department, in which the fire originated, together with the brass moulders' shop, is situated in the southern half of the big building, known as No. 4, which is 310 feet in length, by 60 feet in width. Just in the centre of the building a substantial brick fire wall and iron doors separate these departments from the wiring department, the carpenter shop and the pattern department. This fire wall did its duty nobly and prevented the flames from obtaining a foothold in the three departments named, although the southern half of the building was completely destroyed.

Although the loss is a heavy one at present, yet it would have been almost irreparable if the flames had obtained a foothold amongst the patterns which are most expensive. One spark amongst the shavings and light wood in the carpenter shop and the entire works might have been swept away. The fire was fierce as it was with little or nothing to feed it, but amongst shavings and dry wood its strength would have undoubtedly been such as to render it almost impossible to save the rest of the MAGNIFICENT PROPERTY.

The rest of the elements were inclined in the firemen's favour, as there was not a breath of air stirring and the sparks ascended up into the star lit heavens without causing trepedition in the hearts of the property owners in the vicinity. The buildings in the neighbourhood were kept soaked with water and only a couple of small frame storehouses were unable to be saved on account of being too close to the burning maing building. A quantity of hay which was stacked at the east side of the building was also destroyed.

The town brigade, as well as the Electric Company's men, deserve great praise indeed for their prompt response and for the manner in which they so bravely fought the flames, standing at times actually inside the burning building in order to have a better opportunity of directing their streams to points where the greatest good could be accomplished. Only a few minutes before the great roof went crashing in there were half a dozen firemen beneath it, but fortunately they were withdrawn in time to escape any injury.

ATTRACTED BY THE ILLUMINATION

caused by the great conflagration, as well as by the deep boom of the Works' whistle, hundreds hurried to the southern end of the town, and the streets were crowded for hours by those going to and returning from the fire, scores being in attendance who were never at the works before. As all the employees were of course on the scene, the crowd was a tremendous one, and it was with difficulty at times that a passageway could be forced through.

It is impossible as yet to form any approximate estimate of the loss sustained by the company, but the following insurance has been placed through Messrs. Cox & Davis on the destroyed portion of the building and contents:—Building, $12,500; machinery, $5,000; stock, $5,000. As the brass moulders use their own tools, upon which there was no insurance, the loss to the men will be considerable. There were about twenty-five employees working in the compounding department and the brass moulding shop. These men will be out of work for a day or two, but it is understood arrangements are being made for them to carry on their work in a portion of one of the other buildings.

FLOODS IN OHIO.

The Usual Story of Loss of Property—Railway Bridges Destroyed—Wheat Crops Ruined.

Cincinnati, O., July 26.—Reports continue to come in of damage done by the heavy rains which fell in this section during the past three days. All the smaller streams are badly swollen and damage to crops is reported. At Clarksburg, Va., many houses are under water and the property loss will be great. Almost every bridge in Upshur County has been washed away. The Kanawha Valley, from Grantsville to Parkersburg, W.V., is inundated and the losses to crops, timber, fencing, roads and bridges will be immense. Travel is entirely suspended. In the northern portion of Kentucky all railroads suffered by washouts and by bridges being carried away. The wheat crop is ruined. At Gloucester, O., the rain was the heaviest ever known. A large break at No. 9 mine let the water rush in to such an extent that it will cause a suspension of work for several weeks, throwing 300 men out of employment. No train has reached Caldwell, O., since Thursday night, as all bridges were destroyed.

TAKEN TO NEWPORT, R.I.

There It is Expected That Mr. Vanderbilt Will Recover Sooner.

Newport, R.I., July 26.—Last night Cornelius Vanderbilt was removed from his residence on Fifth-avenue, New York, and taken on board F. W. Vanderbilt's steam yacht Conqueror. An easy trip was made up the Sound and the yacht arrived here about 5 o'clock to-day. So far as can be learned, Mr. Vanderbilt stood the voyage as well as could be expected. It is thought the sea air will make his recovery more speedy.

That that beautiful singing quality of tone which is inherent to the Mason & Risch Piano, and which is spoken of by connoiseurs as the "Mason & Risch tone" has been attained only by many years of labor and costly experiment?

Do you know that it has taken many years to gather together the skilled artizans who are employed by this firm? Nearly every country in Europe is represented in their staff in the different departments—men who have been "imported" by them owing to their more than ordinary ability in some particular department of piano construction.

A foul breath is one of the greatest afflictions that a man or woman can have. An affliction not only to themselves, but to those with whom they come in contact. A foul breath is a dreadful discourager of affection, or rather of the demonstration of affection. It would probably be more so if people only realized just what bad breath means. Bad breath is one of the symptoms of constipation. Some of the other symptoms are sour stomach, loss of appetite, sick and bilious headache, dizziness, heartburn and distress after eating. These things mean indigestion. They lead to dyspepsia and worse things. They all start with constipation, and constipation is inexcusable because it can be cured—cured easily, quickly and permanently, by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are a perfect remedy for this most common of all troubles. They give to nature just the little help that she needs. They are very mild in their action, and act without any violence whatever. In this, they are different from many preparations offered for a similar purpose. Sometimes the remedy is worse than the disease, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are mild, but they are infallibly efficient. They do the work which they are intended to do, without deranging the system in any way. They not only give immediate relief, but the benefit derived from them is permanent. You can stop taking them by and by and there is no danger that you will become a slave to their use. The druggist who tries to sell you something else "just as good," either does not know what he is talking about, or he makes more money on the other thing. If you care more for his prosperity than you do for your own health, take the other thing. If you value your health, insist on having Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. A free sample, of from 4 to 7 doses, will be sent to any address.

A copy of Dr. Pierce's celebrated 1008 page book, "The Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated, will be sent free on receipt of thirty-one (31) cents in one-cent stamps to cover cost of customs and mailing only.

London, July 25.—The wind at Bisley this morning was light and the weather in every way suitable for shooting.

The St. George Vase, at 800 yards, was won by Sergeant Fulton of the Westminster regiment, who scored an aggregate of 108.

In the Macklinon contest the score was: Ireland 40, Canada 31 and England 31. Canada won ten points for excellence in drill, but lost the same number of points because of a bad volley.

In the final shoot for the St. George prize Huggins was seventh with a score of 43. He wins a badge and £10. Neill was twenty-ninth with a score of 38. He wins a badge and £3. Weiler, who was fifteenth with a score of 42, gets a badge and £5. Mans scored 21 and Munro only 2. Munro was unable to get the elevation. Spearing, who was ill yesterday, was much better to-day. The weather changed about noon, and the afternoon was windy, rainy and altogether disagreeable.

The prizes will be presented to the winners this evening by H.R.H. the Duchess of Albany.

In the shooting for the Queen's prize at 800 yards Hayhurst scored 35, Munro 30 and Sergeant Mitchell 27.

The winner of the gold medal in the contest for the Queen's prize was Lieutenant Thompson of Edinburgh, whose aggregate score was 273. The highest score at the 800 yard range was made by Whitworth of Liverpool, who counted 36. Willett of Middlesex leads in the aggregates, with a score of 255, Foster next with 254 and Thompson third with 253.

Later in the afternoon the weather improved and the shooting was consequently better.

In the contest for the Queen's Cup Hayhurst was about twelfth with an aggregate score of 230. Munro's aggregate was 231 and Mitchell's 240.

Her Majesty the Queen's prize, the N.R.A. gold medal, gold badge and £25 for the Bisley meeting of 1896, has been captured by Lieutenant Thomson of the Queen's Volunteers, Edinburgh, with an aggregate of 253, or six points behind the winning aggregate of last year. The winner took eighth place last year with an aggregate of 273, exactly the same score as won him the coveted prize this year. Wattleworth of the Second Liverpool and a silver medalist, made the top score at the 800 yards, viz., 40.

At the 900 yards range the scores of the Canadians were:

Hayhurst	37
Munro	29
Mitchell	32

Their scores at the three stages and the totals are:

	1st Stage.	2nd Stage.	3rd Stage.	Total
Hayhurst	93	91	75	259
Munro	82	100	50	232
Mitchell	87	97	56	240

Hayhurst will probably be in fourteenth place. He is just 20 points behind his aggregate of last year.

In the grand aggregates, Lieutenant Thomson, the Queen's prize winner, is in the third place, with 253. Pte. Willett of Middlesex leads with 255, and Captain Foster of the Fourth Surrey, who won the silver medal on Thursday, is second.

The prizes were presented this afternoon by the Duchess of Albany.

GENERAL OTTAWA TOPICS.

The Lucania's Narrow Escape From Collision—A Job for Dr. St. Jean.

Ottawa, July 26.—(Special.)—Messrs. Laurier and Tarte returned to-night from St. Johns, Iberville.

Ed Ashe, who accompanied Sir Mackenzie Bowell to England as confidential messenger, arrived home this evening. Ashe says that on Thursday night the Lucania had a narrow escape from collision in a fog at sea with a steamer of the White Star Line. The vessels passed within a few yards of each other.

Among the members whose return is gazetted are N. F. Davin for Assiniboia and Wilfrid Laurier for Saskatchewan. Dr. Bechard is gazetted to the Senate.

Le Temps is authority for the statement that Dr. St. Jean of Ottawa has been appointed Superintendent of the Rideau Canal.

Hon. Thomas Mayne Daly arrived here to-day and will leave for Stratford to-morrow night. It is more than probable that the ex-Minister will be a candidate in Brandon as soon as the seat becomes vacant.

Sir Charles Tupper arrived this evening.

Remember—only such medicines were admitted for exhibition at the World's Fair as are accepted for use, by physicians, in the practice of medicine, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and Ayer's Pills being included in the list. They are standard medicines.

Mr. E. W. Hazlitt, Reeve of Chatham Township, Kent County, Ont., says: "My daughter has been very weakly for some years; she was very pale and always felt tired; she was prevailed upon by a friend to try a box of Miller's Compound Iron Pills. I must say it was a good investment; she at once began to improve. The colour came to her cheeks, she got strong rapidly, and now is quite well."

DEATH IN THE FLOOD

Terrible Destruction From a Cloudburst

OVER THIRTY BODIES RECOVERED

A Section of Colorado Has a Dreadful Visitation—Water Rushed Along Like a Solid Wall, Sweeping Everything Before It—Bridges Down and Crops Ruined.

Denver, Col., July 25.—This morning a terrible state of affairs is revealed at Morrison, Golden, Central City, and other points in Colorado, where last night's storm raged the fiercest. Dead bodies, horribly mangled, are discovered, and at 9 o'clock 30 dead had been recovered, of which 21 were in Morrison alone. Trains left Denver early this morning with coffins for the stricken districts, and by noon further information will be received of the extent of the disaster.

Second Flood at Morrison.

Morrison, Col., July 25.—A second flood this afternoon resulted in completely paralyzing all efforts to recover the bodies of those lost in the debris of last night's flood. At dark to-night the following bodies had been recovered and identified. Reports from up the country bring news that none of the people camping there were lost. The list of identified dead follows:

Mrs. Moses Miller and three children, Morrison.

Child of J. C. Longnecker, Morrison.

Thomas McGough, aged 21, of Dayton, O., cousin of Mrs. Casey, also drowned.

Mrs. A. S. Proctor, 32 years old, wife of A. S. Proctor, President of the Denver Tent and Awning Company.

Robert James Proctor, aged 5 years.

Grace Proctor, 7 years.

Edith Proctor, 2 years.

Mrs. T. E. Casey, 38 years, Denver.

James Casey, 12 years.

Eddie Casey, 10 years.

Mamie Casey, 7 years.

Annie Casey, 5 years.

Clara Casey, 3 years.

Mrs. Anthony Herres, 31 years, Denver.

Eugene Herres, 7 years.

Mabel Herres, 2 1-2 years.

Josephine Herres, 6 years.

Carl Herres, 4 years.

Annie Hansen, 20 years, servant of Mrs. Proctor.

Miss Della Horner.

Miss Mary Horner.

Miss Josephine Holme.

Mrs. Horace M. Warren, all of Denver.

All of the bridges across Bear Creek were swept away. It is impossible to get across to learn if any fatalities occurred there.

Great Destruction at Golden.

Golden, Col., July 25.—A cloudburst last night at 7 o'clock did an immense amount of damage in this vicinity. Three lives are known to have been lost, and thousands of dollars worth of property destroyed. The dead are: Mrs. J. F. Edwards, A. A. Johnson, Mrs. A. A. Johnson.

James Bishop, 80 years of age, was carried half a mile down stream and finally caught a tree, from which he was rescued some hours later. His terrible experience had unsettled his reason.

The Union Pacific, Denver & Gulf Railway loses a bridge and other property. The light and water plants of the city are disabled. News is anxiously awaited from up the canyon, as it is believed there has been a heavy loss of life there.

At 7 o'clock a greenish colored cloud was noticed hanging above Mount Lookout. Inside of ten minutes the worst storm ever known in this section was raging. It continued with unabated fury for half an hour. As soon as it was safe to venture out, citizens ran towards the creek and saw the turbulent water carrying on its surface all kinds of debris, including barns, cabins, tents, bridges, etc. The Ford-street bridge, which has withstood many floods, was washed away. Many narrow escapes are reported. When the Ford-street bridge went out, the water spread over Ford-street and the surrounding bottoms from four to seven feet deep.

Many persons were rescued by firemen and carried through three feet of water. Further down the river many families were rescued with ropes and planks by the firemen. An unknown man is said to have been swept away half a mile below the bridge. The Denver, Lakewood & Golden Railroad tracks were washed out below the town. A large number of men were living in cabins above and below the town engaged in placer mining, and it is feared the sudden rise swept some of them away.

No trains will be able to pass up the canyon for several days. This will cut off the towns of Central City, Georgetown, Idaho Springs and other mining camps from communication with the outside world.

The water came down in a solid wall, sweeping everything before it. It is reported that there were several persons on the Ford-street bridge at the time it was swept down stream.

Golden lies at the end of the canyon where it debouches into the plains. The streets are steep, and slope to the creek sides. The water caught by half a dozen mountains came into the streets and coursed through them, taking everything of a movable character with it. The lights went out, and travel was dangerous in the inky darkness that settled over the place. There are reports of bodies seen in the creek.

Boulders three feet in diameter were rolled down on the Gulf-road. Sand covered the track to a depth of three feet in the city.

The new bridge built two years ago by the Lakewood Railroad Company was completely washed out, as were all the bridges across the creek. No idea of the amount of the loss of property can be obtained. It is reported that the whole country east of here was flooded and that crops were cut to pieces by hail.

Strength for the Aged.

As age advances the recuperative power of the body decreases. Fatigue clings like a barr to the already depleted store of energy, still further wasting and dissipating it, and in consequence the elderly find it very hard to keep their spirits up to the "doing" point. An anchor of hope and safety is found in the energizing action of Maltine with Coca Wine, which imparts almost magically, strength and vigor to the failing powers, and through its nutritive and tonic properties, renews those functional activities upon which depend health of body and vigor of mind. Maltine with Coca Wine rapidly restores appetite, improves digestion, imparts tone and vigor to the nervous system; in a word is a strength-giver of unequalled excellence. Maltine with Coca Wine is prescribed and recommended by physicians. All druggists sell it.

The Loves and Hates of Nations.

How short-lived are the animosities of nations! A few months ago there was no epithet too harsh for the German Emperor. He was gibbeted in music hall ditties, he was railed at in the press, and in society unrepeatable things were said of him. Now there is a distinct revival of the patter about "blood being thicker than water," and we are rapidly returning to the conclusion that the Kaiser is a splendid fellow. The naval architects toasted him with enthusiasm, and with happy tact the master of many legions has sent a gold wreath to the First Royal Dragoons, of which he is colonel, to remind England that Prussia fought by her side at Waterloo. The truth is that the loves and hates of nations are founded, not on kinship, nor on history, but on self-iterest, and as this changes public feeling changes too.—The Saturday Review.

Electrical Fruit Drying.

It is suggested that the drying of fruit, which requires great care and a certain regulation of the temperature, offers a promising field for electric heating. Fuel for heating by steam is often expensive, but fruit districts usually have abundant water-power that could be used for driving dynamos. The electric current would prove serviceable in a variety of ways, in addition to heating.

Perfect Potatoes.

Absolute perfection in a potato is not so difficult to obtain as its infrequency would suggest. The simple act of boiling in unsalted water and sprinkling the salt over after the cooking is accomplished will make good potatoes mealy and delicious.

NOT A SICK DAY

For Over Thirty Years!

RESULT OF USING

AYER'S PILLS

"Ayer's Cathartic Pills for over thirty years have kept me in good health, never having had a sick day in all that time. Before I was twenty I suffered almost continually—as a result of constipation—from dyspepsia, headaches, neuralgia, or boils and other eruptive diseases. When I became convinced that nine-tenths of my troubles were caused by constipation, I began the use of Ayer's Pills, with the most satisfactory results, never having a single attack that did not readily yield to this remedy. My wife, who had been an invalid for years, also began to use Ayer's Pills, and her health was quickly restored. With my children I had noticed that nearly all their ailments were preceded by constipation, and I soon had the pleasure of knowing that with children as with parents, Ayer's Pills, if taken in season, avert all danger of sickness."—H. SOCIALISM IN GREAT BRITAIN.

Continental Agitators are Permitted Rowdyism to Hold Forth in Hyde Park, London.

New York, July 26.—A special cable from London to The Times says: If to-morrow is a fine day, London will present a spectacle which may easily mislead some hundreds of foreigners who witness it, as well as many millions of others who read about it, as preliminary to the sessions of the International Labor Congress, which is to be held here during the coming week. A big demonstration is to be made in Hyde Park, and clear skies will bring out hundreds of thousands of people. So far as the program and the terms of the resolutions proposed go, the gathering will reveal Socialism and trades unionism much more closely identified than they have ever been before in Hyde Park. It is true that Socialists, so-called, have of late controlled most English trades union congresses, but it is a long step from that to bringing Continental agitators like Bebel, Guesde and Adler, upon a common platform under the English sky with moderate collectivists like Pickard, M.P., and Sidney Webb. That such an apparent fusion should be misunderstood in Germany and France is inevitable. That does not matter much, but it would be a misfortune if Americans should get a wrong impression of what it means.

Lord Salisbury's famous remark, "We are all Socialists nowadays," really puts the right label on the whole affair. Up to a certain point most Englishmen feel that individualism has been carried too far, and they listen tolerantly to projects for pooling public issues and letting the State help in extracting a general average for those who are too weak to get it for themselves; but there they stop short, and the chances of getting them to stir further in that direction are as hopless as are those of opening up communication with Mars. They will go to Hyde Park, perhaps, even in a rain, to hear what the collectivist plans and ideals are, but they have no earthly intention of voting for them now or hereafter. What is said from the platforms may slightly color future legislation by one or the other of the old parties between which the English voter alternates, but it will create no impulse whatever towards the formation of a third party. There are not so many actual Socialists in London to-day as there were in 1848.

The Halifax got away from her wharf at 2 o'clock, nothing of note having occurred after the men had been placed on board.

Lester Monck, who was a passenger on the Halifax, is the only one of the Herbert Fuller party who will not be taken into custody at Boston. He received a message from the State Department last night saying that his bail had been arranged.

The Latest Fashions

THE FASHIONS.

Renaissance Ideas Introduced Into Fashion's Realms.

Nothing equals the popularity of grass linen. The aim of the hour seems to be to employ it in every possible place. Not only are sweet, cool looking dresses for ladies, misses and children fashioned of this fabric, but it is employed in cloaks for young people and forms the outer part of some of the smartest wraps. These wraps are jaunty circular capes, usually black satin or some brightly hued silk showing through the linen, and are embellished with full ruff collar, long tie strings and much or little lace as the taste dictates. Green and the purplish reds are the most used of all colorings. There is a certain stability, brilliancy and courage in them which makes them quite as appropriate for the street as for evening.

The pretty fashion of colored linings is growing upon the color-loving public once more. French canvas in dark blue as seen over deep red silk, brown over green, black over violet and so on. The under color forms the pretty ribbon ruchings for the throat, wrist and skirt edge, and appears again in the hat trimmings.

Ribbons are used extensively for pleatings, quiltings or ruchings. The selvedge makes it easy to manage them and they outwear sating, besides being stiffer and smarter in appearance.

Grenadines are to be much used for dresses and light wraps. The new weaves are marvelously beautiful, showing embroideries, and brocades of rich and delicate designs. Embroidered mousseline de soie are still in great demand for waist draperies, and the plain mousseline de soie with stripes, scattered design or Renaissance effects in Honiton braid show no sign of diminishing.

The Renaissance idea is so firmly introduced into fashion's realms that all grades of lace, weights of silk weaves of cotton or linen show a marked tendency to these charming lines, but, the are often so distorted as to be mere mockeries of the first conception.—Imperial Magazine.

Pocketbooks and Card Cases.

A pretty portmonnaie—a pocketbook as it is now called—and a card case, are dearly loved by all women who like to have dainty things, and this year the bright-colored leather card cases add a dash of color to the gowns that is exceedingly smart.

Green in the different shades and bright red are the favorite colors, but there are some exquisite white and dove colors which, when worn with the calling costume seem to ad dan additional touch of elegance. There are two shapes, one oblong and quite small, the other the size and shape of a large envelope. The snake and lizard skins are not so new as the grained leather and pig-skin, which can be color treated so cleverly. When silver corners are used, the plain, unornamented are preferred, in reaction from all the gaudy effects we have had in the white metal. Ivory and tortoise shell are among the novelties, some with a tiny watch, which, by the way, is a very important addition to a card case; but fashion has not proclaimed decisively in favor of either of the materials, which are shown as novelties merely. The chain work purses of gold or silver meshes with jewelled tops are very elaborate, and amazingly expensive, but the simpler, less showy leather pocketbooks of oblong shape, and small enough to carry comfortably in the hand, are really smarter. In many instances pocketbooks and card cases are combined, and all card cases have a pocket where change can be carried; but even though visiting cards are smaller and thinner than ever, the pocketbook large enough to carry them without crushing the edges is a little larger than is strictly fashionable. Good pocketbooks are invariably expensive; $5 is cheap for one that will wear well. Only very simple gold or silver trimmings are now in style, and the beauty must be in the shape and material and finish.—Harper's Bazar.

Taffeta Waists.

Of the making of fancy waists there is no end. As there was never before so convenient, economical and cheap a way of giving variety to plain and modest wardrobes, it is easy to understand why so common sense a fashion is retained in popular favor. The "Eretria," is a very simple pattern, and depends for its attractiveness upon its trim fit and the beauty and becomingness of the silk. It is suited to all pretty stripped habutais, as also every description of figured India or taffeta silk. A fitted lining holds the fullness of both back and front in place. The finish of the neck and the shirring in front are especially effective and becoming. A ribbon gird'e matching the finish of the neck and wrists can be worn with it, or a fancy belt with jeweled clasp. This is also a good model for washable fabrics and can be completed with linen collar and cuffs.—Demorest's Magazine.

ABOUT THE LIVER.

A lazy, slow or torpid liver influences the whole system, causing biliousness, sick headache, sallow complexion, languor and dullness. Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the liver, purifies the secretions and cures all forms of liver troubles. We say so and here is the proof:—

I hereby wish to thank you for the great benefit derived by me from your Burdock Blood Bitters. For three years I was troubled with liver complaint and tried everything to no purpose. I had almost given up hope until one day I determined to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I can say now that marked improvement resulted from the use of the first bottle and at the end of the sixth bottle I discontinued its use, being completely cured.

A Bird's Queer Death.

One of the strangest monuments in existence is situated near Cold Spring, N.Y. It is slowly disappearing, and in a short time will have entirely vanished, but it tells a marvelously true tale of the life and death of the being which caused it to be erected.

It is composed of the bones of a swallow which met its death on the weather vane of a barn while in full flight. Everyone has noticed the peculiar driving motion which swallows make while on the wing. It was this method of flying that caused the bird's death. In making its quick dive it evidently miscalculated or else did not see the vane, which was arrow-shaped, pointing directly toward the swallow.

The farmer who owned the barn noticed a bird perched on his weather vane. The vane was swinging in the wind, but did not trouble the bird, which apparently refused to be unseated. The next day the bird and still there, and the day after as well. The farmer determined to investigate. He found the bird impaled on the vane. He left it where it was and it swung there for months. Why it did not fall to the ground was a mystery until when only the skeleton remained it was found that the sharp point of the vane had penetrated the breast bone. Then the bones dropped apart one by one, and now nothing but the breast bone remains, swinging with the vane, like the gibbeted form of a malefactor in olden times.—New York Journal.

LEADING HATTERS.

A Billville Incident.

We are pained to have to record an annoying if not serious accident that happened to our wife yesterday while she was returning from the grocery store of Messrs. Kracker & Butters, whose half column advertisement will be found in another page of this paper and who have just received a fresh invoice of those delicious salt mackerel and California dried apples so popular in Billville.

While directly in front of the post-office our wife slipped on an orange peeling carelessly thrown on the side-walk by some thoughtless if not malicious person, and as our wife was burdened with a half-gallon pitcher of molasses in one hand and a paper bag containing two dozen eggs in the other, she found it impossible to maintain her equilibrium and fell heavily flat on her back, drenching herself with the molasses in an annoying manner and breaking the pitcher, while not a whole egg remained in the bag.

Kind friends hastened to the assistance of our wife and she was carried into the drug store of Messrs Pillsbury & Puffball, whose advertisement of their new arrival of toilet articles and fine stationery will be found on our third page, and whose attentions to our wife were in every way gentlemanly and polite.

Aside from a pair of badly skinned elbows and the annoyance of getting her hair full of egg and the shock to her nervous system, our wife was not injured.

Our thanks are due to Messrs Hodge & Podge, whose full-column ad. will be found on our first page, for their kindness in sending our wife home in their delivery wagon. We would say in all kindness to the person who threw the orange peel on the pavement not to do so again, for our wife might have been very seriously hurt. She has nearly recovered at this writing and expects to spend Friday with our mother-in-law over in Brushville and we will probably go over to tea and return with our wife.—Billville Banner.

A Mistaken Identity.

"Yes, we have—"

The wealthy Mr. De Jones glanced around the sumptuous apartment with pride as he spoke.

"—a beautiful home, and the very best of everying in it from cellar to garret."

His guest looked profoundly interested.

"Ah, so I see. May I ask—"

His voice was apologetic, as he took out a miniature note book and abbreviated pencil.

"—the exact cost of your furnishings?"

De Jnes was immensely pleased with the eccentric interest of his wife's wealthy cousin from India, whom, by the way, he had never seen before.

"Why, certainly. The piano cost $1000—it's a bird; the carpet $1500, the sideboard $500 (a real antique), the bric-a-brac perhaps $2800, and—oh probably $28,000 or $38,000 altogether."

"Thanks, awfully," murmured his guest, evidently pleased.

"Don't mention it, Cousin George. I see your hobby is in knowing the cost of things. Good idea, too."

"Yes, I make it my business."

"The deuce you do. Oh, I see, ha, ha, ha, a good joke. By the way, what business are you in when at home, Cousin George?"

"I'm not your Cousin George. You have evidently mistaken me for your wealthy cousin from India, who I noticed by the papers was to arrive today to make you a visit. I'm the tax assessor. I'm much obliged to you for your generous valuation, I am sure. Permit me to bid you a very good morning."

Didn't Know It.

"But you were well off before you were married."

"Yes; but I didn't know it."—Bay City Chat.

CLEVER CARVING.

Some Directions That Will Make the Job Pleasant and Easy.

"Women can make just as expert carvers as men," said the meat carver of a leading city hostelry the other day.

"Do you know," said the artist of the knife and fork, running his finger deftly along the blade of his favorite instrument, "that everything depends upon the way in which the thing to be carved is placed in the platter? Large birds, such as goose and turkey, should have their heads placed always to the left. Smaller birds, like partridges and grouse, which are usually placed across the platter, should have their heads on the farther side. A saddle of mutton should be placed with the tail end to the left of the carver; a haunch of venison or mutton with the loin or backbone nearest the carver a leg of mutton or veal with the thickest part toward the back of the platter; a shoulder of mutton or veal with the thickest part up; a rib roast or a sirloin roast should have the backboone at the right of the platter. The flesh side should be up in a round of beef and in a sirloin beefsteak the tenderloin should be next to the carver. A fillet of beef should have the thickest end at the right end of the platter, but a calf's head with the face to the right. A roast pig's head should bep laced to the left and the thickest side of a roast ham on the farthest side of the platter.

"Now to the actual carving. Say it is a leg of mutton or lamb. Put the fork in the top, turn it toward you and cut slices through to the bone. Slip the knife under and cut them away from the bone. A saddle of mutton is always carved with the grain of the meat in long, thin slices from each side of the back. It must be turned over to reach the tenderloin and kidney fat.

"The leg and saddle of venison are carved in the same way The best authorities say that when the leg and loin are served together the loin should be carved before the leg. First cut off the flank and cut it in pieces, then separate the ribs and last carve the legs."

"The carving of fowls seems to me the most intricate part of it all," said the interrogator. "Do you think that one could get to know how to do that just by direction—would she not need many object lessons ?"

"I think she could," was the response, "although it would depend much upon the intelligence of the woman, you know. A good plan would be for her to study first the uncooked fowl very carefully to get the hang of its limbs and joints. When she finds a joint and cuts the gristle the leg or wing is free; it is not so easy to find the side bone or collar, but that will come with practice."

"To carve roasted chicken the leg is first removed, then the wing form one side and then the leg and wing from the other side, separating the joints. When the breast is carved on each side, then the wishbone comes off Separate the collar bones and shoulder blades; separate the breast bone from the back, then the back from the body, then the side bones."

The Sewing Room.

Every housekeeper who aims to achieve the best conditions in her home should have a family sewing room—a room set apart from all others for this one purpose. It is always a great convenience, and when a great amount of sewing for a large family is done at home it becomes an actual necessity. The floor of the sewing room should be without a carpet, not stain-or painted, and should have all the light possible. A north light is best to sew by. Therefore, if possible, the room should be on the north side of the house. Light should not be obstructed by window hangings. Shades should always be used, and these so arranged that they are able to rise to the full height of the window.

A low chair is best to sew in, and if it is a rocker so much the better. The piazza chairs that many of the stores are selling so cheaply this summer can be used very well for this purpose.

The cutting table should be low also, To hold up the arm while cutting for even a short while is very fatiguing, but if the table allows the arm to fall on a level with the waist line a great amount of cutting can be done without disagreeable effects. Such a table should be on casters, so that it can be moved at will, and it should be three feet wide and from four to five feet long. These dimensions will permit the cutting of cloth of different widths without inconvenience. The cutting tables that are shown in the shops are very handy, because they fold up and can be put aside to save space when the cutting is over. These tables have one edge marked off in inches like a tape measure, and are very convenient indeed.

Of course, the important factor in a sewing room is the sewing machine; but besides this the room should contain a scrap basket, a rag bag, a piece and pattern bag, a chest of drawers and some footstools. The basket and bags and even the footstool can be of home manufacture, so need not add to the expense of the room. A discarded bureau from one of the bedrooms will do well for the drawers.

A small covered board for pressing is an absolute necessity in a sewing room where efficient work is done. A flatiron, an iron holder and a rest accompany the board, of course, and it is well to have a one-burner oil or gas stove in the room, so that the iron can be heated without frequent trips to the kitchen.

A Good Tomato Sauce.

This makes a good tomato sauce: One quart of flour, two cloves, and a small slice of onion. Cook tomatoes, onion and cloves ten minutes; heat the butter in a small frying pan and add the flour; when smooth and brown stir into the tomato and cook ten minutes; season to taste with salt and pepper and rub through a strainer. Nice for fish, meat or macaroni.

"Mrs. Jogaround, I hear that you told Mrs. Jawyer that my little Jimmie looks like an idiot."

"I did nothing of the kind. All that I said to Mrs. Jawyer on the subject was that the little fellow was the perfect image of his mother."

Then the mother shrieked for the mail to bring her bonnet, and when she left the house there was thunder, ligtning and the indications of a cyclone in her eyes.

A Mississippi Steamer Sunk.

Cleveland, O., July 23.—The Central Labor Union met last night to discuss the Brown strike. After radical speeches had been made it was decided by a unanimous vote to boycott any firm in Cleveland which furnishes employment to members of the State militia.

The big, hearty, healthy man is a continual irritation to his dyspeptic friend. Constipation is the root of nine-tenths of the sickness of man, and of a large proportion of the sickness of women. It can be cured easily, naturally and quickly. Nature is continually working as hard as she can to throw off impurities, and to force out poisonous refuse matter. When there is an impediment, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets set the wheels working again without any trouble. They assist nature in a gentle, healthful, efficient way. There is nothing violent about their action, and yet it is just as certain as if it were twice as violent. "You do not become a slave to their use." They are different and better than any other pill for the cure of constipation, headache and kindred derangements. Almost all druggists understand this, and are conscientious enough to tell you so. The druggist who tries to sell you a substitute is not a safe man from whom to buy medicine. Send 21 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

Keep Cool as a Cucumber.

We Can Settle The Hat Question.

"It's a Dead Sure Thing." The next seven days will make a big hole in our Hat stock, and settle the hat question. There's bustle to this business. The crowds come pouring into our "Two Big Stores" to our Slashing July Sale look like as if we were GIVING GOODS AWAY. We are not exactly doing that but we are coming pretty close to it. Not because we want to but because we must clear out our Summer Stocks. We make less on Men's Hats than on anything else, and there's nothing else appeals so directly to a man's head. We are making prices of Hats so low that anybody can raise the wind, and have a change of Hat for week days and Sundays.

The "New York" Hat.

This is our newest, nobby novelty, direct from Messrs. Eichhold & Miller, the Hat manufacturer of New York, makers of the celebrated Enfield Hats. They knew where they would have the biggest outlet for their leading Hat in Peterborough and sold them to us only. They come in Stiffs, Softs and Fedoras, in all shades and sizes. High-toned Hatters get $3 for the "New York" Hat, but we don't have to, for the makers have put us in a position to sell them to high-toned gentlemen for..... $1.75

Who has not heard of or worn this favourite English hat, of which we are the sole handlers here. The "Stanley" is made of the very purest fur felt. They sell easily at $2.50 and $3, by hatters who have to pay $19.50 and $24 per dozen for them. We have re-marked these hats for our July Sale and crowded the price down to..... $1.50

Belgium $1.00 Hats.

These are the showiest Hats we've ever sold for a dollar. They have pure silk bands, summer shades and crown and rim forms to suit oval, round or squarish faces; made of beautiful soft fur and in taking light weights. Best shapes and colours and recognized as a popular Tourist Hat. We don't say what they are worth, but others ask double the money for the Belgium Hat, we sell for..... $1.00

Men's and Boy's Straws.

In addition to the wagon loads Straw Hats we had on hand, we secured a snapping bargain in 2 cases of American Straws the other day from a large New York house. We have Straws for all ages—the 49c line, soft or stiff brim, with black and coloured bands, are great value at.. 30

You know, or should know, that we are always getting the best possible goods at the LOWEST prices—and that's the sort of refreshing ozone that refreshes all kinds of pocket books. Come in and blow yourself. Whether you are taking a holiday or not, remember WE ARE GIVING THE PROFITS ON HATS A HOLIDAY.

Our next Slashing Sale will be in Boy's Clothing, but if you or the boys need a Hat just now, you might get the bargains in Clothing, now, too, as well as in the Hats.

SIR DONALD SMITH

Will Continue High Commissioner in London.

RETURNS TO EUROPE ON SATURDAY

Sir Donald Was Non-Committal, But the Premier Stated Definitely That Sir Donald Would Continue to Hold the Position in London.

Ottawa, July 27.—(Special.)—Sir Donald Smith will retain the office of Canadian High Commissioner in London, notwithstanding the change in administration which has taken place since his appointment in May last by the Government of Sir Charles Tupper. This, it is presumable, he has decided, at the request of Premier Laurier. But whether or not the object of Sir Donald Smith's visit to the Capital to-day was to place his resignation at the disposal of the Premier is a matter of conjecture, although such was the construction generally placed upon it. If Sir Donald did offer to resign the offer was not accepted, but he was induced instead to continue in the important office which he has filled with so much credit during the past two months.

Sir Donald arrived in the city this afternoon at 1.30 and was closeted with the Premier until 5 o'clock. After his interview Sir Donald was seen by your correspondent. He spoke in a hopeful, even enthusiastic strain, of the fast Atlantic service, and the prospects of the successful issue of the Pacific cable scheme.

He was asked what foundation there was for the statement cabled to Canada that the adjournment of the conference was due to Hon. Joseph Chamberlain's desire to learn the attitude of the new Liberal Government in Canada before proceeding further with negotiations.

"The conference was postponed," said Sir Donald, "for this reason: The Australian delegates received instructions from their Government to attend the telegraph convention in Buda Pest. They went; and it was decided to postpone the conference until October, rather than wait their return and then resume our sittings, as it would be too late to accomplish anything before the next meeting of Parliament. I rather fancy no such suggestion as you mentioned was offered by the Colonial Secretary."

Always guarded in his utterances on public matters, Sir Donald grew quite diplomatic when approached on the subject of the High Commissionership. To the question, "Are you still High Commissioner, Sir Donald, and shall you continue in that position?" he replied by asking in turn, with some surprise, if it had been doubted that he would. Then he said: "I was High Commissioner when I left London, and that is all I care to state on the subject. Yes, my business here is partly public, of course, but mainly it is not necessitated by private affairs. As you know, I left Canada this spring somewhat hurriedly, and without much preparation."

The Premier was subsequently waited upon by the reporter. Like Sir Donald, the Premier expressed surprise at the report that the former was to be supplanted as High Commissioner, and added: "I may tell you that Sir Donald will leave on Saturday to return to his position in London."

When I saw the Controller of Customs this afternoon he had not yet decided in what constituency he would seek re-election, he said.

Capt. Dunn of the Petrel, assisted by Mr. McNeal of the Indian Department here, will shortly investigate the claims of the Wikemiking Indians of Manitoulin to special fishing privileges in the waters about the island.

Ex-Minister Daly will be here on Tuesday to report to the Department of the Interior the result of his inspection of Canadian emigration agencies in Europe.

A personal friend of Dr. Montague's says that when the doctor left Ottawa, less than a week ago, it was his intention to resume the practice of his profession. He talked of locating in Ottawa, but was not decided on that point.

The C.P.R. commenced work on the Vaudreuil and Ottawa line.

Dr. Selwyn, ex-director geological survey, returned from British Columbia, is enthusiastic over the mineral prospects of that province.

SOCIALIST TRADE CONGRESS.

Their Fourth International Meeting Was Opened in London Yesterday.

London, July 27.—The fourth International Socialist Trade Congress opened in this city to-day, 900 delegates from all parts of Europe and from the United States, Australia and the Argentine Republic being present. Among the delegates are 180 representatives of British trades unions. Among the American delegates are Lucian Sanial of the Socialist Trade and Labor Alliance; Matthew Maguire, who represents the brewery employes, and M. Balski. Among the French delegates are representatives of the Bourses, Du Travail of Paris, Lyons Saint Etienne, other industrial centres and the federation of syndicates. The German delegates include two members of the Reichstag. It is expected that the congress will be more important than those held in Paris in 1889, in Brussels in 1891 and in Zurich in 1893.

SIR RICHARD HAS CALLERS.

Kingstonians Pay Their Respects to the Minister of Trade and Commerce.

Kingston, July 27.—Sir Richard Cartwright came home on Saturday and spent Sunday at "The Maples." Today he was a busy man at his office in the city. He received many callers. He goes West on Tuesday afternoon. It is quite likely he will be returned by acclamation in South Oxford on Thursday.

Mrs. Corby, mother of James H. Metcalfe, Warden of Kingston Penitentiary, and stepmother of Harry Corby, Belleville, is not expected to live. She was stricken with paralysis this morning at her home on Frontenac-street. She is 77 years of age.

MRS. HERMAN'S AWFUL DEED.

She Takes Carbolic Acid and Jumps Into the Delaware River With Her Two Babies.

Camden, N.J., July 27.—After taking carbolic acid this afternoon, Mrs. Mary Herman, wife of John F. Herman, jumped into the Delaware River with her two children in her arms. The children were drowned, but the woman was rescued in an unconscious condition and is now at a hospital in a precarious condition. The supposed motive for the act is that the woman had been charged by her husband with misconduct with another man. The woman had made her preparations deliberately. The children, boys aged 3 years and 13 months respectively, she took to Walnut-street Wharf. She tied the feet and hands of the elder boy and the feet of the younger one together. Then drinking half of a bottle of carbolic acid she took the children in her arms and jumped into the river. Some men who were fishing near by in a boat saw the woman jump and rowed it to the spot and picked her out as she was sinking for the third time. The children never rose to the surface.

SHIPYARDS ABLAZE.

Harland & Wolff's Immense Building at Belfast Go Up in Smoke Loss $1,250,000.

Belfast, July 27.—This afternoon the great shipbuildings of Harland & Wolff in this city were the scene of an extensive conflagration. The yards, with the marine engineering works attached, cover an area of nearly 80 acres. The firm employed upward of 8000 hands, and the compulsory idleness of a large number of them will cause much inconvenience, if not suffering, among their families. The yards were on the Admiralty list as suitable for building vessels for the Royal Navy. The fire began early this morning in the engine fitting department, and as a high wind was blowing, the flames spread rapidly, despite the efforts of the local firemen, who were assisted in their work by the employes in the yards. The fire was communicated to the buildings in the shipyard of Workman, Clarke & Co., adjoining Harland & Wolff's. The buildings in both yards, which were mostly huge wooden structures, were destroyed. An immense quantity of valuable machinery belonging to vessels now in the course of finishing at the yards was ruined, as were also the tools and machinery belonging to the various shops. A conservative estimate of the loss is $1,250,000.

TRIED TO KILL REV. JOE JONES.

How a Brother of the Famous Sam, the Revivalist, Was Assaulted.

Mammoth Springs, Ark., July 27.—An attempt to assassinate Rev. Joe Jones, brother of the famous Sam, was made here last night. During Saturday the evangelist addressed a large crowd drawn by a picnic under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and in his discourse he scored the whiskey sellers in his usual plain and vigorous style. Last night, after the services, John Steinaman, a citizen of Missouri and a sympathizer of the whisky element, struck him a terrific blow over the head with a loaded whip. Fortunately some of the force of the blow was lost, so that while the victim was knocked senseless he was on the road to recovery to-day, and proceeded with his meetings. Steinaman is under arrest.

WHAT'S THE MATTER, MR. SMITH?

The United States Consul at Windsor Asked to Send in His Resignation.

Washington, D.C., July 27.—While the State Department has not received the resignations of the three Consuls that have been cabled for recently, there is no longer any secret that those of Edward P. C. Hammond, Buda Pest; Marshall P. Thatcher at Windsor, Ont., and Henry C. Smith, at Santos, Brazil, will be promptly forthcoming. The coincidence in these resignations being called for just at the present time is entirely accidental. They are located outside of the district recently inspected with a view of improving the service, and the requests for resignations are due to complaints coming from their respective posts. Not one of them has rendered satisfactory service since his appointment.

Lost His Whiskers.

Watertown, N.Y., July 27.—W. L. Gray, an employe of the Watertown Brass Manufacturing Company, while engaged in showing a new man how to run a drill press this morning had his whiskers, which were from 10 to 12 inches in length, caught in a greasy shaft and they were torn out by the roots before the machinery was stopped.

JAPS ARE JINGOES.

So Says a Medical Missionary From China.

DR. H.N. KINNEAR FROM FOO CHOW

Tells About His Work Among the Chinese—Conversions are Not So Difficult Since the Massacre—How a Baseball Victory Affected the Whole Japanese Empire.

Toronto, July 28.

Dr. H. N. Kinnear, a medical missionary of Foo Chow, China, registered at the Queen's last evening. He has been seven and a half years connected with the hospital at Foo Chow, which is conducted by the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, and is now on his way home on a year's furlough.

The hospital in question, Dr. Kinnear told a reporter last night, has, while he has been out there, handled 90,000 patients, and in the 24 years since the establishment 213,000 patients. This care of the sick has done a great deal toward the conversion of the natives.

Ever since the massacre of missionaries at a station about 100 miles from Foo Chow a few months ago, mission work has gone ahead as it never did before. The prompt example of the criminals which the Chinese authorities were forced to make had given the natives an idea of the power of the foreigners, and converts were not now afraid to identify themselves with the missions.

As an instance of how the people are becoming Christianized the doctor stated that recently some natives presented the mission with a splendid ancestral hall to be used as a church. This edifice was ten times as valuable as any the missionaries could build themselves, and as it was identified with the old-time Chinese ancestor-worship, the gift of it signified a great victory for the church.

Asked regarding the recent Jap-China war, Dr. Kinnear said the Japs were altogether too conceited over their victory, as the Chinese were utterly unprepared for the conflict.

The Japs, the doctor says, are too easily puffed up any way. To show what he meant, he related a little incident that occurred during a recent visit he made to Tokyo. An American man-of-war lying in the harbor was prevailed upon to send a baseball nine ashore to play a friendly game with the native Tokyo College men. The Americans, from being long on shipboard, were out of practice, and the Japs beat them by a score of 27 to 9.

And over this little snap-victory the native press crowed for weeks. They editorially remarked that the Japanese could conquer the Americans at their own national game, and this was an indication of how they could beat foreigners at anything they tried. The Japs seem to be jingoes.

CARDINAL TASCHEREAU DYING.

His Eminence is Said by His Physicians to be Fast Approaching Dissolution—Very Weak Last Night.

Quebec, July 27.—Cardinal Taschereau's condition changed for the worse this afternoon, and his physicians were hastily summoned to his bedside. Excessive weakness renders his condition alarming. His Eminence is suffering from the ailments common to old age. His strength fails him entirely. His doctors term his malady "decrepitude." In fact it has been an open secret for some time that His Eminence was suffering from both mental and physical decay. Infancy Helplessness and infirmities have weighed upon the venerable prelate. His private physician says that the remaining days of life of the Cardinal Archbishop are numbered. At 8.30 to-night the Cardinal was a little better, but his pulse was very feeble and unsettled.

MR. JOHN CLARK, M.P., DEAD.

The Seat for North Grey is Again Vacant, Owing to the Untimely Death of the Member-Elect.

Owen Sound, July 27.—John Clark, Liberal member-elect for North Grey, died to-day at noon of typhoid fever at his home, Big Bay, Keppel Township.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 1.30.

Mr. Clark has been prominent in municipal affairs for the last 20 years. His death was a great shock, and general regret is expressed on all sides.

PICKED UP AT SEA

A Couple of Fishermen From Lunenburg, N. S., Two Days Without Food or Water on the Atlantic.

Quarantine, S.I., July 27.—The Hamburg-American Line steamer Georgia arrived from Stettin and reported that on July 22 at noon a dory containing two men was sighted and shortly afterwards they were taken on board. This was in lat. 46.01, long. 45.48. The men were Alfred and William Kidy, two brothers belonging to the fishing schooner G. H. Ernest of Lunenburg, N.S. They lost their vessel on Monday morning, July 20, during a dense fog. After the fog lifted they were unable to locate their schooner and were blown away for nearly two days without food and with but little water.

IT DELIGHTS THE HEART

To View the Magnificent Crops This Year in the Nipissing District.

Montreal, July 27.—(Special.)—Rev. Father Paradis of colonization fame is in the city, bubbling over with enthusiasm regarding the crops and prospects generally in Northern Ontario. He says that on his way down he met a gentleman from California, one from Dakota, and a third from Michigan, and they all stated that nowhere in the Western States have they seen the crops so promising as in the new settlement of the Nipissing district.

"I had a dreadful carbuncle abscess, red, fiery, fierce and sore. The doctor attended me over seven weeks. When the abscess broke, the pains were terrible, and I thought I should not live through it. I heard and read so much about Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I decided to take it, and my husband, who was suffering with boils, took it also. It soon purified our

LIGHT WEIGHT SILVER.

Silver coins seems to be undergoing all sorts of skinning on the part of very small people both in Canada and in the United States, who must, says the Witness, find it difficult to get the worth of their labour, ingenuity and risk in the trifling scrapings which they realize. The people of the United States made war upon mutilated coin, and it has become a really profitable business to buy it up where it has come to be of value only as bullion and get into circulation in Canada, where, until the Witness took up the crusade against it, it passed freely as coin. This business has been carried on through hotel vendors, bartenders and others who have been easily reached by the promoters of this low business and easily persuaded to become their agents. But the real danger to our community does not lie in mutilated coin so much as coin containing full weight of good silver. This danger takes various forms. As silver bullion is worth only about half what the same silver passes for when coined, it pays a neighbouring country well to coin silver and pass it in Canada. Our government is necessarily the loser by the profit on the same amount of coin which is thus displaced. The only way to meet this is to refuse all foreign coin, and the government is interested in taking steps to prevent the entrance of such coin, and to export all that is found in the country. But there is a danger that lies deeper than even this. It is, as we have said, a very small business to punch a cent's worth of silver out of five or ten coins, and still more to scrape two or three cents from the inside of a split quarter, but it is a very profitable business to cast good silver into coin. The silver that is in four quarters is worth, say, fifty-three cents at the present time, and the casting of it would cost perhaps a cent or two more. Here is a danger that lies wherever silver is coined to represent twice what it is worth, inasmuch as it is much easier and cheaper to forge silver than bank bills. There is only one protection against this danger, and that is to make silver coin that is worth what it pretends to be worth. The whole silver question needs overhauling, and the first country that makes silver coin that will be intrinsically worth what its represents, clumsy as such money will be in point of weight and size, will probably gain by it, as there are many countries which carry on their business in silver, which would probably be greatly taken by a good honest silver coin that would everywhere be worth its face value. Such coins would probably solve our silver problem at home, as with them in use it would be difficult to pass the half-weight coins from abroad.

THE PARSON'S VACATION.

Ere another Sunday comes round we shall have entered upon the eighth month of the year. We shall also have entered upon the month that that good man, the clergyman, if his living be a reasonably good one, gives up to rest and recreation. If he be poor he stays at home, like others of us and perhaps does double duty. But during August it is the fashion in cities to close a few of the churches, but the number of the closed few does not represent by any means the number of parsons who for a brief spell have either left their flocks to their own sweet will or have delivered them into the hands of strangers. This state of things has within recent years given rise to a great deal of criticism. Exaggeration is not wanting. In spite of stories that have gained wide currency about unavailing efforts made in the vacant month to find in certain populous cities clergymen to perform marriage ceremonies or conduct services of Christian burial, it is probable that instances of this kind are extremely rare. Nevertheless, many thoughtful clergymen and influential laymen are becoming convinced that there is enough justice in the complaints made about ministerial absenteeism in the month of August to demand serious consideration of possible remedies.

One obvious suggestion would seem to be that August is not any better than June, July or even September for vacation purposes. Just why the last month of summer has come to be unanimously agreed upon as the time for ministers to betake themselves to the shore, the mountains or the woods it is not quite easy to understand. August is not, as a rule, particularly unfavourable for mental labour. Neither is it exceptionally prolific in the comforts and pleasures that vacationists seek. It is possible to pass the month very healthfully and satisfactorily at home and at work. Those who live like the gentlemen of the cloth in this town within easy reach of a large expanse of water can now and then take a day off for a sail or a fish. There is not a city of any size on this continent that has not within almost its own boundaries facilities for making short, enjoyable and restful excursions. In fact, it has often struck us that residents would find more pleasure, aye, and changeful rest, right at home, if they would but look for it, than abroad. But why should all the world and the parson desire to spend August out of town? July is equally as enervating, and in that respect, to our idea, presents rival claims as the season for both lay and clerical outings.

June is, as Lovell has told us, the month of rarest days. Many a city clergyman does not know June because he never took a vacation in that bewitching and enchanting season. September, too, has charms all its own. Strictly and astronomically speaking, summer extends over the first half of September. The last half gives a delicious blending of old summer and new autumn. For those who want to begin their year's work about the time of the first frosts, which send a peculiar vigor throughout the blood, to begin then with the zest and strength gathered from four weeks' recuperation, September is just the season for taking one's rest and respite.

There is another suggestion worth thinking of. Why restrict the vacation season to the hot months? A great deal can be said in favour of an occasional departure from the traditional custom. Take the case of a clergyman who finished his college and seminary course many years ago, and has since been confined pretty closely at work in one of the interior country parishes. He is perhaps more in need of mental than of physical recuperation. Let him spend a month in the city, for instance, at a season when life of all sorts is at full tide. He can attend university lectures. He can listen to metropolitan preachers. He can spend precious hours in reading or in study of the fine arts. Or, if he is going to Europe, why go in summer when much that is best worth seeing and hearing over there is closed?

Finally the winter is the time for visiting Florida, New Orleans, Bermuda, Cuba, Jamaica and South America, places as well worth seeing in many respects as the Rocky Mountains, or London and Paris.

Makes Twenty-four Dollars a Week Dyeing With Diamond Dyes.

A constant user of the world famed Diamond Dyes writes as follows about his success with them:

"I have been using your Diamond Dyes for seven years. I can only say they are the best on the market. I have made as high as twenty-four dollars a week in dyeing, and could not give satisfaction unless I used the Diamond Dyes. I would not be without them, for when I am, I consider I am without money."

MORAL: Diamond Dyes are the best and most profitable. Carefully avoid what some dealers call just as good.

MURDERED BY REQUEST.

How a Lad of Sixteen Killed an Old Man in France He Was Acquitted of the Crime.

Paris, July 27.—A strange boy murderer is Francois Bertholier, a lad of 16 years, who has been tried before the Aix Assizes for killing an old man named Blanchard at the latter's request. In the dock he related his crime with grim composure. He said:

"On Friday Oct. 13 (mark the uncanny day and date), the day before the arrival of the Russians, Blanchard and I went to Toulon. He then spoke to me for the first time of his intention of putting an end to his life. He dwelt on this topic for several hours, telling me about his lamentable physical condition, and entreating me to deliver him from his suffering."

"Did you ask him why he hesitated to commit suicide?"

"He told me that he could not bring himself to the point, and that he had religious scruples. A couple of days later he came into my bedroom and woke me up. He said: 'Francois, I count on you for to-day. I wish it to be all over by this evening.' I was very astonished. He added: 'I am going to sign a bill for 1800 francs for you. You may cash it at my notary's at Carpentras.'"

"This sum of 1800 francs caused you to make up your mind?"

"It did. I bought a sheet of stamped paper and made out the bill, which Blanchard signed. Then we went to Joliette (to Marseilles) to take the steam tramway. Just before starting we went to a cafe, where my friend made me drink glasses of peppermint. He gave me sixpence to buy a knife at a store. In the tramway Blanchard told me to smoke a lot in order to deaden my feelings.

"At L'Estaque we entered another cafe, and I was made to drink four or five absinthes. We went along the high road, when Blanchard, stopping, said: 'This seems to me the right spot. We shall be very comfortable here.'

"We went under the road bridge. My friend undressed and blindfolded his eyes, and stretched himself on the flagstones."

"How many blows did you strike with your knife?"

"Four. On the way he recommended me to strike several times—to strike at the temples and the jugular vein."

"Indeed, you followed out his advice. You struck with a deftness which a professional murderer would envy. Did Blanchard die at once?"

"Yes. He leaned forward a little, heaved a sigh, and that's all."

"What did you do next?"

"I had a little blood on my fingers, I washed them in the sea."

"Did you feel no remorse, no terror?"

"A little, yes."

The jury brought in a verdict of not guilty on the ground that Bertholier had acted without knowledge of crime, but the tribunal ordered that he should be sent to a house of correction until the age of 20.

A SCHOONER RUN DOWN.

But the Crew of the Pacifique Paid No Attention to Lives at Stake.

St. John's, Nfld., July 27.—The schooner Effie arrived here last night from the Grand Banks, bringing 21 Frenchmen belonging to the schooner Anne Marie of St. Pierre, which was run down by the schooner Pacifique on Thursday last, and sunk within one hour. The Pacifique held on her course, heedless of the cries for help of those on the sinking vessel. The Anne Marie's crew, however, took to their boats and were saved. This afternoon the Lunenburg schooner Bonus brought in 15 other Frenchmen, the crew of the schooner Eited, which vessel foundered on the banks yesterday. No lives were lost. There are 77 shipwrecked bank fishermen at this port now.

HAMILTONIANS IMMERSED.

They Were Out Yachting and Had a Capsize—Narrow Escape.

Hamilton, July 27.—(Special.)—A. Matheson, A. Richardson, C. Bremner, Peter Lanning and Arthur Brooks went out in a skiff yesterday afternoon, and had a narrow escape from being drowned. They were sailing about three miles from shore, when a wind blew one of their hats off, and when turning about the squall, which had suddenly blew up, capsized the boat, and all were immersed. They clung to the sides of the boat, holding on gamely in the rough waters, but Richardson lost his hold once and was rescued before he sank. They were in the water about an hour when the Canada came to their rescue, and Mr. Jarvis and his crew took them to shore, where they were cared for. It was a narrow escape, they said.

ITS FAME SPREADING.

A New Remedy in General Use in Manitoba and the Northwest.

WINNIPEG, July 27th—The effects of the regular wave of sickness which sweeps over this portion of the Dominion in the spring are noticeable in the increasing amount of the druggists' sales. There has been quite a run on the kidney remedy now so well known under the name of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The recovery from Bright's disease of Mr. Arthur Coley, of Somerset, through their use, an account of which appeared in the papers, gave a considerable impetus to the sale, and the remedy has become indispensable in many Manitoba households. its fame having penetrated into the remotest parts of the province and Northwest Territories.

HERR PFLUNGER'S CARTRIDGES

which absorbs the hurtful acrid matter that accmulates in the ordinary tobacco pipe, and prevents the nicotine poison which produces most of the ill effects arising from smoking.

Sir Morrell Mackenzie,

the late celebrated English Throat Specialist, wrote the following opinion of Herr Pflunger's invention:—

DEAR SIR,—I think that Herr Pflunger's invention is a very good one. I have tried it and find that it answers well. The only suggestion that I can make is that it should have an additional mouthpiece which could be screwed into the proximate extremity of the pipe so as to make the stem twice the length it now is. This would lower the temperature of the smoke as it comes into the mouth. That the smoke should be cool is almost as important as that it should be free from acrid matters. You are at liberty to make whatever use of this letter that you may think fit.

Yours Truly,
MORRELL MACKENZIE.

CROPS IN ONTARIO.

In Some Districts the Prospects are Not Good.

HAY A FAILURE AROUND KINGSTON

A Good Outlook for Grain in the Lindsay District—Splendid Yield of Apples in the Niagara Peninsula—Peaches Will be Short, However.

Toronto, July 28.

Supt Easson of the G.N.W. Telegraph Co.'s press service ordered crop bulletins from different parts of Ontario yesterday. The following replies from many districts give a pretty good idea of the outlook at present:

Renfrew—As a general rule crops throughout this neighborheed present a fine appearance. Peas on low lands were injured some by heavy rains, but on the whole will be a good crop; wheat, oats and rye look remarkably well.

Almonte—Crops in this vicinity are looking well, with the exception of hay, which is only about half the average, and well saved. Spring wheat promises a full average, but indications of slight rust in some places. Peas and oats extra good, above average; barley and rye good.

Alexandria—In the immediate vicinity the hay crop, which has just been harvested, is remarkably light, in fact lighter than it has been for some years, all owing to want of early rains, and lately affected to a considerable extent by the grasshoppers. Oats, barley, peas and other grains present a fair appearance, and prospects are favorable for an average crop. Roots of all kinds are very good. A fair yield is anticipated.

Kingston—Hay almost a total failure. Not 25 per cent. of what the crop should be will be harvested. Barley, the best in many years. The yield will be large, and already farmers are harvesting it. Spring wheat promises good. No more rain is wanted, but warm weather is required to help the heads ripen. Corn is only fair, but will be gathered in such quantities to make it pay. The fruit crop looks well. Apples promise a heavy yield, and plums will be above other years in point of quantity. The pea crop is only fair. Recent rains have helped it along, but it is not quite up to the average. Oats promise good. The acreage is large and a big yield will be gathered in. It will be ten days yet before being ready to harvest. Farmers will not get their seed out of the crop.

Brighton, Ont.—Crop reports: Grain good; hay light; fruit, excepting pears and plums, good; potatoes good; vegetables all kinds, good.

Port Hope, Ont.—Fall wheat, a good average; spring wheat, very fair; barley good; oats extra good; peas extra good; rye good; beans good; potatoes look well; hay light; root crops good; apples average. Putting all together, this season's crop is the best ever known in this neighborhood.

Lindsay, Ont.—The crops in the vicinity of Lindsay are acknowledged to be the best for many years. The bountiful rains during the last two months did a world of good, and the cool weather which followed the rain caused the heads of grain to fill out well. Hay will be only an average crop, but wheat, peas, oats, barley and buckwheat will be heavy crops. There are fields of fall wheat within sight of the town which will average 35 bushels to the acre. Root crops are doing well also and will be more than average. There is not much fruit growing in this locality, but what there is looks well.

Niagara, Ont.—The crops in this section of the Niagara Peninsula are, owing to the exceedingly dry season, considerably in advance of former years. Harvesting is pretty well over; some oats yet to gather. The only rainfall of any consequence here this season came a week ago to-day, starting the grass and helping wonderfully the corn, potatoes and late oats. The fruit crop is on the whole above the average and is being marketed for the last week or two. The following report of crops will, we think, be found correct: Wheat, below the average, a very small average; rye, an average crop; oats, late oats are doing better than the earlier sown, the rain helping them wonderfully, a fair crop; hay, a light crop, considerably below the average, a small half crop; corn, looks fair, the dry season keeping it small, at present growing very fast; potatoes, late crop good, early light; roots almost a total failure; in fruit we have apples, a magnificent crop of good, clean apples. The indications are they will be very choice; plums heavy crop, splendid quality; pears light, about a third of a crop; grapes, prospects are good for a large yield, full crop; peaches, on the whole, about a third crop; there is none along the lake, but along the River-road there is a full crop. A strange feature of the peach this year is that across the river, less than half a mile away on the American side, there is not a basket of peaches. The early varieties are being marketed now, and are very fair, while the later varieties promise to be good.

Port Colborne, Ont.—Wheat a failure; oats, peas and rye, good crop; beans, average; no barley; hay quarter crop; corn, an average crop; apples good; potatoes promise well if no more rain; very few roots outside of potatoes grown here.

Brantford, Ont.—The condition of the crops in this vicinity, taken altogether, indicates a fair yield. Wheat is good; oats fair; barley fair; hay very light; corn promises very good; potatoes promise a large yield; root crops are in splendid condition; apples promise large yield, and other fruits in fair condition.

Durham, Ont.—Crops in this neighborhood are considerably improved since the recent rains. The ravages of the grasshoppers have also somewhat subsided, so that what is left is likely to mature all right. To the southeast and west the crops are fairly good. In those sections there will be no shortage of fodder for winter feed. But north of Durham the crops have been eaten off by the hoppers, excepting the pea crop. Pastures on the whole are considerably improved by the recent rain. The army worm has made its appearance in great numbers in the Township of Normanby, southwest of here.

Paris, Ont.—The crops in this locality are somewhat ahead of the average year, spring grain being especially good. Fall wheat will not be as good as was expected a few months ago on account of the injury done by the Hessian fly, but threshing so far shows an average of nearly 20 bushels per acre. Barley will probably average 35 bushels, and is a splendid sample, while the prospects for oats, peas and roots are most encouraging. Apples, with the exception of Northern Spy, are plentiful and of a fair quality.

St. Thomas, Ont.—Crop conditions in this vicinity; fall wheat, not over half a crop, being injured by the Hessian fly and rust; oats, full average crop; barley, average crop; corn, doing well, good prospects; hay, very heavy, will be an abundant yield; potatoes and all other root crops doing well and likely to be a full crop. The army worm has appeared in a few sections, but the damage is comparatively light.

London, Ont.—Throughout Middlesex County the crops generally have not turned out so well as was expected in the early part of the season. Hay was a light crop. Wheat is threshing light. Rust has severely injured oats in many sections. Roots of all kinds are in excellent condition and will be a large crop. Apples will be an abundant crop, but, as they average small in size only a small percentage is likely to be exported. Harvesting operations are almost two weeks ahead of the usual time.

Simcoe, Ont.—Crops of all kinds are unusually good in this vicinity. Wheat has been safely harvested and is a fine sample. There will be a large yield of oats, peas, barley and rye. Hay is a light crop, but there is an abundance of all kinds of rough feed. Potatoes are a great yield and all root crops are looking well. The apple crop is the largest that has appeared for many years; other fruits are only average yield. The army worm has been seen in a few places, but has done very little damage yet.

Orangeville, Ont.—The crops in this district are better than for many years past. Everything is good, with the exception of potatoes, which will be a light crop.

Tara, Ont.—The crops in this vicinity are fair on the whole; the fall wheat has been a failure, a good crop being an exception. A great many farmers ploughed up their fall wheat and sowed other grain in its place. Spring wheat, very little sown and a poor crop. Hay, a little better than last year and may be considered half a crop. Peas are an excellent crop and will turn out well. Oats will be a fairly average crop; in some few instances the grasshoppers and army worm have put in their work and taken their share of the spoils, but on the whole these pests have not done very much damage, except to old pastures, where, in many cases, they have left nothing green for the cattle. The potato and apple crop promises to be an abundant yield in this district.

Kincardine, Ont.—The crops in this neighborhood are fairly satisfactory. In the immediate vicinity very good, but from some of the northeastern portions of Kincardine township the report is anything but satisfactory. The hay crop has not turned out as well as at one time was expected, and the result has probably not been more than half a crop.

The same may be said of the fall wheat. While in many fields it is good, in the majority the result is otherwise. The spring crops, especially oats and peas, are very good, probably the best ever seen here. The fruit crop is, on the whole, excellent; the small fruits, plums, early and fall apples, promise well. Winter apples are comparatively a failure. The root crops will, without doubt, be abundant. The light drizzling rain of last night helped very materially. The army worm has done some damage in places, but as yet not to any great extent. The general opinion among the farmers here respecting the crops may be summed up in the words of one of them: "Raise the prices and the crops are all right."

Waterford, Ont.—The grain crop in this section of the country is exceedingly good. Wheat is not quite up to the mark, but corn, oats, peas etc., are excellent. Fruit is plentiful with the exception of peaches.

Whitby, Ont., July 27.—Crops, on the whole, in this neighborhood and district are good. Wheat, oats, barley and peas a fairly good average, although the rust has struck occasional wheat fields. Hay, very light; root crops promise very well. Fruit, very good, with exception of no plums.

Collingwood, Ont., July 27.—Fruit—Guilfoyle Bros., who are the principal packers and shippers from this district, report the apple crop good. The size is better than for some years and there is a complete absence of worms and scab. Plums are not more than a quarter crop. Many of the large orchards are entirely bare of fruit, while others have a fair crop. Plum culture here is assuming large proportions of late years. Pears are almost a complete failure. Grapes were all destroyed with the extreme frosts last winter and peaches suffered a similar fate. There was an unusually large crop of all small fruits. In many places fall wheat is a failure and was plowed up, but in a few places it is a fair crop. The sample is good. Spring crops are generally above the average, except in a few localities. Oats are especially fine and will yield above the average. Hay is below the average, but the shortage will be partially made up by the abundant crop of corn and oats. The late rains have greatly improved the condition of the root crop. It will be generally fair. Potatoes good. Pastures have been injured in some places by the grasshoppers.

Owen Sound—Fall wheat hardly half a crop; spring wheat, not much sown—a fair crop; oats, very good up to the average, both in quality and quantity; peas, extra heavy and more acreage than usual; barley, about the average; hay, about half a crop; potatoes promise well.

HOW

THE SUN LIFE

FULFILS ITS PROMISES.

A Matured 10 Year Endowment.

Profits Paid by the SUN 21 per. cent more than the Estimates.

The following letter, which speak for itself, was received by the undersigned this morning from a gentleman in Brockville, whose ten year endowment which he held in the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada matured last week and was paid him. The Sun is modest in promises but UNEQUALLED IN RESULTS. The public are benefitted by results, not by promises unfulfilled

BROCKVILLE, November 7th, 1895.

W. H. HILL, Mgr. Central Ontario Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, Peterborough, Ontario:—

DEAR SIR,—I should have acknowledged the receipt of yours enclosing cheque for endowment policy No. 12,871 before, only I wanted to write something more than a mere receipt. I am pleased to hear of the continued prosperity of the "SUN" and it speaks well for your Company when the profits are greater (by 21 per cent.) than you as the Company's representative promised or rather estimated, as was the case with this policy.

I hope your Company will continue to prosper and I often regret that I do not carry more Insurance than I am doing. I might have carried twice as much as I do when at Minden without any great effort, still what little I do carry I feel is perfectly safe being in the "SUN."

I must thank you for your promptness and kindness regarding this policy just settled. I hope we will both be alive and well when the new one I now hold will be due in 1905 and assuring you of very best wishes, I remain,

Yours Sincerely,

(Signed) F. R. C.

The above voluntary testimonial is significant and shows in a most practical way the SUN'S standing as a profit paying institution.

A Pleasant Outing.

The teachers and officers of St. Andrew's Sabbath school assembled at the church yesterday afternoon about three o'clock and were conveyed to Jackson Park in rigs supplied by Mr. T. Fitzgerald. On arriving at the park the afternoon was spent in games and social amusement. Tea was also served by the ladies and a pleasant afternoon was spent. The school are much indebted to Mr. Fitzgerald for his kindness in supplying rigs free of charge, as the drive was a very pleasant part of the afternoon's proceedings.

Pilgrimage to Ste. Anne.

This morning a party of pilgrims to the far-famed shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre (beautiful meadows) left by special C. P. R. train. The party numbered about 250, of whom 175 were from Peterborough and the others from Orillia and intermediate points. Among those on the train were Rev. Father McClosky, of Campbellford; Rev. Father Nolan, Fenelon Falls, and Dr. Poole, of Lindsay. It is probable that another pilgrimage from Peterborough and vicinity will be arranged for some time in September.

September Military Camps.

Answers have been received at the Militia Department from many of the deputy Adjutants General throughout Canada in reply to the request of the Department for their opinion of the desirability of holding camps of instruction in September. The opinions are divided but most of them are opposed to September camps. All the answers, however, are not in. September is objected to for one thing on the ground that it is a bad season of the year. Wet and cool weather is to be expected then and warm dry weather is necessary for safe, healthy camps.

ST. ANDREW'S NEW PASTOR.

The Commissioners Succeed in Securing Rev. Mr. Potter's Translation.

A special meeting of the Toronto Presbytery was held yesterday for the purpose of considering the call of St. Andrew's church, Peterborough, to Rev. Mr. Potter, of the South Side Presbyterian church, Toronto.

Rev. Mr. Bennett represented the Presbytery of Peterborough, Mr. Robt. Tully, the Session of St. Andrew's, and Dr. Bell, the congregation of St. Andrew's.

The call was formally extended to Rev. Mr. Potter, and the representatives from Peterborough strongly advocated his translation from Toronto to St. Andrew's church.

A large representation was present from the South Side Presbyterian church and opposed the call energetically, being very strongly opposed to losing their pastor. After duly considering the arguments advanced on both sides of the question the the Presbytery decided to allow Mr. Potter to give his own opinion in the matter. Mr. Potter briefly expressed his wishes stating that he considered it in accordance with his duty to accept the call which had been pressed upon him. The Presbytery therefore agreed to release him from the South Side church after the expiration of two weeks. After taking the two succeeding weeks as holidays, Mr. Potter will be formally inducted at St. Andrew's on August 27th.

St. Andrew's new pastor has been in the ministry seven years, being first in Merrickville and afterwards at the South Side church, Toronto, for four years. He is a graduate of Queen's University, Kingston, both in Arts and Theology, winning the degree of Master of Arts. Mr. Potter ranks high among the Presbyterian clergy of Canada for ability and learning and St. Andrew's church was warmly congratulated on his acquisition by the Toronto Presbytery.

PETERBOROUGH JUNIORS WIN FROM TWEED.

THE SECOND TEAM PROVES ITSELF VERY FAST.

A Big Crowd Will Witness the Next Game Which They Play—The Boys are Worthy of Support in Every Way.

All honour to the Juniors, their name is now great in the land, for not only have they succeeded in winning their first match of the season, but they won it from a crack senior team which amongst its players numbers men who have made names for themselves as lacrosse stars. All honour, then, to the plucky young Juniors who, when they could not get on a match with a club in their own class, flew at higher game and succeeded in bringing it down. Peterborough is proud of her second team and when they play again their splendid victory should assuredly have its reward in an increased patronage.

THE VISITING TEAM

from Tweed arrived on the 4.25 C.P.R. train in the afternoon and, having dressed on the train, were driven to the P. A. A. A. grounds direct. The Juniors could be forgiven if the felt some misgivings as to their ability to win when the Tweed boys came on the field, as they were big, lusty stickhandlers indeed and if judged by appearances looked as though they would have no trouble whatever in carrying away the honours of the day. Tweed certainly deserves credit for the team which represents the village. Being young on the lacrosse field and not having a large area to draw from, the team has been strengthened by a number of outsiders, who, however, have now come to be looked upon as permanent members of the Tweeds and clubs who are downed by them need not try to awaken sympathy by the cry of "ringers," as everyone knows or should know in lacrosse circles that the Kirk and Collinge boys of Madoc and a few others are to be recognized as an element of the Tweed team and it is an element, too, which can give as all put up a splendid article of lacrosse. McGowan, Lafontaine and Quinn are also fine stick handlers.

It would be hard to say who played the star game for the Juniors. Every man on the team worked from start to finish, and the close checking and pretty combination work was most noticeable at times. The Tweed team has faster runners than the Juniors, but they cannot check as well, nor have they a combination to equal that of Peterborough's second team.

Wasson was in goal for the Juniors at the start, but soon afterwards a change was made and McWilliams came in between the flags, whilst Ernie went out on the home field, where he distinguished himself as usual, although if played further out, his running powers could have been used to better advantage. McWilliams was kept busy in the goal and made

SEVERAL EXCELLENT STOPS,

although the shooting on the goal was in the main blocked by the grand work of the defence field. Lynch played the game of his life and his catches and long throws were one of the features of the match. Craig also did some exceptionally fine work and held his check down very closely as did Ab. Greene, who made some fine runs down the field. Rutherford should develop into a good defence man, as he has the weight and, with practice, will doubtless be one of the mainstays of the Juniors. Borland, of course, played a steady game. Crossley, King, Dobbin and Rickey made a fine home field and their play was most brilliant at times. Crossley's cool dodging called for favourable comment, and King and Dobbin played a nice combination between them, the latter's accurate shooting on goal keeping the Tweed goalkeeper busy. Logan played at outside home, as he afterwards did in the field when moved further out. Rickey never did as well in a match before, and his close checking at inside home was brilliant. When a shot was made on goal, Bruce generally saw that his check was not in a position to do much blocking.

A FAST GAME

The teams lined up as follows:

Peterborough.		Tweed
E Wasson	Goal	G Lafontaine
F Lynch	Point	D Collinge
A Greene	Cover Point	J Kirk
L Craig	First Defence	J McGowan
W McWilliams	Second Defence	J Meyer
E Rutherford	Third Defence	Z Lafontaine
W Borland	Centre	S Ray
W Crossley	Third Home	H Leal
L King	Second Home	J Turner
L Dobbin	First Home	K Quinn
F Logan	Outside Home	C Kirk
B Rickey	Inside Home	E Robinson
P Rubidge	Field Captain	W S Huyck
L LeBar	Umpire	— Huyck

Referee—Geo Horkins

The game was called at ten minutes after five and from the start it was very fast, but Tweed seemed to have slightly the best of it, scoring in 6 minutes.

The juniors jumped into the next game with a vigor which was almost startling and in three minutes the score was evened, King to Lou Dobbin, who scored.

PASSING FROM THE FIELD

In this game Dr. McGrath's dog created quite a diversion by making off with the ball. It is small wonder that the doctor's dog has become embued with the lacrosse enthusiasm.

The next game went to the Juniors in seven minutes, Crossley running in from the field and doing the necessary.

Tweed evened the score in about 30 seconds by two lightning passes after the face off. Score 2—2.

It took Tweed four minutes to score the next game, which gave them an advantage of one goal over the Juniors, but this state of affairs wakened the local boys up, and the ball was hard to follow with the eye for the next few minutes. It did not touch the ground at all, and was finally passed in by Rutherford to Dobbin who shot it between the flags. Score, 3—3.

In five minutes more Wasson got an opening and scored for the Juniors. Score, 4—3 in favour of Peterborough.

TWEED'S STARS

got in some of their fine work now, and the Juniors did not see the ball at all. The visitors evened the score in 30 seconds and after 14 minutes hard play tallied another game, thus putting the score at 5—4 in their own favour.

The play had waxed faster and faster as the match proceeded and the spectators were well wrought up by this time. The combination work of both teams was pretty to watch, and seldom has there been cleaner lacrosse seen on the field than was now witnessed. Lionel King strained his ankle and went off for a while, but was able to come back again, and still no goal was scored. After seventeen minutes of hard play Dobbin got an opening, and with a pretty underhand shot evened the score. There was just three minutes left to play, but in one minute King scored for the town boys with exactly the same kind of a shot as Dobbin's. The other two minutes expired before another goal was scored and the Juniors won their first match of the season by the score of six to five.

During the evening the visitors were entertained at the Oriental.

The boys are eager for a return match.

The game was one of the cleanest ever played on the grounds. There was no rough play and not a single dispute arose.

Men's Cashmere Fancy and White Duck Vests, were $1.25 and $1.50, Crafton's special price 69c.

DIED WHILST ON A HOLIDAY.

Sudden Death of Mr. Wm. Spence, Brother of Mrs. A. A. McIntyre.

The following reference to a brother of Mrs. A. A. McIntyre, College street, appeared in Saturday's Globe:—"Mr. Wm. Spence, brother of Ald. F. S. Spence, of this city, died on Thursday at Brockville. During the past two years the deceased has had two serious accidents, first breaking a leg by falling from a step-ladder. A year ago he was almost killed by slipping at the side of a moving train at the Union Station, in which accident he lost his arm. Like his brother, who was killed by falling from a travellers' wagon, he was a commercial traveller. Only two months ago he was married and his wife was with him on a holiday trip when he caught a severe cold a few days ago, to which he succumbed Thursday night. The remains have been brought to Toronto for burial. He was a young man of exceptionable ability, and was widely known and extremely popular among the commercial travellers of the Dominion."

Mr. Spence was well and favourably known in the vicinity of Peterborough.

APPEALS CONSIDERED.

The Court of Revision of the Town Council Meets.

Councillor Hughes, chairman, presided over a meeting of the Court of Revision of the town council in the Clerk's office, last night, when the following appeals were considered:

From W. E. S. Hudson, asking for time in which to pay his taxes.—Stands.

From Louis Denno, for time in which to pay his taxes.—No action.

From Executors Hilliard Estate, asking for a reduction in assessment on account of buildings burned.—Reduced $500.

From Executors of Hilliard Estate, claiming exemption of that portion of their property assessed to John C. Higgins from taxation for sewers, waterworks, street watering, lighting and sidewalk making under section 7 A of the assessment act.—Recommendation to Council.

From Edg. Pearse, asking that taxes for 1894 charged on a house east of Water and South of Smith, occupied by one Munden, be removed, as was applied for at the time.—Granted.

STONY LAKE COTTAGERS.

Services to be Held at Juniper Island on Sunday Mornings.

A meeting of the Stony Lake Cottagers' Association was held yesterday afternoon at five o'clock at Juniper Island in response to a call which was made last week.

A letter was received from Mr. Edwards granting the request of the cottagers to be allowed to hold religious services on Sundays on a portion of Juniper Island.

A resolution was passed whereby arrangements will be made with various ministers to take the morning services at the island regularly, the evenings thus being left free.

As the chairman of the regatta committee was unable to be present, no further steps were taken, but it is understood that the arrangements are being rapidly perfected. The date will be altered, as on the Civic Holiday both the train and steamer have been chartered already by the E. B. A.

It would be a good idea if the regatta was held immediately after the big one in Belleville, and efforts made to secure some of the attractions for Stony Lake. The committee should look this matter up.

Arrangements have already been made whereby a morning service will be held at the regular hour at Juniper Island on Sunday next on the old preaching ground.

An adjourned meeting of the cottagers will be held on Monday afternoon next at four o'clock.

This year, for the first time, pupils from from the Separate Schools of the city of Ottawa wrote upon the High School Entrance and Public School Leaving examinations.

The result has been most gratifying. Out of forty-nine candidates thirty-five were successful.

One of the schools (St. Patrick's Boys) sent up seven to the Entrance, and all were successful. It will interest EXAMINER readers to know that the principal of this school is an old Peterborough boy—J. F. Sullivan, who taught for several years in the township of Ennismore.

Runaway Accident.

On Saturday afternoon Mr. John N. Breckenridge, of Westwood, was driving to Keene, and overtaking Miss Kate Doris offered her a seat in his conveyance. In raising her parasol the horse was frightened and, making a sudden plunge, overturned the buggy. Miss Doris was rather severely bruised. Dr. Shaw, who was in McIntyre's bus in front, was soon on the spot and gave the necessary surgical attention. Miss Doris was removed to her residence, near Roach's Point. The horse ran away and smashed the vehicle against a wayside pile of lumber.

YOUNG'S POINT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Young's Point, our charming village, during the season of summer is a gay and animated little place. Quite a number of tourists have visited our village and all lovers of the water find sheltered lakes teeming with fish. The fresh, pure air and the picturesque surroundings, with the pretty lakes and forests, cannot fail to invigorate exhausted physical, or even mental, nature. Among the guests we noticed at the Lakeview house last week were Messrs. G. W. Herr, W. R. Southard, George Jenney, R. R. Bennett, Charles H. Chase, J. P. Fiber, J. Graves, M. C. Morris, Rochester, N.Y.; Dr. C. J. Mossier, Kansas City; J. Wilson, Clair Guttison, E. Wasson, A. Terrill, P. Dewire, Peterborough; J. Suthers, A. Nesbitt, Toronto.

Two of Rochester's most enthusiastic disciples of the rod and reel, Mr. C. Chase and Mr. R. Bennett, while out fishing on Clear Lake had their strength and ingenuity taxed to the utmost. While standing on "Hannah's Rock" their attention was attracted by a ripple on the shore and upon investigation they discovered that a monster fish was disporting himself in the sun. He immediately made for deeper water and the fishermen decided to tempt him with the glittering spoon. The troll had scarcely struck the surface when he greedily grasped it, and the sport began. Being armed with but a gaff hook the capture of Mr. Fish was no trivial matter. He plunged and fretted for nearly an hour before exhausted Nature claimed a respite and he was tugged slowly ashore by one of the party. Mr. Jenney, who at the time was in search of buttermilk, and in hopes of finding a silver mine which was rumoured to be in the neighbourhood of Hannah's rock, after the loud yells of his friend, was in time to render his assistance. When landed the fish was found to weigh 21 pounds, and measured 3 feet 2 inches in length.

Dr. C. J. Moosier of Kansas City, accompanied by Mr. Southers and Mr. Herr of Rochester, returned home with a large catch of fish. The doctor is a phenomenal fisherman. In future if the doctor has any patients who are suffering from loss of appetite he will advise them to visit Young's Point, as he himself has experienced the beneficial result of a visit.

Mr. A. Smith of Roseneath is spending his holidays here.

Mrs. F. McCarthy, Montreal, and Mrs. W. Warmington, Peterborough, paid a visit with their sister, Mrs. J. E. Kearney.

Miss Minnie Weir, Peterborough, is the guest of Miss N. Young.

Miss M. Pope, Peterborough, is visiting friends here.

Miss Annie Finnie, Lakefield, has returned home after visiting friends here.

Rev. Father Casey, of Peterborough, and Father Lynch, of Port Hope, paid us a visit this week, renewing old acquaintances.

Miss Mattie Phelan, Bay Mills, is paying an extended visit with her aunt here.

Miss Katie McPherson, Peterborough, is visiting friends here.

The moonlight excursion, which took place on the Golden City Thursday evening, proved to be a perfect success. Quite a number availed themselves of the perfect night. Luncheon was provided at Mount Julien Hotel and after a few hours' stay, they returned home at an early hour in the morning.

We are now having daily mail here being carried by the steamers Golden City and Mary Allen, but we regret to say it will not continue all winter, as we only get it then every other day.

Two unknown gentlemen visited our village a couple weeks ago, supposed to be fakirs selling patent medicine. A reward has been offered by one of our local merchants for the persons giving such information that will lead to their conviction.

Failure and Success.

It is often all the little things that constitute the wide difference between success and failure. Some men, earnest in purpose, capable in many ways, seem unable to discern the import of minor, nevertheless important elements, and neglect in consequence to grasp the opportunities that if accepted would carry them on to victory. In the same way people are imposed upon by mercenary druggists, who to gain an additional profit, practice the dishonest method of substitution. Calling for Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, they accept some worthless flesh-eating substitutes, only to be disappointed or suffer injury. Putnam's Corn Cure is the only reliable one.

THE WHEEL.

A meeting of the bicycle club was held last evening, when it was decided that a series of informal race meets would be held during the summer and fall. The first of these will take place on the Thursday afternoon half holiday on August 13th. The track on the East Nicholls Park will be utilised on this occasion and, as, through Mr. Richard Hall's efforts, it is in excellent condition, a fine afternoon's sport will be provided.

In order to cover the expenses of providing suitable prizes, an admission fee of 10 cents will be charged, and as the grounds are open badges will be sold to those entitled to view the races. The committee in charge will be Messrs. R Neill, F. H. Dobbin and W. Lytle. The races arranged for the 13th are as follows:

Novice race—1 mile.
Handicap—2 miles.
Boy's race, 16 years and under, open race—1 mile.
Slow race—Last man in wins.
Hurry Scurry—Ride ¼ and run with wheel ¼ mile.

The big, hearty, healthy man is a continual irritation to his dyspeptic friend. Constipation is the root of nine-tenths of the sickness of men, and of a large proportion of the sickness of women. It can be cured easily, naturally and quickly. Nature is continually working as hard as she can to throw off impurities, and to force out poisonous refuse matter. When there is an impediment, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets set the wheels working again without any trouble. They assist nature in a gentle, healthful, efficient way. There is nothing violent about their action, and yet it is just as certain as if it were twice as violent. "You do not become a slave to their use." They are different and better than any other pill for the cure of constipation, headache and kindred derangements. Almost all druggists understand this, and are conscientious enough to tell you so. The druggist who tries to sell you a substitute is not a safe man from whom to buy medicine. Send 31 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

Why is it that one man is old and decrepid at 45, and another hale and hearty at 80? The accident of birth has something to do with it. Some men are born stronger than others, but frequently the strong man becomes weak and the weak man strong. It depends on the care he takes of himself. When the man who runs an engine hears an unusual sound about it, he stops immediately and looks it up. If he finds a little looseness, or a little crack, it is remedied immediately. If it isn't, there will come a break presently—a break that will wreck the engine. Likely as not, this same man will totally ignore the call for help from some one of his own organs. He will let the trouble grow and grow until it lays him out in bed. If he keeps on working with a damaged body, he will soon wear it out. The strain on his nerves will tell on his constitution. He will not be hearty when he is old. The chances are he never will be old at all. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery restores health. It is not only a cure for disease, it is a preventive. Whenever a man feels that he is not quite as well as he ought to be, whenever he is listless, without energy and without vitality, whenever he finds that he is losing weight and that his ordinary work gives him undue fatigue, he needs the "Golden Medical Discovery." No matter how his trouble shows itself, this wonderful remedy will cure him. We say it is wonderful because of its wonderful results, and not because there is anything supernatural about it—not because it does anything that is unexpected, or anything which its discoverer did not mean it to do. That it cures many different so-called diseases is the most natural thing in the world when you understand that nearly all diseases spring from the same thing—bad digestion and consequent impure blood. The "Discovery" makes the appetite good, the digestion strong, assimilation easy, and the blood rich and pure. No disease of the blood can withstand its action.

Learn more about it from Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, profusely illustrated, which will be sent free on receipt of thirty-one (31) one-cent stamps to cover cost of customs and mailing only. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

The Latest Chatter

GINGERBREAD FAIR.

The Great Show That Is an Annual Feature of Paris.

In every corner of the fair, at every step, you see the king of the fete, gingerbread under all aspects and all forms, in shops draped in red and broidered and fringed with gold, clad in satin paper, decorated with pictures, with bows of ribbons, with sweets, with baked almonds; gingerbread, in flattened human forms and grotesque features, representing Parisian celebrities; Felix Faure, Rochefort, Mme. Adam, Coquelin, Yvette Guilbert, the "gr-r-r-ande Sarah," and the Czar of Russia.

The coup d'oeil is strange, indeed. Against the sky, broken by jets of light and huge moving shadows, flags and oriflammes float in the long prospective. The wheels of gigantic escarpolettes raise one by one the cradles filled with people; an immense merry-go-round, three stories high, colored like a toy, turns mechanically, with its lions, its leopards, its wooden houses, its grotesque griffins. Here and there is a bunch of red balloons and innumerable paper windmills turning like fireworks in the half-lighted gloom. Everything is lost in the immense clamor of the fair—an indescribable medley of color, of form and of noise.

For a long time fairs and fair people resisted progress; they led a nomad life, like the heroes of Scarron's "Roman Comique." "La banque," as the profession in general is called in French, was a district in the vast domain of "la Boheme." Now things have changed; the mountebanks and fairmen have become purveyors of amusement. "La banque" has become a trade, like selling groceries; the old caravan has been transformed into a gorgeously gilded palace on wheels, and the high-road has been abandoned in favor of the railway. The ruin of the old-time mountebanks has been Laroche—the Columbus of caravans, who initiated them all into the love of wealth and respectability. Laroche's example led the mountebanks to hanker after glorious caravans, and they have followed it so well that some caravans around the Place du Trone are worth as much as 200,000 francs.

This Laroche, the king of all French mountebanks, made his debut on the boards in 1873. His strength soon attracted attention, and he opened a booth of his own at Batignolles, and, at the same time, posed as a model for the great sculptors and painters—Busse, Bondin, Delaroche, etc. Laroche had the reputation of having the strongest back of any man in the world. His great feat was to lift a chariot and 16 cuirassiers, with their arms and mustaches, weighing nearly 3000 pounds. His popularity soon brought him a fortune. Laroche never talked about his "baraque," like the old mountebanks. He called himself an "artist," and spoke of "ma loge" or "mon theatre." He ruined the morals of the old-fashioned mountebanks; all of them now want to grow rich, and bring up their daughters in high bourgeois style.—Argonaut.

ABOUT THE LIVER.

A lazy, slow or torpid liver influences the whole system, causing biliousness, sick headache, sallow complexion, languor and dullness. Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the liver, purifies the secretions and cures all forms of liver troubles. We say so and here is the proof:—

I hereby wish to thank you for the great benefit derived by me from your Burdock Blood Bitters. For three years I was troubled with liver complaint and tried everything to no purpose. I had almost given up hope until one day I determined to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I can say now that marked improvement resulted from the use of the first bottle and at the end of the sixth bottle I discontinued its use, being completely cured.

TO SEE A TOTAL ECLIPSE.

Miss Mary Proctor En Route to the Coast of Norway.

Miss Mary Proctor, daughter of Richard A. Proctor, the noted English astronomer, herself widely known for her achievements in that science, has sailed from New York on a scientific expedition to the Land of the Midnight Sun, where a total eclipse will be observed at Bodo, Norway, on August 8.

The steam yacht Ohio has been chartered for the trip and will carry 200 passengers aboard, mostly astronomers and students of science. Among them will be professors of astronomy from Harvard, Yale and Princeton Colleges. Miss Mary Proctor will give daily talks on astronomy on board ship.

The first stop will be made at South Hampton, where passengers from the continent will come aboard. The trip will be made through the North and Baltic seas, an unusually beautiful one being most of the way in sight of the Danish and Norwegian coasts. Kronstadt will be the first landing in Russia, from which place the party will go by carriage to St. Petersburg.

A stop of one week will be enjoyed at the Russian capital, where the expedition will be entertained by the American consul.

From St. Petersburg the trip to Moscow will be made by rail. Here another week will be spent in viewing the old city, the scene of the recent coronation festivities.

Short visits will be made to Stockholm and Copenhagen, and thence the party will go by boat direct to the little village of Hammerfest, Norway, the most northern spot inhabited on the globe, where the world-famous sight of the mindnigh: sun will be witnessed.

A cruise of ten days will be made around the Loforden isles and the noted Alten Fjord, the scene of "Thelma."

The expedition will arrive at Bodo, the central point of interest, in time to have everything in readiness for observation of the eclipse. Bodo is a little town of 600 inhabitants on the extreme west coast of Norway, and is the only place where the eclipse is visible except in Siberia and Japan.

Telescopes will be set and the phenomenon, which occurs but seldom, will be awaited with mingled anxiety and interest by astronomers from all parts of the world. If they are so fortunate as to have fine weather a grand sight will be witnessed, and it is expected some valuable information will be gleaned.

The return trip will be made via the Hebrides and around the Isle of Man to Liverpool, where the expedition is due to arrive on Augus: 20.

A Rival.

Tesla has a rival in a London electrician by the name of Rimington, who produces an electric light, not by having the current pass through his body itself at his fingers' ends, but he has been producing the illumination by induction. He produces it by revolving a vacuum tube in a constant electrical field located between two charged plates. It is said that he can even produce the light by rotating the tube and holding a glass rod, electrified by friction, near it. Drawing the rod through a piece of dry flannel is said to be sufficient to develop enough electricity to make the rod luminous as well as a space around it of one foot in diameter. The tube consists simply of a straight glass cylinder about five inches long, with a bore similar to that of a spirit thermometer. It has a bulb at each end, a projection of a T-shape allowing the use of an air pump, and in this way the vacuum is formed. It is said that if the tube is merely twirled between the finger and thumb near the excited rod, the illumination, shaped like a fan, will appear.

Strength of Steel.

An experiment, with a view to ascertain the relative resistance, under pressure, of the hardest steel and the hardest stone, was recently made at Vienna. Small cubes, measuring one cm. of corundum and of the finest steel, were subjected to the test. The corundum broke under the weight of six tons, but the steel resisted up to forty-two tons. The steel split up with a noise like the report of a gun, breaking into a powder and sending sparks in every direction which bored their way into the machine like shot.—Popular Science Monthly.

Penetrative Power of Projectiles.

An ingenious method of testing the penetrative power of small projectiles has been tried in Germany by Herr Muller. A large water trough is divided on the bottom by transverse ribs, and closed at one end by thick gelatine plates. The shot is fired into the end of the trough, when the hole in the gelatine instantly closes up, preventing the escape of the water. Each shot is retained by the ribs, where it falls, and its position is noted when the water s drawn off after the firing.

New York to Niagara.

The telegraph line from New York to Niagara which transmitted power for the electrical exposition model, was 465 miles long, with a resistance of 2.3 ohms per mile. With a voltage of 450 volts at the Niagara end, a current of 0.146 ampere was received in New York at a pressure of 225 volts, aggregating 65.7 watts.

Strength for the Aged.

As age advances the recuperative power of the body decreases. Fatigue clings like a burr to the already depleted store of energy, still further wasting and dissipating it, and in consequence the elderly find it very hard to keep their spirits up to the "doing" point. An anchor of hope and safety is found in the energizing action of Maltine with Coca Wine, which imparts almost magically, strength and vigor to the failing powers, and through its nutritive and tonic properties, renews those functional activities upon which depend health of body and vigor of mind. Maltine with Coca Wine rapidly restores appetite, improves digestion, imparts tone and vigor to the nervous system; in a word is a strength-giver of unequalled excellence. Maltine with Coca Wine is prescribed and recommended by physicians. All druggists sell it.

Charming Accessories.

Most charming things are done by accessories alone. I noticed four delightful girls that were remarkable only for their pretty belts, fichus, etc., yet they were to all eyes the best-dressed women of the day. Matrons and youngest grandmothers ought to revel in the dainty fichus, and all of the softening influences that are brought to bear these days on hardened faces and wrinkles. The shops show no end of these fichus in soft materials and soft colors.

A New Shape.

A new Worth collette has two yokes—a short one over a longer one, both cut in squares—back and front. STRAIGHT AS AN ARROW

B.B.B.

TO THE MARK.

In all diseases that affect humanity there is some weak link in the chain of health, some spot that is the seat of the trouble. It may be the liver, it may be the stomach; perhaps it is the bowels or the kidneys; most likely it is the blood. Burdock Blood Bitters goes straight to that spot, strengthens the weak link in the chain, removes the cause of the disease, and restores health, because it acts with cleansing force and curative power upon the stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels and blood.

With good red blood health is assured, without it disease is certain to come and Burdock is the only remedy that will positively remove all blood poisons. In ulcers, abscesses, scrofula, scrofulous swellings, skin diseases, blotches, old sores, etc., B.B.B. should be applied externally, as well as taken internally according to directions.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed the ordinary layman recognized this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The trouble with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

NOT A SICK DAY

For Over Thirty Years!

RESULT OF USING

AYER'S PILLS

"Ayer's Cathartic Pills for over thirty years have kept me in good health, never having had a sick day in all that time. Before I was twenty I suffered almost continually—as a result of constipation—from dyspepsia, headaches, neuralgia, or boils and other eruptive diseases. When I became convinced that nine-tenths of my troubles were caused by constipation, I began the use of Ayer's Pills, with the most satisfactory results, never having a single attack that did not readily yield to this remedy. My wife, who had been an invalid for years, also began to use Ayer's Pills, and her health was quickly restored. With my children I had noticed that nearly all their ailments were preceded by constipation, and I soon had the pleasure of knowing that with children as with parents, Ayer's Pills, if taken in season, avert all danger of sickness."—H. WETTSTEIN, Byron, Ill.

A DOMESTIC INCIDENT.

Why Mr. Wigton Clambered Down From His High Steed.

Wigton has always had an idea that he is about all there is of his rather extensive family, and ever since their marriage has trated the clever Mrs. Wigton with an exaggerated deference to her weaker sex that just placed her above the level of contempt. The other evening he sat reading the paper when he broke forth in the pompous manner which he regards as the unmistakable mark of superiority:

"Now, listen to this. Here's a woman that's something like. It's a chap in Utah that's writing and he says that 'Any genuine daughter of this Holy Land can play a Beethoven sonata or a Chopin nocturne, write a poem, lead a quadrille or a prayer meeting, shear a sheep or spank a refractory urchin with a vigor and grace and a delicacy and precision of technique that would send the green-eyed lobsters of hopeless envy galloping and gamboling through all the rosebud gardens of girlhood and womanhood i nthe effete, gold-buggy east.'"

"You like that?" queried the clever Mrs. Wigton.

"I certainly do. It shows the grand hights to which cultured womanhood can rise to fit companionship for superior man."

The next minute the sweet, true notes of a Beethoven sonata burst from the grand piano, filled the house and through the doors and windows floated on the soft evening air.

"Stop that infernal racket," yelled Wigton. "Don't you know that I'm trying to read. I object to having a music hall made of my private residence."

A masterly rendition from Chopin set Wigton roaring again and a little later the rhythmic sound of a maternal slipper doing active duty by the cries of a refractory urchin, caused him to rush profanely for his hat and head for the club.

"Bring home a sheep," called the clever wife as he made record time down the walk, "and I'll show you how to shear it."

Now Wigton is humble and looks at his wife in a puzzled way. Whenever he attempts to mount his high horse, all she has to do is to suggest having a dance that she may lead the quadrille or to go to prayer meeting that she may lead there

LEND YOUR EARS

To Your Back and Listen to its Talk—A Peterborough Man Tries It.

Did you know the back could talk;
Tell you why it aches and pains;
Tell you why it's lame and weak;
Warn you of the kidney's ills:
Tell you of Doan's Kidney Pills?
Listen to them when they speak.
Relieve the kidneys, cure the ache.
Bad back, acute pains and kidney ills.
Are quickly cured by Doan's Kidney Pills.

Here is proof of it at home. The testimony of Mr. George N. Graham, the genial host of the Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, is as follows:—

He says:—"I have been a great sufferer for some time with pain across the back, extending up between the shoulders, swelling of the limbs, dizziness, loss of appetite, and in fact felt completely broken up.

"I had lost 17 pounds in three months, and thought that I would never get better I have taken many kinds of patent medicines, and have also been treated by medical men, but did not seem to get any better at all, in fact was constantly growing worse.

"I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertisement and got a box of them at Lynch's drugstore, and by the time I had taken one box noticed a marked change for the better.

"I have taken seven boxes altogether, and am now free from pain; the swelling in the limbs has disappeared, and my appetite is good. In fact, I feel that I am completely cured.

"I can heartily recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to those suffering from any form of kidney trouble. They are the best kidney medicine I have ever used.

SWEET HELPMEET.

ENTLE AND ACCOMPLISHED WIFE OF THE LIBERAL LEADER.

An Admirable Example of the Best Type of the French Canadian Gentlewoman—The Noted Beauty Who Became the Noted Chatelaine.

Mme. Laurier, wife of Wilfrid Laurier, the new Premier of Canada, is an admirable example of the best type of French-Canadian gentlewoman. For many years she has not only led in French society at the capital during parliamentry sessions, but has fulfilled with gentle dignity all those other manifold social offices which fall to the lot of the wife of him who leads his party. Somewhat younger than her distinguished husband, Mme. Laurier is a handsome woman of about 45, with that type of good looks which is ill portrayed by photograph. Delicate features, clear blue eyes, silvery hair, a fresh, girlish complexion in youthful contrast to the graying tresses, a quick French smile, with flashing impression of white teeth and sudden dimples—that is Mme. Laurier as no camera ever can do her justice.

As Mlle. Zoe Lafontaine of Montreal she who has become the wife of a Premier was a noted beauty. As Mme. Wilfrid Laurier she is a noted chatelaine and sweet helpmeet—one as able as she is quiet and tasteful. The Laurier home is at Arthabascaville, a small Quebec town, a quaint old house set in eight acres of land, where the statesman has quiet for taking his rest and Mme. Laurier opportunity for cultivating the plants and flowers which comprise one of her chief joys. There are no children in the Laurier household, other than small guests who come, sure of a welcome from the kindly two, who love all things young and beautiful and good.

When the Lauriers remove to the capital, as they will, it needs must be almost like going home. Every session they have appeared there in company, and have grown as beloved as they are admired of the people. With Mme. Laurier there is the same unaffected friendliness, refinement of manner and native courtesy that mark her husband. It seems almost as though these two, after a quarter of a century of married life, had grown to be one in all such external ways. But, in spite of Mme Laurier's gentleness and forgetfulness of self, there is a purpose and a spirit in her make-up which impresses those whom she meets, and makes them feel that here is a woman who could suffer and be strong in any great crisis of life. Mme. Laurier is a devout Roman Catholic, but broad-minded and sympathetic to all. Whatever burden of care and responsibility comes to the first Minister of the Crown in Canada, he is sure of near sympathy and a wife to encourage, stimulate and strengthen him. Lesser virtue, perhaps, but one which appeals to the mind feminine, is that Mme. Laurier knows how to dress becomingly and well.

Queen Victoria's Hands.

"You are quite right in your surmise that Her Majesty possesses wonderfully beautiful hands, though they are by no means small for her height; that they are plump, white and unwrinkled. Would you like to know the reason?" asked the manicure, who was beautifying my hands for a dinner party.

Of course I was all attention.

"Well, as you are doubtless aware, Her Majesty is a great knitter. Indeed, she is invariably at work with her needles, either at scarfs or mittens for the poor, little vests for her many great-grandchildren or cot and bed quilts. The mere exercise induced by knitting, and the position assumed by the hands tends to whiten, refine and keep them in good shape, while, in the same way, the hand never look more attractive than when so employed."

"Why have so many cooks prettily shaped hands and arms?" I asked.

"Simply because they do so much with them. Kneading bread is one of the best beautifiers the hands can have. Where women who work much in the house usually fail to secure pretty hands is by not drying them well after each washing, and by not wearing gloves for rough labor, such as the cleaning of grates. Of course it is a wee bit of trouble always to put on gloves, but smooth, unwrinkled hands are worth a good deal to every woman, or should be, I think."—Answers.

Captain Sweeney, U. S. A., San Diego, Cal. says: "Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy is the first medicine I have ever found that would do me any good." Price 50c. Sold by John Nugent, 249 George Street.

Mr. E. W. Haslitt, Reeve of Chatham Township, Kent County, Ont., says: "My daughter has been very weakly for some years; she was very pale and always felt tired; she was prevailed upon by a friend to try a box of Miller's Compound Iron Pills. I must say it was a good investment; she at once began to improve. The colour came to her cheeks, she got strong rapidly, and now is quite well."

Woman's Influence.

As a rule, the whole tone of a home depends upon the woman at head of it, the average home, not the poverty-stricken home, nor the wealthy home. In this average home, whether sunshine shall enter the rooms, whether the drawing room shall be used and enjoyed, whether the table shall be invitingly spread, whether light and bright fires shall give warmth and cheer on winter nights—whether, in brief, the home shall be an agreeable or disagreeable place, is usually what the woman determines. Men are powerless in the matter. Some find solace for a dismal home in study; some occupation in business. Some submit with what patience they can. Others are attracted by the cheer of their clubs, and it is especially young men who are apt, in consequence, to drift into bad company and bad habits.

Think it Over.

Have you ever heard of a medicine with such a record of cures as Hood's Sarsaparilla? LEADING HATTERS.

A SON KILLS HIS FATHER.

A Shocking Fatality at Quebec Which it is Claimed Was Accidental, But Death Was Quick.

Quebec, July 27.—Another case of careless handling of firearms resulted yesterday in a father being instantly killed by his son. Mercier, a laborer living at Levis, handed a revolver to his son Alfred, and while the latter was trying it the trigger, which had been at full cock, went off, and the bullet lodged in the heart of the father, who dropped dead. The young man, who is about 20 years of age, was arrested. He claims that the shooting was accidental. Coroner Belleau opened an inquest in the matter this afternoon.

Spanish Credit No Good.

Madrid, July 27.—The Genoese firm of shipbuilders, Ansaldo, have refused to ratify the contract made by their agent with the Spanish Government for the purchase of two cruisers, and their action has caused much excitement here. It is reported that the vessels in question have been bought by the United States.

More Fighting in Crete.

London, July 27.—The Daily News to-morrow will publish a despatch from its correspondent in Athens, reporting that the fighting has been renewed in the vicinity of Retimo in the Island of Crete and that the insurgents have been successful in their encounters with the Turkish troops. The latter are hard pressed and have telegraphed to Canea for re-inforcements.

HUMUS.

A Factor of Soil Fertility and Why It Is So.

It is generally admitted that the presence of vegetable matter in a soil is necessary to the profitable growth of crops.

Investigations have been conducted for some time at the Minnesota Experiment Station in the study of the influence of humus, and the following conclusions have been arrived at: The whole process of investigation is discussed in an interesting manner in Bulletin 41 of the Minnesota Station:

"1. The continuous cultivation of grain crops without farm manures or a proper rotation of crops has resulted in a loss from the soil of 30 to 50 per cent. of the total decaying of animal and vegetable matter known as humates.

"2. With the loss of the humus from the soil there has been a corresponding loss of nitrogen. For every 1 lb. of nitrogen removed in the crop there has been a loss of 3 or 4 lbs. of nitrogen from the soil by the fermentation of the humus, caused by the continuous cultivation of plowed crops.

"3. A loss of humus has resulted in decreasing the amount of available phosphates and potash associated with the humus.

"4. The power of the soil to retain water and withstand drought has been decreased by the loss of humus.

"5. Decaying animal and vegetable matters, like farm manures, when added to the soil, combine with the soil potash, etc., and produce postassium humate and other compounds. Hence farm manures are not only valuable for the fertility which they contain, but also valuable in making the inert plant food of the soil more available.

"6. The humates of potassium, magnesium, iron and the double humates with phosphorus and sulphur can be utilized by plants as food. Oats have been grown, producing fertile seeds when all of the food was supplied in the form of humates, along with the organisms present in the soil which carry on the work of fermenting the humus.

"7. The humus and nitrogen of the soil should not be allowed to decrease seriously. Summer fallowing is particularly destructive upon the humus and nitrogen, it temporarily puts the soil in better condition, but in the end gets it out of condition. The use of well-prepared farm manures, and the rotation of crops, in which grass crops and particularly clover, and if necessary green manures, form an important part of the rotation, will prevent the rapid decline of the humus and nitrogen of the soil."

Manure and Cultivation.

There is good reason for the almost universal practice among farmers of putting the manure mainly on the crops that require thorough cultivation. It is not only because such crops need rich soil to pay for the extra labor needed to grow them, but all the manure applied is made more effective by cultivation. This is mainly done by loosening the soil and imprisoning warm air in it. This air contains oxygen, which acts on all vegetable or animal matter in the soil, setting free their carbonaceous and nitrogenous elements. This is particularly true when the soil is moist as well as warm. For all hoed crops after warm weather comes there is no way to fertilize so easily and cheaply as by keeping the cultivator at work. It need not go deep, though if manure has been plowed under, it is well to have the early cultivation deep enough to reach the manure and mix it with the soil. It will also thus be brought in contact with air. As the vegetable or animal matter decomposes its nitrogen is given off in the form of ammonia, where it rises to the surface, and in a dry time is deposited as a nitrate. This is the crust which is formed on clay land soon after a shower. It is so rich in nitrogen that there is great advantage in turning it under as soon and as often as possible.

AN EXCEPTIONAL SALE.

St. John is Much Interested in the Recent Medical Discovery.

St. John, N.B., July 20.—The many cases of marvellous restoration to health from various forms of kidney trouble which have been constantly appearing in the daily press of the Dominion have for some time awakened the liveliest interest here, and the remedy by which the cures were effected namely. Dodd's Kidney Pills are obtaining great celebrity throughout the province. The appearance of the testimonials of Drs. Rose and McCormick stating the benefits which they had personally derived from their use was considered a sufficient sign of the merits of the remedy, and the other interesting and wonderful cases which since been chronicled had caused the specific to have an exceptional sale.

Parmelee's Pills possess the power of acting specifically upon the diseased organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body.

THE CREW AT BOSTON,

Where Mate Brane Will be Tried for That Triple Murder on the High Seas.

Boston, July 27.—The steamer Halifax, from Halifax, arrived this morning, having among the passengers Mate Brane, Seaman Brown, Steward Spencer, Leslie Monck and five seamen from the barquentine Herbert Fuller, which put into Halifax, Wednesday, with Captain Nash, Mrs. Nash and Second Mate Blandburg being murdered. Officer Thomas Kilme of Halifax accompanied the prisoners and turned them over to Police Captain Cain of Division No. 1, who, with 45 men, was at the wharf when the vessel arrived, it being expected by the police that a large crowd would be present. There were many there, but there was no demonstration.

The prisoners were handcuffed, while Mr. Monck was allowed to go to his home. The men were taken to the United States Court, arraigned and held for further action.

Hats are Trump

Keep Cool as a Cucumber.

We Can Settle The Hat Question.

"It's a Dead Sure Thing." The next seven days will make a big hole in our Hat stock, and settle the hat question. There's bustle to this business. The crowds come pouring into our "Two Big Stores" to our Slashing July Sale look like as if we were GIVING GOODS AWAY. We are not exactly doing that but we are coming pretty close to it. Not because we want to but because we must clear out our Summer Stocks. We make less on Men's Hats than on anything else, and there's nothing else appeals so directly to a man's head. We are making prices of Hats so low that anybody can raise the wind, and have a change of Hat for week days and Sundays.

The "New York" Hat.

This is our newest, nobby novelty, direct from Messrs. Eichhold & Miller, the Hat manufacturer of New York, makers of the celebrated Enfield Hats. They knew where they would have the biggest outlet for their leading Hat in Peterborough and sold them to us only. They come in Stiffs, Softs and Fedoras, in all shades and sizes. High-toned Hatters get $3 for the "New York" Hat, but we don't have to, for the makers have put us in a position to sell them to high-toned gentlemen for..... $1.75

Wilkinson's "Stanley."

Who has not heard of or worn this favourite English hat, of which we are the sole handlers here. The "Stanley" is made of the very purest fur felt. They sell easily at $2.50 and $3, by hatters who have to pay $19.50 and $24 per dozen for them. We have re-marked these hats for our July Sale and crowded the price down to..... .... $1.50

Belgium $1.00 Hats.

These are the showiest Hats we've ever sold for a dollar. They have pure silk bands, summer shades and crown and rim forms to suit oval, round or squarish faces; made of beautiful soft fur and in taking light weights. Best shapes and colours and recognized as a popular Tourist Hat. We don't say what they are worth, but others ask double the money for the Belgium Hat, we sell for $1.00

Maud Miller on a summer day,
Raked the meadows sweet with hay,
Now Maud might rake the world in vain
To find Straw Hats so low again.

English Wool Fedoras.

Our "Special" line of Fedoras, that hatters would scorn to take less than $1.50 and $2, we sell you for 75c. Its a wonderfully fine hat for the price and have been going with awhirl at $1.50 up till now. But we have other lines of our Wool Fedoras which no one else can match in value, because they start at..... .... .25

Boy's Caps.

As much style in our Boy's and Youth's stock as in our Men's—Knockabouts, School Caps, Tweed Caps, Bicycle Caps. We dump in a dozen lines that would ordinary go like hot cakes, at 25c to 50c, for..... .10 .15 .20 .25

Men's Boating Caps,

Bicycle Caps, Tennis Caps, with the prices all cut it two to clear them out. Money does not come so easy to every man nowadays that he should pay the hatters of fancy prices. Nothing newer than than what we have in stock. Starting price..... ..... .35

Men's and Boy's Straws.

In addition to the wagon loads Straw Hats we had on hand, we secured a snapping bargain in 2 cases of American Straws the other day from a large New York house. We can sell a $1 split-straw, fine braided, fine trimmed and silk banded Straw for 60c. We have Straws for all ages—the 40c line, soft or stiff brim, with black and coloured bands, are great value at.. 30

These are only a few of the HALF-PRICE offerings, but you can take them as a fair criterion fo all the other prices during our Slashing July Sale. You know, or should know, that we are alway getting the best possible goods at the LOWEST prices—and that's the sort of refreshing ozone that refreshes all kinds of pocket books. Come in and blow yourself. Whether you are taking a holiday or not, remember WE ARE GIVING THE PROFITS ON HATS A HOLIDAY.

Our next Slashing Sale will be in Boy's Clothing, but if you or the boys need a Hat just now, you might get the bargains in Clothing, now, too, as well as in the Hats.

THE BASEBALL RECORD.

Dukes Whitewashed at Hamilton—Eastern and National Leagues.

Hamilton, July 28.—(Special.)—The Hams defeated the Dukes here this afternoon, shutting the visitors out and scoring six runs. Dean pitched for the home team, and it was owing much to his good work that the Dukes were shut out. Marr Phillips, who had a sore hand, made three errors. Sheppard pitched a good game for the Dukes, but gave the Hams eight hits, against Dean's three. If Umpire Randall could be credited with impartiality, he did not give the Hams any the worst of it, and the Dukes on several occasions pointed out what they considered unjust decisions, there being a good many disputes. The close decisions were given in favor of the Hams. The score:

A FEARFUL CYCLONE

Wrought Death and Destruction in Pennsylvania.

ONE ILL-FATED BOARDING HOUSE

Was Swept Away and Sixteen Inmates Perished—Buildings in Pittsburg Badly Damaged—An Heroic Girl Prevents a Disaster—Notes of the Storm.

Pittsburg, July 28.—While there have been storms and floods in this vicinity in past years, that have caused great fatalities, it is doubtful if the cyclone which struck Western Pennsylvania last evening was not the greatest in its history and in its widespread destruction of property.

The lower portion of McDonald, Pa., was for a time inundated. No lives were lost, but the damage to property will be heavy. Several coal mines in the vicinity of McDonald were flooded.

Near Cecil, three miles southeast, six bodies have been recovered from the mass of debris in Cecil Valley. Oil wells and shanties occupied by oil producers and workmen are thickly located along the banks of Cecil Creek. The torrents swept through them, giving no time for escape. Samuel McKinney's house was swept away, carrying with it his wife and two children. Two oil men, sleeping in their shanty, were drowned, as was also a girl named McKinney, who lived in the village of Cecil.

The cloudburst which swept the Cecil Valley carried away a miner's boarding house near Bridgeville, resulting in the death of 16 of the inmates by drowning. The valley at this point was covered by 18 feet of water. The bridge of the Bridgeville and McDonald branch of the Panhandle Railroad, over Chartiers Creek, was washed away and the tracks for half a mile near Bridgeville, are covered with water.

John Fergus and George Miller, with several companions, were in camps on the banks of the Allegheny River, near Aspinwall. Their tents were sheltered by a large sycamore tree. Either the lightning or the wind tore a huge limb from the tree and it dropped directly upon the tent in which the members of the club had sought shelter. Fergus' skull was crushed. Miller was pinioned to the earth and his back broken. Five other members of the party were held to the ground under the heavy limb and all were severely injured.

John Authoider met his death while striving to reach a place of shelter from the hurricane on Second-avenue. Just as he reached it a heavy sign was torn from its fastenings and crushed him down into his wagon. Death was instantaneous. Throughout Pittsburg and Allegheny city many buildings were unroofed, hundreds of trees uprooted, electric wires prostrated, windows shattered, outbuildings and some dwellings upset.

At Cecil the bodies of Mrs. McKinney, J. McKinney, Jennie Holmes, W. Higgins and an unknown old man have been recovered. The Chartiers Creek is higher than ever before known. The bursting of Soleiem's Dams added to the volume of the flood, which swept through the valley. Of the 16 miners swept away, five bodies have been recovered. One man was rescued, yet alive, from the branches of a tree, in which he had lodged. He had not yet regained consciousness when last heard from. All of the men were foreigners, mostly Italians, employed in the mines of the W. P. Rend Company and the Ridgeway Bishop Coal Company. Estimates of the total damage run any where from $100,000 to $1,000,000 in Allegheny County.

The damage to the Fifth United Presbyterian Church, Webster-avenue, and Washington-street, is $3000. The John Wesley A.M.E. Church, Arthur-street, was damaged $5000. Fox & Co.'s machine shop was damaged $3000. The steeple of Centenary M. E. Church, Kirkpatrick-street, was blown off and the bell carried into an alley some distance away. The falling steeple crashed through the roof of the dwelling of John Tonner, wrecking it. The falling timbers also damaged the residence of William Zither, and George Sutherland. The damage to the church will reach $5000 or more.

In Lawrenceville, the damage is greater than on July 15, when the storm wrecked the stone wall surrounding Allegheny Cemetery. The broken wall offered no resistance to the flood last evening, and a raging torrent not only devastated a large portion of the beautiful Allegheny Cemetery, but flooded Butler-street and streets below to a depth of nearly five feet. The cellars of hundreds of houses were flooded and the first floors of several score were covered with water. Every street in that part of the city was blocked with broken trees, stones, rubbish and mud.

At lower Pittsburg and Allegheny traffic was suspended. In the mill districts along the Allegheny River 25 large smokestacks were toppled over by the force of the wind, in a number of instances wrecking buildings on which they fell. Scarcely had the thoroughfares been made passable and delayed cars began to move when the night deluge came on. This in point of downpour was even worse than the evening flood. The high wind was absent, however, but the heavens were almost continuously lit with terrific flashes of lightning, and the roar of thunder was continuous. The storm continued with slowly diminishing energy until midnight. At noon to-day the body of an unknown man, evidently a victim of last night's storm, was found in the Ohio River just below the city. Reports from the districts surrounding the cities detail the destruction of buildings, death of farm stock and much damage to crops and fruits. All the railroads entering the city suffered considerable damage and delay; the Baltimore & Ohio Railway is apparently the worst sufferer. Trains from above Eureka on the main lines were unable to get through from last evening up to noon to-day. The delay was caused by a landslide near Eureka. A large culvert at Port Royal was also washed out, and had to be bridged over before trains could proceed. At Clokeville, on the B. & O., Wheeling division, a small bridge was swept away, and a slide covered the tracks at Finleyville.

The rivers took an upward turn early this morning and at 2 o'clock this afternoon 17 feet were recorded. It is not thought that the rise will exceed 19 feet. In the debris which rushed past to-day were seen small houses, outbuildings, fences, grain stacks and other evidences of the severity of the storm at points above.

An Heroic Girl.

Carnegie, Pa., July 28.—The town was inundated by the overflow from Chartiers Creek and much damage done, bridges and streets being washed out. At Springdale, on the West Pennsylvania Railroad, the storm carried a large tree on the track just at a dangerous curve. Miss Zenie Bigley saw the danger to trains then overdue, and seizing her father's ax heroically cleared away the obstruction, just as a special train conveying a church picnic party to Alleghany swept by at high speed.

Damage Everywhere.

Washington, Pa., July 28.—The damage in the oil fields will be enormous. A great number of bridges were swept away and roads are impassable.

Canonsburg, Pa., July 28.—Several families were rescued from partly submerged dwellings. Loss on crops and fruit will be heavy.

Connellsville, Pa., July 28.—Seven bridges on the Connellsville and Fairmount branch of the Baltimore and Ohio washed away. Damage to crops is great.

West Newton, Pa., July 28.—Buildings of Cement and Lime Company, including kilns, were destroyed by the storm, which loosened masses of rocks and debris from the overhanging cliffs. The buildings were crushed. The loss aggregated several thousand dollars.

Brownsville, Pa., July 28.—Several buildings were unroofed and the town was flooded. No trains arrived today.

NO USE FOR ANARCHISTS.

They are Refused Permission to Take Part in the Proceedings of the Socialistic Trades Congress.

London, July 28.—The International Socialist Trades Congress met again in St. Martin's Town Hall to-day. In view of the disorder which characterized yesterday's meeting, there was a large crowd of outsiders present who apparently were anxious to see a repetition of the troubles. As the delegates presented themselves for admission close scrutiny was made of their credentials, it being feared that some of the Anarchists would endeavor to get on the floor and make trouble. Some of those who bore credentials which were not in the right shape were refused permission to enter the hall.

Herr Singer, the well-known Socialist leader of the German Reichstag, who speaks English fluently, acted as chairman at to-day's session. He referred to yesterday's disturbance, and announced that order would have to be maintained.

After the usual preliminaries the Congress took up the question of the admission of Anarchists, against which a large majority vote was cast yesterday. Speeches for and against their recognition as delegates were made by Jean Jaures, a Radical Socialist member of the French Chamber of Deputies; Tom Mann, formerly member of the House of Commons, and several other properly accredited delegates. The speakers were very much excited, and those in favor of the admission of the Anarchists hotly contended that if they were not admitted the Congress would not be internationally representative in its scope and that its decisions and conclusions would not carry the weight which they would otherwise have. The opponents of the proposition declared with equal spirit that the admission of the Anarchists would have the effect of leading the general public to believe that the Socialists favored the Anarchists' propaganda, which the speakers contended was not the case.

Eventually another vote was taken, and it was decided 203 to 104 to refuse to recognize them.

The Anarchist would-be delegates were outside the hall waiting for a decision, and when it was announced to them they became highly indignant. It was finally decided to force an entrance into the hall and the decision was no sooner arrived at than it was carried out. A rush was made for the doorkeepers who were speedily upset, and the crowd of Anarchists made their way to the gallery. Then arose a perfect babel. The delegates shouted in their native tongues—Russian, Polish, French, German, Italian, Spanish and English—that the intruders should be put out. Finally, when the voice of a speaker could be heard above the din, Tom Mann and James Kier-Hardie addressed the chair in advocacy of the admission of the Anarchists.

Other speakers opposed the proposition and the excitement waxed until it appeared that there was a decidedly favorable chance of yesterday's disgraceful scene being repeated. Herr Singer finally succeeded in obtaining a little order, and it was then agreed that properly accredited Anarchists should be admitted, but should be allowed to take no part in the debates. Later another vote was taken, and it was decided to uphold the Zurich resolution, which in effect provides that Anarchists shall not be admitted. There the question remains at present.

Don't Want N.Y. Gold Bonds.

New York, July 28.—Comptroller Fitch of New York city to-day opened bids for $2,805,962 New York city gold bonds, bearing 3 1-2 per cent.; and received tenders of $1,010,500 at from 100 to 107.20. The lack of demand led to a good deal of discussion in financial circles, and in some quarters there was a disposition to ascribe it to the silver agitation.

New York State Democrats.

New York, July 28.—The Democratic State Committee met at the Hoffman House at 1 o'clock this afternoon and decided to hold the State convention at Buffalo on Sept. 16. The meeting lasted only 10 minutes, and no action was taken concerning the Chicago nominations; nor were any resolutions introduced, except the one which fixed the date and place of the convention.

More Gold at Madoc.

Madoc, Ont., July 28.—Mr. Thomas Croft, owner of the old Loomis farm, opposite the R. C. Cemetery, has discovered a rich vein of gold-bearing quartz on his property and several practical miners are now at work trying to show up and develop what is really on his place.

Norris Bros.' Company of 100 educated shetland ponies and dogs will exhibit under a large tent at the corner of George and Dublin streets next Friday. Admission, children 10c., adults 25c.

That

Extreme tired feeling afflicts nearly everybody at this season. The hustlers cease to push, the tireless grow weary, the energetic become enervated. You know just what we mean. Some men and women endeavor temporarily to overcome that

Tired

Feeling by great force of will. But this is unsafe, as it pulls powerfully upon the nervous system, which will not long stand such strain. Too many people "work on their nerves," and the result is seen in unfortunate wrecks marked "nervous prostration," in every direction. That tired

Feel-

ing is a positive proof of thin, weak, impure blood; for, if the blood is rich, red, vitalized and vigorous, it imparts life and energy to every nerve, organ and tissue of the body. The necessity of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for that tired feeling is, therefore, apparent to every one, and the good it will do you is equally beyond question. Remember that

THE LIBERAL PROGRAMME.

"I'm glad to see that the Liberals are stealing the Conservative policy," said a prominent local Tory politician to a local Liberal this morning. He was referring to Mr. Laurier's St. John's speech. "That may be," the Liberal replied, "but there's no danger of them stealing the Conservative practice." On the contrary, Mr. Laurier and the Liberal Government have the courage to practice what they preach. What they promised before the elections they now set themselves to perform, and that they cannot get to work more promptly is by no means their fault. There are a dozen and a half of Government departments that need to be subjected to a vigorous process of overhauling —one of the Herculean labours—cleaning out the Augean Government stables, where horses of the Cumberland breed have been stabled for the past eighteen years. This comparatively routine work has to be done to leave Ministers free to consider the weightier questions that confront them—tariff reform, trade extension, the school question, franchise reform, the development of the Northwest, the redistribution of seats, Senate reform, etc.

That these questions will be dealt with in a statesmanlike and efficient manner that will beget public confidence and restore the equilibrium of the commercial and industrial conditions, is shown by the speech delivered at St. John's by Mr. Laurier. Questions that the late government could not control but which controlled them instead, will be dealt with to a successful solution under the new regime, and besides we are guaranteed a period of honest, economical and clean government.

In the matter of tariff reform Mr. Laurier's method of procedure indicates that he will subordinate the attainment of an ideal to the demands of existing conditions and interests. Here is his declaration on this point:

"I declare on this occasion that we will proceed with caution in order not to injure the established interests. Such is the programme of the Liberal party. We shall communicate with the managers of industries, manufacturers, etc., and together we shall elaborate a fiscal policy which will be of a nature to lighten the burden of taxes which lie upon this country."

This does not necessarily mean that the general rate of taxation can consistently with the enormous expenditure to which the country is committed, be very much reduced but it may be taken that the incidence of taxation will be equalized and that one class will not be called upon to bear the burden of another. It must be made to fall equally and equitably as possible. While the interests of the manufacturers are not to be imperilled by revolutionary treatment, those of the greatest producing class, the farmers, will receive adequate alleviation. Mr. Laurier does not attempt to delude the farmers by promising to raise the price of produce by order in-council or some other miraculous means, but he assures them that he will try to decrease the price of what they have to buy and that he will facilitate the means of the farmers' produce reaching the best markets of the world.

The development of the Northwest is something that will engage the new Government's attention. There is a vast field for improvement, and a home market for Canadian industrial products is dependent upon the filling up of our great Northwest with a population that must purchase these products. An increase of our population to ten millions will quite evenly divide the burden of taxation, which five millions have now to bear.

The school question in the hands of the late Government has been so manipulated and prostituted for the past half dozen years to the subservience of party ends, that it threatened to imperil the integrity of Confederation, but it is a pleasure to note that now when Mr. Laurier is charged with the responsibility of settling the question, he has said, as promised before the election, that he expects an amicable settlement, entirely satisfactory to both parties, will be effected within six months.

Mr. Laurier, in his St. John's speech, also touched upon our imperial relations, and in so doing reiterated the great principal of British connection the first article on the Liberal confession of faith, and the promise made of securing closer commercial relations with the Mother Country.

Mr. Laurier in office pledges himself to the effectuation of the same programme he went to the country upon. In a word, he practices what he preaches, and that of itself in an almost revolutionary innovation upon the Government methods with which Canada has been familiar for almost a score of years.

MR. TARTE'S CHARGES.

Montreal Herald.

During the torrid season the new Minister of Public Works has been labouring such long hours as would constitute an intolerable burden for any less conscientious and energetic men. But he appears to have laboured not in vain. It has been the Herald's contention from the beginning that if any man in public life was qualified to render the country signal service by tolling in the Department of Public Works, that man was Mr. Tarte. It was he who laid bare the scandalous McGreevy-Connolly transaction, and drove Sir Hector Langevin out of public life. It was he who first carried to Sir John Macdonald the information that unless the Conservative party purged itself entirely of this plague spot, the plague spot would be the death of the Conservative party eventually. The Conservative party did not so purge itself, and the Conservative party which Sir John Macdonald knew is now dead, and Mr. Tarte now sits in Sir Hector Langevin's chair. His was good in '91 and it is apt to be better in '96. Accordingly when he intimates as he did intimate at St. Johns on Saturday that during the short time in which he had been head of the Public Works Department he had unearthed unquestionable evidence of an organized conspiracy to exploit the affairs of that department for the purpose of swelling the Conservative campaign fund in the recent elections; and when he said that if the same state of things was present in other departments the country must have been defrauded of millions of dollars to be devoted to the same unholy purpose, he intimates that he alleges what most people who have studied his record will credit him with an entire ability to prove. That is to say, he is at his '91 trick of insisting on good government and in a jury which will not be packed, as was the jury of the House of Commons in '91, he will be probably able to enforce it. It is not a pleasant prospect, perhaps. Few Canadians will welcome with any keenness of relish, a repetition of the shocking revelations of '91. But in such cases a duty lies at the hands of good men, and Mr. Tarte is a good man.

Like Mr. Laurier, the Herald has great confidence in Mr. Tarte. It does not believe that for purely dramatic effect, or for pure political purposes, he would make such a statement as he made at St. John's on Saturday. The Herald believes that Mr. Tarte was driven to such a course by stress of a sense of duty. He deserves reward for his services in '91 in the cause of good government. He deserves reward for his invaluable services in the same cause since '91, and he should be encouraged to persevere in the course he has followed, Liberal and Independent. St. Johns-Iberville should do for him what misguided and bulldosed Beauharnois did not do. As yet no opposition is in sight, but Mr. Tarte is cordially hated by the men whose unsavory methods he has exposed, and a purely factious opposition may be offered. An election by acclamation would be the more graceful thing. It is good to know that if this compliment be not extended, Mr. Tarte will be abundantly able to overbear all opposition.

Soldiers Quell a Riot.

Zurich, July 28.—There has been trouble brewing for some time between the Swiss and Italian workingmen in this city, and last night it culminated in a riot. The police were totally incapable of handling the enraged mob and military assistance was asked for. A detachment of soldiers with ball cartridges were ordered to the scene, and their presence overawed the rioters, who finally dispersed. Seventy arrests were made.

A New Remedy in General Use in Manitoba and the Northwest.

WINNIPEG, July 27th—The effects of the regular wave of sickness which sweeps over this portion of the Dominion in the spring are noticeable in the increasing amount of the druggists' sales. There has been quite a run on the kidney remedy now so well known under the name of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The recovery from Bright's disease of Mr. Arthur Coley, of Somerset, through their use, an account of which appeared in the papers, gave a considerable impetus to the sale, and the remedy has become indispensable in many Manitoba households, its fame having penetrated into the remotest parts of the province and Northwest Territories.

It Quenches Thirst.

During the hot weather a cooling, refreshing drink is the first requisite and nothing can be more wholesome than the juice of fruit. "Montserrat" is the juice of ripe Limes and is cheaper and more easily prepared than lemons. Its bright sourness is just what is needed to take the flatness off water—even water that is not cold becomes a refreshing drink when a little "Montserrat" is added.

A Boon to Smokers!

NO MORE NICOTINE.

A New Pipe

FITTED WITH

HERR PFLUNGER'S CARTRIDGES

which absorbs the hurtful acrid matter that accumulates in the ordinary tobacco pipe, and prevents the nicotine poison which produces most of the ill effects arising from smoking.

Sir Morrell Mackenzie,

the late celebrated English Throat Specialist, wrote the following opinion of Herr Pflunger's invention:—

DEAR SIR,—I think that Herr Pflunger's invention is a very good one. I have tried it and find that it answers well. The only suggestion that I can make is that it should have an additional mouthpiece which could be screwed into the proximate extremity of the pipe so as to make the stem twice the length it now is. This would lower the temperature of the smoke as it comes into the mouth. That the smoke should be cool is almost as important as that it should be free from acrid matters. You are at liberty to make whatever use of this letter that you may think fit.

Yours Truly,
MORRELL MACKENZIE.

SIR OLIVER LEAVES TO-DAY.

The Ex-Ontario Premier Leaves Toronto for Ottawa to Reside Mr. Hardy Takes a Trip.

Toronto, July 29.

To-day Sir Oliver Mowat finally quits Toronto for Ottawa. He will leave on the 9 o'clock train this morning for the Capital. Premier Hardy will take over his St. George-street residence just as it stands, furnished and all.

Hon. William Harty left yesterday for Prince Edward Island, accompanied by his physician, Dr. Gilmour. He went down on the Montreal boat.

The Niagara Falls Park and River Electric Railway Company, of which Messrs. Osler and Hammond of this city are the chief promoters, have asked the Ontario Government to grant them permission to lease 750 surplus horsepower which they cannot utilize to Clifton and other corporations near Queen Victoria Park. Premier Hardy will probably grant the request unless it appears that such a privilege would detrimentally affect the Government park property.

Dr. Scadding and D. B. Read, Q.C., representing the York Pioneers, yesterday asked the Ontario Government to pledge themselves as favoring the appropriation of $2000 promised by Sir Oliver Mowat before he went to Ottawa towards the erection of a monument to Gov. Simcoe. The Premier and his colleagues said the grant would not be allowed to lapse. The Pioneers have asked Sir Oliver to prevail upon the Dominion Government to give another $2000 towards the project, and the city and private subscriptions will be depended upon for the third $2000 required.

JAMESON GOES TO PRISON.

Lord Russell Charged Against the Raiders and They Were Sentenced to Terms of Imprisonment.

London, July 28.—The case of Dr. Jameson, Major Sir John Willoughby, Major Raleigh Grey, Col. H. F. White, Major R. White and Hon. Henry F. Coventry, who took prominent parts in the recent raid into the Transvaal, was continued in the High Court of Justice this morning before Lord Chief Justice Russell, Baron Pollock and Justice Hawkins. The defendants are charged with violating the Foreign Enlistment Act of 1870, in that they took part in an armed expedition against a state with which Great Britain was at peace. Yesterday counsel for the defence and the prosecution submitted their cases and at half-past 10 o'clock this morning Lord Chief Justice Russell began to sum up the case. At that time the court room was crowded, interest in the case reviving as it drew to a close. Among those present were many well-known society ladies.

In summing up Lord Russell emphasized the importance of the trial. He said that the crime with which the defendants were charged might entail consequences which nobody could foresee. There had been no attempt to gainsay the statements of the witnesses for the prosecution, but if the jury had any real doubt as to the nature of the defendants' acts they must give them the benefit of it. Continuing, the Lord Chief Justice said that if such things as the defendants were charged with had been done by the Queen's authority they would have amounted to an act of war. Done by the Queen's subjects without her authority, they amounted to an illegal filibustering raid. If the grievances referred to in the letter signed by the five leaders of the Johannesburg Reform Committee, summoning Dr. Jameson to the assistance of the residents of Johannesburg, were legitimate, the Queen's representatives should have been appealed to and not a trading company. Lord Russell concluded his summing up at 4.20 o'clock and the case was then given to the jury, who at once retired to consider their verdict.

The jury remained in their room till 5.25 o'clock, when they filed into the court room, and in response to a question announced that they had agreed upon their verdict, which was "guilty" against all the defendants.

After the usual formalities had been complied with, the court sentenced Dr. Jameson to 15 months' imprisonment. Major Sir John Willoughby was sentenced to 10 months, Col. H. F. White to seven months, and the other defendants to three months' imprisonment each. None of the prisoners were compelled to do hard labor during their incarceration.

A large crowd had gathered outside the court room to await the exit of the prisoners, and cheered vociferously when they made their appearance. Many shouts of "God Bless You" were heard as the prisoners were brought out on their way to Holloway Jail, where they are to be confined temporarily.

Jameson and his fellow-prisoners were placed in cells in the Holloway Jail, where they were dressed in the garb of ordinary convicts and received the common prison fare.

London, July 28.—B. F. Hawksley, Cecil Rhodes' solicitor, has informed the Government that Mr. Rhodes is ready to come to London to take his trial if it is desired that he should do so.

A Prominent Lawyer Says:

THE POWERS OF LEGISLATURES.

A Provincial Parliament Has All the Privileges of the Imperial Commons, Says the Privy Council.

London, July 28.—The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council has handed down its decision in the case of Fielding against Thomas, which was heard on July 25th, 1895, and which was an appeal from Nova Scotia raising the legality of the arrest and committal to jail of the respondent by order of the House of Assembly of Nova Scotia for contempt. The respondent was a member of the House. The Privy Council allows the appeal, reverses the decision of the Nova Scotian courts and orders the respondent to pay the costs.

When the case was argued on appeal counsel for the appellants contended that the colonial Legislature was empowered by the Imperial statute to make laws respecting its own powers and constitution, and that the provisions of the Nova Scotia statute, under which the Assembly acted in this matter, were not ultra vires of the Legislature. The House, he declared, had the right to pass laws enabling it to commit and punish for contempt, and to provide for the indemnity of its members against civil actions, and other proceedings for acts done in the House. The Provincial Legislature, he contended, had all the privileges, immunities and powers of the British House of Commons and the Dominion Parliament.

Counsel for the respondent argued that his client had not committed any breach of privilege in regard to the petition. He had not been guilty of contempt in declining to present himself for a formal reprimand. The House did not have the power to order his arrest or committal in such a case. It was equally incapable of enacting a provision to indemnify its members of they punished anybody illegally.

The Privy Council has affirmed the decision of the Supreme Court of British Columbia in the case of the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway against Bainbridge, which was argued July 9, 1896, raising the question of the right to mines in land granted for the construction of a railway. The Council ordered the appellant to pay the costs of the appeal.

WHAT CAUSED IT?

A Tidal Wave on Lake Michigan Which is Puzzling Mariners and Scientists —Was it an Upheaval?

Chicago, July 28.—There was a tidal wave along the western shore of the lake yesterday that caused the water to rise over three feet above the normal water mark.

The first and highest wave was at 5.30 o'clock yesterday morning, and from that time until 10 o'clock there was a succession of ebbs and flows that were about an hour apart. W. F. Tomlinson of the Evanston life-saving station was on watch yesterday morning at 5.30 o'clock, when the water rose swiftly and steadily until it came within six inches of the top of the end of the breakwater at the station, and the water approached nearer the station than Tomlinson had ever seen it before. It remained at this high stage for ten or fifteen minutes, and then slowly ebbed. So much of the water disappeared that the sands where the water is shallow were uncovered for a long distance out. This continued at irregular intervals until 10 o'clock, when another tidal wave nearly as high as the first one appeared.

This phenomenon has not been unknown heretofore. Two years ago a tidal wave at Evanston rose until it reached the embankment of the Sheridan-road. Professor Hough of the Northwestern University said he would not attempt to explain it, unless it were some upheaval at the bottom of the lake.

It has been held that consumption is hereditary, and the fact that one person of a family had died of consumption was considered a sure sign that others of that family could not escape it. This is partly true and partly untrue. A man with weak lungs is likely to transmit that weakness to his children. But there is no reason in the world why the weakness should be allowed to develop. Keep the lungs full of rich, red, wholesome blood, and the weakness will disappear. Decaying tissues will be thrown off, and new material will be added until the lungs are well and perfectly strong again. This is the thing that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does. This is what makes it cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption where it is taken according to directions. It searches out disease germs wherever they may be in the blood, and forces them out of the system. It supplies the blood with rich, life-giving properties. It makes the appetite good, digestion perfect. Send 31 cents in one cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

WAS SHE A BIGAMIST?

The Defence of John Paterson to His Wife's Claim for Alimony at Montreal.

Montreal, July 28.—(Special.)—The case of Dame Joseph Morton against her husband, John Paterson, for alimony has caused quite a stir in legal circles. It appears that the ceremony of marriage was performed between the parties in February, 1883, and they lived together as man and wife. Subsequently Mr. Paterson alleges that he found his supposed wife had already been married in 1881 to one William Tally, who was still living. When he found this out, he obliged Mrs. Paterson to live in a hotel, they making a division of the furniture. Since then, it is alleged, he did not make any provision for the lady's support, and accordingly she takes the present proceedings, alleging that she is herself unable to earn her living. Mr. Paterson replies: "You are not my wife. You were already married and your husband was living when you went through the ceremony of marriage with me; therefore, you have no claim upon me for support." The plaintiff denies this, and it is also contended by her counsel that, even if it were true that she had already been married to William Tally and that that party was still living, she had, as a matter of law, the claim of a wife upon Mr. Paterson until the marriage ceremony which she had gone through with him had first been formally annulled by the courts. The delay granted to Mr. Paterson is to enable him to procure the certificate of marriage between the plaintiff and Tally, which he professes to be able to do.

Steam Heating.

The low pressure system of steam heating for warming residences in winter has just been put into two of the largest houses in town and, is pronounced highly satisfactory. The beautifully situated brick residance of Miss Dickson, on Dickson street, has for some years past been heated with hot water; but this has been taken out and replaced with steam. Repeated trials have since been made to test the success of the system, with the result that it has been found much more satisfactory, convenient, prompt and safe. Mr. Robert Nell, who is at present engaged in fitting up a fine large residence, No. 269 Hunter street, for his own use, has also put in the low pressure system. Practical tests have demonstrated the entire success of the system in this case also and Mr. Nell is perfectly satisfied with the results. Others are negotiating for this system of house-heating, who have found other systems unsatisfactory. The work in both the above houses has been done under the superintendance of Mr. Geo. H. Noble, sanitary plumber and practical steam-heater, of Simcoe street, who affirms that no other system can compare with steam. Mr. Noble is at present engaged on the plumbing work in Mr. Nell's residence, which is to have some of newest improvements in sanitary plumbing and fittings.

Jubilee Point Makes a Nice Place to Wheel to, the Roads Being Excellent.

There are a number of good roads for bicycling running out of town, and then again there are others which it is hard work to get over.

From Peterborough to Young's Point, through Lakefield, is a nice run, but the wheelman should not attempt to return via Selwyn and Chemong, as the roads having been recently made over and covered with gravel are not fit for pleasant wheeling, though there are some excellent stretches of road which were made over last year and are consequently in splendid shape.

The road out to Chemong is all that can be desired, though there are a few bad spots. The road from Chemong, across country to Lakefield is very bad, wheelmen who have gone over it stating that they had to ride on the sod along the side at times.

One of the nicest trips that can be taken is to the south. A party of riders recently rode down to Jubilee Point and report excellent roads and only two hills of any importance. The best route to follow is to cross the river at the Lock's bridge and follow telegraph poles as far as the cheese factory, where a turn is taken to the south and up the big hill. The course is then straight along through Hiawatha, where the road is in excellent shape, a footpath along the side being packed as hard as a cinder track and extending for twp or three miles.

The road is followed until a "dead end" is reached and a long lane leads down through a farm to the lake front. At the house a horn is kept and a blast from this will bring a man and a skiff across from Jubilee, when transportation can be effected and an appetising fish dinner enjoyed before the return home. The distance is about seventeen miles, but the roads are so pleasant that it seems much shorter. The return home can be made via Keene, if desirable.

OUT WITH THE TAILORS.

A Jolly day Down the River—The Baseball Match.

The tailors had a grand day for their picnic down the river yesterday and the boat was crowded with the gentlemen of the bench accompanied by their sweethearts or wives as the case might be. Scores of others also took in the trip, the moulders being out in force to back their baseball team against that of the tailors.

On arriving at Jubilee the big crowd dispersed over the grounds, some patronising the dancing pavilion whilst others hied themselves away to the boat houses in order to enjoy a few hours fishing.

The majority of the excursionists, however, wended their way to the ball grounds to witness the annual match between the tailors and moulders. This year the moulders came out on top. The teams were composed as follows:

Tailors.		Moulders.
M Hickey	pitcher	R Scott
E Hickey	catcher	C Graham
Geo Evans	1st base	T Grady
L LeBar	2nd base	H Maher
F English	3rd base	J Johnston
R Fitzgerald	short stop	E Welsh
F Pollard	right field	H Brown
A Picard	centre field	J Jackson
C Wesley	rights field	E Blair

Umpire—R Cavanaugh.

Score by innings:

Moulders	2	4	4	5	2	0	2	0	—21
Tailors	3	2	1	0	0	0	4	0	2—12

LACROSSE.

The lacrosse club has made arrangements for a special train to run to Port Hope on Thursday, August 6th, when they play a C. L. A. district championship match with the Ontarios of that place.

The juniors have written to postpone their match on August 10th with the Oshawas. As the 10th is circus day here it would be difficult to draw a large crowd. Oshawa has been offered the alternative of coming on a later date or allowing the juniors to go there on the 10th.

THE WHEEL.

An English authority of the highest standing utterly condemns toe clips as tending to nullify the free use of the ankle joint and conducing to "digging." This ankle motion, or "ankling," has been dubbed the most important part of a cycling education, but it is a mystery to many riders. Even the experienced ones who use it do not all known just wherein lies its efficacy. C. W. Brown, the expert of The Cyclists' Touring Club Monthly Gazette of England, describes its object to be get the pedals past the dead centres. At these two points downward pressure on the pedals exerts no propulsory power. When the pedal approaches the top dead centre the heel should be lowered. Thus the force applied at the dead centre is not downward, but forward, so that there is in reality no dead centre. When the pedal is at the lowest point, the heel should be raised, and then the pressure is exerted backward. Doubtless many people use this ankle motion who never heard of it. It is out of the question, however, with the pedal resting against the heel, an awkward wasteful mode of riding which many women employ.

Something Worth Knowing.

Surely there is compensation or an antidote for every pain and sting which nature imposes on us. The sharp bitter weather of our climate might seem unbearable could we not find means of enjoying it without discomfort. It was long after wood was known to be a perfect nonconductor of heat and cold before anyone thought of its possible uses in clothing, but now we take advantage of this fact. Wood is reduced to its strong silken fibres and then made into the fabric known as Fibre Chamois, which offers a perfect protection from wind, cold or sleet, that makes healthful warmth possible in all weathers to everybody—and a durable protection that never fails till the garment is worn out.

A Peterborough Boy's Success.

The following from the Youngstown, (Ohio) Vindicator, refers to the success of a firm of photographers, in which Mr. Wm. Sabine, a former resident, who was for some years in Mr. P. H. Green's studio, is a partner. The extract says:

"Meacham & Sabine, the North Phelps street photographers, were awarded three prizes on their exhibit made at the photographic convention held at Columbus, July 14th, 15th and 16th.

"The prizes received by Meacham & Sabine were in Class C. which was portrait exhibits, and in which there were fifteen exhibitors, Meacham & Sabine receiving the second prize. They also received a second prize in Class H. being a landscape exhibit. In Class J. which was an exhibit of commercial photography, they received first prize, the views exhibited being those taken of the machinery in the plant of the Lloyd-Booth Company. In all those classes there were numerous exhibitors, and the prizes awarded to Messrs. Meacham & Sabine constitute a merited testimonial to the excellence of the work of the firm."

Mr. Sabine's many friends in town will be pleased with such evidence of his success.

DEATH OF MRS. SPENCE.

The W. C. T. U. Loses One of Its Most Active Workers.

Mrs. Elizabeth Spence, so well known for years as an active W. C. T. U. worker, died yesterday morning at the late residence of her son, Mr. W. T. Spence, 303 Givens street. Mrs. Spence was the mother of Mrs. A. A. McIntyre, of town.

Behind the immediate cause of death, which was pneumonia, resulting from fatigue and chill, was a sad history of recent bereavement, which was sufficient to have told seriously on a more robust constitution. Some four years ago her husband, Mr. Jacob Spence, widely known as an untiring worker in temperance reform, died suddenly. Two years ago her son, Mr. J. D. Spence, a popular commercial traveller, who had made a record for bravery in the Northwest rebellion, was killed in a runaway accident at Orono within a few weeks of the date set for his marriage. At the same time another son, Mr. Wm. T. Spence, also commercial traveller, met with a serious accident, in which his leg was broken, and shortly after his recovery another accident happened him, in which his arm was so badly crushed by a railway train that amputation was necessary. This son died last Thursday at Brockville. He had been married only about two months. He caught cold during a fishing trip in the Thousand Islands and pneumonia ensued, with fatal results.

Although in delicate health, Mrs. Spence hurried to the bedside of her son, and the anxiety and shock, together with a cold which she contracted, was too much for her and she succumbed to the disease which carried off her son. She leaves four sons and four daughters to mourn her loss. Two of the sons, J. M. A. and B. H. Spence, are ministers of the Methodist Church, attached to the Winnipeg Conference; another, George, is Vice-President of W. J. Gage & Co., and the fourth son is Ald. F. S. Spence, the well-known prohibitionist.

ALMOST A FATALITY.

Accident at Calcutt's Raceway, Ashburnham, This Morning.

This morning while Mr. Job Larmour of Sherbrooke street, was engaged in filling bags with sawdust in close proximity to Calcutt's raceway, Ashburnham, he made his horse secure by tying the lines to the front wheel of the gig.

The rig being loaded, Mr. Larmour caught hold of the bridle in order to lead the horse out to the main road, forgetting about the lines around the wheel. The horse consequently was continually being backed up as the wheels revolved, until it was forced to the cliff, which is eight or ten feet above the water at this point, when horse and rig were precipitated into the raceway, bringing Mr. Larmour along with them. The horse fell backwards making a complete somersault, and landing in the water with the rig on top of it.

Mr. Larmour was in such imminent danger that he cried for assistance. A couple of the brewery hands on hearing the shouts were speedily on the spot, and rescued Mr. Larmour from his perilous position, and also elevated the horse's head above the water in order to save it from drowning.

Dr. Guy with his student Mr. Wm. Payne, were called. The doctor administered the usual stimulants used in a case of drowning.

It will be the last time, Mr. Larmour states, that he will tie his horse to a wheel. Others should take a lesson, as this is a common practice among farmers.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

A Sad Case Calling for Practical Sympathy.

A short time ago a labouring man living in Aylmer street applied to the Children's Aid Society for assistance. His wife had died twenty-four hours before, leaving him with four small children. The Society took two of them to the Nicholls hospital, where they were found to be in the first stages of typhoid fever. A few days after the father went in from the same cause, in addition to suffering from a large abcess. The remaining two children were placed by the society in the Protestant Home, whose managers and matron have shown the utmost kindness, when necessity required it, to the society's children. If a respectable housekeeper, willing to look after the children in return for her board and lodging, can be secured, it will enable the bereaved husband to keep his young family together and at home.

AN EXCEPTIONAL SALE.

St. John is Much Interested in the Recent Medical Discovery.

St. John, N.B., July 20.—The many cases of marvellous restoration to health from various forms of kidney trouble which have been constantly appearing in the daily press of the Dominion have for some time awakened the liveliest interest here, and the remedy by which the cures were effected namely, Dodd's Kidney Pills are obtaining great celebrity throughout the province. The appearance of the testimonials of Drs. Rose and McCormick stating the benefits which they had personally derived from their use was considered a sufficient sign of the merits of the remedy, and the other interesting and wonderful cases which since been chronicled had caused the specific to have an exceptional sale.

Y.P.S.C.E. NOTES.

Paragraphs of Local Interest to Endeavourers Supplied by the County Union.

WORLD'S CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOUR PRAYER CHAIN.

Subject of prayer for July—"The world-wide Christian Fellowship."

"Pray that the fellowship typified by the Christian Endeavour movement, based on fidelity to Christ and loyalty to one's own church, may prevail, and that it may be greatly promoted by the International Convention at Washington."

During the past three weeks we have utilized our space in giving a report of the Washington Convention, we have therefore not published any local news.

We have a letter this week from the president of the County Union, which will prove interesting. We have intimated before in these columns that a special effort will be put forward this fall to increase the interest in missions throughout the county. The letter from our president is a gentle hint to look to ourselves and get prepared for the work. Each Endeavourer should give it his or her most careful thought and earnest consideration.

THE MISSIONARY QUESTION.

Local Union and county work demand the exercise of all our best powers. We are in constant need of light, impulse and inspiration. The missionary machinery has been such an outstanding feature of the work of our Christian Endeavour Societies for the last few years that it requires little comment. At every convention the subject of missions occupies a prominent position on the programme, and the reports show that good work is being done by a large number of Missionary Committees in arousing interest, diffusing information, raising money by voluntary offerings, and doing practical missionary work at home in various lines, while many active Endeavourers have dedicated their lives to the service of Christ in the mission field. But with all this cause for gratitude it must be confessed that the progress along this line has been disappointing. As far as statistics can be obtained it would appear that not more than one third of the societies in Canada have missionary committees, while the proportion adopting any plan for systematic giving is very much smaller. We would recommend our young people in the county of Peterborough to adopt the plan of systematic giving. It is apostolic in principle. It is a kind of sieve for sifting out the chaff of mere impulse. It has a training power, yes, a cumulative power. It teaches us to do regularly everything we attempt in life. Nature works by this law. The snow falls in flakes, the rain in drops, the sunshine radiates in rays, the seasons move step by step in their march around the sun. It must be so to secure success in religious life and duty. This method recognizes divine ownership and human stewardship. Also the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. One of Wesley's preachers, pinched with poverty on a hard field, wrote him for assistance. Wesley replied quoting the text "Do good and dwell in the land and verily thou shalt be fed," enclosing with it a bank note. The brother replied in thankful strains, saying he had never before seen such valuable expository notes on the passage. This plan in operation is a good exposition of the prayer, "Thy kingdom come, thy will be done." At a meeting of the County Executive we made plans for special effort along missionary lines. We wish to give our strength to this part of the work during the year, and expect to have a few good rallies in different districts this fall. And now my dear fellow-workers let us have your most hearty co-operation in this great and good work of civilizing and evangelising the world for Christ.

Believe me sincerely,
Yours in C. E.,
J. J. LIDDY,
President Peterborough County Union.

CHARLOTTE STREET SOCIETY.

The meeting of this society on Monday night was literary in nature. Rev. Mr. Rae gave an address dealing with the life of the founder of Methodism, John Wesley, presenting his home life and his life as a preacher. He closed his address with an appeal to the members of the society to strive for the earnest burning zeal as presented by the character of Wesley for the cause of Christ. The attendance was large and apparently all took a deep interest in the topic.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak, shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness, I promise you perfect secrecy and as I do not wish to expose myself either, please address, simply: P. There is no joy in this world equal to the happiness of motherhood. A woman finds ample compensation for her trials and worries and bothers in the soft, clinging little body nestling close to her own—in the trustful clinging of the little hands, and the love light in the little eyes.

A woman's health is her dearest possession. Good looks, good times, happiness, love and its continuance, depend on her health. Almost all of the sickness of women is traceable directly or indirectly to some derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. Troubles of this kind are often neglected because a very natural and proper modesty keeps women away from physicians, whose insistence upon examination and local treatment is generally as useless as it is common. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will do more for them than 99 doctors in 100. It will do more than the hundredth doctor can unless he prescribes it. It is a prescription of Doctor Pierce, who for 30 years has been chief consulting physician of the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, at Buffalo.

"I lost six babies by untimely births. In the eighth month of my seventh pregnancy, as usual, I was taken ill. The family doctor was called. He said there was no help for me. The baby must be born. I grieved excessively. I persuaded my husband, against the physician's advice, to get me Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Four doses quieted my pains. That child was born at full time. It is three years old, and I am the happiest mother in the world."

HIS DEATH CHAMBER.

A LAWYER'S PLEASANT SURROUNDINGS FOR DEFERRED BURIAL.

A Chance for Escape Without the Usual Gruesome Horrors Attendant Upon Being Buried Alive—A Plan Which Looks Very Feasible.

Alfred E. Giles, of Hyde Park, Boston, at one time a prominent Boston lawyer, does not intend to be buried alive. He has gone to considerable expense in making arrangements for the disposition of his body when death shall have been pronounced which will preclude all possibility of such a catastrophe.

Mr. Giles believes that very many cases of suspended animation are called death, and that those so affected are buried alive. So thoroughly impressed is he with this idea that he has fitted up a chamber in his home in which the bodies of his wife and himself, when the spark of life is believed to have departed, will be laid until it is absolutely certain that the earthly end is reached.

The room which he has set apart for this unique purpose is at the back of the house, and the only entrance from the rest of the house is through a secret door in the back of a secluded closet. The apartment is on the ground level and looks out upon a spacious flower garden and orchard. Though seldom entered, it is attractive to the living and well calculated to dispel any unpleasant thought which might arise associated with its intended use. Everything is bright and cheerful.

Pictures hang upon the walls, rich rugs are on the floor, there is a set of bookshelves well filled with pleasant literature, there are comfortable chairs, a table on which stands a vase always filled with blossoms and in one corner of the room is a single bed.

The only door besides the secret one connecting the death chamber with the closet opens on the back lawn. It is guarded by latticework which incloses the whole door, and, while preventing intrusion, admits light and air. Small windows protected by stout wire screens also permit a circulation of air.

"In this room," said Mr. Giles, "Mrs. Giles shall rest and so shall I, when we are supposed to have died, until it is absolutely certain that we are physically dead. When death is determined we shall be cremated and our ashes scattered over the flower garden out there to make the plants grow and bloom.

"I am convinced that thousands of people are buried while animation is simply suspended, and that life would be restored if the necessary time were given. The physicians have thirty-four tests for death and every one of them has been proved to be open to failure.

"The only safe test is decomposition. When the body begins to decay it is dead, and no one should be buried until such a condition comes. The mind may be active though death seems apparent. Think of the agony of a person in that condition facing the grave!"

This is not a new fad with Mr. Giles. When he was forty years old he began to make a collection of the records of cases of suspended animation and supposed dead persons coming to life. The record is astonishing. He has gone to no special pains in the work, merely recording the instances which came to his notice.

"The Nineteenth Century has estimated," he said, "that of every 300 persons believed to be dead taken to the morgue in Paris, one comes to life. If there have been so many cases made public, think of the number that in the natural order of things have escaped notice. It is not unreasonable to believe that fully as many persons have been buried alive as have been found to be alive at the last moment."

Mr. Giles related several personal experiences and others which have come to his notice. He spoke of one young woman, named Delia Samuelson of Chicago, who died recently of consumption. She requested that her body be kept in a vault for a year and be visited each day by her mother and grandmother, and that it be pricked with pins to determine whether or not there were signs of life. Her request will be complied with as long as possible."

This Hyde Park lawyer is by no means alone in his belief. Some of the best known citizens of Boston entertain the same idea with regard to premature burial, and the same belief can be found well established in all parts of the world, but Mr. Giles is certainly original in having arranged a death chamber in his residence.

George T. Angell, president of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and editor of Dumb Animals, is one of the foremost advocates of deferring burial until it is certain that death has ensued. His own mother was thought to have died and the funeral service was being held when signs were detected, and she was speedily restored to health. Mr. Angell is now urging the formation of a society, the object of which shall be the prevention of premature burial.

ABOUT THE LIVER.

A lazy, slow or torpid liver influences the whole system, causing biliousness, sick headache, sallow complexion, languor and dullness. Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the liver, purifies the secretions and cures all forms of liver troubles. We say so and here is the proof:—

I hereby wish to thank you for the great benefit derived by me from your Burdock Blood Bitters. For three years I was troubled with liver complaint and tried everything to no purpose. I had almost given up hope until one day I determined to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I can say now that marked improvement resulted from the use of the first bottle and at the end of the sixth bottle I discontinued its use, being completely cured.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

A Cheap Egg Tester.

The Poultry Keeper describes a simple and effective home-made contrivance for testing eggs, which is made as follows: Take an old stovepipe and set it over a lamp; now with a canopener cut a two-inch hole in the side, about the height of the flame; now take a black piece of cloth, about four inches wide and long enough to go clear around the pipe, cut a one-inch hole in the center of the cloth, then put the cloth around and sew the ends, with the hole in the cloth over the two-inch hole in the pipe; punch a few holes in the bottom of the pipe, for draught; and you will then have a good tester that should not cost you anything, as the tester can be made of old stovepipe, two fruit cans soldered together, a piece of rain spout or an old oil can with both bottom and top melted out. To test eggs simply set the pipe over the lamp and hold the egg to the cloth. A perfectly fresh egg is clear and alike throughout. A fertilized egg that has been under a broody hen a couple of days will show the air cell at the large end, and a little later a cloudy, spidery mass. Any departure from the uniformly clear appearance is an indication of a lack of freshness

Alpaca For Outing Dresses.

Outing and traveling dresses are the only wear just now, and there is great debate "about them and about." Once upon a time alpaca occupied the seat of the lowly and cast down; to-day it sits in high places and shows itself proudly to the world. When alpaca is in fashion it is really very handsome, and it is so individual in itself that she is indeed a courageous young woman who dares wear it when it is out of date. Somebody wrote to me the other day—the letter has been mislaid—asking if a tailor suit could possibly be made out of alpaca! Nothing better. Alpaca is the ideal material for a knock-about dress; it neither creases nor shrinks, frays nor catches the dust. It is light to wear, and looks well in simple styles. It looks cool and feels cool. Yes, if you haven't your outing dress made yet, take my advice and get an alpaca. Any shade you like, but black for a preferable color, and have it silk lined if you can.

A Word in Season.

Many women seem to have gone daft over wheeling. They go into all sorts of excesses, scorning the advice of the experienced. They seem to think the day of reckoning, which is inevitable, will never come for them. Many women seem to think they have as much strength and endurance as their husbands and brothers and can withstand the same physical strains. They participate in club runs, for which they are in nowise fitted.

Every woman who rides a wheel should understand that she can do so in moderation only, and that if she attempts more she will pay for it dearly. The penalties may not be inflicted this year or next, but they are bound to come. Then, not only her desire for bicycling will be gone, but health as well.—A. A. Zimmerman, in New York World.

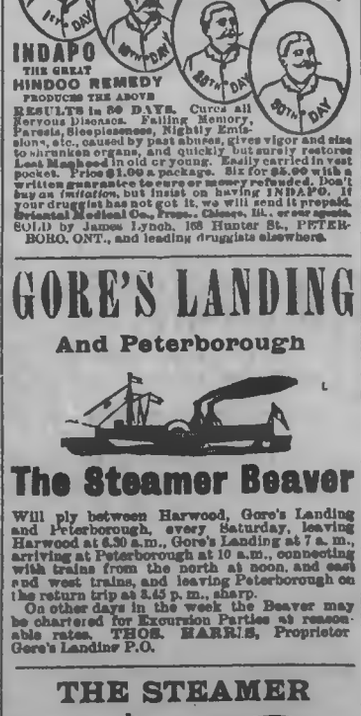
The Country House.

A decorator advises blue or yellow, or a combination of blue and white, white and yellow, or pink and white, for the halls of inexpensive houses that are occupied only part of the year.

Green is thought to be not enough of a contrast to the prevailing green out of doors, and red too warm a color for summer resting places. For the woodwork of such houses colored transparent stains are sometimes used instead of colored paints, as not so many coats are required to give a good finish and a certain beauty is had by the grain of the wood showing through the stain. A coat of varnish is used over the stain.

Strength for the Aged.

As age advances the recuperative power of the body decreases. Fatigue clings like a burr to the already depleted store of energy, still further wasting and dissipating it, and in consequence the elderly find it very hard to keep their spirits up to the "doing" point. An anchor of hope and safety is found in the energizing action of Maltine with Coca Wine, which imparts almost magically, strength and vigor to the failing powers, and through its nutritive and tonic properties, renews those functional activities upon which depend health of body and vigor of mind. Maltine with Coca Wine rapidly restores appetite, improves digestion, imparts tone and vigor to the nervous system: in a word is a strength-giver of unequalled excellence. Maltine with Coca Wine is prescribed and recommended by physicians. All druggists sell it.



RESULTS in 30 DAYS. Cures all Nervous Diseases. Failing Memory, Paresis, Sleeplessness, Nightly Emissions, etc., caused by past abuses, gives vigor and size to shrunken organs, and quickly but surely restores Lost Manhood in old or young. Easily carried in vest pocket. Price $1.00 a package. Six for $5.00 with a written guarantee to cure or money refunded. Don't buy an imitation, but insist on having INDAPO. If your druggist has not got it, we will send it prepaid. Oriental Medical Co., Props., Chicago, Ill., or our agents. SOLD by James Lynch, 168 Hunter St., PETERBORO, ONT., and leading druggists elsewhere.

The Eyes of the World Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognized this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The trouble with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

NOT A SICK DAY

For Over Thirty Years!

RESULT OF USING

AYER'S PILLS

"Ayer's Cathartic Pills for over thirty years have kept me in good health, never having had a sick day in all that time. Before I was twenty I suffered almost continually—as a result of constipation—from dyspepsia, headaches, neuralgia, or boils and other eruptive diseases. When I became convinced that nine-tenths of my troubles were caused by constipation, I began the use of Ayer's Pills, with the most satisfactory results, never having a single attack that did not readily yield to this remedy. My wife, who had been an invalid for years, also began to use Ayer's Pills, and her health was quickly restored. With my children I had noticed that nearly all their ailments were preceded by constipation, and I soon had the pleasure of knowing that with children as with parents, Ayer's Pills, if taken in season, avert all danger of sickness."—H. WETTSTEIN, Byron, Ill.

Thomas A. Edison Perfects His Great Ore Separating Process.

Thomas A. Edison has just brought to a practical conclusion his great ore separating procers, at the mine at Edison, near Ogden, N.J., on which he has been at work for many years. After overcoming obstacles that would have conquered any less persistent experimenter, the process has at last been finished and the great plant is in running order.

The scheme is an interesting one in that there is no human intervention during the entire process from start to finish. When the cars of ore and rock are dumped in large masses into the massive crushers that form the first step in the process, the rest of the process is entirely automatic, the crushed rock and ore being carried automatically from one set of crushers to another by means of endless belts and bucket elevators, till the material is reduced to the requisite fineness, and then another series of belts and elevators carry it to the separating house, where the material falls in a fine stream across a field of large electro-magnets, which divert the iron from the direct line of fall and drop it in one receptacle, while the refuse and rock fall into another.

This process is repeated a number of times, till at last the resultant product is pure magnetic oxide of iron.

Automatic carriers take the iron ore thence to the bricking plant, where, by ingenious mechanism, over which the great inventor has spent thousands of dollars in experimenting, the ore is mixed with building material and pressed into small bricks for convenience in handling. These are then baked and are ready for the market. The sole remaining work of construction yet to be done is the building and rotary furnaces, which shall bake the bricks as they are delievered and turn them out automatically. There are no mechanical or scientific difficulties connected with this part of the process, and these furnaces are to be built as soon as the frost is out of the ground in the spring.

THE WOMEN TOO.

Back Talk Not Man's Monopoly.

Mrs. Jemima Cole, Havelock, told the following wonderful story:—"For a great many years I have suffered from disease of the kidneys. The pains in my back and side were sometimes excruciating.

"My limbs were so swollen that I could scarcely lift my feet from the floor, and I was in great agony nearly all the time. I thought that I would surely die from the pain.

"I have taken dozens of advertised remedies, aut got no better during their use. I was also treated by several doctors, but am sorry to say they did me little or no good. In fact they stated that they could do me no good, which made me despair of ever getting better.

"When I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised I sent to W. H. Jeff & Co's. drugstore and get a box thinking I would try them as a last resort.

"The change from the start was very great and now after one month I am free from all pain. The swelling has gone down and I feel quite strong and healthy.

"I was also troubled with rheumatism and neuralgia which have completely disappeared, thanks to the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. In fact I do not think there is a medicine in the world that in such a short time could have taken me from the almost dying condition in which I was to the healthy and vigorous state that I am in now.

"I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for their wonderful virtues in curing kidney troubles."

AUTHOR OF "DREAMS"

A VERY PRACTICAL WOMAN IN THE WORLD'S EVERYDAY AFFAIRS.

The Personality of Olive Kronwright-Schreiner, Who Wages War on Cecil Rhodes—Reasons for the South African "Petticoat" Campaign.

The credit for exposing the misdeeds of Cecil Rhodes in South Africa and the rottenness of the Kaffir mining excitement in London belongs to Olive Schreiner, a woman of genius, who was born at a little missionary station in Cape Colony. She made a great hit over ten years ago with a novel entitled "The Story of an African Farm," published under the psudonym of Ralph Iron. This she followed with a book of allegories called "Dreams." In the story of her life she says she was a big girl before she had ever seen a town or any of the ordinary evidences of civilization. But she knew South Africa thoroughly, and when she came to woman's estate she saw many instances of the cruelty to the blacks as well as of injustice to the Boers. Her father was a Dutch missionary and her mother an Englishwoman; she seems to have all the imagination of a recluse and a mystic, but she appears also to have some good common sense, for when London went wild over the rapid advance in the Kaffir mining shares she sounded the warning that brought the gambling to a sudden stop and nearly created a panic. She gave facts and figures proving that nine-tenths of the South African mines listed on the London Mining Stock Exchange were undeveloped, and that many did not even consist of a hole in the ground. Her onslaught was so sudden and so overwhelming that Barney Barnato and the other agents of Rhodes were nearly swept off their feet.

Recently she has been carrying on a campaign in Cape Colony which has for its object the enlistment of the women in her fight against Rhodes. She married a member of Parliament named Kronwright, but as he regards her as the more prominent member of the family, he has considerately added her name to his, and now they are known as Mr. and Mrs. Kronwright-Schreiner. She is now engaged in making speeches, writing articles and carrying on what South Africa has named a "petticoat" campaign, with the help of her husband and women in South Africa, to keep Cecil Rhodes out of the governing business. There are a few newspapers to assist her. The editors call Rhodes a villain and a tyrant. Rhodes bothered them by not paying any attention to them. They did not own many shares of mining stock.

Mrs. Schreiner believes that Rhodes is largely responsible for the present state of affairs. He has made money the god of South Africa. He is enslaving the poor and making the rich more rich. She deplores that in this new country, where socialism should be feasible, the conditions in the old nations are resulting. To her the idea that one man should simply own such an enormous amount of the virgin soil and of mineral wealth, which belong as much to one man as to another, is atrocious and not to be endured.

Fashions for Men.

A man writing to Vogue wants to know how he had best have a frock coat made and of what material, as he is only to have one such coat. Many are in the position of this inquirer, so I quote the reply: "If you are to have only one frock coat it is to be assumed that you intend to make it last for a long time—say two, three or four years. You should get a coat which is not extreme in any respect. The men who buy a great many clothes go from one extreme to the other. Not so very long ago they were making frock coats reaching many inches below the knees. There are men now who have gone to the other extreme and make them far above the knee. You will always be right, however, and look well dressed if your frock coat reaches just to the knee. There is substantially only one material; that is black vicuna."

From New York comes the information that the high-banded turned-down collars are the favorites for informal dress, and vary in height from 2 3-4 inches to 3 inches. For full dress the best shape is the new straight standing collar, which laps at the buttonhole, the spacing gradually increasing until the top of the collar is reached, when the ends are slightly poked. The collars that stand straight and break slightly under the chin are called poke collars; however, the bent point collar is still seen, especially out here, as it has numerous advocates.

Green is the color in London, all business suitings having a mixture of green in them, and as for ties the rage is for black ties with green patterns on them, and the bright green Tecks are in great vogue, and even cigar cases are made of green leather, although cigar cases of polished silver are considered in good form in New York.

I must say it was a good investment; she at once began to improve. The colour came to her cheeks, she got strong rapidly, and now is quite well."

New Sandwiches.

Chestnuts and chicken livers made into a paste and seasoned to taste with salt, lemon juice and pepper, is a new mixture used in Boston for spreading sandwiches of white bread. The proportions are one pint of boiled chestnuts to two good-sized livers. Remove the brown covering of the nuts by pouring boiling water over them after they are boiled.

The Big Man From Ontario Was Not Pushed.

IN THE SINGLE SCULL CONTEST

Durnan, Rogers and Hanlan Had a Great Struggle for Second Place and Finished in the Order Named, All in a Bunch—Great Crowds Present.

Halifax, July 28.—The weather was grand this afternoon for the opening events of the carnival regatta. It was cool and pleasant for spectators, and the only difficulty for the oarsmen was caused by a pretty stiff wind, making the water somewhat rough at the beginning, but it moderated almost to a calm before the last race.

The single-scull contest was concluded about 7.30 o'clock. There were seven starters in the big event of the day—Gaudaur, Hanlan, Bubear, Durnan, Rogers, Casey and Lovitt. The prizes were $500, $150 and $100. It was a pretty race and was sternly fought near the close for second place, but was an easy victory for the favorite, Jake Gaudaur, who pushed his shell in front at the start, rowed quite leisurely over the three-mile course and finished ahead, apparently without the least discomfort, by more than eight lengths. The other men did not row very hard the first half of the course, reserving themselves until after the turn. On the way down Lovitt fouled a buoy and was upset, being picked up by a rowboat. While on the way home Bubear, who was behind Hanlan, Durnan and Rogers, and knew he had no show, rowed away from the course. Gaudaur made the turn several lengths in the lead, with Durnan and Hanlan pretty even, Rogers close behind them, and Bubear and Casey already out of the race. The contest, as far as Durnan, Hanlan and Rogers were concerned, began as soon as these three squared away for the finish line. Hanlan and Durnan were alongside each other for a full mile, straining every nerve to gain an advantage over the other. Durnan proved to be the best stayer of the two, and when half a mile from the line gradually drew away from his uncle. Rogers throughout the struggle between the Torontonians had kept well up to them, and now began to gain rapidly. A quarter of a mile further on the three boats were lapping each other, Rogers slightly ahead of Hanlan, and Durnan only a few feet in advance of the Saratoga oarsman. It was a splendid spurt by the latter, but he had evidently saved himself just a little too long. Had he put forth his final effort a few minutes earlier he might have captured second money. It was nip-and-tuck between the trio for the remainder of the distance, but the relative positions were unchanged when the line was crossed. Durnan's bow was about five feet ahead of that of Rogers' boat, and the latter's bow was only four feet ahead of Hanlan's. Gaudaur's time was 20.25, which, considering that the water was a little lumpy when the race began, and that the course was a full three miles, was almost up to expectations. Hanlan pulled the fastest stroke of all the competitors, reaching 34 at one time in the race. Three of the men entered for the event—Hackett, Haines and Barry—did not start.

A four-oared contest between the Wanderers of Halifax, a crew from St. John and one from Dartmouth was expected to be exciting, but proved to be a procession, the Wanderers winning with ease, and the St. John men coming in far behind the Dartmouth crew.

A race in Labrador whalers between a crew from the cable steamer Mackay-Bennett and the Young-Edwards crew of Halifax was won quite easily by the former, but the prize was awarded to the other because the Mackay-Bennett men went the wrong way in getting around their turning point.

A race in men-of-war gigs, between three crews from the British warships in port, was won by a boat from the Tartar.

An enormous crowd of people witnessed the races from excursion boats and from the shore. Thousands of strangers have come into the city for the carnival.

The principal aquatic event to-morrow will be the double-scull race for professionals.

Failure and Success.

It is often all the little things that constitute the wide difference between success and failure. Some men, earnest in purpose, capable in many ways, seem unable to discern the import of minor, nevertheless important elements, and neglect in consequence to grasp the opportunities that if accepted would carry them on to victory. In the same way people are imposed upon by mercenary druggists, who to gain an additional profit, practice the dishonest method of substitution. Calling for Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, they accept some worthless flesh-eating substitutes, only to be disappointed or suffer injury. Putnam's Corn Cure is the only reliable one.

PROBABLY MR. BLAKE

Will be Appointed to the Judicial Committee

OF THE IMPERIAL PRIVY COUNCIL

Customs Station Needed on the Labrador Coast—"Gat" Howard is Minding His Own Business—The Lack of Canadian Sealers—General News From Ottawa.

Ottawa, July 28.—(Special.)—No official intimation has been received by the Government of the consent of the movement of Great Britain to the appointment of a Canadian judge on the Judicial Committee of the Imperial Privy Council. A recent cablegram announcing that the Colonial Secretary, Mr. Chamberlain, had secured the approval of the Cabinet to such an appointment, occasioned no surprise, however, in official circles here. It has been on the cards for some time that such an appointment would be offered to Canada. The Premier said to-day that, while the Government had not been formally notified of the fact referred to, he had no doubt the official intimation would be forthcoming in the course of a week or two, and the Government would be asked to recommend a Canadian judge for the position. Upon that recommendation the appointment of the Canadian representative, he said, would be made without delay. The general opinion, as stated in the despatch, is that the Government here will recommend Hon. Edward Blake for the judgeship.

It is learned at the Customs Department that no steps have yet been taken towards the establishment of a port of entry on the north shore of Quebec in the Labrador region. Shortly before the change of Government took place the collector at Hawkesbury, N.S., was commissioned to proceed to the coast and make the selection of a suitable port, but the commission was revoked and nothing has been done since in the matter. It was along this coast that "Gat" Howard, acting as a Canadian Customs officer, raised such a racket last summer by seizing several Newfoundland fishing vessels for landing supplies in Canada without payment of duty. All the vessels were subsequently released without penalty, but it was decided to establish a Customs port of entry, probably at Esperance, as recommended by Capt. Howard, in order to remove the excuse which the skippers of these vessels gave that there was no convenient port on the coast at which they could regularly enter. Captain Howard is not acting for the Customs Department this summer. He is attending exclusively to his lobster business on the coast, where he has a ten years' fishing lease of several miles of the shore.

There were two meetings of Council to-day, attended by the Premier, Hon. R. W. Scott and Messrs. Mulock and Tarte. This evening Mr. Laurier left for Montreal. Chief Whip Sutherland brought his visit to Ottawa to a close yesterday, leaving on the evening train for the west.

Collector Milne of Victoria, B.C., has forwarded to the Minister of Marine and Fisheries his report on this season's operations of the Canadian sealing fleet in Japanese waters. The catch on the whole is slightly better than that secured last year, averaging 643 skins to each of the 28 schooners engaged in the industry, or totalling 18,019 skins. In addition to these, there is the catch of eight American schooners, totalling 3808 skins; the catch of seven Hakodate sealers, numbering 2417 skins, and reported catch of four other American craft, making a grand total of 25,524 skins.

The Collector further reports that this year Victoria sealers shipped all their sealskins home from Japan by the C.P.R. steamers. Many of them also sent home their shot guns and rifles by the same steamers, that they might escape molestation in the Behring Sea by United States cruisers, which have heretofore made numerous unnecessary searches of Canadian craft, to ascertain whether they were complying with the terms of the Paris award, which prohibits the use of fire arms in the Behring Sea. Even compliance with international regulation, which required that all firearms be kept in sealed lockers, did not secure immunity from annoyance of these frequent searches. Consequently Great Britain declined last year to renew that arrangement, although most of the vessels had their arms placed under seal as a precaution. This year many of them have, as stated, shipped their firearms home from Japan, and on Aug. 1, when the season opens, will enter Behring Sea without a single gun on board. It remains to be seen whether even this precaution will save sealers from the annoyance and loss of time involved in unnecessary overhaulings by United States cruisers. The report states that while the catch has been satisfactory on the Asiatic side the success of the sealing season will depend upon luck which the vessels have in Behring Sea. The season is reported to have been a trying one to the Victoria fleet. Considerable loss of life and property resulted from storms and casualties in the Japanese waters. On June 12 the schooner Katharine was wrecked, while other vessels suffered the loss of hunters, and a whole boat's crew belonging to a Victoria schooner was lost at sea early in the season.

UGH! A SHARK!!

A Regular Man-Eater Captured Near the Beach at Normandie—Caught in a Net.

New York, July 28.—Within a mile of the white sands of the beach at Normandie a monster shark became entangled in the meshes of a fisherman's net some time between Saturday afternoon and 6 o'clock Sunday morning. In his frantic struggles to escape he had wrapped the net around him and had rent great holes in it. At last, exhausted by his efforts, he succumbed and quietly died.

The shark was a genuine man-eater. He measured nearly twelve feet in length and his weight is reasonably estimated at 1000 pounds. The ends of a rope six feet long scarcely meet around his body. The dorsal fin stands up two feet above his great carcass, and a man's head could easily be placed within his mouth.

The dead shark proved very interesting to bathers. Alive he might have proved much more so. Because this monster was caught a mile from shore it does not follow that he had never been nearer the beach or that others of his kind will not to-day lie within easy reach of the bathers.

Hats are Trump

Keep Cool as a Cucumber.

We Can Settle The Hat Question.

"It's a Dead Sure Thing." The next seven days will make a big hole in our Hat stock, and settle the hat question. There's bustle to this business. The crowds come pouring into our "Two Big Stores" to our Slashing July Sale look like as if we were GIVING GOODS AWAY. We are not exactly doing that but we are coming pretty close to it. Not because we want to but because we must clear out our Summer Stocks. We make less on Men's Hats than on anything else, and there's nothing else appeals so directly to a man's head. We are making prices of Hats so low that anybody can raise the wind, and have a change of Hat for week days and Sundays.

The "New York" Hat.

This is our newest, nobby novelty, direct from Messrs. Eichhold & Miller, the Hat manufacturer of New York, makers of the celebrated Enfield Hats. They knew where they would have the biggest outlet for their leading Hat in Peterborough and sold them to us only. They come in Stiffs, Softs and Fedoras, in all shades and sizes. High-toned Hatters get $3 for the "New York" Hat, but we don't have to, for the makers have put us in a position to sell them to high-toned gentlemen for..... $1.75

Wilkinson's "Stanley."

Who has not heard of or worn this favourite English hat, of which we are the sole handlers here. The "Stanley" is made of the very purest fur felt. They sell easily at $2.50 and $3, by hatters who have to pay $19.50 and $24 per dozen for them. We have re-marked these hats for our July Sale and crowded the price down to..... ..... $1.50

Belgium $1.00 Hats.

These are the showiest Hats we've ever sold for a dollar. They have pure silk bands, summer shades and crown and rim forms to suit oval, round or squarish faces; made of beautiful soft fur and in taking light weights. Best shapes and colours and recognized as a popular Tourist Hat. We don't say what they are worth, but others ask double the money for the Belgium Hat, we sell for $1.00

Maud Miller on a summer day,
Raked the meadows sweet with hay,
Now Maud might rake the world in vain
To find Straw Hats so low again.

English Wool Fedoras.

Our "Special" line of Fedoras, that hatters would scorn to take less than $1.50 and $2, we sell you for 75c. Its a wonderfully fine hat for the price and have been going with a whirl at $1.50 up till now. But we have other lines of our Wool Fedoras which no one else can match in value, because they start at..... .... .25

Boy's Caps.

As much style in our Boy's and Youth's stock as in our Men's—Knockabouts, School Caps, Tweed Caps, Bicycle Caps. We dump in a dozen lines that would ordinary go like hot cakes, at 25c to 50c, for..... .10 .15 .20 .25

Men's Boating Caps,

Bicycle Caps, Tennis Caps, with the prices all cut it two to clear them out. Money does not come so easy to every man nowadays that he should pay the hatters of fancy prices. Nothing newer than than what we have in stock. Starting price..... ..... .35

Men's and Boy's Straws.

In addition to the wagon loads Straw Hats we had on hand, we secured a snapping bargain in 2 cases of American Straws the other day from a large New York house. We can sell a $1 split-straw, fine braided, fine trimmed and silk handed Straw for 60c. We have Straws for all ages—the 49c line, soft or stiff brim, with black and coloured bands, are great value at.. 30

These are only a few of the HALF-PRICE offerings, but you can take them as a fair criterion fo all the other prices during our Slashing July Sale. You know, or should know, that we are always getting the best possible goods at the LOWEST prices—and that's the sort of refreshing ozone that refreshes all kinds of pocket books. Come in and blow yourself. Whether you are taking a holiday or not, remember WE ARE GIVING THE PROFITS ON HATS A HOLIDAY.

Our next Slashing Sale will be in Boy's Clothing, but if you or the boys need a Hat just now, you might get the bargains in Clothing, now, too, as well as in the Hats.

The Irish Land Bill Passes the Third Reading.

IT WILL NOW GO TO THE LORDS.

A Motion to Reject the Measure was Defeated—London Newspapers Express Satisfaction With the Result of the Jameson Trial—Jameson Surprised at the Lenient Sentence.

London, July 29.—The Irish Land Bill was taken on its third reading in the House of Commons to-day. Arthur Smith-Barry, a well-known Irish landlord, who defeated the National League in its great tenants' fight at Tipperary, moved that the measure be rejected, owing to the concessions that had been made to the tenants by the Government. Smith-Barry has the reputation of being one of the best and most considerate landlords in Ireland or England. He is a Conservative, but opposes the Irish Land Bill.

Col. Saunderson, Conservative, who is also an Irish landlord, seconded the motion. He said he hoped the House of Lords would, when the bill reached that body, modify the measure in justice to the landlords.

John Redmond, Parnellite, said the bill was far short of granting tenants their rights, but was an instalment of justice.

John Dillon, leader of the anti-Parnellites, declared that as a settlement of the land question the bill was a failure, but it improved the existing law.

The Right Hon. Arthur J. Balfour, the Government leader in the House, defended the bill. He contended that it remedied admitted defects in the law, and said it would cut to the roots the agitation in Ireland. The purchase scheme was intended to foster a desire in tenants to become owners of land by lessening the pecuniary burdens attaching to th eacquiring of holdings.

Mr. Smith-Barry's motion to reject the bill was then voted on and defeated. The measure then passed its third reading without a division being taken. It will now go to the House of Lords.

The bill was presented in the House of Lords at 5.30 o'clock this evening and passed its first reading.

JAMESON WAS SURPRISED

Because Chief Justice Russell Let Him Off With a Light Sentence.

London, July 29.—The newspapers here express themselves as generally well satisfied with the result of the Jameson trial, and contend that the conviction of the prisoners will do much to restore better feelings between the British and Boer Governments, though in some quarters it is held that the sentences were rather light, considering the gravity of the offence.

Speaking editorially on the subject The Daily News said: "Lord Russell (Lord Chief Justice of England) has rendered a high political service to his country by the strong, severe and masterful line he took with the case."

The Chronicle publishes an interview with Dr. Jameson, in which he says that he expected to be convicted. The only thing that surprised him, after the summing up of Lord Russell, was the leniency of the sentences.

CASHIERED THE POLICE PREFECT.

The Small Penalties Inflicted After the Terrible Disaster at Moscow.

St. Petersburg, July 29.—An Imperial ukase has been issued stating that the Czar having personally considered the results of the initial enquiry into the disaster that occurred on the Hodynsky Plain, just outside of Moscow on the occasion of the popular fete in connection with the coronation of the Czar, has countermanded the order for a further enquiry. The ukase declares that the Moscow authorities are answerable for the disaster, and orders that Police Prefect Vlassovsky be cashiered, and that minor penalties be inflicted upon the other offenders who have been found to be in any way responsible for the calamity.

The Dead.

Baltimore, Md., July 29.—Robert Garrett, ex-President of the B. & O. Railway Co., died at the cottage of Mrs. T. Harrison Garrett, Deer Park, Md., at 3 o'clock this morning.

Richmond, Ga., July 29.—General Raleigh Colston died at Lee Camp, Soldiers' Home, to-day, aged 71 years. He was a professor at the Virginia Military Institute at the breaking out of the war, and from there entered the Confederate service and was in command of the depot of Lynchburg when the war ended.

NOTES FROM OTTAWA

No Change In the Number of Military Districts.

THE DEPUTY-ADJUTANTS GENERAL

Will Still Hold Their Positions During Life as Heretofore—A Prominent Officer States the Case Concisely—Sir Oliver Mowat in His New Home.

Ottawa, July 29.—(Special.)—Military circles in Toronto, a press despatch states, are uneasy in anticipation of drastic changes by the Liberal Administration. The impression is said to be abroad that the number of deputy adjutants-general is to be reduced to one for each province, and that instead of being appointed for life their term hereafter will be five years. The despatch says: "Inasmuch as Ontario alone now has four D.A.G.'s, one at Toronto, London, Kingston and Ottawa respectively, it will be easily seen that if such an order goes into force a tremendous shaking up of the soldiery of the country will ensue."

"It is not true," was the concise comment of a prominent military officer to whom the despatch was referred by your correspondent as he handed back the clipping. "The facts are misstated and conclusions are nonsensical. As to the number of D.A.G.'s, those of Districts 1 and 2 are commanding officers of the permanent units of the Royal Regiment of Canadian Infantry at London and Toronto. For this extra service they receive a paltry allowance of one dollar a day. The same, by the way, applies to district commands of Nos. 6 and 8. In No. 4 the assistant adjutant-general at headquarters commands. So that in the whole Dominion there are not six deputy adjutants-general proper and three brigade majors. So much for that. As to reducing the period of service as D.A.G. to five years it cannot be done in Canada. That is the period of staff service in the Imperial army, and at the end of five years the officer goes back to his regiment. But here, after a service of five years the D.A.G. would have no regiment to go back to, except, of course, in the case of permanents. All district commands, it will be found, are already established with a view to the utmost economy consistent with efficiency."

Sir Oliver Mowat, accompanied by Miss Mowat, arrived this evening from Toronto and proceeded to the residence of Judge Sedgewick, which Sir Oliver has taken for a short time. The Minister of Justice has probably brought back with him that list of Q.C.'s which he took along when he went to Toronto. It is stated that the list has been subjected to a severe revision.

Mr. Tarte is still enacting the role of Lord High Executioner with unfeigned relish. Yesterday he dismissed Paymaster Leduc of the Ottawa River Works, whose salary was $1200. A couple of dismissals from the Department of Public Works were reported, but the details of these latest decapitations could not be learned. The secretary of the department, E. F. B. Roy, has been granted leave of absence on account of ill health, which is ominous. Mr. Tarte left to-day for Montreal to look after his bye-election.

The Metropolitan Rifle Association to-night elected Dr. Borden, Minister of Militia, patron, John Manuel, president, in succession to C. B. Lattee, who has been president for 13 years.

Edgar Davis, a boy, backed a water cart into the canal this evening, and being unable to swim was drowned in sight of a score of people. They expected the lad would be able to swim ashore and refrained from an effort to save him until he had sunk for the last time.

The precarious tenure of certain positions under the new Administration seems to have affected the credit of certain civil servants. One of the clerks in the Public Works Department was arrested for debt to-day by Bailiff Whitton, as he was leaving the West block. On Wellington-street he broke away from his captor and, eluding pursuit, made good his escape. The chase was witnessed by hundreds.

Detective Brown has secured several convictions in surrounding counties for infractions of the Pharmacy Act.

Lady Tupper left this evening for Halifax, where Sir Charles Hibbert will make his home for a time.

MR. LAURIER'S WORK.

The Premier Will Have no Opposition—A Deluge of Applications for Government Positions.

Quebec, July 29.—Premier Laurier arrived here this morning and is staying at the Chateau Frontenac. He is here to look after his nomination in Quebec East, which takes place to-morrow. There will be no opposition, and consequently the Premier will be re-elected by acclamation. Hon. Mr. Laurier and his private secretary were busy all day at the Minister's office in the Militia building, St. Louis-street. Mr. Laurier is fairly deluged with correspondence, and works far into the night in a vain attempt to keep pace with the steady stream of applications, etc., which have already reached the respectable number of 5400.

Sir H. G Joly de Lotbiniere, Minister of Inland Revenue, will likely be elected by acclamation to-morrow. Nomination takes place at Cape Santé.

WILKES-BARRE'S WILD MAN.

Four Ladies Who Were Picking Berries Get a Terrible Fright.

Wilkesbarre, July 29.—Great excitement has been created at Fairview, a summer resort near here, by the discovery of a wild man. Mrs. J. C. Adams and three young ladies went up the mountain to pick berries yesterday afternoon and had gone deep into the underbrush, when they were startled by hearing peculiar noises from a dense clump of brush a few yards away.

Suddenly there burst from the bushes and bore down on them at rapid pace a man, who had every appearance of being insane, and was unclothed. In his rush to reach them his foot caught and he fell heavily on the ground. Then the berry-pickers, dropping their pails and sunbonnets, rushed off at breakneck speed. They reached home more dead than alive and gave an account of their adventure.

A number of men left for the mountain, where they scoured the woods, but could find no trace of the wild man

HALIFAX REGATTA.

Gaudaur and Rogers Won the Double Scull.

BUBEAR AND BARRY WERE SECOND.

The Englishmen Pushed the Canadian and His Yankee Mate for the First Half, but Were at no Time Dangerous—Durnan and Hackett Not In It.

Halifax, July 29.—To-day's aquatic events were even more successful than those on the first day of the summer carnival, the harbor presenting a perfect surface and the wind blowing barely a breath, with a clear sky above. The crowd of spectators in boats and on the shores was larger by some thousands than that which witnessed yesterday's contests.

The three-mile race in double-sculls, the most important one of the afternoon, was got away about 6 o'clock. Three pairs started—Gaudaur and Rogers, Bubear and Barry, Durnan and Hackett.

The race between two of the pairs was a fine spectacle until the turning buoys were reached, and then it lapsed into a procession, in which Gaudaur and Rogers held the front position. The Englishmen, Bubear and Barry, caught the water just a little bit ahead of the others and pushed ahead, but they were unable to maintain the advantage for long. Gaudaur and Rogers worked hard, evidently determined to place themselves in front as early in the race as possible, and before more than a quarter of a mile had been covered they had obtained this object. Bubear and Barry held on manfully and pushed their opponents hard, while Durnan and Hackett kept close to the others and seemed for a time likely to make the two leaders keep up their speed to the end. Gaudaur and Rogers were pulling a 37 stroke, and the British pair put in about one stroke more to the minute, but the slower stroke was doing the best work, and inch by inch the Canadian champion and his American mate were drawing away. They cut the water clean with their oars, while the Englishmen splashed considerably.

When Gaudaur and Rogers were between two and three lengths to the good they dropped their stroke to 34, then to 33. Three-quarters of a mile from the start Barry and Bubear appeared to pick up a little, but the leaders were watching them closely, and managed to keep the distance between them from growing less. Shortly after this Hackett and Durnan turned aside from the course and rowed to their quarters. Gaudaur and Rogers made a good turn, but were only half a second ahead of the other shell. After the turn Bubear kept his oar dipped a great deal, and this caused a loss of probably two seconds to his boat. Gaudaur and Rogers rowed towards home with a slow, easy stroke, and half a mile from the finish were leading by about 10 lengths, increasing the distance in the next quarter of a mile and doubling it by the time they crossed the line.

Bubear and Barry seemed to weaken on their way home, and their strokes dropped to 31 to the minute. Gaudaur and Rogers finished in 18.43½, amidst the cheers of spectators and the shrieking of whistles. The Englishmen reached home just 38½ seconds behind them.

Six crews started in the gig race for boats from the warships, and the Crescents No. 2 won as they pleased with Crescents No. 1 second.

The open cutter race between three crews from the Royal Engineers, the cable steamer Mackay-Bennett and H.M.S. Tartar proved a dead heat between the two first-mentioned, when time allowance was reckoned, the Engineers having finished first, and these may row it over again.

A four-oared lapstreak race was contested by a Halifax crew and a St. John crew, the latter winning easily. The victors are the same men who will row in the four-oared international race Friday.

HAMS WHITEWASH GALT.

Hamilton, July 29.—(Special.)—The Hamilton baseball nine defeated Galt to-day, shutting them out and making 5 runs at the conclusion of the sixth innings. The game was then called, owing to the rain.

Young McGemmell, the new pitcher, is all right, and will just suit if he is always as good as he was to-day. The score at the end of the sixth innings was:

UNCLE SAM'S SITUATION.

Though we Canadians are close to the United States we do not feel the effects of the excitement that is seething under the apparently placid political surface. In reality the weapons with which the coming struggle will ultimately be fought out are perilously probable to be bullets instead of ballots. The real bottom issue is not as between protection and free trade, nor as between gold and silver, but between pauperism and plutocracy, between labour struggling for a bare existence and fraud self-seeking and dishonesty and anarchy on the one side, and the immense power of accumulated wealth on the other. The following from the Chicago Record, a prominent daily journal with a large circulation, shows what may be read between the time of the arguments of the so-called silver party. Under the heading of "Free Silver Coinage Debate" the Record says:

There is $150,000,000 of interest-sucking debt in Christendom. Every sucker of a creditor will now want it to be paid in gold, since the g. o. p. of America says it can and must be done with the $4,000,000,000 of the world's coined gold.

But look at the panorama. There stands the creditor class, snarling and showing its gold-filled teeth, and saying, "pay or die, and pay whether you die or not."

They feel that they have the power to enforce this "contract with death and covenant with hell."

The gold rebels flatter themselves that, like the slave rebels, they have the army and navy and all the armaments of war.

They have in the great cities those massive forts called armories, from which to shoot down the common people when they shall object to the tyranny of the uncommon.

"The followers of the Lamb" are training their Sunday school boys to bear arms for the same holy use.

On the other side stands the multitude of populists, silver Democrats, silver Republicans and prohibitionists, saying: "We will not bow down to this golden image that Nebuchadnezzar McKinley has set up."

One hundred and fifty-five republics in the past have gone down to death.

Nothing can block the path of this republic on the "facile descent" but a real victory of the plain people.

No aristocracy ever yet gave up its grip without bloodshed.

Let us hope that ours will.

But if McKinley is elected, we will be very close to the monarchy—as we have been before.

We long ago ceased to have a republic and are now under an oligarchy of rich man.

In a real republic there are no hundred-millionaires.

This does not seem to be ordinary election rant; it is something more; rightly read it is simply revolutionary. And the class to which it appeals is growing and the sub-latent discontent which such language voices is greater than most persons are inclined to think. The westerners cordially hate the pluto-crats of the east and according to some of the former there seems to be a little danger of the employment of more material arguments than mere words before the feud is settled.

THERE are three hundred counts alleged in the protest proceedings against the return of Major Beattie, Conservative, for London.

THE truth has dawned upon Sir Charles Tupper that he is not Canada. According to the Toronto World the Great "I" actually approves of the idea of the holding of a convention, a sort of political exploring expedition to discover where the Conservative party is at. Sir Charles ran the Conservative party into the ground at the last elections and now he is willing to have the party meet and consider how to get out of the slough.

REV. JAS. LEDIARD, of Owen Sound, has just completed a drive of three hundred miles through Grey County, during which trip he visited some thirty to forty boys and girls placed in foster homes under the Children's Act of the Province. He reports the children in good homes and growing up nicely. The removing of the young from bad surroundings and placing them in foster homes, not in institutions from which the home life and duties are absent, is, says the Guelph Mercury, one of the most promising preventive and reformative agencies in this Province. We endorse the statement most emphatically. No agency can adequately take the place of healthy home influences and training. The principle of putting neglected and dependent children in virtuous homes is really according to the spirit of the proverb that charity begins at (the) home.

THE end of the world is predicted for the coming year. In 1897 a comet will make a call upon this planetary system, a repetition of its visits of 1868, 1874 and 1880, only this time it will pay particular attention to the earth, and will come so near that vegetation and animal life will be destroyed. But this is a pessimistic prognostication, and nervous people need have no particular fear of being snuffed out by the tail of a comet. This world is coming to an end every day to tens of thousands of mortals, and if the comet should fail to strike the earth as predicted none of us have any assurance of life beyond the coming hour anyway. We can afford to regard such predictions complacently. The ruin of the country was predicted in the event of the Liberals coming into power, but the country still seems to be fairly thriving, and no doubt we shall survive the visit of the comet. The cry of "wolf" has been heard in vain so often in regard to the end of the world that we have ceased to be frightened by such an unsubstantial bogey. At any rate the science of ballooning has reached such a stage that it will be possible to take refuge in the air if the comet interferes too unpleasantly with the earth.

The Golden City meets the afternoon train this week. Next week she will meet the morning train.

On Monday evening Beresford L. O. L., No. 122, will meet in the Orange hall.

On Wednesday evening the regular monthly meeting of the School Board will take place in the Town hall.

Court Lakefield, No. 43, C. O. F., will meet in their hall on Thursday evening of next week.

SCHOOL BOARD.

A special meeting of the school board was held in the town hall on Tuesday evening of last week. The members present were Dr. Fraser, chairman, and Messrs. R. Q. Dench, L. Payne, W. McDonald and Dr. J. R. Fraser. The reading of the minutes of last meeting was dispensed with. Tenders for shingling the brick school house were received from Baptie Bros., $170; E. J. Quinn, $139; A. Hendren, $145. Moved by Dr. J. R. Fraser, seconded by L. Payne that the tender of Mr. E. J. Quinn for shingling the brick school at $139 be accepted, it being the lowest tender, and that the work be completed before school re-opens.

—Carried.—The Board then adjourned.

R. Graham & Son are offering the balance of their stock of trimmed and untrimmed millinery, capes, etc., at half price. Now is the time to secure extra good bargains.

ENTRANCE EXAMINATION.

According to the entrance examination reports, the results of which are just published, our Lakefield school has again succeeded in making a good record. Of 15 pupils who wrote at the entrance examinations 11 passed. The pupils writing, with their marks, are as follows: Maggie Quigley, 592; Olive Thompson, 564; Bernard Dench, 530; Winnie Forsythe, 512; Cholmley Strickland, 494; Herbert Patterson, 489; M. Fitzgerald, 476; Jas. Quinn, 476; Blanche Graham 474; Beatrice Limbert, 443; Jas. Deck, 427, passed. Those who failed were:—Ethel Cox, 395; Gordon Hendren, 374; Fred Richardson, 363; Melville Strickland, 334.

In the Public school Leaving Examination 9 wrote, and 8 were successful. Francis Nolan not receiving enough marks was awarded entrance. The successful pupils were: Lizzie McCormack, 828; Delbert Robinson, 803; Percy Fitzgerald, 800; Edna Stubbs, 777; Ethelbert Moore, 735; Katie Ethel Simpson, 698; Aggie, Buckley, 672; Walter Brown, 629, and for which the school will receive from the Government $5 per pupil, adding thereby to the income of the school.

The results of this examination and the one held a year ago, show that the trustees who were endeavouring to have our public school established on a high footing were fully justified in their contentions that the Lakefield school could do better work, and the results justify the extra expenditure for physical apparatus, etc.

Messrs. Strickland & Co. have built a boat house on the village wharf. The village built the wharf at a cost of about $700 for the accommodation of the public and steamboat owners, and not for the benefit of any particular party or firm. If one man has the right to build on the wharf every other man in the village has an equal right. We understand the matter has been placed in the hands of Mr. D. W. Dumble, village solicitor, when an interesting lawsuit may be the result.

Strength for the Aged.

As age advances the recuperative power of the body decreases. Fatigue clings like a burr to the already depleted store of energy, still further wasting and dissipating it, and in consequence the elderly find it very hard to keep their spirits up to the "doing" point. An anchor of hope and safety is found in the energizing action of Maltine with Coca Wine, which imparts almost magically, strength and vigor to the failing powers, and through its nutritive and tonic properties, renews those functional activities upon which depend health of body and vigor of mind. Maltine with Coca Wine rapidly restores appetite, improves digestion, imparts tone and vigor to the nervous system; in a word is a strength-giver of unequalled excellence. Maltine with Coca Wine is prescribed and recommended by physicians. All druggists sell it.

BEATING OUT THE ARMY WORM.

Hamilton Times.

Farmers on the mountain and other sections are rejoicing. The much abused English sparrow and the blackbird are their best friends, for they have done more good in four days in destroying the army worm than all the harm they have ever done. The rain of Saturday closed up the cracks in the dry land and left it so wet that the destructive caterpillars had to remain on the surface. The blackbirds were on them by thousands, and yesterday some fields were fairly carpeted with dead worms.

So complete has been the destruction that Mr. James Marshall has stopped hauling the oats which he cut to a field which the worms had not appeared on, and the loss will not be one third or perhaps only one-fourth of what he at first estimated.

In Ancaster the worm is hard at work, but the destroyer is also on its trail.

At Ryckman's Corners the pest has appeared as well as in other places.

It has been found that the worm cannot stand much wet weather. It therefore thrives on underdrained land and in open loamy ground. The asylum farm and Mr. Marshall's lands are well underdrained, and the rain had to be heavy enough to lie on the land for a while to accomplish the good work it had done.

ITS FAME SPREADING.

A New Remedy in General Use in Manitoba and the Northwest.

WINNIPEG, July 27th—The effects of the regular wave of sickness which sweeps over this portion of the Dominion in the spring are noticeable in the increasing amount of the druggists' sales. There has been quite a run on the kidney remedy now so well known under the name of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The recovery from Bright's disease of Mr. Arthur Coley, of Somerset, through their use, an account of which appeared in the papers, gave a considerable impetus to the sale, and the remedy has become indispensable in many Manitoba households, its fame having penetrated into the remotest parts of the province and Northwest Territories.

HERR PFLUNGER'S CARTRIDGES

which absorbs the hurtful acrid matter that accumulates in the ordinary tobacco pipe, and prevents the nicotine poison which produces most of the ill effects arising from smoking.

Sir Morrell Mackenzie,

the late celebrated English Throat Specialist, wrote the following opinion of Herr Pflunger's invention:—

DEAR SIR,—I think that Herr Pflunger's invention is a very good one. I have tried it and find that it answers well. The only suggestion that I can make is that it should have an additional mouthpiece which could be screwed into the proximate extremity of the pipe so as to make the stem twice the length it now is. This would lower the temperature of the smoke as it comes into the mouth. That the smoke should be cool is almost as important as that it should be free from acrid matters. You are at liberty to make whatever use of this letter that you may think fit.

Yours Truly,
MORRELL MACKENZIE.

UNCLE SAMUEL PAYS THE BILLS

If the U.S. Wrongfully Seize Our Sealers the Americans Must Make It Right in the End.

Victoria, B.C., July 29.—A case of the greatest importance to sealing men, an action for prospective damages in the suit of the Crown v. the schooner Beatrice, has been decided in the Exchequer Court of Canada by Chief Justice Davie, sitting as local judge in admiralty.

The Beatrice, of which Charles Doering was owner and master, was seized by the American cutter Richard Rush, on Aug. 20 last, just as it had commenced work among the seals in Behring Sea. It was sent back to Victoria under arrest, and here was tried on a formal motion to confiscate the vessel and contents to the Crown. In this action the preponderance of evidence was with the vessel, the court deciding that the seizure was wholly unjustifiable and restoring the schooner, stores, and 203 skins to the custody of Captain Doering, the skins subsequently being sold at $10.25 each.

The skipper of the Beatrice brought a claim against the British Government for the value of the catch that might reasonably have been secured had the schooner been allowed to complete its season's hunting.

Several other vessels, notably the E.B. Marvin, which were similarly situated with regard to presumptive loss, incident to their seizure, determined to let the Beatrice appeal stand as a test case, and the hearing of the claim was accordingly brought on as quick as possible. The judge decided at the outset that the justice of the claim could not be disputed and the evidence taken was almost entirely as to the extent and value of the catch that the schooner might reasonably have been expected to make had it completed the season's hunting. After comparing and averaging the catches of all the schooners of the fleet, similarly outfitted, it was decided to allow the Beatrice the value of 518 additional skins at the price realized for those given back to Captain Doering with his vessel. From this total the court deducted the value of the stores saved by the schooner's early return, and judgment went against the Crown for a net balance of $3163.50. The Marvin and several other vessels will now go through the formality of proving their consequential damage claims, while Great Britain will insist that the United States, by whose vessels the irregular seizures were made, must ultimately foot the bills.

NEW PRINCIPLE IN ENGINE GEAR.

The Friction Wheels Invented by W. J. Holman are to be Tested.

Cape May, N.J., July 29.—The friction-geared Holman speeding trucks will be tried to-morrow on the South Jersey Railroad. They have been adapted to the regular locomotive, for which they are intended to double the present rate of speed and save running expenses. The trucks consist of five small wheels, arranged on the cog principle and geared at a ratio of two to one, but the cogs are eliminated and friction is to do the work. Three of the wheels rest upon the track, while the other two propel them and bear the driver. The rate of speed expected to be attained is over 100 miles an hour. Last Wednesday, in a twelve-mile run, a rate of 96 miles was reached, including the starting and stopping. The inventor is William J. Holman of Minneapolis, a cousin of Judge William S. Holman of Indiana.

CURES SICK HORSES BY FAITH.

A Michigan Christian Scientist Treats Dumb Animals and Plants.

Kalamazoo, Mich., July 29.—A horse owned by Mr. Snow, west of the city, was afflicted with paralysis of the hip and was cured by Mrs. Agnes Chester, Christian Scientist. She has also treated one or two horses in Kalamazoo for epizootic. These she did not even touch. She recently treated a horse in Battle Creek for splint. The horse recovered. This horse she did not see. Mrs. Chester has also treated plants, trees and flowers in order that they might live and grow healthy. It is claimed that the healing power of Christian science is not limited alone to human life.

BY BUTCHER WEYLER'S ORDERS

All Alien Visitors Must Register on Their Arrival in Cuba.

Havana, July 29.—Captain General Weyler has modified the terms of the decree issued by him regarding the registry of aliens. The decree as modified allows residents of other provinces to register before a civil governor or local mayor. Foreigners landing in Cuba in future, though transient visitors, must register upon their arrival.

JURYMEN SAW MISS BOOTH.

She Explained How She Performs, But She Refused to Pose in the Jury Room.

New York, July 29.—Miss Hope Booth, the Canadian girl, and her manager, John W. Hamilton of the American Theatre Roof Garden, were early at the District Attorney's office yesterday, ready to demonstrate to the grand jury that the tableau in which Miss Booth poses was not the shocking exhibition Inspector Harley declared it to be. Miss Booth wore a gay plaid waist, dainty straw hat and black silk skirt, and carried under her arm a small pasteboard box, which contained two suits of the "clothes" she wears on the stage.

Before going into the grand jury room Miss Booth emphatically informed her manager that under no circumstances would she appear before the jurors in her fleshings.

"I'd go to prisin first," she exclaimed, "rather than pose in there before those 23 men. Besides, that is part of my business, and they have no right to demand it."

Inspector Harley, Sergeant Russell and Acting Captain Weising were each examined by Acting District Attorney McIntyre, who was present at the request of the jurors, and then a Dr. Meyers was allowed to testify for the fair defendant. The doctor declared that the inspector was mistaken in his vivid description of what he had seen.

Miss Booth was then called in, and her attorney, Maurice Meyer, was also allowed to be present. Miss Booth described her pose, daintily raising her skirts a trifle to show the position of her feet, and then exhibited to the jurors the tights she wears here and the ones she wore in London and Paris. She pointed out that in consideration of the sensitiveness of the American public in matters of this kind she had had her tights made much thicker than the ones she wore abroad.

The jurors examined the gauzy raiment with much interest; also a photograph of Miss Booth doing her pose, and after discussing the question for some minutes, decided that the performance was perfectly moral and proper, and dismissed the complaint.

LOOKS LIKE A HOODOO.

A Series of Mishaps Follows a Collision Between a Motor and a Wagon Loaded With Oil.

Detroit, Mich., July 29.—The Mt. Clemens motor car struck an oil wagon on Gratiot-avenue to-day, demolishing it and severely injuring the driver, John Donlon. The oil spread over the pavement and the next car which passed the spot ignited it. In a second the street was ablaze. A butcher wagon standing near was surrounded by the flames, and the driver, Tony Hank, was severely burned before he could escape. The horse was nearly roasted alive, and had to be killed. Gertie Denz, a 12 year-old girl, who jumped from the car, struck on her head and was severely injured and burned. A boy named Thiciens, who also jumped from the car, was slightly injured. Henry Trapp, a fireman, was thrown off a hose cart and had his collarbone broken and was otherwise injured. The flames were subdued before they could spread to adjoining property.

WHERE DO THEY STAND?

Are Old Employes of the Grand Trunk Now Being Dismissed Entitled to Superannuation?

Detroit, July 29.—Grand Trunk employes are on the anxious bench as to what effect the wholesale dismissals being made by the general manager will have upon the superannuation as regards the discharged men. Frank E. Humphrey, a Detroit employe, has been with the road up to within a few years of the requisite 25, and was recently dismissed. He proposes to ascertain his legal rights, and has put his case in a lawyer's hands. The fund has been in existence over 30 years, and to realize benefit the retiring age is fixed at 55 and the term of service 25 years.

BOWERY PAWNSHOP MYSTERY.

How Did the Marquis of Normanby's Silver Spade Get There?

New York, July 29.—Twenty-three years ago the Marquis of Normanby, then Governor of Queensland, received a silver spade on the occasion of the turning of the first sod of the Brisbane and Ipswich Railway.

For a long time until yesterday, when it was bought by a curiosity dealer, that spade occupied a place in the window of a Bowery pawnshop. The handle is of highly polished teak wood. On the silver is the inscription: "This spade was used by the Most Honorable the Marquis of Normanby, Governor of Queensland, the 30th day of January, 1873, when His Excellency turned the first sod of the Brisbane and Ipswich Railway.

By what strange vicissitudes of fortune the spade passed out of the hands of the Normanby family and found its way to a Bowery pawnbroker is a mystery.

It has been held that consumption is hereditary, and the fact that one person of a family had died of consumption was considered a sure sign that others of that family could not escape it. This is partly true and partly untrue. A man with weak lungs is likely to transmit that weakness to his children. But there is no reason in the world why the weakness should be allowed to develop. Keep the lungs full of rich, red, wholesome blood, and the weakness will disappear. Decaying tissues will be thrown off, and new material will be added until the lungs are well and perfectly strong again. This is the thing that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does. This is what makes it cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption where it is taken according to directions. It searches out disease germs wherever they may be in the blood, and forces them out of the system. It supplies the blood with rich, life-giving properties. It makes the appetite good, digestion perfect. Send 31 cents in one cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

Mr. E. W. Haslitt, Reeve of Chatham Township, Kent County, Ont., says: "My daughter has been very weakly for some years; she was very pale and always felt tired; she was prevailed upon by a friend to try a box of Miller's Compound Iron Pills. I must say it was a good investment; she at once began to improve. The colour came to her cheeks, she got strong rapidly, and now is quite well."

MARRIAGE OF DEAF MUTES.

Ceremony in Which a Typewritten Copy of the Service Was Used.

Springfield, O., July 29.—A most unique wedding which took place at Xenia, and in which John Ernst Bershing of this city was the groom, is a theme of conversation here. The bride was Lida Partlett of Xenia.

Both are deaf mutes. Rev. G. G. Ramsey of the United Presbyterian Church officiated. A typewritten copy of the ceremony was held up before them and they followed with the eye. While the minister traced the words with a pencil and pronounced for the benefit of the company, if not for the pair themselves, that order was followed until the direct questions of the ceremony were reached, and the father of the groom translated the question into the sign language as they were spoken by the preacher. A nod, which was clear enough in its meaning, and given by each of the parties, sealed the contract, and they were declared man and wife.

HOW THE SUN LIFE

FULFILS ITS PROMISES.

A Matured 10 Year Endowment.

Profits Paid by the SUN 21 per. cent more than the Estimates.

The following letter, which speak for itself, was received by the undersigned this morning from a gentleman in Brockville, whose ten year endowment which he held in the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada matured last week and was paid him. The Sun is modest in promises but UNEQUALLED IN RESULTS. The public are benefitted by results, not by promises unfulfilled

BROCKVILLE, November 7th, 1895.

W. H. HILL, Mgr. Central Ontario Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, Peterborough, Ontario:—

DEAR SIR.—I should have acknowledged the receipt of yours enclosing cheque for endowment policy No. 12,871 before, only I wanted to write something more than a mere receipt. I am pleased to hear of the continued prosperity of the "SUN" and it speaks well for your Company when the profits are greater (by 21 per cent.) than you as the Company's representative promised or rather estimated, as was the case with this policy.

I hope your Company will continue to prosper and I often regret that I do not carry more Insurance than I am doing. I might have carried twice as much as I do when at Minden without any great effort, still what little I do carry I feel is perfectly safe being in the "SUN."

I must thank you for your promptness and kindness regarding this policy just settled. I hope we will both be alive and well when the new one I now hold will be due in 1905 and assuring you of very best wishes, I remain,

Yours Sincerely,
(Signed) F. R. C.

The above voluntary testimonial is significant and shows in a most practical way the SUN'S standing as a profit paying institution.

A NEW ELECTRIC COMPANY.

The Auburn Light and Power Company Practically Formed—Personnel and Objects of the New Organization.

The business details of the organization of the new Electric Company for the supply of light and power are completed and the formal process of incorporation is all that remains to place it amongst our local industrial concerns.

The personnel of the new company includes Messrs. James Kendry, M. P., John Carnegie and W. H. Meldrum, the latter to be the manager and administrator of the affairs of the company. It will be called "The Auburn Light and Power Company" and is quite distinct from the Auburn Woolen Mills Company. As stated by the promoters, the object of the company is to supply power to any extent required and to supply electricity for house and street lighting. In respect to the latter the company has already tendered to supply light for street purposes as mentioned in another column. Application will at once be made for the franchise of the streets of the town for the purpose of placing poles, etc.

The new company will have at its command 400 horse power to be supplied by the Auburn dam, and besides, arrangements have been made with the Auburn Woollen Mills Company for the supply of steam from the boilers of the latter, to drive engines to afford supplementary power for running dynamos in case of accident to the water power machinery, so that, the promoters claim, a continuous and adequate supply of power will at all times be available. The buildings of the Blythe Mills, whose walls still stand, will be used for a power house.

In regard to the tenders for street lighting, a member of the company states that the tenders were based upon the actual figures necessary to give the company a living profit. The company claims that its plant, for which they have been in negotiating, with the best electrical supply establishments, will be of the latest style, and will combine the latest improvements and at a cheaper rate than was possible for similar machinery a few years ago, and that for this reason, if for no other, the new company will be able to supply electricity for light and power at a very low rate. The promoters state that they have gone into the enterprise to stay, and that they will spare no efforts to make it a success.

THE STREET LIGHTING.

A New Company Tenders—No More Poles to be Erected in the Streets.

A meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee was held last evening to consider the tenders for street lighting were received, that of the Peterborough Light and Power Company and of the new Auburn Light and Power Company. Each of the two tenders was for seperate specifications, one for 365 nights in the year and the other for 300 nights, but as the committee only considered the latter, it is only necessary to give the latter figures:

	Peterborough Company.	Auburn Company.
Two years term	$65 00	$75 00
Three years term	62 50	73 50
Five years term	57 50	72 00

These figures are not official, but they are given as correct, and the difference in the two tenders amounts to the sum of $1,160 per year, or $5,830 for the five years' term. Mr. Arthur Stevenson, secretary of the Peterborough Light and Power Company, spoken to in regard to the discrepancy between the figures, said that the company had written to the committee pointing out certain defects in the form of notification to tenderers, and that, but for these defects, the tenders of the Peterborough Company would have been much lower.

The committee took no action in the matter beyond deciding to make complete investigation.

The committee decided to make no recommendation to the council in the matter but will confer with the Light and Power Company to ascertain at what figure the poles standing in the streets can be procured.

The idea of the council is to do away with the erection of a greater number of poles. The opinion seems to be prevalent that there are a sufficient number in the streets at present, without erecting any more.

If the Light and Power Company refuse to allow a valuator to act in the matter the committee, it is understood, will recommend that the present poles be removed, and that the corporation erect new ones to be sublet to companies wishing to operate in Peterborough.

They propose to favour us with the journal of their trip, with their impressions of the places they visit."

DOMINION BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION.

In another column appears the report of the sixth annual meeting of the Dominion Building and Loan Association, which was held at the offices, 54 Adelaide street, Toronto, on Wednesday. Though this thriving institution has been in operation only a short time, the report presented gives evidence of sound condition and a very satisfactory year's operations. The shareholders have good reason to be satisfied with the earnings. The report of the actuary shows that the handsome dividend of 11.80 per cent. was paid on ordinary shares, and a dividend of 11 per cent. on prepaid shares. Such a condition points to the soundness of the financial principles upon which the Association is founded, and the excellent management which its affairs have received. This is all the more to be remarked because such a record was made, under conditions of extreme financial stringency that have prevailed the world over. The institution is now firmly established, and with the excellent financial features and loaning plans that recommend it to public confidence and patronage, and with the careful and conservative management that controls its operations, the Dominion Building and Loan Association has a prosperous future before it and a distinct mission in fostering habits of economy, saving and thrift in the people, and thus creating a people of home owners and contributing to placing Canadian citizenship upon a basis that means the solid advancement of our national interests. The old board of directors was re-elected and Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., re-elected president, and Mr. T. P. Coffee, Q.C., Guelph, vice-president.

WHY IS IT THUS?

It is generally impossible for the representatives of the press to procure authentic reports of the proceedings of the several committees of the town council and the only means is procuring the results of meetings by fragments from members of the committees. If the committees decide that it is in the public interests to conceal the results of their deliberations till the council meets, well it is, but how is it to be explained that at last night's meeting of the Council, while reporters of the press were excluded, other citizens, some of them interested in the tenders under discussion, were allowed to be present, and figures that are supposed to be confidential until Council meets were quoted on the streets to-day? As a case in point; elsewhere are given in THE EXAMINER the figures of the two tenders for street lighting. Why make so much trouble for reporters by excluding them from committee meetings and thus preventing their giving correct reports of matters of public interest, when the details are allowed to be circulated by rumour, which can only reach a very few, while the newspapers would catch the bulk of the ratepayers? Councillors should be consistent and not keep the letter of their rule of secrecy and break the spirit of it?

THE CLAIM SETTLED.

The Howry Company Arrives at an Adjustment with the Dickson Company.

To satisfy a balance of claim for purchase money due the Dickson Company on account of the purchase of the latter's limits the Dickson Company took possession of a block of four thousand logs in Cameron lake out by the Howrys, upon the limits in question, and it was the intention to have them conveyed to Peterborough to be cut.

However, the Howry Company have paid the amount due the Dickson Company, and that phase of the transaction is settled. The workingmen of Peterborough would doubtless have preferred that the logs had been brought to Peterborough for manufacture, so that employment thereat could have been procured.

A JOLLY LOT OF CAMPERS.

Fourteen Ashburnhamites are off to the Back Lakes.

Wednesday morning a jovial party from Ashburnham left for Stony Lake to spend a couple of weeks rusticating there.

Their destination was Crawford's Cottage near Julian's Landing. They evidently believe in "the more the merrier," for the party is very large consisting of fourteen of the village's merriest.

Their camp is to be known as "Lahinda" and as the party consists of those who know how to have a good time when they want it, a very enjoyable outing is expected.

Mr. Dick Martin's Job.

Mr. Dick Martin together with an assistant is around boring holes in the sidewalks in front of the different stores having water services, in order that plates may be put in over the service pipes to facilitate the cutting off of the water at any time the company sees fit to do so.

The Fall Fair.

A citizen advocates a cat show in connection with the September celebration. Such a show was put on in New York last winter and was a huge success. A dog show would undoubtedly be a great drawing card. Of course in the beginning pedigrees for the exhibits could not be asked, but this would come later on.

Fruit Jars.

China Hall has received a full carload, 1440 cases, of fruit jars Do not buy a jar till you have seen their jars and got their price. Their jars are guaranteed not to crack in filling and will be replaced in case they do. Prices the lowest in town. See the "Beaver" or the "Bee" before buying the ordinary jar.

Good Fishing.

That it is not necessary to go far from town for good fishing was proven yesterday when a party of three made a fine catch of bass about a mile from Nassau. The party was composed of Messrs. Dick Foster, Wm. Menzies and Wm. Logan. All waded out into the water up to their waists and consequently colds were caught as well as fish.

LACROSSE.

The Toronto Globe says there is a movement on foot in the C. L. A. to disqualify the Tecumsehs for professionalism and that it may be successful. In this event the Athletics of St. Catharines would be C. L. A. champions.

The St. Kits team, however, will have its hands full before it gets that championship and there are many who are willing to back Peterborough's chances even if the Globe does think St. Kits is sure of the trophy.

There will be a great game of lacrosse in Toronto on Saturday, August 8th, when the champion Capitals of Ottawa meet the Tecumsehs, winners of the C. L. A. championship, on the Island Oval, at Hanlan's Point. Both teams have an unbroken record this season and the coming match will not have a peer in lacrosse for many seasons to come. Both teams are determined to win and as the material in these clubs is the best playing lacrosse, a great game is assured. Those desiring to take in the match can reserve their seats in advance by applying to the secretary of the Tecumsehs. Special rates on the railways can be secured by applying to the railway agents.

THE WHEEL.

The race of Lytle and Little against time from Chemong to the Post Office, which was to have taken place to-day, has been postponed for a week as Little is not in as good shape for fast work as he would like to be.

TURF.

The second day's races at Trenton were attended by an immense crowd of spectators, some four and five thousand. Strange to say, Nettie Woods did not get a place in the running race. Miss Strider got second money in the 2.35 class. Everything went off smoothly and satisfied all present. Immediately after the last heat of the day a heavy shower fell. THE SEWERAGE SYSTEM.

Work on George Street Will Begin Next Week.

The Water street sewer has been excavated as far as McDonel street, and the pipe has been laid as far up as Murray street.

The work is now being carried on through a bed of gravel which renders it necessary to "shore" up the sides as the men work, in order to prevent the earth giving way.

There are now over forty men at work and it is thought that the Water street sewer will be finished by the end of the week, in which event the first of next week will see the excavation begin on George street. Private drains are already being laid from many Water street residences to the new sewer.

WEDDING BELLS.

Celebration of the Choate-Clute Nuptials at Sillsville.

One of Dummer's most popular young men in the person of Mr. Thos. A. Choate, was united in marriage last week at Sillsville to Miss May Gertrude Clute of that place. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. W. Teck in the presence of a large number of friends of the contracting parties. Many valuable presents were received by the popular young couple. At the conclusion of the ceremony a most sumptuous wedding breakfast was partaken of, after which Mr. and Mrs. Choate left by the G. T. R. for the west. The EXAMINER extends the heartiest congratulations.

AN EXCEPTIONAL SALE.

St. John is Much Interested in the Recent Medical Discovery.

St. John, N.B., July 20.—The many cases of marvellous restoration to health from various forms of kidney trouble which have been constantly appearing in the daily press of the Dominion have for some time awakened the liveliest interest here, and the remedy by which the cures were effected namely. Dodd's Kidney Pills are obtaining great celebrity throughout the province. The appearance of the testimonials of Drs. Rose and McCormick stating the benefits which they had personally derived from their use was considered a sufficient sign of the merits of the remedy, and the other interesting and wonderful cases which since been chronicled had caused the specific to have an exceptional sale.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Sparks From the Wheels—Cinders for the Eye.

Conductor Haskill says that more Americans have gone up to the lakes this summer than during any previous season.

At West Superior, Wis., Saturday, the Northern Pacific Railway was sold by Special Master Carr. It was bidden in by E. W. Winter, for the re-organization company, for $13,000,000.

Mr. C. J. Pusey, President of the L. B. & O. R. R., has decided to use coal as fuel in future on his line. No. 2 engine was taken to the Lindsay shops yesterday to have grates put in, and No. 1 will be sent down when No. 2 returns.

The many friends of Mr. Bert Kelly, the popular G. T. R. conductor, will be pleased to learn that he has returned from Colorado, where he went for the benefit of his health last February, and has entirely recovered from his ailment. He will likely resume his run on the way freight between Belleville and Lindsay.

It is the intention of the Grand Trunk to concentrate all their locomotive works at Stratford and all car shops at London. The shops will doubtless be removed from Toronto to Lindsay and only sufficient men left there to do necessary repairs.

The total railway mileage in the United States on June 30, 1895, was 180,656.47, an increase of 1,948.92 miles, or 1.09 per cent., being shown. The increase in 1894 was 2,247.48 miles, or 1.27 per cent., which was less than any preceding year during the period for which reports have been made to the commission. The number of railway corporations on June 30, 1895, was 1,966, of which 1,013 maintained operating accounts and 800 financial accounts. During the year 14 roads were abandoned, 9 merged, 32 re-organized, and 28 consolidated. It appears that 133 roads, or 12.05 per cent. of operating companies, operate 145,155.13 miles, or 80.24 per cent. of the total mileage in operation.

The gross earnings of the railways of the United States for the year were $1,075,371,462, an increase of $2,009,665 for the year being thus shown. The expenses of operation for the same period were $725,720,415, which $5,693,907 less than for 1894.

The number of railway employees killed in the United States during the year was 1,611, and the numbered injured 25,096. These figures compared with those of the previous year show a decrease of 12 in the number killed and an an increase of 2,274 in the number injured. The number of passengers killed was 170; the number injured 2,375. These figures give for the year a decrease of 154 in the number killed, and 630 in the number injured. The number of passengers killed is remarkably small. The smallest number killed in any of the previous 7 years was 286 in 1890.

—Eat plenty of fruit in preference to meat during this hot weather.

—Fishing poles of all kinds, fishing tackle, tennis balls and tennis racquets, lacrosse and baseball goods, cheapest place in town, at Salisbury's Bookstore. d —An accident to a portion of the machinery of the Bridge Works this morning necessitated the suspension of work for the day. Operations will be resumed in the morning.

—Twenty-five applications from teachers in different parts of the Dominion, and one—probably a Canadian—from Detroit, have been received from Mr. D. Kennedy, chairman of the Board of Education, for the position of Science Master of the Campbellford High School.

—The section men have "lifted" some of the track west of the Campbellford station laid new ties, and made the rails secure for smooth running. The condition of the Grand Junction track throughout its entire length has been very much improved during the past two years.

—The Belleville Ontario says there are some people who owe nearly every merchant in town a small amount. They run from store to store, knowing well there is but little danger of being sued for a small amount. These deadbeats thus make a nice thing of it at the expense of the storekeeper. A prompt and effective mode of collecting would stop this rascally work.

—It seems that the abused little English sparrow will regain the friendship of everybody, as he is just now busy at work feeding on the army worm which has appeared in great numbers in some places. If the little bird's fondness for this class of food continues, it will be counted worthy of a permanent abode amongst us as a most useful servant for the gardener and farmer.

LATE MRS. YOUMANS.

Many will remember Mrs. Letitia Youmans, whose death at Toronto recently occurred. She was one of the most eloquent and persistent pleaders of the temperance cause, one who suffered in common with her friends, many discouragements and still kept right on contending on principle for the better life that is to be secured by freedom from intemperance. She appeared in Kingston repeatedly during the period of her power, when in the flush of health and of that wonderful enthusiasm by which she was inspired; and those who heard her will remember how earnestly she advocated the white ribbon movement—the movement which she inaugurated and which was designed to connect with it the thousands whose purity of aim and service was symbolized by the badge they wore. Mrs. Youmans saw intemperance in its worst forms when very young, in her early school days, when the bartender and the teacher was one and the same person, and she laid plans of usefulness to which she ever afterwards adhered. Her's was a life consecrated to a worthy cause and in the history of temperance, of moral reform in Canada, her name will have a conspicuous place.—Whig.

DIED.

MILLER.—In Peterborough, on Wednesday, July 29th, 29th, 1896. Margarite Elizabeth, infant daughter of Mr. M. Miller, of St. Thomas, aged 6 months and 5 days.
St. Thomas papers please copy.

All men, ancient or modern, admire a graceful, stylish looking woman, and now we can all enjoy the pleasure of being stylishly dressed by using the ideal interlining, Fibre Chamois. It gives a stiffness that outlasts everything and yet is so flexible that it adapts itself to all the willowy folds of the up-to-date skirts and sleeves, keeping them in just the right stylish shape all through the longest, hardest season of wear or tear, and yet costing so little that it is within every one's reach. For your own sake avoid all chance of disappointment by finding the Red Star label on each yard—all imitations are worthless.

MICKS & COX,

Almost every man in America has some digestive trouble. When men meet, the greeting usually is "Well how are you?" That develops health talk. The man who has no stomach or bowel trouble is almost a curiosity. Trouble is men take no care of themselves. They work as if their bodies were made of iron and their brains of steel. They eat as if they had copper stomachs and bowels of brass. By and by, overworked nature rebels. Then come headaches, nervousness, bad blood, liver and kidney troubles: health goes and strength goes. It is really wonderful how much abuse the human body will stand! It is equally wonderful how quickly it will recover from abuse if one helps in a rational, natural way.

It was to give just such help that Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets were prepared. They are for constipation and torpid liver, and in curing those derangements—cure many complications and resultant diseases, such as sick and bilious headache, dizziness, sour stomach, loss of appetite, indigestion, or dyspepsia, windy belchings, "heartburn," pain and distress after eating, and kindred derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels. They are mild in action—merely supplementing nature. They are the result of years of study and experience, and there is nothing else like them—nothing so effective. If your druggist tries to sell you something else he is either ignorant or makes more money out of the other thing.

A JUDICIAL SEPARATION.

The Carde-Buller Divorce Case in London Is Settled.

London, July 29.—A decision was handed down to-day in the Divorce Division of the High Court of Justice, in the Yarde-Buller divorce case. The court grants a judicial separation to Mrs. Yarde-Buller, who is the daughter of the late Gen. Kirkham of San Francisco, and dismisses the petition of the husband, the Hon. Walter Yarde-Buller, for divorce, ordering him to pay the costs of the action. The case has excited much interest in fashionable circles, and much sympathy is expressed for Mrs. Yarde-Buller, who while testifying in her own behalf, told a distressing story of her domestic life.

A Fire Among Aristocrats.

London, July 29.—Part of the town of Ilfracombe, Devonshire, one of the fashionable and most attractive seaside resorts in Europe, was burned last night. There were many visitors in the town, and there was much excitement during the progress of the fire, it being feared at one time that the whole town would be destroyed. So far as known nobody was hurt. Loss £30,000.

TRAMPS PULL REVOLVERS.

Four Knights of the Road Attempt to Hold Up a Grand Trunk Train.

Hamilton, July 29.—(Special.)—About 11 o'clock this morning four tramps made a bold attempt to take possession of a train at the Junction cut, about 1 1-2 miles from the Stuart-street station. The train was from Sarnia, bound for Toronto, and Conductor J. Holden was in charge. Coming down the Copetown grade they let off the brakes, and at Junction cut, when the conductor went to put them off, they pulled revolvers and threatened to shoot. A telegram was sent to the station, and Agent Baker with several constables went out, but the party of tramps had decamped.

FOUND A PIGEON AT SEA.

This Carrier Boarded a French Barque 400 Miles From Land.

Washington, July 29.—The Hydrographic Office has received the following report from Captain Berginal, of the French barque Alice and Isabel, bound from Philadelphia to Sables d'Olonne, Vendee, France:

"June 11, 1896, about 7 p.m., latitude 39 degrees north, longitude 71 degrees west (about 600 miles from New York on the steamer track), a carrier pigeon came aboard, probably from the east coast of the United States. It had a copper band on each foot, the right one marked G. R. L., 1-94. This pigeon may be reclaimed by its owner. In the meantime, it has been entrusted to the Messagers de l'Ocean Homing Club of Sables d'Olonne, France."

The Army Worm in Middlesex.

London, Ont., July 28.—The army worm made its first appearance in Middlesex County a day or two ago, and is creating great havoc in the fields of some of the farmers in the surrounding townships. The pest came into Middlesex from Elgin County, and was first noticed in Caradoc Township, where several fields were visited by them.

Fell Down to Death.

Quebec, July 28.—Pierre Royer, ship laborer, working on board the SS. Lindisferne, loading timber, missed his grip of a piece of timber and fell into the hold of the vessel at Indian Cove yesterday. He was removed to his home, where he died a few hours afterwards.

A Physician's Horrible Suicide.

Philadelphia, July 29.—Dr. Dale Dillon, aged 41 years, a prominent downtown physician, jumped from an upper storey of his residence, after cutting the arteries of both wrists, and died almost immediately.

Dr. Dillon had been addicted to the use of alcohol, and it is thought that excessive indulgence in the drug shattered his mind. He had been found in bed by his aged father with both wrists cut. Help was summoned, but while the old man was alone with his son the latter arose from the bed, and, after an awful struggle with his father, threw himself from the window.

Failure and Success.

It is often all the little things that constitute the wide difference between success and failure. Some men, earnest in purpose, capable in many ways, seem unable to discern the import of minor, nevertheless important elements, and neglect in consequence to grasp the opportunities that if accepted would carry them on to victory. In the same way people are imposed upon by mercenary druggists, who to gain an additional profit, practice the dishonest method of substitution. Calling for Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, they accept some worthless flesh-eating substitutes, only to be disappointed or suffer injury. Putnam's Corn Cure is the only reliable one.

SPAIN'S TROUBLES GROWING.

So Suspicious Are the Authorities that 40,000 Troops Will Be Shipped to Cuba Without Arms.

London, July 29.—A despatch to the Central News from Lisbon says that private advices received from Madrid state that the existence of a secret Cuban committee has been discovered there and that certain Cuban exiles who were in Madrid, have vanished. It has also been discovered, the advices say, that separatist schemes relative to the Philippine Islands are on foot. As a result of certain acts of insubordination among the last six hundred men embarked for Cuba and the discovery that secret proclamations were being circulated among the soldiers, and in view of the notorious reluctance of the troops to go to Cuba, the reinforcements, 40,000 strong, who will be embarked at the end of August, will be shipped without arms, through fear of a mutiny among them, and their arms will be forwarded by other vessels.

The advices also state that desertions from the army are numerous, especially in Aragon. Fear is entertained by the authorities that disorders will occur in connection with the despatching of reinforcements for the Spanish forces in Cuba, and elaborate precautions are being taken to prevent trouble. Instructions have been given to the Spanish censor to suppress all telegrams relating to the matter.

DROP HANDLE BARS DID IT.

A Physician at Rockaway, N.J., Discovers a New Danger to Fast Bicycle Riders.

Morristown, N.J., July 29.—A new danger to cyclists has been brought to light by the statement of Dr. Flagg of Rockaway, N.J., that an attack of paralysis, which laid up Frederick Gallagher, while he was on a wheeling trip, was brought on by too much riding on a bicycle provided with drop handle bars.

Gallagher is a young man, living in the outskirts of Morristown, and on Sunday morning started on a trip to Green Pond, twenty miles from Morristown, with Jesse Ergenzinger and William Lapine as companions.

They are all good wheelmen, and during the early hours rode rapidly. Gallagher's wheel had drop handle bars—the kind that scorchers favor—and on an easy stretch of ground he could easily outdistance his companions.

He was feeling very well until within a short distance of Mt. Hope, when he remarked to the others that he felt dizzy. A few minutes later he lost control of his wheel and then fell to the ground.

Ergenzinger and Lapine assisted Gallagher to Rockaway, which is near Mt. Hope, and took him to the office of Dr. Flagg. They told the physician how their companion had been affected, and he declared that the young man was suffering from paralysis, brought on by riding constantly on a wheel with drop handle bars.

Gallagher was brought to his home to-day and is recovering from the attack. He is one of the best wheelmen in the town, and there is a great deal of talk among cyclists about his illness. Nearly all the fast riders here use the drop handle bars.

HOT BLAZE IN MONTREAL.

Fire Broke Out at 12.30 This Morning in a Wholesale Hardware Establishment—Loss $50,000.

Montreal, July 30.—A big fire is now raging here in the business heart of the city. About 12.30 a.m. an alarm called the brigade out for a fire in Howden, Stark & Co.'s wholesale hardware establishment on St. Peter-street. The premises form a large stone block, including a number of large warehouses, and the fire had secured such control that the whole brigade was called out. The fire raged with great fury, and the firemen had great difficulty in handling it.

Later.—The fire is still under way, but is now under control, and will be confined to the block. The damage will be very heavy, probably reaching $50,000.

2.30 a.m.—Another large fire just broke out on the Exhibition grounds. Extent as yet unknown.

TRIED TO CHEAT THE GIRLS.

Boy in Knickerbockers and Skirts in a Bicycle Race.

Long Branch, N.J., July 29.—A boy wearing knickerbockers and a short skirt managed to smuggle himself into the girls' handicap bicycle race here to-day and came in first at the finish. He was soon found out and disqualified, though some of the friends of the girls wanted to give him more severe punishment. The race was the "Rosenbaum Handicap." Miss Jeanette Well was awarded first prize, a gold belt; Mrs. Flora Roos secured second prize, a gold smelling bottle; Miss Hattie Well came in third, and secured a heavy silver tray and Miss Leonora Foss was fourth and won a lorgnette chain. There were six starters besides the boy, who was entered by several of the gentlemen having the affair in charge more as a joke than anything else.

ABOUT THE LIVER.

A lazy, slow or torpid liver influences the whole system, causing biliousness, sick headache, sallow complexion, languor and dullness. Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the liver, purifies the secretions and cures all forms of liver troubles. We say so and here is the proof:—

I hereby wish to thank you for the great benefit derived by me from your Burdock Blood Bitters. For three years I was troubled with liver complaint and tried everything to no purpose. I had almost given up hope until one day I determined to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I can say now that marked improvement resulted from the use of the first bottle and at the end of the sixth bottle I discontinued its use, being completely cured.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognized this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The trouble with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

CANCER CURED
—AND A—
LIFE SAVED
By the Persistent Use of
Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"I was troubled for years with a sore on my knee, which several physicians, who treated me, called a cancer, assuring me that nothing could be done to save my life. As a last resort, I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after taking a number of bottles, the sore began to disappear and my general health improve. I persisted in this treatment, until the sore was entirely healed. Since then, I use Ayer's Sarsaparilla occasionally as a tonic and blood-purifier, and, indeed, it seems as though I could not keep house without it."—Mrs. S. A. Fields, Bloomfield, Ia.

HORIZONS.

The crystal on the mountain side
Is dead, no life is in it seen,
But life doth in these flowers abide,
In tree and shrub and grasses green.

You tree that grows beneath the sun
Doth know cut sun and earth and air;
No wiser doth its circle run
Of consciousness or worldly care.

In higher sphere the insect strives:
Below, where the dead grass is curled
The ants do labor all their lives
In limits of their little world.

Perhaps one climbs some tiny peak
Or up some towering grade of grass,
To see the prey which it doth seek,
Or the ant caravans that pass.

But yonder eagle in the air
Of crystal blue, with wings unfurled,
Looks down upon the fields more fair,
And mountains of its larger world.

While man there on the high ascent
Doth measure suns in distant skies;
Lives in the large environment
Which still expanding round him lies.

Thus up through plant, insect and man,
Beginning from the mineral low,
Ever through life's ascending span
One thought doth thus-expanding flow.

One thought of its expanding course
That ever higher, wider runs
Into this varied universe
Of atoms, plants and man and sun.

Red Sea Miracle Reproduced in Oregon.

It is a well-known fact that at certain times of the year Link River, a stream a mile and a quarter long, which connects the great water systems above and below this point, becomes almost dry. This state of affairs, however, lasts as a rule but a few hours, during which time people have been known to walk across the river, 300 feet wide, without getting their feet wet. The bottom of the river has been dug out in many places by the action of the water, forming large potholes, and when the river becomes dry these holes are filled with trout, which are left stranded. At such times it is a common occurrence to see men and boys knocking the fish on the head with clubs, and in this way they secure many a good meal.

There are many traditions regarding this phenomenon among the Indians here, but the real cause of the low water in the river is the action of the wind. The course of the stream is southeast, and the high winds which prevail in the spring and fall are from the south and blow up the river. The outlet from the upper lake being small, the force of the wind keeps the water back in the big lake causing the river to become very low.—Klamath Falls Express.

THE WOMEN TOO.

Back Talk Not Man's Monopoly.

Mrs. Jemima Cole, Havelock, told the following wonderful story:—"For a great many years I have suffered from disease of the kidneys. The pains in my back and side were sometimes excruciating.

"My limbs were so swollen that I could scarcely lift my feet from the floor, and I was in great agony nearly all the time. I thought that I would surely die from the pain.

"I have taken dozens of advertised remedies, aut got no better during their use. I was also treated by several doctors, but am sorry to say they did me little or no good. In fact they stated that they could do me no good, which made me despair of ever getting better.

"When I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised I sent to W. H. Jeff & Co's. drugstore and got a box thinking I would try them as a last resort.

"The change from the start was very great and now after one month I am free from all pain. The swelling has gone down and I feel quite strong and healthy.

"I was also troubled with rheumatism and neuralgia which have completely disappeared, thanks to the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. In fact I do not think there is a medicine in the world that in such a short time could have taken me from the almost dying condition in which I was to the healthy and vigorous state that I am in now.

"I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for their wonderful virtues in curing kidney troubles."

FACTS ABOUT CANADA.

The Great Fisheries of the Dominion and How They Are Worked.

The fisheries of Canada are the most extensive in the world.

The fisheries of British Columbia are the richest in the world.

Fish to the value of $1,660 000 were taken out of the Great Lakes in 1894.

The eastern coast line of Canada covers a distance of nearly 6,000 miles.

The coast line of British Columbia is more than double that of Great Britain and Ireland.

The fisheries of the Great Lakes are the most important fresh water fisheries in the world.

In one year 125,840,000 fry have been distributed over Canadian lakes from the Canadian hatcheries.

A fishing bounty of $160,000 a year is paid by the Government to fishermen to encourage the business.

The most important deep sea fisheries of the world are on the Atlantic ocean, off the Canadian coast.

The catch of salmon in British Columbia in 1893 was the greatest of any year, its value being $3,150,703.

Nearly 100,000,000 pounds of herring were taken from the Canadian half of the Great Lakes in 12 years.

In 12 years 62,000,000 pounds of whitefish and 63,000,000 pounds of salmon trout were the product of the lakes.

Fourteen hatcheries for fish breeding have been established by the Government in different parts of the country

Prizes offered for the best model of a safe boat for deep-sea fishing are competed for yearly by Canadian fishermen.

Eight steamers and two fast sailing schooners are engaged to protect the fishing on the sea coasts and lakes of Canada.

An expert from Great Britain has been employed in establishing and restocking oyster beds in Shediac and Tracadie.

At the last census 80,000 men were found employed in the fishing industry in Canada. Their boats and nets were then worth $9,439,116.

The total quantity of fish caught in the Great Lakes during the 12 years, 1883-194, amounted to 293,707,000 pounds, valued at $17,6600,000.

Over 15,000 square miles of salt water inshore sea, not including minor indentations, belong to Canada and each mile abounds in fish life.

Some 75 tugs and schooners and 1,187 boats manned by 4,155 men are employed in lake fishing. This represents an invested capital of $702,822.

Fifty-five intelligence bureaus, which report by telegraph the movements of fish and bait to central stations, are distributed throughout the country.

The Hudson Bay Company have established salmon fisheries in a number of rivers of the Northwest. All the fishermen are Esquimaux and 14-pound trout are often taken.

A Monster Sawfish.

One of the most wonderful catches ever made with the rod and reel was accomplished by a Danbury man, says the Tropical News. He was fishing for tarpon at Nigger Head, a few miles down the river, with A. F. Gonsalez as guide, when he got a strike. It did not take long to ascertain that the game was even bigger than the silver king, and Mr. George settled down to give the fellow battle. The fish soon came to the surface. He was a monster sawfish, and he slashed his saw about in the water at a great rate. Mr. George handled the fish most skillfully, and proved that he is a thorough expert in the use of rod and reel. The battle lasted one hour and twenty minutes, when the sawfish was brought to the gaff and killed. He measured 14 feet 8 inches and weighed 625 pounds. His saw was 40 inches in length and 5 inches in width, and his flippers measured 56 inches. This gives Mr. George the record on the Caloosahatchee for the largest sawfish ever caught with rod and reel. Mr. George says he doesn't care to tackle another, and this is the conclusion of all the noted experts who have ever played a saw fish. This may read like a great fish story to people who know little of the great fishing on the Caloosahatchee River, but the facts as given are absolutely correct.

Not to Be Fooled.

A good story is told by Sir Robert Low of the difficulties he had with the field telegraph in the Chitral campaign. The chiefs were at first rather suspicious of the wire, as they thought it was a mark for parcelling out the country among the soldiers, but on being told that it was to send messages to India, they agreed to guard it. As, however, they did not see any messages passing along, they cut off a couple of miles of wire and took it away to watch the message more at their ease. Their investigations were interrupted by the return of the engineers, to see what had happened to wire and why communications were cut.

Bullets That Wear Out Guns.

There is one thing which users of the new high velocity rifles of 30-caliber have to consider, and that is the effect of the copper or nickel jacket on the grooves of the rifle. A bullet that leaves the mussle of a rifle at a velocity of 2000 feet a second is so wearing on the rifling, especially near the muzzle, that the accuracy of even the hardest-bored rifles is seriously impaired inside of 12,000 shots at the most. The lead bullets, or those but slightly hardened with a mixture of tin, do not wear the barrels to the same xtent and the barrels last far better.—New York Sun.

OUR MAIL.

B.B.B. CURES

Our mail brings us every day dozens of letters about Burdock Blood Bitters. Some from merchants who want to buy it, some from people who want to know about it, and more from people who do know about it because they have tried it and been cured. One of them was from Mr. J. Gillan, B.A., 39 Gould Street, Toronto. Read how he writes:

Gentlemen,—During the winter of 1892 my blood became impure on account of the hearty food I ate in the cold weather. Ambition, energy and success forsook me, and all my efforts were in vain. My skin became yellow, my bowels became inactive, my liver was lumpy and hard, my eyes became inflamed, my appetite was gone, and the days and nights passed in unhappiness and restlessness

For some months I tried doctors' and patent medicines of every description, but received no benefit. Being advised by a friend to try B.B.B., I am glad to have the opportunity of testifying to the marvellous result. After using three bottles I felt much better, and when the fifth bottle was finished I enjoyed health in the greatest degree, and have done so from that day up to date. Therefore I have much pleasure in recommending B. B.B. to all poor suffering humanity who suffer from impure blood, which is the beginning and seat of all diseases.

Report of Actuary.

To the President and Directors of the Dominion Building and Loan Association :

GENTLEMEN,—Having valued all the shares in force, I have now to report the distribution I have made of the profits of the Association to 30th of April, 1896.

I have analyzed the profits of the past year, as appertaining to the shares of the respective classes. The result is, that, adding the shares of profits respectively to those already declared, the rates of interest realized are as follows :

On Ordinary Shares, 11.30 per cent., and on Prepaid shares 11.60 per cent., compounded yearly.

Each share I have credited with compound interest monthly on the contributions to the loan fund.

Exhaustive statements in detail will be found herewith.

Yours faithfully,
(Signed) WM. POWIS, F. C. A.,
Consulting Actuary.

TORONTO, July 27th, 1896.

President's Address.

Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., president, then made the following remarks :

GENTLEMEN.—The pleasure I feel in moving the adoption of the eminently satisfactory report to which you have just listened is somewhat of a dual character. You will perhaps remember that at the last annual meeting we ventured to predict that, from the outlook at that time, the statement to be presented at the next annual meeting, which is the present, would be highly satisfactory to the shareholders, and I am sure you will agree with me that circumstances vindicate the correctness of such a forecast, as shown by the financial statement. Our assets at the close of our financial year, April 30th, 1896, amounted to the handsome sum of over a million dollars ($1,007,782.58), which amount represents the accumulation of less than six years of actual business. The average rate of increase of assets is $167,963.76, but you will notice that the increase for the past year is $268,672.14, a circumstance which indicates that as our Association expands and the results of its operations, the satisfactory nature of the several classes of stock, in their adaptability to the varied requirements of investors of moderate means, and the undoubted stability of the Association, the development of public confidence becomes more evident and the ratio of advancement more decided.

Of the million and over of assets, $954,031.71 is invested in first mortgages on real estate, an increase of over $305,000 during the past year, which still further emphasizes the popularity of our loaning plans, the demands upon which permit a showing of so large an increase under the above item, and when it is taken into consideration that the care in selection represents only the above amount from the half million of dollars applied for, the satisfactory nature of this item becomes more apparent. And it is further cause for gratification that, through the present business executive of the Association, practically no losses during the past three years are to be recorded; and while the business of the Association might have been more largely increased last year, it was thought the most prudent course to pursue to select only those properties whose security admitted of no reasonable doubt, especially in view of the difficulties which the uncertain conditions of business generally imported into the making of reliable estimates of the value of realty.

The amount advanced to Shareholders on the security of withdrawal shares also presents a satisfactory increase, as showing appreciation on their part of the privilege of making their investments tributary to their convenience in securing funds for their temporary requirements in so prompt and easy a manner. On the 30th of April last there was thus invested with Shareholders $24,260, an increase of over 65 per cent. during the year. These loans, I may be permitted to remark, are repayable at any time and are, of course, for amounts less than the withdrawal value of the stocks so pledged as security.

The total profits realized by the operations of the year amount to $91,516.55, out of which $155.89 was reserved for interest on monthly dues paid in advance, and $322.85 for interest accrued on Fully Paid Shares, leaving a net profit to be disposed of, of $91,038.32. Of this $1,320.04 was applied to the reduction of incumbrances on real estate, $144.54, or 10 per cent. off value of office furniture, to cover depreciation by use, and $3,500 was placed to the credit of Contingent Account, increasing this fund to $12,500, which, after a most careful scrutiny of the values, we consider more than sufficient to meet all losses. This left $86,073.74 to be distributed by way of net profit to the shareholders. Of this latter sum $21,864 80 was applied to the payment of dividends; $5,822.65 was placed to the credit of shareholders, whose stock had been converted into Permanent stock, as their share of the profits earned since 30th of April, 1896, and the balance, $58,386.29—less $5,890.43 charged to Prepaid Stock on account of expenses—or $52,495 86 net increase in the profits to be credited the Stock for the year. The Actuary's report which has been presented, indicates the rate of profit credited to each class of Shareholders.

We might also be permitted to point out that the directors have transferred from expense allowance, $4,451.61, to the Loan Account, which shows that the expenses of management have been kept to the lowest point, consistent with efficient administration. During the year careful inspection of our loans was made by one of your Directors and the General Manager, and their reports upon the securities are generally satisfactory and form an excellent basis for estimating the value of our mortgages in determining the amount necessary to be placed in contingent fund to provide against all possible loss.

It is a pleasure to add that, notwithstanding the prevailing dullness in business, payments on both investment stock and on loan account during the past year have been made with extremely gratifying promptitude and completeness, a circumstance upon which our shareholders are to be cordially congratulated. At the same time the demand for loans of a desirable character has fully taxed our endeavours to supply the necessary funds; a condition referable, no doubt, largely to the arrangements we have completed during the past year to make advances on terms, which, while they are extremely profitable to the Association, are popular with borrowers. We have also authorized the issue of new classes of ordinary stock (whose character you will find set forth in the bylaws to be submitted for your adoption), on terms which, though only very recently made known to the public, are meeting with warm approval, and we feel justified in expecting a large increase in this class of stock the coming year.

Last September your Directors, after mature consideration, decided that it would be to the great advantage of the Association to provide for a sufficient amount of Permanent Stock to admit of the issue of debentures; and as this stock is, apart from such a consideration, intrinsically a most desirable form of investment, the shareholders of the Company were afforded the first opportunity of subscribing, by the conversion of any other stock they might hold into Permanent Stock. It was at first thought that an issue of $250,000 would cover our requirements, but the response to the opportunity we presented the shareholders for permanent investment was so general, as well as generous, that the full amount was absorbed in Ontario alone in less than three months, and, applications for transfers still continuing, a further issue upon the same terms was authorized. This additional issue, with the exception of 200 shares, was taken up by the 30th of April, and since that time the balance has been disposed of, a portion of it to non-members at a premium of $5 per share. The confidence in the future of our Association which our Shareholders practically expressed by their readiness to obtain Permanent Stock, upon which was paid a dividend of 7 per cent., besides placing the sum of $4,147.69 to the credit of Permanent Stock (undivided profits), in exchange for other classes, is extremely gratifying to your Board of Directors and myself.

Since the last annual meeting we terminated the agreement existing between the Association and the Trusts Corporation of Ontario, a course which has resulted in both a direct financial saving and in facilitating the transaction of business. These considerations, and not any lack of appreciation of the services received at the hands of the Trusts Corporation, determined our action in the premises.

Since our last meeting your Directors have continued the policy mentioned in our last report of extending our business into new and profitable fields, and at the same time strengthening our connections in fields already occupied. In pursuance of this policy we have placed a resident agent in Vancouver, British Columbia, whose presence in that Province is warranted by the hope we have that the new era of development of its great resources will afford an opportunity of our Association securing a share of the profitable business which may present from time to time, while at the same time protecting the existing interests of the Association in that Province.

The officers of the Association, the Local Boards, the Auditors, and the other representatives of the Association, have all earned the warm approval of the Directors by their fidelity to their several trusts and the efficient attention they have given to the discharge of their several duties. In view of the extremely satisfactory character of the report for the past year, which furnishes a pleasing augury of future success, I have very great pleasure in moving its adoption.

Seconding the Adoption.

Mr. T. P. Coffee, Q. C., Vice-President, in seconding the motion, said :

GENTLEMEN.—It is hardly necessary for me to remark that I have the greatest pleasure in seconding the motion for the adoption of a report that must be so eminently satisfactory to this meeting. The report justifies the strong commendation of its gratifying character by the mover of the resolution, a commendation which I most cordially endorse, and I am sure that the shareholders will be unusually difficult to please if they do not feel an unusual degree of gratification at the evidences of solid progress, satisfactory standing and capable management which the report furnishes. The success of the Association for the past year is very much emphasized when we remember the conditions under which that success was achieved. The dullness in business induced a lethargic condition of enterprise which would be aroused into action only by financial inducements of the highest order, and that in a field fully occupied by old and aggressive institutions. That our Association met with so very great a degree of favour and preference, is a tribute to its stability and soundness, and a practical endorsation of its varied and excellent method of investment, its complete facilities for meeting the wants of the borrowing public, and of the prudent administration of its officials. I need not add anything specific to the comprehensive remarks of the President, which cover the ground so thoroughly, and with the report of the the Directors, furnishes ample evidence that while the present condition of The Dominion Building and Loan Association is sound and satisfactory, its future is one of substantial progress and continued advance in all the interests concerned. It gives me much pleasure to second the adoption of the report.

Additional Commendation.

Mr. D. W. Karn, of Woodstock, manufacturer of pianos and organs and a member of the Board of Directors, said : I am fortunate in being able to express my very great satisfaction with a report that invests The Dominion Building and Loan Association with the characteristics of excellent management, sound financial condition and prosperity. This is practical proof that our Association is founded upon principles so applied as to meet in a most satisfactory way a specific series of demands on the part of the public, and that prudence, care and wisdom have marked the discharge of their responsible duties on the part of our officials. The report, both as a whole and in detail, presents features that very fully justify me in heartily supporting the motion, at the same time venturing the remark that I speak the sentiments of all the shareholders, when I refer in terms of praise to the capable and efficient manner in which their interests have been protected and promoted by the officials and board charged with those responsibilities.

General Approval.

Several Shareholders having referred in warm terms of commendation to the report and the satisfactory progress of the Association, the motion to adopt the report was unanimously carried.

By-laws Approved.

The amended by-laws of the Association, after receiving careful consideration, were adopted.

Election of Directors.

The following gentlemen were re-elected as Directors for the ensuing year :

J. R. Stratton, M. P. P., Peterborough.
Thomas P. Coffee, Esq., Q. C., Guelph.
D. W. Karn, Esq., organ and piano manufacturer, Woodstock.
C. Kloepfer, Esq., M. P., wholesale carriage hardware merchant, Guelph and Toronto.
Dr. J. M. Lefevre, Vancouver, B. C.

Votes of Thanks.

Votes of thanks were then adopted to the President, Board of Directors, Local Boards, Officials and other representatives of the Association.

Election of Officers.

At a subsequent meeting of the Directors the following officers were elected :

President—J. R. Stratton, Esq., M. P. P., Peterborough.
Vice-President—Thos. P. Coffee, Esq., Q. C., Guelph.
Executive Committee—The President, Vice-President and one Director.

The meeting then adjourned.

GOOD ENDORSERS.

Every business man understands that no matter how valuable the signature on a note may be, his confidence is greatly increased if the note is well endorsed.

This is equally true of articles other than notes. It is particularly true of pianos. The musical public always likes to know if a piano is well endorsed.

The Mason & Risch Piano is undoubtedly endorsed by more eminent names than any other instrument made in Canada. Here are a few of them :—

Madame Albani	Franz Lizst
Sir A. C. McKenzie (Principal Royal College of Music)	F. H. Torrington
	S. P. Warren
Dr. Bridge (Organist Westminster Abbey)	Edouard Remenyi
	W. Waugh Lauder
Otto Bendix	Signor D'Auria
Frederick Archer	Watkins Mills
Mrs. Longmore	Edouard Scharff

These are but few of the many eminent admirers of our pianos. We could go on and fill a column but we think this enough to establish our claim to be well endorsed.

An examination of our instruments is cordially solicited no matter how remote your idea of purchase may be.

Our prices are reasonable, quality considered, and our terms elastic enough to suit anyone.

AND 42 WERE KILLED

Terrible Railway Smash In New Jersey.

EXPRESS AND EXCURSION TRAINS

Come Together Near Atlantic City With Awful Results—Eighty Passengers Injured, Many of Whom Will Die —A Woman Drops Dead on Hearing Her Husband Was Killed.

Atlantic City, N.J., July 30.—A terrible railroad catastrophe took place about two miles out of this city shortly after 6.30 o'clock this evening, resulting in the death of 42 people, as far as now can be learned, and the wounding of 80 others.

A train left here, consisting of seven cars over the West Jersey Railroad, bearing a special excursion of Red Men and their friends of Bridgetown, N.J., and Salem and had reached the crossing of the Reading Railroad, when it was struck by the 5.40 down express from Philadelphia, demolishing two cars and telescoping two following.

The engine of the Reading train became a total wreck, killing the engineer and fatally injuring the fireman, and the car behind it also was thrown from the track and many of its occupants killed or injured.

The responsibility for the collision has not yet been placed, but William Thurlow, the operator at the Block Tower, situated at the crossing, has been arrested by order of the coroner.

Leaving this city the tracks of the West Jersey Road run parallel to those of the Camden and Atlantic until after they cross the drawbridge, when they switch off to the south, crossing the Reading Road at an oblique angle.

John Greiner, the engineer of the West Jersey train, saw the Reading train approaching the crossing at a swift speed, but as the signals were open for him to proceed on his way he continued. His engine had barely cleared the track of the Reading when the locomotive of the latter train, which left Philadelphia at 5.40 p.m., struck the first car full in the centre, throwing it far off the track into a nearby ditch, and completely submerging it. The second car of the West Jersey train was also carried into the ditch, the third and fourth cars being telescoped. The engine of the Reading train was thrown to the other side of the track, carrying with it the first coach.

A few minutes after the collision, to add to the horror of the situation, the boiler of the Reading locomotive exploded, scalding several to death and casting its boiling spray over many of the injured passengers.

As soon as the news reached this city, thousands of people flocked to the scene. The road leading to the place of the collision was a constant procession of hacks, 'buses, bikes and all kinds of vehicles, while thousands of pedestrians hurried along the path to render what assistance they could or to satisfy their curiosity.

Darkness fell quickly and the work of rescuing the injured and taking out the dead bodies was carried out under the lurid glare of huge bonfires. It was a gruesome sight presented to onlookers as the mangled and burnt forms of the dead were carried from the wreckage which bound them and laid side by side on the gravel bank near the track with no other pall than the few newspapers gathered from the passenger cars.

The wounded were quickly gathered together and carried by train and wagon to the Atlantic City Hospital, where six of them died shortly after their arrival.

The old excursion house at the foot of Mississippi-avenue was converted into a Morgue and thither the dead were taken.

At a late hour this evening there were 29 bodies laid out there, none of whom are as yet identified. This city is greatly excited over the accident, the streets in the vicinity of the excursion house and the City Hospital, as well as the road leading to the scene of the accident, being packed with people anxious to learn the latest news.

The Bridgeton and Salem excursionists who escaped injury were brought back to this city and sent home on a special train several hours later in the evening.

James W. Hoyt, secretary of the Department of Public Safety, immediately upon learning of the extent of the catastrophe, telegraphed for the Philadelphia Medical Emergency Corps, 15 of whom responded and hurried to the city on a special train, which left Philadelphia at 10.15 p.m. These surgeons materially aided the volunteer corps of this city. Many of the injured were taken to hotels as the city hospital soon became overcrowded. About 30 of the wounded had their injuries dressed and were able to proceed on their way.

It is said that fully a dozen of those now lying in the hospital will not survive their injuries.

Mrs. Edward Farr, wife of the Reading engineers who met death while performing his duty and was found with one hand on the throttle and the other on the brake, when informed of the accident and her husband's tragic death, was unable to withstand the shock, and fell to the floor dead.

The identified dead are:

Bridgeton in Mourning.

Bridgeton, N.J., July 30.—Midnight.—Bridgeton is in the greatest excitement and anxiety regarding the railroad horror near Atlantic City. The streets are full of people and the telegraph office is crowded with persons excitedly seeking for information. Details are slow in coming in, but it is learned that over 40 were killed, mostly from Bridgeton. The whole city is in mourning.

ON BUSINESS LINES

Mr. Tarte Proposes to Run His Department.

MEN WHO ARE NOT NEEDED MUST GO

The Minister of Public Works Issues a Circular to the Taxpayers of the Dominion—No Dismissals Have Yet Been Made for Political Cause.

Montreal, July 30.—(Special.)—Hon. J. I. Tarte has issued the following, which speaks for itself:

"Put this question to the ratepayers of the Dominion:

"Most of the departments of the Civil Service are crowded with useless employes.

"These employes, who may be honest people, but whom the departments do not require, must be notified without delay that their services are no longer wanted.

"Our opponents will raise a cry of persecution and tyranny.

"They have already commenced that song.

"To speak only of the Deparment of Public Works, which is in my charge, and for which I am responsible, this is what I have done: I summoned before me the chiefs of the various branches of the service, and I told each one of them to make out a list of the employes whom they do not require, or do not deserve, because of their conduct, to be maintained in their positions. These lists have been placed before me with detailed reports. I have acted upon these reports.

"In the town of Sorel alone more than 70 men have had to leave the Government workshops or offices.

"At Ottawa in the offices and workshops of my department, about 120 persons will cease figuring on the pay lists after Aug. 1.

"I repeat it: The action which I have resolved on taking is based upon the reports of the heads of the various branches, to whom I have left for the moment the full responsibility of the selection which has been made.

"The heading which I have given this article deserves the attention of all men of good faith. Is the Government a hospital or a house of rest? In other words, is it the duty of the Government to keep in its employ hundreds and thousands of persons whose services are not necessary to the administration of affairs? Is it right to tax commerce, industry and the working classes to feed a veritable army of public servants?

"I have not made a single dismissal for political cause. I do not bind myself not to make any. I simply state that I have not made any. A state employe who plunges into the electoral melee naturally takes the risk of being dismissed if the party which he is fighting reaches power. If his party triumphs he may expect to be rewarded by more rapid promotion.

"The ordinary civil employe who minds his business follows the ordinary routine through which he must go before reaching the higher offices.

"In spite of the short time which the new ministers have had at their disposal since their accession to office, they have ascertained that great reforms are needed. To accomplish them they need the help of public opinion. Eighteen years of power, wielded too often by men without scruples, have engendered intolerable abuses. Mr. Laurier and his colleagues are ready to remedy these. (Sgd.) J. I. TARTE."

GREAT FIRE AT MONTREAL.

The Exhibition Buildings Almost Totally Destroyed—Loss $150,000—Rebuilding Will Begin at Once.

Montreal, July 30.—The Exhibition buildings here were almost totally destroyed by fire this morning at an early hour. It was shortly after 1 o'clock that the flames broke out in the power house of the Montreal Park and Island Railway Company, situated at the north end of the Exhibition grounds. The buildings were of very inflammable material and the flames spread with great rapidity. When the first alarm was rung in from box 224 the fire apparatus from the upper part was then tearing down to the fire on lower St. Peter-street, and that portion of the city was left without any protection excepting such as might be given by the fire brigades of St. Louis du Mile End and Coteau St. Louis.

A stiff breeze was blowing from the northwest, which carried the flames into the main exhibition building, a large wooden structure with a glass dome. In the twinkling of an eye the whole fabric was one mass of flames.

In the meantime successive alarms were being sent in. But all the fire apparatus was busily engaged down town and the gongs in the stations clanged out in vain. When the reels, ladders and engines did get started on their long up-hill run the sky was brilliantly illuminated, and hundreds of people left their beds to take in the spectacle.

By the time the first detachment of firemen reached the scene the power house of the Montreal Park and Island Railway, the main structure of the large group of buildings, and the engine house on the eastern side of the grounds were reduced to ashes. At that stage the wind was carrying the flames down towards Mount Royal-avenue, among the live stock buildings. The heat from the burning structures was intense, and the firemen could not get close enough to do effective work. At any rate the streams which were playing on the flames were insignificant compared with the sea of fire with which they were intended to cope.

At 3 o'clock a strong northwest wind was blowing, and the fire was spreading to the sheds and across Mount Royal-avenue to Machinery Hall and other buildings. By daybreak the buildings north of Mount Royal-avenue had been consumed. A quantity of hose was destroyed and one engine had to be abandoned to the spreading flames. The amount of loss has not yet been ascertained, but it cannot be less than $150,000.

Mr. S. C. Stevenson, secretary of the Exhibition Company, says that the work of rebuilding will be commenced immediately, and that the exhibition will be duly held next September. The loss to the Park and Island Railway is placed at $20,000.

Sour

Stomach, sometimes called waterbrash, and burning pain, distress, nausea, dyspepsia, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This it accomplishes because with its wonderful power as a blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla gently tones and strengthens the stomach and digestive organs, invigorates the liver, creates an appetite, gives refreshing sleep, and raises the health tone. In cases of dyspepsia and indigestion it seems to have "a magic touch."

"For over 12 years I suffered from sour with severe pains across my shoulders, and great distress. I had violent nausea which would leave me very weak and faint, difficult to get my breath. These spells came oftener and more severe. I did not receive any lasting benefit from physicians, but found such happy effects from a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I took several bottles and mean to always keep it in the house. I am now able to do all my own work, which for six years I have been unable to do. My husband and son have also been greatly benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla—for pains in the back, and after the grip. I gladly recommend this grand blood medicine." MRS. THE HARDY GOVERNMENT.

Globe, July 30th.

Public opinion in Ontario seems to be settling down to the conviction that the Ontario Government was never more deserving of the good-will and confidence of the province. It is found that Mr. Hardy's public record is invulnerable. Although nearly a score of years in office no stigma attaches to his public reputation, and no botch or job has been revealed in all his long administration of important public departments. The new ministers bring distinct strength to the Administration. Mr. Balfour is progressive, if not radical, in his views of public policy. He has been an industrious legislator. He is a strenuous opponent of all class measures. He is an expert in municipal questions, and he is besides a keen, shrewd, resourceful politician. Mr. Davis, of North York, stands for interests that specially deserve representation in a business government. He is connected with important business enterprises and with the Board of Trade of Toronto. He has won his position in his own business by the sweat of his brow. He knows what it is to be an operative as well as an employer of labour, and he has a thorough knowledge not only of municipal but of general Provincial questions. He is one of the best authorities on financial subjects in the Legislature, and his speeches have been one of the main features of recent budget debates. As a speaker he is forcible, but fair and moderate, and he has an unusual gift of lucid statement. In Federal as well as in Provincial elections he has spoken on platforms all over the country, and perhaps no man could have been appointed to the Cabinet with the sympathy and endorsation of a greater number of the Liberals of the Province. Mr. Stratton, of West Peterborough, a very successful politician and a man of exceptional business capacity was very strongly supported for the place in the Government which was given to Mr. Balfour. Mr. Stratton, during his term in public life, has perhaps made greater progress than any other man in the Assembly. It is not too much to say that Eastern Ontario very generally desired his appointment to the Cabinet, and it is still less to say that Mr. Stratton must win Cabinet honours before many years have passed over.

CANADIAN GOLD.

While our good Yankee neighbours are struggling with the silver question in desperate fashion, we in Canada are wrestling with the gold question, but in a more hopeful and agreeable way. There is a general boom in the gold mining industry in Canada, the chief field being British Columbia and the Algoma District. English capitalists are already in receipt of an enormous income from their British Columbia investments. Canadian and American capitalists were invited to invest, but they declined to do so, evidently under the impression that the statements made regarding the wonderful mineral wealth of the "mountains of gold and silver" were largely fairy tales. Nothing daunted, those interested in developing the properties went to England, where they secured all the financial assistance they required, and now the English capitalists are adding to their golden store, not in hundreds, not in thousands, but in tens of thousands of dollars, and as yet the development is only in its infancy. It would be better if this vast wealth could have been materialised by our own people and kept in our own country, but the great want of every new country is capital, and if we have to employ the golden key of our English friends to unload the treasures of our auriferous hills, we must rest thankful with the share that comes to our hands.

SOMETHING ABOUT SERMONS.

A protest against the present taste of the church-going public in regard to sermons is made by the Evangelist in a recent number. It first objects to the growing demand for discourses that are "easy to listen to." It says:

"Not to be taxed, but rested," is the cry of many church-goers. As if the child had said, "Not to be talked to, but sung to." Now there is no reason in being obstinate, to try to make men think against their wills, in opposition to their expressed wishes. At the same time a preacher who has earnest ideas to present, or who knows the real needs, will not consent to go into his pulpit with sponges and curry-comb to groom his world-tired hearers, rub down their souls into repose, put them to sleep with themselves, or spiritually to sleep, and send them forth as from a bath or a barber's chair, better in condition through no effort of their own.

The sermon ought to do more, the writer thinks, than to soothe, up to the point of becoming soporific; if it begets no new thought, purpose or desire, its benefits are at least questionable. The second cry of protest is raised against the time limit, which is becoming more and more contracted. Says the writer:

Another thing tries the preacher of to-day beyond the rack that stretched, or the movable ceiling that crushed, the martyrs, and that is the guillotine for any sermon over thirty minutes! A great subject, yet not a second beyond the stroke of time! Eternity is nothing to that extra ten minutes tacked on for a special thought. With such conditions men wrestle as they may. Some grow scrappy and inconsequent. Others make a dash here and there over the field, merely to show what they would do "were there time." Yet others "drone the space," and have the Amen ready to drag like the key-stone of an unbuilt arch. It would be within the truth to say that there are better sermons preached to-day, and poorer also, than have ever been before. The crisis is upon our Sunday sermon.

The conclusion is that the remedy for all this lies in putting more of the Bible into the sermons. Says the concluding paragraph:

Without pretending to wisdom or discovery of the only right of way to meet the crisis, we fall back on the absolutely inexhaustible riches and variety of the Scriptures and suggest that the Sunday sermon must get more than its motto from the Bible. We think we see in the preaching that is now holding the public ear a careful study of the lines on which Bible story runs and an adroit comparison with the life of to-day. In short, a keen, intelligent, practical exposition of the Bible, in portions suited to the time allotted, into which is crammed the wisdom of the ages, along with the good sense and experience of to-day, is the salvation of our Sunday sermon from "wordy nothings" of platitude on the one hand, and, on the other, the perfunctory oratory of a paid lectureship, with its subscribing hearers in the pews.

Our sympathy it seems ought to be with the preacher as against the hearer. He has a distinct duty to discharge, a message to deliver and, to quote the great apostle, his cry is "woe is me if I preach not the Gospel. The quality of a sermon is a relative matter within reasonable limits; the quality of the sermon and its effectiveness depend as much upon the hearer as upon the preacher. A man who takes his seat in the pew bored in advance and in rebellion against the demands of custom that he shall defer to the claims of respectability by putting in an appearance at church, is apt to consider the best pulpit deliverance a wearisome and irksome affair; or the man who recognizes in the reproofs and appeals of the preacher, no matter how apposite to his case, no personal application and lazily turns them over to his neighbour as befitting his moral condition, is apt to regard the sermon as an abstract and academical disequisition on morals not very brilliant nor clever but merely so-so. But the worshipper who settles himself in his pew determined to think the best of what the preacher says, to be charitable in his judgment, and to be profitted, will be profitted, and will in nine cases out of ten hear a good sermon. Small blame for failure to a preacher who projects his best eloquence into listless faces, broken up at intervals with Laodicean yawns. Even St. Paul himself must have been disheartened by preaching Eutychus asleep and sermonising him out of the window. In the majority of cases clogged receptivity of the hearer is more responsible for poor preaching than the quality of the sermoner's offering.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A protest has been entered against the election of Mr. Kaulback, Conservative M. P. elect for Lunenburg County.

THE Americans are getting excited over the silver scare. Contractors are demanding a clause in contracts calling for payment in gold.

NORTH OXFORD Reformers will meet in convention on August 18 to nominate a successor to Sir Oliver Mowat to represent them in the Ontario Legislative Assembly.

IT has been decided to protest the election of T. Dixon Craig, M.P. elect for East Durham, whose majority was 160. The papers have been forwarded to Toronto and will probably be filed at Osgoode hall to-day.

THE Liberals of Manitoba have filed protests in Winnipeg against the return of Mr. Hugh John Macdonald for Winnipeg, Mr. Roche for Marquette, and Mr. Boyd for Macdonald. The usual charges of bribery are made.

IT is strongly claimed for lager that it is not intoxicating. However, it remains to be explained that in the hot season when this wash of beer is the prevailing drink, that the reports of sea serpent seen in the sea increase in number.

MAJOR SAM HUGHES will not be left in undisputed possession of North Victoria. The Liberals are considering the advisability of protesting the election and are almost unanimous in their wish to do so. Should the protest be successful, Dr. McKay, M.P.P. for West Victoria, it is rumoured, will resign his seat in the Local Legislature to become the Liberal standard bearer.

Strength for the Aged.

As age advances the recuperative power of the body decreases. Fatigue clings like a burr to the already depleted store of energy, still further wasting and dissipating it, and in consequence the elderly find it very hard to keep their spirits up to the "doing" point. An anchor of hope and safety is found in the energizing action of Maltine with Coca Wine, which imparts almost magically, strength and vigor to the failing powers, and through its nutritive and tonic properties, renews these functional activities upon which depend health of body and vigor of mind. Maltine with Coca Wine rapidly restores appetite, improves digestion, imparts tone and vigor to the nervous system; in a word is a strength-giver of unequalled excellence. Maltine with Coca Wine is prescribed and recommended by physicians. All druggists sell it.

That hacking, persistent cough can be quickly cured by using Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It cures all throat and and lung troubles.

Failure and Success.

It is often all the little things that constitute the wide difference between success and failure. Some men, earnest in purpose, capable in many ways, seem unable to discern the import of minor, nevertheless important elements, and neglect in consequence to grasp the opportunities that if accepted would carry them on to victory. In the same way people are imposed upon by mercenary druggists, who to gain an additional profit, practice the dishonest method of substitution. Calling for Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, they accept some worthless flesh-eating substitutes, only to be disappointed or suffer injury. Putnam's Corn Cure is the only reliable one.

HERR PFLUNGER'S CARTRIDGES

which absorbs the hurtful acrid matter that accumulates in the ordinary tobacco pipe, and prevents the nicotine poison which produces most of the ill effects arising from smoking.

Sir Morrell Mackenzie,

the late celebrated English Throat Specialist, wrote the following opinion of Herr Pflunger's invention:—

DEAR SIR,—I think that Herr Pflunger's invention is a very good one. I have tried it and find that it answers well. The only suggestion that I can make is that it should have an additional mouthpiece which could be screwed into the proximate extremity of the pipe so as to make the stem twice the length it now is. This would lower the temperature of the smoke as it comes into the mouth. That the smoke should be cool is almost as important as that it should be free from acrid matters. You are at liberty to make whatever use of this letter that you may think fit.

Yours Truly,
MORRELL MACKENZIE.

HON. WM. MULOCK

Honored by His Constituents In North York.

A GRAND GATHERING AT AURORA

The Postmaster-General Presented With Congratulatory Addresses and Eulogised by Eloquent Speakers—Conservatives Join Liberals in Paying Tribute to Good Men.

Aurora, July 30.—(Special.)—The Reformers of North York have awakened to a thorough appreciation of the fact that they now have representatives in the Federal and Provincial Legislatures who are members of the Dominion and Provincial Governments and as such entitled to the prefix of "Honorable." This is an honor which no other constituency in Ontario, if not in the whole Dominion, can boast of, and the fact afforded no little satisfaction to the speakers and audience this afternoon The nomination for the election rendered necessary by the acceptance by Hon. William Mulock of the office of Postmaster-General was made the occasion of a great demonstration in honor of that gentleman, and incidentally of the other honorable gentleman who represents the constituency in Hon. Mr. Hardy's Cabinet. As anticipated, the Postmaster-General was re-elected by acclamation.

The hotels of the town were decorated with flags, and some of the business houses and private residences also displayed bunting in honor of the occasion.

The scene of the demonstration was Hartman's Grove, in which a substantial platform had been erected. A number of the Public school children sang "The Maple Leaf," led by Mr. E. W. Schuch of Toronto and accompanied by the band. The program was well arranged, the speeches being interspersed with songs by Mr. Schuch or selections by the various bands, of which the following were present: Twelfth York Batt., Sutton, Queensville, Mount Albert, Schomberg, Ketleby and Bradford.

Mayor Fleury of Aurora occupied the chair, and on behalf of the Town Council and citizens of Aurora read an address of congratulation to the Postmaster-General. This was followed by similar addresses from the North York Reform Association and the North York Young Liberal Association.

Dr. Coultr, Vice-President of the Reform Association, made a plea to the electors not to tie themselves to party as in the past, but to take firm hold of principles and vote as their conscience dictated.

Hon. E. J. Davis expressed pleasure at seeing such a large gathering, composed of electors on both sides of politics, to mark their appreciation of the honor conferred upon North York. The Reform party would show itself worthy of the confidence reposed in it. Referring to the remark attributed to Sir Charles Tupper in a recently published interview in reference to Mr. Laurier's use of words to conceal his views, if that gentleman had any, upon public questions, he repudiated the insinuation with some warmth and pointed to Mr. Laurier's action on the floor of the House at the recent session, as well as to his present majority, as an ample reply. Referring to local politics, he expressed regret at the loss to the province of Sir Oliver Mowat, and gratification that in that gentleman's successor the people of Ontario had one of the most distinguished and able men in the Dominion, and one of the most painstaking and honest Ministers that ever held a portfolio.

Mr. J. S. Willison believed the source of Mr. Mulock's strength in North York to be in the fact that he was a patriot before a partisan and a Canadian before a Reformer. It was, he declared, easy to work for economy when in Opposition, but it was not so easy when it was the people of their own household who were drawing their monthly salary cheques as when they belonged to the enemy. He made an appeal to all Reformers to hold up the hands of the Government and make it easy for them to fulfil when in office the policy they had professed when in Opposition. They expected the leaders of their party, now that they were in power, to carry out their promises, to repeal the gerrymander act, to reduce the swarm of officials and to wipe out of existence the Franchise Act.

The Chairman announced Mr. Joseph Tait as the next speaker, but was corrected by an enthusiastic Reformer, who shouted "Joe Tait," to the amusement of the audience. He spoke upon the necessity of true constituents as essential to the production of true manly representatives, and congratulated North York upon its loyalty to Mr. Mulock.

Hon. W. Mulock was loudly cheered. He said that words failed to express the feelings of a grateful heart for the magnificent expression of the confidence of the electors. He recognized the fact that the assemblage had gathered more from appreciation of the honor conferred upon the constituency than on his personal account. Referring to the defeat of the Conservative party at the polls, he said it was at least due to Sir Charles Tupper to say that his defeat was owing rather to the methods that he adopted than to his aims, for he (the speaker) believed that Sir Charles was deeply attached to Canada and desirous of doing his best to advance her interests. Referring to the future policy of the Government, Mr. Mulock disclaimed authority to make any pronouncement on behalf of his leader or the Government, but he laid down the policy that the Government could undoubtedly do much to benefit the Canadian farmer by opening up markets that are not now accessible to him.

He was permitted, however, in a general way to indicate wherein he believed the present Administration may materially advance the interests of Canada. The expenditure of millions of dollars, not in the public interest, but for private advantage, could and must be stopped. He found there was a market in Great Britain for $235,000,000 worth of farm produce annually, while Canada at the present time only contributed towards that amount the mere bagatelle of $6,000,000. In order to develop this trade it is necessary to provide means whereby the produce from Canadian farms may be laid down in perfectly sound condition at the tables of Great Britain, and this can be effected by a very general expansion throughout Canada, upon the railways and on the ocean steamers of the cold storage system.

Another way in which the interests of the country might be improved would be in making known to the world the vast stores of illimitable mineral wealth which she possesses, and so far as the public interest would warrant remove the obstruction to the development of this industry which now exists owing to the lack of railways.

As a member of the Administration, he proposed to hold his party and Government to the redemption of every pledge that had been given upon the platform.

Aemilius Irving, C.E., of Hamilton, and Mr. Gillespie, Reform candidate for North Ontario in the bye-election, when Major McGillivray was first returned; Maj. Cook and William Lount, Q.C., M.P., also spoke.

The demonstration was a great success, fully 6000 people being present on the grounds. Among them were: Reeve W. J. Hill of York, Dr. Lynd, J. J. Ward, Ald. Hallam, B. B. Hughes, John Flett, T. O. Anderson, Rev. Father Minehan and a number of others from Toronto.

WHAT THE SOCIALISTS DID.

They Cast Aside the Anarchists and Got Down to Business—The Question of Political Parties.

London, July 30.—The fourth day's session of the International Socialist Trades Congress which is meeting in St. Martin's Town Hall, this city, managed to day to put aside the disputes which have characterized the former procedings and to transact a little business, the first of the session aside from fighting over the question of the admission of Anarchists as delegates.

The session to-day was presided over by Signor Forri, an Italian delegate. After a little mild mannered discussion, the credential question was dropped and the Anarchists who have made a most bitter fight for admission withdrew.

The congress then proceeded to the discussion of the agrarian question. M. Vandervelda, Belgian delegate, read a paper on behalf of M. Delory, the Socialist Mayor of Lille, France, who was suspended from the office for having been concerned in the recent rioting in that city on the occasion of the arrival there of a number of German delegates to a Socialist congress. The writer of the paper contended that it was the first duty of the Socialist to organize the agricultural proletariat and to continue the efforts for the amelioration of their condition. He held that it was left to every nation to formulate the best means to attain this end. A discussion on the paper followed.

The congress adopter resolutions declaring that the only solution of the land question lay in Socialism and congratulating the working classes in Russia upon their having awakened to the importance of the movement for the betterment of the condition of the working people, and wishing them success in their struggle against political tyranny.

Twenty Dutch trades union delegates withdrew, having become dissatisfied with the manner of conducting the congress; but one Dutch Socialist remained. The congress declared in favor of the adoption of a political policy independent of all the old parties.

UNITE AGAINST ENGLAND.

Russia and France to Seize an Opportunity for Forcing a Settlement of the Egyptian Question.

Berlin, July 30.—The Novoe Vremya, the official newspaper at St. Petersburg, publishes an inspired article stating that King Menelik of Abyssinia is preparing to seize the towns along the Red Sea in the fall. Politicians here think that while Italy is engaged with Menelik, Russia and France will demand from England a settlement of the Egyptian question.

It has been held that consumption is hereditary, and the fact that one person of a family had died of consumption was considered a sure sign that others of that family could not escape it. This is partly true and partly untrue. A man with weak lungs is likely to transmit that weakness to his children. But there is no reason in the world why the weakness should be allowed to develop. Keep the lungs full of rich, red, wholesome blood, and the weakness will disappear. Decaying tissues will be thrown off, and new material will be added until the lungs are well and perfectly strong again. This is the thing that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does. This is what makes it cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption where it is taken according to directions. It searches out disease germs wherever they may be in the blood, and forces them out of the system. It supplies the blood with rich, life-giving properties. It makes the appetite good, digestion perfect. Send 31 cents in one cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

Mr. E. W. Haslitt, Reeve of Chatham Township, Kent County, Ont., says: "My daughter has been very weakly for some years; she was very pale and always felt tired; she was prevailed upon by a friend to try a box of Miller's Compound Iron Pills. I must say it was a good investment; she at once began to improve. The colour came to her cheeks, she got strong rapidly, and now is quite well."

SKIPPED IN THE NIGHT.

Joseph La Croix, a Thunder Bay Fisherman, Gone With Another Fisherman's Wife.

Penetanguishene, July 30.—Joseph H. LaCroix, a Thunder Bay fisherman, is reported to have eloped with the wife of Joseph Contois, another fisherman. The woman left four children for her husband to take care of, taking an infant with her, while LaCroix left four children also for his wife to care for. Constable Landrigan has set sail in his boat on a search for the missing pair, who are cruising among the islands of Georgian Bay in a sail boat, and living, it is said, on huckleberries and lake water. Before going, LaCroix is alleged to have broken into Contois' house and stolen $2.50 cash, at the same time gathering together Mrs. Contois' clothing.

AN EXCEPTIONAL SALE.

St. John is Much Interested in the Recent Medical Discovery.

St. John, N.B., July 20.—The many cases of marvellous restoration to health from various forms of kidney trouble which have been constantly appearing in the daily press of the Dominion have for some time awakened the liveliest interest here, and the remedy by which the cures were effected namely, Dodd's Kidney Pills are obtaining great celebrity throughout the province. The appearance of the testimonials of Drs. Rose and McCormick stating the benefits which they had personally derived from their use was considered a sufficient sign of the merits of the remedy, and the other interesting and wonderful cases which since been chronicled had caused the specific to have an exceptional sale.

DEANERY OF NORTHUMBERLAND.

It has Just Concluded its Regular Half-yearly Meeting.

The Deanery of Northumberland has just concluded a very enjoyable meeting at Mr. Tate's summer residence, "Headlands," at Stony Lake. The proceedings were opened on Tuesday evening with Evening Prayer, the service being taken by Rev. F. J. Hartley, and the sermon by Rev. Canon Macnab, of Toronto.

Holy Communion was celebrated on Wednesday morning, and during the day papers were read and discussed on "Judaistic Christianity," being a review of a recently published work by the late Prof. Hart, by Rev. H. Gibson, and on "The Development of Christianity in the Acts of the Apostles," by Rev. G. Warren.

The Rural Dean, Rev. G. Webb, and Rev. H. Symonds took part in the discussion.

At the close of the meeting a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Tate for his hospitality, which the Deanery has now a second time enjoyed.

The next regular meeting will be held in February at Grafton.

PLACING DYNAMITE IN BELMONT LAKE.

Fish Being Killed by This Method—Very Unsportsmanlike.

The unsportmanlike method of securing fish by placing dynamite in the water has been practised by visitors to Belmont Lake during the past few weeks.

The authorities are on the track of some of the offenders of the law, and expect soon to make some arrests. Not only is the practice unsportsmanlike but it is disastrous, as it kills thousands of young fish.

The penalty for placing dynamite in the water for that purpose is very severe. If the practice were to continue uninterrupted, it would mean that a number of Americans who visit this section each year would cease to come and would look for another fishing ground.

ENTRANCE EXAMINATIONS.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I write you to inquire why the result of the Entrance and Public School Leaving Examinations for the town are not published in detail, with the number of marks scored in each subject, as is given in the case of the county pupils. My lad failed to pass, and beyond the simple reason to account for his failure that he did not get marks enough, I should like to know what subjects he was short in. I then could form some idea in what subjects he needed special coaching and help. I should be very glad to have the names of the pupils published, together with the number of marks taken in each subject.

Yours, etc.,
PARENT.

[In regard to the above THE EXAMINER has made inquiry, and it seems that the Board of Examiners decided not publish the names or marks of unsuccessful candidates because several, for various reasons, failed, and it was held that it would be subjecting them to unnecessary humiliation to have their marks made known to form the subject of thoughtless chaffing from more successful class mates. Besides, the marks made by each pupil have been forwarded individually to each candidate for the entrance examinations, so that unless there has been some suppression of the numbers by the candidates, every parent is put in possession of the standing, as well as the weak subjects of his boy or girl.—ED. EXAMINER.

—It is not necessary to go a-fishing for bass out of town, as Mr. Duncan, of Duncan & Gray, hooked several at the Hunter street bridge last evening weighing several pounds. In the earlier hours of the morning quite a number of anglers may be seen at this particular spot making large catches.

—The many friends of Wm. Whittaker, who had his hand so badly crushed owing to a hogshead of ale falling upon it at Calcutt's brewery some weeks ago, will be pleased to learn that he is able to take an occasional walk. Cloth of Wood Fibre.

The important question of how best to withstand winter's frosty weather interests everybody. And this question is now settled by the great possibilities offered by Fibre Chamois. It is the pure fibre of the spruce tree made as soft as silk or wool by an interesting chemical process, and then felted together just as wool or cotton is, making a strong, windproof and cheap fabric. Nearly every one knows that wood is one of the best non-conductors of heat and cold to be found, so this interlining made entirely from the wood affords thorough protection from the most cold or searching winds, at the same time preserving the natural heat of the body. These facts united with its light weight and pliable nature make it an invaluable interlining for outer clothing of every description.

GEORGE STREET SEWER.

As stated in Yesterday's EXAMINER work on the replacing of the George street sewer will begin next week. In view of this many and most of those having to pass the day on this thoroughfare, are considerably concerned over the unpleasant consequence of letting loose the vile odors that are held imprisoned in the old sewer. It is feared that the stench will not only be unbearably offensive but also detrimental to health. This sewer has for the past forty years or so been absorbing vile odors of which we have had very unpleasant reminders, rising like the exhalations of a charnel house, at frequent intervals at street corner gratings. Every brick in the old sewer is supersaturated with foulness, not at all resembling in odor attar of roses. Citizens living on George street are therefore very much concerned over the means that will be adopted to overcome the pestilent nuisance that will doubtless result from opening up the old sewer. It is suggested that there should be most thorough flushing and disinfection, and it would be well if the Board of Health took measures to superintend the operations necessary to reduce the undoubted nuisance of opening up the sewer to a minimum.

SECRET COMMITTEE MEETINGS.

In reference to a paragraph in yesterday's EXAMINER regarding the secrecy of the committee meetings of the town council, it is to be explained that a councillor says that the statement that "citizens, some of them interested in the tenders under discussion, were present," is incorrect. He says some gentlemen were present at an informal conference with the committee; but when the committee got to business they retired and were not present when the tenders were opened and discussed. The EXAMINER did not mention the circumstance, of whose existence it was informed on good authority, as a reproach, but merely to point the unfairness of excluding reporters of the press in their official capacity and allowing other citizens to be present. The press in Chatham is rebelling against star chamber committee meetings and the Planet tersely says:—"The days of the secret transaction of civic business should be numbered."

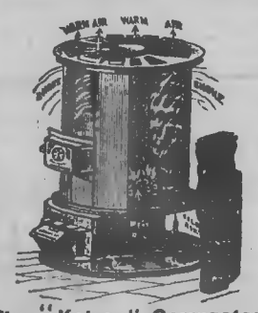
The Most Economical ..House Warmer



The "Kelsey" Corrugated Warm Air Generator.

Any ordinary Hot Air Furnace will produce heat if you will only supply enough fuel. The "Kelsey" has several special and valuable features but most important is that it will give more heat with less fuel and is the most durable heater made.

The "Kelsey" fire pot being constructed of several upright, tubular, corrugated, cast iron sections (see cut) around which the fire passes and up through which the cold air passes while being heated, and this entire section being wrapped with a heavy steel casing which becomes heated by the fire striking it when passing down outside of upright sections towards smoke pipe, it in turn warms the air that passes up between this steel casing and the galvanized iron casing, this explains why the "Kelsey" has three times more radiating surface and warm air capacity than an ordinary Furnace. The "Kelsey" heats every room evenly, wheresoever located, with a nice, mild, healthful warm air that will not injure your furniture.

The "Kelsey" will heat rooms 60 feet distant.

The "Kelsey" does not heat your cellar.

The "Kelsey" is absolutely gas and dust proof.

AMERICA FIRST IN INVENTION.

Leads the World in Patents Granted the Past Twenty-Five Years.

The following statistics compiled from the patents reports of the world are furnished to this paper by Messrs. Marion & Laberge, international patent solicitors and experts, head office, Temple Building, Montreal; branch offices, Ottawa, Washington and London.

Thomas E. Edison leads all American inventors in the number of patents taken out during the past twenty-five years, and the United States lead the world in the number of patents granted within that time.

Twenty-five American inventors have been granted more than one hundred patents each during the past twenty-five years. The whole number of patents granted to those twenty-five gentlemen during this term was 4,804. The lowest number granted was 101 to Geo. H. Reynolds, and the average was nearly 196. The number granted to Mr. Edison was 711 or an average of more than 28 per year. The next highest in the list is Elihu Thompson with 394. Then comes Francis H. Richards, with 343; Chs. Scribner, with 248; Chs. J. Vandepoole, with 244; Rudolph M. Hunter, with 228; Geo. Welsinghouse, jr., with 217; John W. Hyatt, with 198; Rudolph Eickemeyer, with 158; Cyrus W. Saledee, with 148; Luther C. Crowell, with 147; Arthur J. Moxham and F. Raymond, with 144 each; Hiram S. Maxim, with 131, and Geo. D. Burton with 128.

The total number of patents granted all over the world has been 1,544,419, of which 981,981 were granted outside of the United States and 562,438 within the United States. These figures are not quite complete for 1895, or for some of the smallest countries of the world, but they cover all the great civilised states of the of Europe, and practically represent the inventive capacity of the producting and manufacturing nations.

The number of patents of which there is record prior to 1870 was 331,081, of which 22,615 were granted to foreign countries, and 108,416 by the United States. This left 1,213,338 granted during the 26 years from 1870 to 1895, of which 759,346 were granted in foreign countries and 454,042 in the United States. No other country in the world shows even half of the number of patents granted in the United States either during the entire patent history or during the past twenty-six years.

France comes closest and not far from the United States in proportion to population with 100,095 patents granted prior to 1870 and 164,726 since that date.

Great Britain shows 51,337 for earlier period, and 171,146 for the latter.

Germany granted only 8,833 patents prior to 1870, but has granted 92,763 since that time.

Italy and Sardina show a total for their entire history of 37,693; Spain, 16,421; Switzerland, 10,738; Victoria, 8,932; Denmark, 7,292; Sweeden, 9,765; New South Wales, 6,383; Russia, 6,090; Norway, 5,787 and India, 4,812. Malta with twelve patents and St. Helena with four, are the lowest numbers from countries making report.

NORRIS BROS.' ANIMAL SHOW.

It was Well Attended This Afternoon—Something Worth Seeing.

Norris Bros. successfully opened their Equine and Canine Carnival at the corner of George and Dublin streets this afternoon. The entertainment given is undoubtedly the best of its kind ever presented in the town. The company consists of about 100 Shetland ponies and dogs, and the feats that these dumb animals accomplish are beyond description. The entertainment opens with eight Shetland ponies in a military drill. They keep time with the music, and at the snap of the whip they march in single file, double file and many other ways. Ribbons of different colours are tied on their legs and at the command of any of the audience they point out the colour named. The dogs take the principal parts in the entertainment. They walk tight rope, jump through hoops, turn all sorts of somersaults, and many other things too numerous to mention. The entertainment closes with a grand revolving pyramid scene. The pretty dogs and ponies are placed in different positions on the pyramid, the stage is illuminated with red light and the feature presents a beautiful spectacle. The entertainment will be repeated to-night.

ITS FAME SPREADING.

A New Remedy in General Use in Manitoba and the Northwest.

WINNIPEG, July 27th—The effects of the regular wave of sickness which sweeps over this portion of the Dominion in the spring are noticeable in the increasing amount of the druggists' sales. There has been quite a run on the kidney remedy now so well known under the name of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The recovery from Bright's disease of Mr. Arthur Coley, of Somerset, through their use, an account of which appeared in the papers, gave a considerable impetus to the sale, and the remedy has become indispensable in many Manitoba households, its fame having penetrated into the remotest parts of the province and Northwest Territories.

A PLEASANT OUTING.

The North Star Takes a Merry Crowd Down the River.

A large party of gentlemen chartered the steamer North Star yesterday afternoon, and enjoyed a pleasant trip down the river, stopping at Jubilee, Harwood and Idyl Wyld.

There were just thirty-four in the party, and the afternoon passed off very pleasantly. Supper was served on board by Caterer Watt, to whom great credit is due for the appetiving bill of fare which he provided. Appreciating the fact that water trips are great creators of hunger, Mr. Watt had an ample supply of meats and hot vegetables.

A quarter of an hour was spent at Harwood and about as long at Idyl Wyld. On returning across the Lake a pleasant hour was spent at Jubilee, and the party reached home at about half-past ten well pleased with the trip. The North Star made the return trip in less than two hours and a half, including lockage.

LACROSSE.

The Tweed News, in commenting on last Monday's game, says: "One of the best games of lacrosse that Tweed team has put up this season was played against the Peterborough team in that town on Monday afternoon last, which resulted in a victory for the Peterborough team by one goal, the score standing 6 to 5. Although the Peterboroughs came out victorious by one goal, yet it was really no victory for them; for the team against which Tweed playing is the same team, with four men substituted, that are to play against the Tecumsehs on the 5th of August. Considering this fact, it is very little wonder that our boys secured a goal at all. But nothwithstanding this array of strength they succeeded in scoring five goals. The first goal was made by Tweed in 6 minutes, the second by Peterborough in 2 minutes, the third by Peterborough in 5 minutes, the fourth by Tweed in 20 seconds, the fifth by Tweed in 4 minutes, the sixth by Peterboroughs in 1 minute, the seventh by Peterborough in 5 minutes, the eighth by Tweed in 1 minute, the ninth by Tweed 14 minutes, the tenth by Peterborough in 22 minutes, and the eleventh by Peterborough in 3 minutes, the actual time played being one hour and three minutes. Mr. E. R. Huyck acted as Tweed's umpire. The boys are very much pleased with the way they were treated by the Peterborough club."

It is unworthy of the Tweed team to allow such an item to be inserted in their local paper. They were not playing the seniors, as everyone knows. Borland was the only senior man on the team and he was taken on as a twelve could not be picked up amongst the Juniors. The Peterborough Juniors can almost say that they played against and won from the Tecumsehs, as on the Tweed team which played here were McVey, McDonald, Peaker and German, all well known Tecumseh men, whose names were not used until the Tweed paper claimed for its stick handlers the honour of holding the Senior Peterboroughs down as close as 5 to 6.

It is expected that fully 300 from town will patronize the lacrosse excursion to Port Hope on Thursday next, when the Peterboroughs will play for the championship of the district against the Ontarios. The Fire Brigade Band is to accompany the excursion.

THE TURF.

At Cleveland, Ohio, yesterday, Lottie Loraine won the title of queen of pacers, taking the three fastest heats ever paced by a mare, and lowering her record from 2 10½ to 2.07½. This daughter of Gambetta Wilkes started with a field of twelve other horses in the 2.09 pace and won the greatest race of the day. After taking the first two heats she lost the third to Boot Oliver, who beat her out at the wire. She won the third heat on a hard drive from Boot Oliver.

THE WHEEL.

The much talked-of race between the fast Empire State Express train and the Stearns' sextuplet took place the other day along the New York Central R. R. tracks near Syracuse, N. Y., over a specially prepared bicycle path. On the first trial the bicycle led the express in a half-mile dash by three lengths, but in the next half-mile the engine led by two lengths. The Stearns have issued another challenge for a mile race.

Half-asleep Los Angeles policemen were astonished on a recent night to see scorching through the city streets a wheelman whose sole garment was a night shirt. Failing to stop him they followed and found him turning in a fire alarm. The rider's promptness in not waiting to clothe himself was responsible for preventing a disastrous fire.

The following wise sayings appear in the Medical Record and are well worthy of consideration:—Cycling is said to greatly mitigate the symptoms of hay fever, relieving the eye irritation and keeping off the paroxysms of sneezing. If one cannot ride with the mouth closed, the point of the tongue should be pressed against the upper front teeth, so as to break the force of the inspired air and make it warm. Violent cycling tends to produce hypertrophy of the heart.

Women riders are rejoicing over the great improvements which have been made in skirt guards of late and which are so superior to those manufactured a few years ago. Instead of heavy wire, in nearly all the machines a fine cord has been introduced of silk or linen, which is fastened to eyelets in the rim of the wheel guard and then drawn tightly to the axle, reaching over only a quarter of the wheel. The cord is sometimes woven in hammock meshes, fashioned in some bright colour, and gives pleasing suggestions of costumes which the rider might wear.

Over in Vienna, where the people live by rule and cannot go to bed without police permission, all bicycle riders, before being allowed to ride on the public streets, are required to pass an examination. They are required to ride between boards laid on the floor without touching the side or edge of them. At the word of command they must be able to dismount either right or left or backward. Until the rider passes this examination satisfactorily, a license to ride on the public highway is refused him. How many Peterborough cyclists would ride in Vienna.

SEVENTH DAY ADVENTISTS.

Report and Announcement of Services Held.

A meeting was held in the mission tent Tuesday evening, at which time a discourse was given on the signs of the times which precede the second coming of Christ. The dark day of May 19, 1780, the refusal of the moon to give her light on the evening of the same day, the thrilling, yet beautiful, meteoric shower of Nov. 13, 1833, etc., all received attention during the sermon. These events are way marks, recorded in the 24th chap. of Matthew, showing the coming of Christ to be very near.

The preaching last evening was on the Bible plan of redemption, or the work of the law and Gospel contrasted. God's immitable law is the rule of right in his universe. Violation of that law is sin, but the Gospel through Jesus Christ is to free us from the condemnation of the law, but not to abolish it. It is the remedy for sins, as they may be revealed by the "perfect law of liberty."

The text of discourse this evening will be James ii., 11. The subject for Saturday evening will be "The Seal of God;" Sunday, 2.30 p.m., "The Signs of the Times;" Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, "The Saints' Inheritance."

Men's Flannel Pants, in plain, Stripes and White Duck, regular $1.00 to $1.50, Grafton's special price, $50.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Sparks From the Wheels—Cinders for the Eye.

Mr. J. W. Leonard, general superintendent of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Toronto, has returned from a tour of inspection of the western section of the road. Mr. Leonard accompanied Mr. Thomas Tait, assistant general manager of the road. The party travelled in the private car Earnscliffe and went as far as Brantford.

A circular has been issued by the Grand Trunk, signed by General Manager Hayes, to the effect that after August 5th the schedule of rates from Detroit and other Michigan points will be exclusive of cartage charges, and for all freight handled by the Shedden Company a fixed charge of from 2½ to 2½ cents per hundred pounds will be added to the fixed rate. It is said that this means that the Grand Trunk has determined to fight the Shedden Company, which claims to have a contract with the road for the haulage of freight, the charge for which has been in the past included in the freight charges of the Grand Trunk. General Manager Hayes is at present in Detroit, and the arrangement of this difficulty is said to be his business there.

Sometimes it seems to weary woman that she must certainly give up. The simplest and easiest work becomes an almost insurmountable task. Lassitude almost overcomes her. Nervousness and sleeplessness and pain harass her and life seems hardly worth the living.

That her sufferings are due solely to her own fault seldom occurs to her, but often it is so. Health, strength and vigorous vitality are hers if she will but ask and reach for them.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was made for her. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery was made for her. The former is for the ills distinctly feminine, the other for her general system. Together they supply a scientific and successful course of treatment. The "Favorite Prescription" restores healthy, regular action to the organs distinctly feminine. It forces out all impurities, strengthens the tissues, allays irritating inflammation. The "Golden Medical Discovery" makes appetite, helps digestion, promotes assimilation, fills out the hollows in cheeks and neck with good solid flesh and brings back the gladsome glow of girlhood. Best of all, with these remedies there is no need of detested "examinations" and "local treatment" so abhorrent to every modest woman.

Thousands of grateful women have written letters like this:

MRS. SAMANTHA M. CRANMER, of Box 34, Le Roy, Bradford Co., Pa., writes: "It is with pleasure that I write these few lines in favor of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Favorite Prescription'—the medicines which have done me so much good. I was completely run down so that I could scarcely drag myself around the house, had been getting weaker and worse for several years until I lost all hope of ever getting any better. I took four bottles of each of your medicines and am now perfectly well."

Respectfully yours,

Samantha M Cranmer

CYCLING ON SUNDAY.

NEW JOHN L. SCUDDER TELLS HOW HE VIEWS THE BICYCLE.

The Wheel In Its Relation to Sunday and the Church—The Influence of the Bicycle Has Been For Good—How to Keep the Trend in That Direction.

Having been a bicyclist for thirty years, my attitude toward the wheel is without profesional prejudice. First I bestrode a velocipede, whose pedals were attached to the front axle and forced a man to throw his feet out ahead of him, somewhat like a mustang attempting to kick with his front feet.

Subsequently I mounted a 56-inch wheel and it was my special delight to ride up and down in front of my deacon's house, because he thought cycling was unorthodox, and I believed he was not up to date and needed enlightenment. While engaged in this educational work I received a "header" which pleased the deacon and almost necessitated my riding in a hearse—a mode of travel in which I never could take any special interest or develop any enthusiasm.

In the course of time and the march of evolution I secured a safety, which I now ride as conscientiously as I say my prayers, and propose to ride as long as I can sit on a saddle. I mention these facts to show that I have no ministerial bias on this subject; that I can look on the bicycle with the eyes of a wheelman and a clergyman at the same time.

The Jersey City Tabernacle, like its pastor, is fairly liberal. It has always taken a deep interest in cyclists, male and female, and taught over 500 people to ride the wheel in its People's Palace Hall adjoining the sanctuary.

My church holds the proud distinction of being the first in America to hold special services for cyclists and check their wheels during divine worship. Scores of wheelmen and wheelwomen are members of my church and frequently it is my privilege to join them and others living outside of the city in holy matrimony and send them forth, as it were, on "bicycles built for two." My young people think nothing of rding to church on wheels, for the "bike" of to-day is as much of a vehicle as the horse car, and a far more sensible mode of locomotion.

The bicycle has a religious value, inasmuch as it is the function of religion to minister to the entire man and build him up in body, mind and heart. The bicycle promotes physical health, which is indispensable to the best form of Christianity.

Its effect upon the body is uplifting, for it adds exhilaration to exercise. It carries a man over the ground without the consciousness of effort and gives him the sensation of flying. It expands the lungs with fresh air and sends the blood galloping through the system.

It induces perspiration without fatigue, expels effete material through the pores of the skin and gives a man the appetite of a gladiator. It puts color in the cheek, brilliancy in the eye and elasticity in the entire framework.

It spreads jaded city people over country roads and acquaints them with something besides flagstones and "sky-scrapers." It makes us an athletic people, diminishing our nervousness and toughening our muscular fibre.

Intellectually also the bicycle is not without benefit. Wheeling is a mental tonic second to none. It turns a man's thoughts from business cares and fixes them on blue sky, green fields, trees, streams, cattle, birds and flowers.

It clarifies his brain. I have ascertained that the best stimulus for Sunday is a spin on Saturday. A man feels more like working, his thoughts come quicker and they are several shades brighter.

Moreover the wheel cultivates the power of observation, sharpens the wit and develops courage and presence of mind. It makes women independent and self reliant.

They used to go into hysterics if they saw a mouse, but now they will dart through a dangerous and crowded thoroughfare with cool heads and smiling faces, and seldom do we hear of a mishap. Truck drivers swear less when they see these fairies flitting about them. That alone is a religious gain worth mentioning.

Morally the bicycle exercises a tremendous influence, for wheeling is decidedly opposed to intoxicating drinks and dissipation of all kinds. To be a good rider a man must conserve his energies. He cannot set his blood on fire with alcohol, nor waste his substance in riotous living. I never saw a tipsy wheelman in my life, and a month of intercourse with cyclists is worth more than a dozen sermons on temperance, because this sport is in favor of total abstinence. I regard this a strong point.

The wheel exercises preventive and redemptive power, and so far forth is essentially religious. Furthermore, the bicycle makes people cheerful, vivacious, smypathetic and affable, and these are elements of piety much to be desired.

Wheeling drives dull care away, makes life worth living. It enables the rider to be genial and religiously attractive and to talk more acceptably in meeting. Thus Christian cyclists present a sharp contrast to those bilious saints who are always mourning for Zion and making the rest of us mourn whenever they are around.

What we want in our religion is sunshine, and the bicycle gives it. Therefore, I say, if you want to improve your piety work the pedals.

The relation of the bicycle to the Sabbath and the sanctuary is not so pleasing to contemplate, for at present it militates against both. Sunday has become pre-eminently the wheelman's day. It is the only day many hard-worked people have to ride, and ride they will in spite of past traditions or present protestations.

I am not so illiberal as to say that riding a bicycle on a Sunday is a sin any more than taking a walk is a sin. Those who claim that wheeling makes the rider work on Sunday forget that this form of exercise requires less effort than walking.

So far as exertion is concerned, the bicycle is a labor saving device, it being easier to ride 50 miles than to walk ten. Furthermore, the man who goes to church on his wheel keeps the Sabbath better than the person taking a trolley or elevated car, for the cyclist compels none of his fellow-men to work on the Sabbath, such as motormen, conductors, engineers, firemen, guards, gate-keepers and ticket sellers.

In fact, the tendency of the wheel is to relieve Sunday transportation and break the fetters of these employees who have to work seven days in the week and know not the meaning of Sabbath rest. In my judgment wheeling is the least objectionable form of Sunday locomotion, for it forces neither man nor beast to break the fourth commandment.

Still the bicycle can be abused and made detrimental to religion and the church. The undeniable temptation of wheelmen is to take long spins on the Sabbath Day and neglect the sanctuary.

At first Sunday riding was confined to men. But to-day women follow the example of the men, and combinedly they ride by the tens of thousands.

A mighty change has taken place during the past five years, and I am convinced that you can no more stop the Sunday wheeling than you can make Niagara turn on itself and flow backward. To scold and fume against this innovation reveals a lack of discernment and hopeless impotence.

This is a free country, and people will do as they please. Americans cannot be driven, and an excessively narrow treatment of this subject only makes matters worse.

We are "confronted with a condition," and must adapt ourselves to the change as best we can. It is bad policy, in my judgment, to hold any religious service on Sunday afternoon, as this is the most popular time for wheeling.

We have no exercise whatever in any church from 1 o'clock to 6.45. A five-hour spin is enough for any man or woman, and wheeling beyond that limit is both tiresome and injurious. Henry Ward Beecher was once asked why he did not have an afternoon preaching service, and he replied that he knew better than to talk against Fulton Market.

Of course, a Christian should not neglect the regular church services, and he need not neglect them if they are properly arranged. Members of the church should be conscientious in this matter and ought not to allow the love of sport to overshadow and kill out their religion.

And I ask those who are not church members if our civilization can afford to dispense with the churches and turn the Sabbath into a purely secular holiday. This is a grave question, and wheelmen must answer for themselves.

It appeals to patriotism, as well as piety. One partial and practical solution of the problem would be the universal establishment of the Saturday half holiday, now so common in England, but imperfectly realized in the United States. If people could play a half of Saturday they would be more inclined to rest and go to church on Sunday. If the League of American Wheelmen would advocate the Saturday half holiday and push that reform as vigorously as they advocate good roads, they would confer a great and lasting benefit upon humanity, religion and native land.—John L. Scudder, Pastor the People's Tabernacle, Jersey City, in New York Journal.

CANCER CURED
—AND A—
LIFE SAVED
By the Persistent Use of
Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"I was troubled for years with a sore on my knee, which several physicians, who treated me, called a cancer, assuring me that nothing could be done to save my life. As a last resort, I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after taking a number of bottles, the sore began to disappear and my general health improve. I persisted in this treatment, until the sore was entirely healed. Since then, I use Ayer's Sarsaparilla occasionally as a tonic and blood-purifier, and, indeed, it seems as though I could not keep house without it."—Mrs. S. A. Fields, Bloomfield, Ia.

He Chose His Job.

There was an old colored man pushing a whitewash cart along Brush street the other afternoon when a woman opened a chamber window and called to him:

"Hey, you! Do you want a job?"

"What sort of job, mum?" he asked as he stood at the gate.

"Carrying ashes out of the cellar."

"Werry sorry, mum, but I couldn't do dat job. I used to be in de ashes business, but I'ze dun quit it. If it was whitewashin' or beatin' a ca'pet I'd be right on hand, but I don't tech ashes no mo'."

"What's the matter with ashes?"

"Heaps de mattah, mum. Last job I worked on I found three knives, zve fo'ks, seben spoons, two towles, an' a dollar in cash in de ash heap, an' what yo' dun s'pose de jedge gimme fur it?"

"I don't understand," she said.

Filling Man's Place.

"Now I maintain," said Miss Strong, "that there is no place filled by a man which a woman cannot fill. Is that comprehensive enough?"

"It is very comprehensive," replied Mr. Northside, "but I am prepared to go still further in advocacy of woman's ability."

"Are you?"

"Yes, I am. On the seat of a street car, for instance, she can fill two men's places."

"I have been troubled for some time with severe pains in the side and back. I took many medicines of various kinds, but got no relief.

"The box of Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at W. H. Jeff & Co's. drugstore gave me wonderful relief from the start. The improvement in my general health is not the least of the benefits which I have derived from the use of this remarkable kidney remedy.

"I can recommend them very highly to anyone troubled with any form of kidney disease."

A Bird That Shaves.

Man is said to be the only creature that shaves. But this is not so. A South American bird called the "Motmot" actually begins shaving on arriving at maturity. Naturally adorned with long blue tail feathers, it is not satisfied with them in their natural state, but with its beak nips off the web of each side for a space of about two inches, leaving a neat little oval tuft at the end of each.—Chicago Chronicle.

MEN TO BE AVOIDED.

Some of Those Whose Room Is Preferred to Their Company.

Men we don't want to meet:

The man who, having by an accident been thrown once in your company, makes bold to bawl your name out, and to shake your hand profusely when you pass him in the street.

The man who, pleading old schoolfellowship, which you have quite forgotten, never meets you without trying to extort a five-dollar bill.

The man who volunteers his criticism on your opinions, and point out the worst faults in presence of your wife.

The man who, thinking your are musical, bores you with his notions on music of the future, of which you know as little as of the music of the spheres.

The man who wears a winter hat in summer and smokes a pipe walking, and accosts you as "old fellow" just as you are hoping to make a good impression on some well-dressed lady friends.

The man who, with a look of urgent business, when you are in a hurry, takes you by the button-hole to tell you a bad joke.

The man who, sitting just behind you at the opera, destroys your enjoyment by humming all the airs.

The man who lards his talk with little scraps of French after reading "Passe Partout's" column in a Dorchester paper.

The man who spoils your pleasure in seeing a new play by applauding in wrong places, and muttering in stage whispers his comments on the plot.

And to finish with, the man who, when you draw back slightly to appreciate a picture, coolly comes and stands in front of you, and then receding, also treads upon your toes.

Portable Houses.

Portable houses are made of almost any size and for a great variety of uses. There are portable dwelling houses, and portable boat houses and portable club houses, lawn pavilions, engineers', miners', contractors', and other offices; bathing houses, stables, bowling alleys, billiard rooms, hospitals and so on. There has lately been made two-story portable houses. A two-storey portable house of ten rooms costs $1800. A house of one room, 8x11, with one door and one window, can be bought for $50; with two cots, two tables and two stools, for $60.

Sometimes a man who owns a portable house hires land on the seashore or in the mountains and sets his house up there for a season, takes it down and stores it in the fall, and next season hires land in another place and sets his house up there.

Portable houses are set on stones or blocks, and on posts, and sometimes they are set on permanent foundations. People sometimes have chimneys built where they set up their houses. The portable house manufacturers sell terra cotta chimneys in sections to be stacked up, and it is not unusual for the house owner simply to run out a stovepipe for a chimney.

We export portable houses to Cuba, South America and South Africa.—New York Sun.

Shade in the Apiary.

The record of my apiary shows that those colonies that stand on the north and west side of shade trees have not been so profitable as those that received no shade, or only a little in the heat of the day. Trees hinder the movement of the bees somewhat and prevent their early working, if the weather be cool. If the season is cold a deep shade hinders brood rearing. Taken all in all I have no doubt the profits, in such seasons, are from 20 to 30 per cent. less when an apiary is thoroughly shaded. Probably a shade board, which can be placed on the hive during hot days, is beneficial. Three or four quarts of cold water sprinkled around some of the strongest and most unprotected colonies, at noon on very hot days is better than shade boards in my apiary.

A Word of Wisdom.

Not even at this time of the year is it safe, in this climate, to go far abroad without carrying a wrap. Quite lately I saw a picnic party go forth clad in lawn and muslin, and return home shivering horribly in the same. That they must have known how inevitably the day is followed by the night, and still neglected to provide themselves with wrappings, could not increase one's good opinion of their intelligence. It is not a burden to carry a bit of silk and cloth, yclept a cape, and it means considerable comfort when the breezes blow or the clouds come up and the rains descend. If we had just a little more common sense we should have less of throat and lung ailments. It really pays to be moderately wise.

Use For Turpentine.

Turpentine is the best friend housekeepers have, and a supply should always be kept on hand. It is good for burns, excellent for corns, good for rheumatism and sore throat and a quick remedy for fits or convulsions. It is a sure preventive against moths, a few drops rendering garments safe from such invasion during the summer. It drives away ants and bugs from cupboards and corners by putting a few drops on the shelves. It effectually destroys bugs, and injures neither furniture nor clothing. For cleaning paint add a spoonful to a pail of warm water. A little in the suds on washday makes washing easier.

ABOUT THE LIVER.

A lazy, slow or torpid liver influences the whole system, causing biliousness, sick headache, sallow complexion, languor and dullness. Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the liver, purifies the secretions and cures all forms of liver troubles. We say so and here is the proof:—

I hereby wish to thank you for the great benefit derived by me from your Burdock Blood Bitters. For three years I was troubled with liver complaint and tried everything to no purpose. I had almost given up hope until one day I determined to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I can say now that marked improvement resulted from the use of the first bottle and at the end of the sixth bottle I discontinued its use, being completely cured.

Devoted to the Poor.

The Dowager Duchess of Newcastle has taken up her residence in Whitechapel, the poorest and lowest district in London. She lives in a very small house, just big enough to hold herself and her two friends and assistants, Miss Rossmond French and Miss Fortescue. The Duchess, who is still remarkably handome and who is well-known in society for her exceptional musical talent, has for the past four years devoted herself entirely to the very poorest Catholics in the East End, some 3,000 in number.

The Pompadour.

The pampadour coiffure is becoming to most women. It is more appropriate than any other style for the stately women, an gives a piquantness to the doll-like beauty which is very fetching. But many women make frights of themselves by following hairdresser's plates instead of modifying the style. Make your pompadour individual.

ONE HONEST MAN.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak, shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness, I promise you perfect secrecy and as I do not wish to expose myself either, please address, simply: P. O. Box 388, London, Ont.

WESTWOOD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The Templars' excursion, per steamer Beaver, on Rice Lake last Thursday was a grand success. There were on board over sixty, including the Westwood football team. Dinner was had at Gore's Landing, and after dinner a football match took place between Gore's Landing and Westwood football teams. The match was fast, exciting and very agreeable and gentlemanly from start to finish, and resulted in a victory for Westwood by 4 to 2. On the way home the excursion stopped at Idyl Wild for tea, and everyone took in the merry-go-round. The party reached home about dark, delighted with their trip and the Gore's Landing football team and their friends.

THE CARE OF BABY'S HAIR.

The mother who rejoices during mild weather in the curly head of her baby will possibly find, with the advent of frosty weather, that its hair becomes harsh and dry, and that the scalp appears lifeless and is covered with particles that look like dried skin or dandruff. During the heated term baby's head perspires freely, and the perspiration keeps the fine locks soft and pliable. The cessation of perspiration produces just the opposite result and the natural oil of the hair dries up.

Now is the time for the mother to do her work of supplementing nature. At night, when baby is ready for bed, the hair should be parted and the scalp anointed with white vaseline. This is rubbed in gently, but thoroughly. The little one will not object to the proceeding. On the contrary, it will probably be lulled to slumber by the light friction. A piece of linen is laid over the pillow that the vaseline may produce no stain on the dainty slip. In the morning, when baby is ready for the bath, its head must be lathered thoroughly with tar soap. This done, baby is put in a tub of warm water, in which has been dissolved a little borax, and with a soft sponge the head is washed free of all grease and soap. After it is dressed, a teaspoonful of alcohol in two of water is poured on the hair. After two or three applications of the vaseline all dandruff and scaly skin will have disappeared. The use of the tar soap and alcohol should be continued to keep the hair and scalp in a healthy condition. The mother will find at the end of a week that her darling's hair is once more soft and silky, while the golden lights in it will be brighter than ever.—Harper's Bazaar.

NEWSPAPERS AS EDUCATORS.

The educational value of newspapers has never been more conspicuously shown than during the past year or two, when important scientific discoveries have crowded so quickly upon one another. There is no reader of a good newspaper nowadays who is not thoroughly posted as to all scientific discoveries, so far as these discoveries can be made known without technical study and explanation. The information imparted in this way has not only been valuable for information's sake and in keeping readers thoroughly up to date, but it constantly stimulates enquiry and intellectual activity in their minds.

A LINDSAY BURGLARY.

Tramps Get Away With $250 Worth of Jewellery.

(Lindsay Post.)

The Colborne street residence of Mr. John Hore, local agent for the Singer Sewing Machine Co., was entered yesterday by some parties unknown between 12 and 3 o'clock, and the burglars made a rich haul. Mr. Hore had business in the country yesterday, and Mrs. Hore decided to take dinner with her mother, Mrs. S. Metherell, and left the house at 12 o'clock, having first seen that the doors and windows were securely fastened. When she returned about 3 o'clock she found the doors open and the interior in a state of disorder—every drawer had been rummaged and the contents had been strewn about the rooms. A short search disclosed the fact that her gold watch and chain, a set of gold jewellery, three rings and other articles of value were missing, as well as a costly gold watch presented to Mr. Hore some three years ago by the Singer Co., in recognition of the large business he has developed in this district. The thieves had gained entry through a window leading into the cellar, and although Mrs. MacMurchy, Mr. Magwood and others live in close proximity the bold thief had been unnoticed. The police were at once informed of the occurrence, and although it was learned that five tramps had been seen in the neighbourhood during the day no trace of them could be found when wanted. A couple of suspicious individuals were arrested in the railway yards during the evening, but as a search disclosed none of the missing property they were allowed to go. Mr. and Mrs. Hore estimate their loss at $250. A warning should be taken by those in the habit of leaving windows, etc., open in the warm weather.

GOOD ENDORSERS.

Every business man understands that no matter how valuable the signature on a note may be, his confidence is greatly increased if the note is well endorsed.

This is equally true of articles other than notes. It is particularly true of pianos. The musical public always likes to know if a piano is well endorsed.

The Mason & Risch Piano is undoubtedly endorsed by more eminent names than any other instrument made in Canada. Here are a few of them:—

Madame Albani	Franz Lizst
Sir A. C. McKenzie (Principal Royal College of Music)	F. H. Torrington
	S. P. Warren
Dr. Bridge (Organist Westminster Abbey)	Edouard Remenyi
	W. Waugh Lauder
Otto Bendix	Signor D'Auria
Frederick Archer	Watkins Mills
Mrs. Longmore	Edouard Scharff

These are but few of the many eminent admirers of our pianos. We could go on and fill a column but we think this enough to establish our claim to be well endorsed.

An examination of our instruments is cordially solicited no matter how remote your idea of purchase may be.

Our prices are reasonable, quality considered, and our terms elastic enough to suit anyone.

A jaunty summer girl can keep her gowns looking fresh and stylish through the wear and tear of the whole holiday season when she uses Fibre Chamois, as the interlining, through them all. It's splendid lasting stiffness and the elasticity, which it never loses, added to its weather proof qualities make it possible to keep your skirts in their original waving lines even thro' the severe test of a summer at the country, mountains or sea shore. The charming grace it gives to dresses and wraps is never lost—they will be just as stylish in their 'hang' and 'set' when worn out as when new. But only the real Fibre Chamois gives these lasting results, so find the Red Star label on each yard to save yourself from disappointing imitations.

THE LEADERS' SEATS

As They Have Been Allotted by the Sergeant-at-Arms.

GENERAL NEWS FROM THE CAPITAL

Election of the Premier and Hon. Mr. Mulock Gazetted—Ships' Supplies Must Pay Duty—Dr. Selwyn Tells About the Gold Regions—Notes.

Ottawa, July 31.—(Special.)—A plan of the floor of the House of Commons has been prepared under direction of the Sergeant-at-Arms. It shows the seats to which members have been allotted, Liberals, of course, on the right, and Conservatives on the left of the Speaker. On the first row on the Government side the seats are thus assigned, numbering from the Speaker's chair towards the bar: Dr. Christie, Geoffrion and Joly, Fielding and Cartwright, Laurier and Davies, Mulock and Sutherland, McCarthy and Charlton, Scriver and Edwards, Langelier and Brodeur, Dr. Fiset.

Second row: Mr. Bernier, Dobell and Fitzpatrick, Borden and Paterson, Tarte and Blair, Fisher and ——; Cameron and Landerkin, Casey and Beausoleil, McMillan and Somerville, Mr. Godbout.

On the Opposition front row: Mr. Casgrain, Wallace and Wood, Costigan and Caron, Tupper and Foster, Ives and Bergin, Bergeron and Dupont, Taylor and Mills, McLennan and McDonald (P.E.I.), Mr. McNeill.

Second row: Mr. Boyd, H. J. Macdonald and Prior, Haggart and Montague, C. H. Tupper and Tisdale, McDougall and Sproule, McInerney and Cochrane, Calvert and Fraser (Lambton), Mr. Stenson.

It will be seen that Sir Richard Cartwright has Finance Minister Fielding under his wing and that Mr. Laurier has Davies at his side and Tarte at his back. D'Alton McCarthy occupies his old seat and has Mr. Charlton as desk mate. Stubbs also remains in the same seat he occupied last session. Jos. Seagram has selected a retired position in the centre of the back row on the Opposition side.

The Clerk of the Crown in Chancery to-day received the return of the writ for the election in Burrard, B.C., and the member for that constituency, G. R. Maxwell, who is a Liberal, and who designates himself "gentleman," will be gazetted to-day. This will complete the official announcement of the members returned in the last general election to serve in the Eighth Parliament.

To-morrow's Canada Gazette will also contain the return of the Hon. Wilfrid Laurier as Premier and President of the Privy Council and of Mr. Mulock, Postmaster-General. These are the first returns of the bye-elections received. The others returned by acclamation on Thursday will be gazetted next week.

The Department of Customs recently made a rather important ruling regarding ships' supplies. Several steamers engaged during the season of navigation in freighting coal from Cape Breton ports to Montreal brought over from England in the spring provisions and supplies for six months, enough to last until they return to the Old Country in the fall. The question having been raised by the Collector of Customs, the department has decided that all these extra ships' stores are dutiable.

Dr. A. R. C. Selwyn, C.M.G., ex-director of the Geological Survey, and a leading authority on mineralogy, is just back from British Columbia. He traveled over the Cariboo trail to visit a mine that he induced English capitalists to take hold of some time ago. "It is an experiment," he said, "so far as gold mining operations are concerned in Canada, the object being to search and prove the nature of the gold drifts underlying the bed of lava, which exists in similar conditions in Australia and California. In these countries finds of this kind have proved by far the richest of gold deposits. They may have to sink five or six hundred fet to strike the drift, but reasoning from scientific knowledge and from what is known of such finds in California, I regard the prospect as almost a certainty."

While pleased with the progress of mining in British Columbia, he holds that the greatest drawback to the development has been the wasteful expenditure of money by incapable managers, in the purchase of expensive plant, which in many cases is never used, because of the difficulty of transportation. He deprecates the crusade against Chinese labor.

Director Dawson has left for Nova Scotia to oversee the geological work being carried on there by the survey staff.

The Ministers in town to-day are Hon. Messrs. Scott, Tarte and Sir Oliver Mowat.

Hon. T. Mayne Daly arrived here and called at the Department of the Interior. Mr. Daly will present the report to the Government upon his inspection of the Canadian Emigration Agencies in Europe. He will advocate a larger expenditure on immigration.

Hon. John Haggart was in the city to-day.

Sir Charles Tupper returned to-day from Toronto, and will practically remain in Ottawa until Parliament opens. His residence on Cartier-street is now being fitted up for occupancy. Lady Tupper sailed to-day from London, and will be met at Quebec on the 9th by Sir Charles.

HIS THREE SONS DROWNED.

A Terrible Triple Drowning Accident at Pictou, N.S., Yesterday—Upset in the Squall.

Pictou, N.S., July 31.—A terrible triple drowning accident here to-day and for its victims three brothers, the only sons of John Brown, painter. Mr. Brown and his sons—Alexander, aged 21; John, aged 14, and Donald, aged 11—were crossing the harbor in a sailboat, which was overturned by a squall. All got hold of the boat, but she continued to turn over, and the three boys, unable to hold on, all went to the bottom. Their father was rescued in an exhausted condition.

NINETEEN GO TO DEATH.

A Big Band of Hungarian Brigands and Murderers Has at Last Been Captured and Sentenced.

Agram, Hungary, July 31.—For some time the St. Enjavee District was infested by a gang that was organized for the purpose of brigandage and murder. The authorities finally determined to make an effort to extirpate the gang, with the result that a number of men and women were arrested, either with a direct knowledge that they were implicated in the crimes in which the gang were accused or suspicion that they were implicated. The prisoners were brought to trial, and to-day a verdict of guilty of murder was pronounced against 19 of them, who were sentenced to death.

Others of the prisoners were convicted of lesser crimes and were sentenced to various terms of imprisonment.

Two of the prisoners on whom sentence of death was passed are women.

A MISS AS GOOD AS A MILE.

This is No Doubt What a Dozen Workmen at Niagara Falls Believe To-Day.

Niagara Falls, Ont., July 31.—Some dozen men engaged on the mason work of the new steel arch railway bridge at the Canadian end miraculously escaped death at 1.30 o'clock this afternoon. It seems the large cut stones, weighing some five or six tons, are placed in their positions below by means of two large derricks, and are lowered from the top of the bank down about 50 feet, where they are picked up by another derrick and placed in their positions. When the immense derrick located at the top of the bank had a six-ton stone raised and swung in position to lower over the precipice, the man in charge noticed the guy of the arm had broken and quickly signalled Charles W. Gillies, the man at the engine, to stop, which he did. With superhuman strength and quickness he pulled the stone back, and not a moment too soon, for the shaft fell with a crash, over the roof of the bridge ticket office. Had he not done what he did, the stone would have gone over the precipice and dragged the derrick with it on top of the unconscious workmen below, and nothing would have saved them from instant death.

HER MAJESTY GROWING FEEBLE.

It Is Reported That She Will Hand Over Windsor Castle to the Prince of Wales.

London, July 31.—The old time-worn rumor that Queen Victoria is to retire from the throne in order that the Prince of Wales may be crowned king was revived to day, but attracted little attention. There is said, however, to be considerable anxiety in official circles regarding the state of the Queen's health. Common report has it that Her Majesty has decided to live hereafter either at Osborne or Balmoral, the Prince and Princess of Wales to occupy Buckingham Palace, and Windsor Castle.

WHO IS THIS MAN?

He Was Knocked Down and Probably Fatally Injured Near the Grand Trunk Station at Georgetown.

Georgetown, July 31.—(Special.)—Yardmen found an unknown man lying unconscious and badly injured on the railway track near the Grand Trunk Station late this evening. He had evidently fallen from or been struck by the freight train that had passed a few minutes before. He was taken into the baggageroom and medical assistance called, but he has not regained his senses, and his injuries are thought to be fatal. There is nothing about his clothing that might tell his identity. He is of middle age, dressed rather respectably, and evidently a workingman. A railway employe says he has seen the injured man at Acton, and it is supposed that he comes from that town.

CRUSHED TO DEATH.

Grand Trunk Yardsman Hewitt's Fatal Mishap Last Night at the Stuart-Street Station, Hamilton.

Hamilton, July 31.—(Special.)—Morrison Hewitt, 8 Lochearne-street, a Grand Trunk yardsman, met a horrible death this evening about 5 o'clock at the Stuart-street Station. He was in the west end of the yard when the accident occurred. One car was running down a main track and another came down a switch. The cars collided and one was knocked off the track and thrown on its side. Hewitt was standing on the outside of the car that was knocked over, and it fell on him, crushing him to the ground. It was 20 minutes before he was extricated, when he was almost dead, but lived till taken to the hospital. He leaves a widow and 4 children. Coroner White will hold an inquest tomorrow morning.

THE TRIAL OF BRAM

For the Murder of Capt. Nash and His Wife.

TAKING OF EVIDENCE AT BOSTON

The Testimony of Frank Noehec, a Sailor, Would Indicate That Two Men Had a Hand in the Tragedy—Brown Grinned When the Axe Was Found.

Boston, July 31.—The preliminary examination of Thomas Bram, colored, first mate, and Charles Brown, seaman of the barquentine Herbert Fuller, on the complaint charging them with the murder of the captain, C. J. Nash, his wife, Mrs. C. J. Nash, and A. Wm Bramberg, was begun to-day before United States Commissioner Fisk. There was a large crowd present. Ex-District Attorney Allen appeared as counsel for Brown. Bram was represented by James E. Cotter and John B. Dore.

District Attorney Hoar moved that both prisoners be tried together. This was ordered.

Assistant District Attorney Casey then called as the first witness Frank Noehec, who testified that he shipped on the Herbert Fuller on July 8. Last saw the captain alive at 7 o'clock on the night of July 13. Saw his dead body afterwards. About 1 o'clock on the morning of July 14 was on deck; saw second mate; went into forecastle to get his pipe filled. At 2 o'clock went to the wheel to relieve Brown. The bell did not strike at 2 o'clock. It was the duty of the man at the wheel to strike bell; saw the first mate going down the companionway in a hurry towards the cabin. Some one called out, "Mr. Bram." Bram stooped over the companionway. Heard passenger Monck say to the mate, "Don't you throw that board at me; I am all right." Bram then came to me at the wheel. He asked where Brown was. He looked pale. He went to the passenger's room. Witness saw the passenger put on some clothing. Both passenger and mate came on deck. They went to the window between the main and mizzen-mast. At 4 o'clock the cook (Spencer) came on deck. He (the cook) went forward and joined the mate and passenger.

They came back and told witness that the captain was dead. Witness then said, "Good God!" They went forward again. The crew came up and talked of directing the course to the nearest port. The mate talked of going to French Guiana. The mate gave orders south-sou'-east. Witness was relieved by Oscar Anderson at the wheel. Getting among the crew witness said the mate said: "Don't blame the living for the dead. The dead cannot answer for themselves." The mate said the captain might have got an ax and killed them and then killed himself. To this proposal Brown said: "Throw the bodies overboard."

Mate Bram was drunk at 4 o'clock. He was crying and praying, but witness did not see any tears coming out of his eyes. Mate Bram said the captain was a Freemason. Witness said that soon after he was at the wheel he heard a sound like a gurgle. He leaned over with one hand on the wheel and saw the mate and passenger going to the passengers' room. Witness described the position of the bodies when found. Brown, Anderson and Hendriks were putting the canvas on the bodies Brown handled the bodies rough. In the presence of the mate, witness heard the steward (Spencer) ask "What cuts were on the captain?" The mate replied he didn't know. Brown was talkative before the murder, but after the murder he would not talk with the men. Brown first talked with the witness the morning after the murder, saying, "That will be all right if there is not any more done."

The first mate, the steward and passenger asked if those present knew anything about the murder, and Brown answered "No."

When the ax was brought Brown grinned when he saw it, and the mate, Bram, yelled, as he threw it overboard. Up to 1 o'clock, July 14, it was Brown's lookout. Those present on the deck on the morning of the murder were Bram, Brown, Monck, Spencer, Slicer, Perlock and Anderson. The vessel was then about 600 miles out. Brown did not have on the same clothes after the murder as before. He threw his overalls overboard, saying, "I could be held as the murderer if I have blood on my clothes." Witness insisted on putting the mate in irons. The mate said, "I am an innocent man."

On cross-examination, witness said that on the Sunday before the murder Brown told him that he had killed somebody in Holland and that he got off on a plea of insanity. Witness helped put Brown in irons. He suspected the mate first. It was on the following Sunday that the mate was put in irons, and up to this time the mate had directed the ship. Noehec stated it was after 2 o'clock when he took charge of the wheel. Up to that hour he had heard nothing unusual to attract his attention, and everybody was at his post of duty. It was two minutes later, he thought, when he saw the men going down in the cabin. He put Brown in irons by direction of Bram, and put Bram in irons by direction of the cook, Spencer.

What Bram said was, "The dead cannot talk of themselves." The second mate went to assault the captain's wife, the captain got the ax and killed his wife; then the second mate, being the stronger man, perhaps, got the ax from the captain, and killed himself and threw the ax on the deck and then went into the castle." The witness reiterated this statement as having been made by the mate. Salvage was talked of and was first mentioned by the steward. Witness said he knew of no trouble between Brown and the captain and the latter's wife. After the murder Bram appointed Brown first mate and witness second mate, so that when Bram and Brown were put in irons witness was in command of the vessel. Religious service over the bodies was held and conducted by Monck. The steward said to Brown "You have killed those people down there." Brown said "No."

Lester H. Monck, the Harvard student, the passenger on the Herbert Fuller, was the next witness. He testified to some unimportant evidence previous to the murder, and a recess was taken.

Mothers

Anxiously watch declining health of their daughters. So many are cut off by consumption in early years that there is real cause for anxiety. In the early stages, when not beyond the reach of medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla will restore the quality and quantity of the blood and thus give good health. Read the following letter:

"It is but just to write about my daughter Cora, aged 19. She was completely run down, declining, had that tired feeling, and friends said she would not live over three months. She had a bad and nothing seemed to do her any good. I happened to read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and had her give it a trial. From the very first dose she began to get better. After taking a few bottles she was completely cured and her health has been the best ever since." MRS. ADDIE PECK, 12 Railroad Place, Amsterdam, N. Y.

THE SILVER PARTY GAINING GROUND.

In politics it is not safe to make light of any movement that contains the elements of commending itself to the popular favour. When the campaign of the "silver" party was opened in the United States the movement was generally regarded, and especially amongst Eastern people, as more of a joke than a serious complication of the political situation. But subsequent events point to the necessity of revising this estimate. The "Free Silver" movement is gathering momentum as it advances, and the eastern press and people begin to regard it as representing a very substantial danger, and something to be vigorously combatted. The Democratic party has invested it with the prestige involved in the nomination by that party of out and out "silver candidates. The Populist party has joined the procession. And not only with parties but with the people is the silver heresy finding favour. It is feared that the rural electorate of the East is far more friendly to the free silver issue than was a few weeks ago considered at all possible. In the great cities there has been a great dearth of labour, low wages and consequently hard times with the masses, and consequently discontent. And it is natural that a class that does not think very deeply, nor prosecute any very vigorous means to search for first causes, should be friendly to a remedy-quack, though it may be that promises to remedy all their material ills. Those classes too, who have every day to dodge the opulent carriages of the over-rich, who have grown millionaires, are apt to regard "free silver" as a means of cutting the combs of these plutocratic "cocks of the walk" and will go en masse in favour of candidate Bryans. Hard times favour the cause of the silverites. Anybody that is in debt is pretty certain to have no quarrel with a policy that holds out the prospect of paying a dollar of debt with fifty cents of money. The farmers of the Western States are notoriously debt-ridden and to them the doctrines of the silver party will be palatable medicine; and many of the eastern farmers are not without obligations that are pressing, and they will not look unkindly upon a theory that involves a "new—and easy—way to pay old debts." The New York Sun, which has been for years facile princeps among influential Democratics journals, and which bolted its party on the silver question, says:

There is nothing imaginary about it. The danger is real. It is not only possible, but it is also even probable if this inability to comprehend the actual situation continues to be exhibited. Wake up! The threatened ruin can be prevented by the union of the forces of honesty, but to avert it they must get together and fight hard from now until November.

Those who thought Mr. McKinley and sound money had an easy victory are compelled to modify their opinions. If he wins he will have to fight hard for it. The popular mind is given to vagaries and popular illusions are not unknown; and the popular mind of the United States is of such fearful and wonderful complexity, and the unstable and unsavoury foreign element is so much in evidence that it seems useless, under the circumstances, to expect the combined electorate of the United States to do what reasonable men would think right.

THE MATABELE TROUBLE.

The British have suffered a repulse in Africa, in the contest with the Matabeles, which will widen the area of hostile natives; for neutrals, regarding the reverse as an indication that the British are not invincible and will cease their wavering neutrality and join the belligerents. This reverse indicates the truth of the proverb: "What is worth doing is worth doing well." Britain has had pretty dear experience of the folly of under-estimating the fighting qualities of savage tribes, and has committed too often the mistake of sending too small forces on expeditions to countries where the conditions give the natives a great advantage over the weak detachments sent against them. But with war on her hands in northern Africa, and Russia and France growling threats of active aggression against Great Britain, it is perhaps felt that too much military force cannot be spared for South Africa. But here is where the mistake seems to be. The sending of a strong force that would speedily reduce the hostile tribes to subjection would leave one less complication on hand and permit of a concentration of force elsewhere if necessary. If this course had been pursued in the outset the Matabele rising might have been a thing of the past before now.

MR. TARTE'S HOUSECLEANING.

Mr. Tarte, the Minister of Public Works, is turning the search light upon this department, and it reveals the fact that there was no lack of crookedness on the part of the late government. The revelations made already prove that that government, both during and after the late elections and subsequent to their defeat, made a deliberate attempt to vote away by orders-in-council, public money to persons not entitled to it—who had no legal claim upon the public purse. One typical case may be referred to. In 1883 Mr. Charlebois built the Langevin block and was paid all that was due him, but he claimed $100,000 as extras. His claim was disputed till May of this year, when the Tupper government, no doubt anxious to secure funds for the pending elections, took the matter up. Mr. Desjardins reported upon it, stating that there had been a contract between Mr. Charlebois and the Crown and recommended that the rights of the Crown be waived. The architect of the department, Mr. Fuller, who should be the judge in such matters was declared as not competent, and an order-in-council was passed directing that the claim, which had increased to $296,000, be submitted to a partisan tribunal. When Mr. Tarte came into office he consulted the architect, Mr. Fuller, and asked him to furnish a report that he was competent to perform his duties. Mr. Tarte then reported to his Excellency the Governor-General, recommending that the order-in-council be cancelled at once. Thus one of the first acts of the much maligned Mr. Tarte will doubtless save to the country nearly a third of a million ($296,000), thus undoing the corrupt act of a defeated government which had been deprived of the right to act for the people of Canada.

Mr. Tarte is being roundly abused for using the guillotine on useless employes in his department. He found a hundred and thirty employes in his department more than was needed, and to-day (Saturday, Aug. 1st) these men go. Is not this conducting public business on business principles, on the same principle that a private business would be conducted? Mr. Tarte deserves credit, rather than blame, for protecting the public honey from being eaten by drones that cumber the hive while doing no work.

GOOD ROADS.

Of all the qualities claimed for the bicycle, that of giving force to the demand for better roads is the best. The chief reason why we have not good country roads generally, is because those most interested, including of course those who have to pay for them, are not alive to the fact that good roads pay—that they yield a direct profit, much in excess of their cost. To illustrate this and to show how good roads benefit the community, a town in New Jersey may be cited as an object lesson of the profit of good roads:

In consequence of the bad roads the wagonmakers near the town in question constructed four-horse vehicles to carry 55 bushel baskets as a maximum load, which was regarded as heavy hauling. Real estate thereabout had gone a begging for years; there was no possible market for it. It had been impossible to settle up estates because no purchaser could be found for the land. But a few years ago the people of the community woke up. The town issued $4,000 worth of bonds, and applied the proceeds to making better roadways. As a result the New Jersey wagonmakers of the vicinity of Philadelphia are making two-horse vehicles to carry not 55 bushel baskets, but loads made up from 90 to 125 bushel baskets, and still the loads are not regarded as heavy. Now that the roads are improved two horses are able to do more work than four horses, and with much more ease. It is stated that on the old roads two men and four horses, with a wagon weighing 1,900 pounds, could take two and one-half tons of produce to market and bring back an equal weight of fertilizer, making one trip a day. To-day, on the good roads, one man with two horses, and a wagon weighing 2,300 pounds, takes four tons to market, bringing back an equal weight, and making four trips a day. Here is a tremendous difference, an enormous saving. If this result could be brought about in Canada and the United States generally, it would mean a heart-warming profit to tens of thousands of producers and carriers.

MR. GEO. WRIGLEY, who has for six years been editor of the Canadian Farmers Sun, has retired from that position. He has conducted that journal with considerable ability, though there some who think that his political course has at times been Wrigley.

The Question Answered.

The Reason why Some Dealers Sell Poor Dyes.

Many ladies who have been deceived by the imitation dyes so often sold by some dealers and druggists, ask the question—"Why will these merchants persist in selling us dyes that are positively worthless?"

This question is easily answered. The dealers who sell these common dyes do so for a very selfish object—big profits. They buy these crude and poisonous dyes for much less than the celebrated Diamond Dyes cost, and they are sold to the ladies at the same price, ten cents a packet. The dealers in this way make long, big profits, while the deceived consumer must suffer loss at every time of using.

Dealers know well that the Diamond Dyes are the only true and warranted colours, but the love of gain is too great to allow them to treat the public honestly.

The ladies can soon compel dealers to do what is honest and right if they insist every time upon getting the Diamond Dyes. You can always find one dealer in your town who is anxious to sell dyes that will give entire satisfaction.

FELL INTO A FURNACE'S MOUTH.

Heroic Rescue of Two Dying Top Fillers by a One-Legged Man.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 31.—Peter Warbanic and Samuel Moody, top fillers at Lucy furnaces, Fifty-first-street, were overcome last night by a rush of gas from under the bell. Warbanic fell head first down the mouth of the furnace, alighting on top of the bell, which was almost at a white heat. Moody called for help, and himself attempted to rescue Warbanic. He also inhaled the deadly gas and fell into the bell.

Other workmen came to the top of the furnace and were discussing plans of rescue, when John Reynolds, a one-legged man, jumped down on the bell and passed the men up to those above him. Reynolds was then assisted out, and, although almost overcome and badly burned, quietly hobbled away. Warbanic died within a few minutes of his rescue, and Moody cannot recover.

Reynolds' heroic action is the talk of Lawrenceville.

Failure and Success.

It is often all the little things that constitute the wide difference between success and failure. Some men, earnest in purpose, capable in many ways, seem unable to discern the import of minor, nevertheless important elements, and neglect in consequence to grasp the opportunities that if accepted would carry them on to victory. In the same way people are imposed upon by mercenary druggists, who to gain an additional profit, practice the dishonest method of substitution. Calling for Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, they accept some worthless flesh-eating substitutes, only to be disappointed or suffer injury. Putnam's Corn Cure is the only reliable one.

A New Pipe

FITTED WITH

HERR PFLUNGER'S CARTRIDGES

which absorbs the hurtful acrid matter that accumulates in the ordinary tobacco pipe, and prevents the nicotine poison which produces most of the ill effects arising from smoking.

Sir Morrell Mackenzie,

the late celebrated English Throat Specialist, wrote the following opinion of Herr Pflunger's invention:—

DEAR SIR,—I think that Herr Pflunger's invention is a very good one. I have tried it and find that it answers well. The only suggestion that I can make is that it should have an additional mouthpiece which could be screwed into the proximate extremity of the pipe so as to make the stem twice the length it now is. This would lower the temperature of the smoke as it comes into the mouth. That the smoke should be cool is almost as important as that it should be free from acrid matters. You are at liberty to make whatever use of this letter that you may think fit.

Yours Truly,
MORRELL MACKENZIE.

ACUTE DYSPEPSIA.

A TROUBLE THAT MAKES THE LIVES OF THOUSANDS MISERABLE.

The Only Rational Treatment is to Remove the Cause of the Trouble—One Who Suffered Greatly Shows How This Can be Done at a Comparatively Trifling Expense.

The life of a dyspeptic is beyond doubt one of the most unhappy lots that can befall humanity. There is always a feeling of over-fullness and distress after eating, no matter how carefully the food may be prepared, and even when the patient uses food sparingly there is frequently no cessation of the distressing pains. How thankful one who has undergone this misery and has been restored to health feels can perhaps be better imagined than described. One such sufferer, Mrs. Thos. E. Worrell of Dunbarton, N. B., relates her experience in the hope that it may prove beneficial to some other similar sufferer. Mrs. Worrell says that for more than two years her life was one of constant misery. She took only the plainest foods, and yet her condition kept getting worse, and was at last seriously aggravated by palpitation of the heart brought on by the stomach troubles. She lost all relish for food and grew so weak that it was with difficulty she could go about the house, and to do her share of the necessary housework made life a burden. At times it was simply impossible for here to take food at all as every mouthful produced a feeling of nausea, and sometimes brought on violent fits of vomiting, which left her weaker than before. She had taken a great deal of medicine, but did not find any improvement. At last she read in a newspaper of a cure in a similar case through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and decided to give them a trial. After using three or four boxes there was a great improvement in her condition, and after the use of eight boxes Mrs. Worrell says: "I can assure you I am now a well woman, as strong as ever I was in my life, and I owe my present condition entirely to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which have proved to me a wonderful medicine. Mrs. Worrell further states that Pink Pills were also of the greatest benefit to her husband, who suffered greatly with rheumatism in his hands and arms. At times these would swell up and the pains were so great that he could not sleep and would sit the whole night beside a fire in order to get a little relief from the pain he was enduring. Seeing how much benefit his wife had derived from the use of Pink Pills he began their use, and soon drove the rheumatism from his system and he has since been free from the terrible pains which had formerly made his life miserable. Both Mr. and Mrs. Worrell say they will always strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to ailing friends.

These pills are a blood builder and nerve restorer, and there is no trouble whose origin is due to either of these causes that they will not cure if given a fair trial. The genuine Pink Pills are sold only in boxes, the wrapper around which bears the full trade mark, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." There are imitations of this great medicine, also coloured pink, which are offered by the dozen, hundred or ounce, or in boxes, without the directions and trade mark. Always refuse these imitations, no matter what the interested dealer who tries to sell them may say.

THREE WERE KILLED.

A Chute Boat Crushes Into a Skiff With Terrific Force—It Was All Through Carelessness.

Knoxville, Tenn., July 30.—Three people were killed and drowned and a fourth seriously injured in an accident at Lake Ottossace, an outing resort three miles from Knoxville, this afternoon. The dead are: Charles Perry, aged 18; Walter Wright, aged 21; Miss Carrie Phibbs, aged 17. Mrs. Foster, a widow, who was chaperoning the party, was injured. The party were rowing on the lake on the park in a light rowing boat, and through carelessness came in the course of the chute boat, as it came down the steep incline into the water. The chute boat loaded with ten people dashed down the incline at a terrific rate of speed and struck the rowboat with its occupants. The crash upset the rowboat and killed its passengers with the exception of Mrs. Foster, who came to the surface and caught on to the upturned boat, where she clung until assistance arrived. Expert divers were soon put to work and the bodies recovered. An examination showed that the young people had been terribly bruised and perhaps killed by the chute boat when it struck them. They were all members of the Broad-street M. E. Church South, which was having its annual picnic at the lake when the accident occurred.

FORTY-SEVEN DEAD

As a Result of the Collision Near Atlantic City.

AN INVESTIGATION TO BE HELD.

Was the Engineer to Blame?—None of the Dead Yet Removed to Bridgeton—Survivors Relate Many Marvelous Escapes During the Moment of the Crash.

Bridgeton, N.J., July 31.—Nearly all the victims of the Atlantic City Railroad catastrophe were residents of this town. Business here to-day was almost wholly suspended, and the place is in mourning. The bodies of the dead victims remain at Atlantic City, and it is not known when they will be sent here. A number of the injured are also at Atlantic City, under treatment. A number of the survivors of the disaster arrived here this morning. Some were cut and bruised, but they had escaped serious injuries. They were unable to give a clear account of the accident, owing to the terrible experience they had passed through.

They say that the cries of the injured and dying after the crash occurred are still ringing in their ears, and will be never forgotten.

Charles W. Seeds, one of the survivors, says he was in the fourth car of the train. The front of the car was smashed to splinters. He called to his wife to follow him, and jumped out of the window, landing on his head and hands. He hurt his leg and side, but quickly jumped up and pushed his wife through the window. Her back and one leg were injured. Seeds found that his wife was not seriously hurt, and then he turned his attention to the rescue of the injured who were still fastened in the car. One little girl, who was cut about the head, he found down by a seat, and took her out. He next came across a woman who had been killed. The top of her head was crushed. The flames from the burning cars was first creeping towards her, and he pulled the body away from the fire. He thinks it was Mrs. Trenchard. He assisted in taking ill dead bodies from the wreck.

Joseph Allen of Bridgeton sat three seats ahead of Seeds when the crash came and was thrown out in the aisle. He scrambled to his feet and jumped out of the window, leaving his coat behind. He says the cries of the injured could be heard above the noise of the crashing wood and escaping steam. He had his leg injured.

R. M. Allen of Shiloh was in the next to the last car. He was standing by the door facing towards Atlantic City. The door was closed, but when the crash came it opened and he was thrown across the platform against the door of the next car. He was cut about the head and had his hip injured. His wife and two sons, Roy Allen, aged 10, and William, aged 12 years, were sitting in the seat with their mother. The mother escaped injury, and the two boys were bruised about the head and body.

Miss Lillian Tyler of Bridgeton had her back injured. She came upon a train this morning. She was so excited and overcome with emotion at the injury and death of her friends that she could not control herself, and was constantly in tears.

Atlantic City, N.J., July 31.—As a result of the collision last evening between the Reading Railway and the Philadelphia and the Bridgeton excursion train, 47 people are dead and 44 are lying in the hospital here more or less seriously hurt. Of the injured in the hospital several are expected to die. Besides those seriously enough hurt to be in the hospital, a score or more of people were bruised and shaken up. The fearful shock of the collision is illustrated by the fact that of the 47 dead, 42 were killed outright. Of the dead, 42 have been identified, and the bodies of three women, one man and a boy are awaiting claimants.

The responsibility for the accident is hard to place at this time, but the burden of it seems to rest upon the dead engineer of the Reading train, Edward Farr, though an official investigation may clear his name.

It was reported last night that when Mrs. Farr heard of her husband's death she fell dead. This was not true. She fell in a swoon, and to-night is lying in a serious condition from the shock.

CATARRH OF TEN YEARS STANDING CURED AT A COST OF $2.40.

Remarkable Evidence of What Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder Will Accomplish.

Catarrh that becomes embedded, as it were, in the system, is usually pronounced chronic and incurable. But that all depends. Henry W. Francis, an employee of the Great North-western Telegraph Co., of Brampton, Ont., had been greatly troubled with catarrh in the head for ten years. He says: "I tried every remedy during these years, and also called in the assistance of doctors, but little or no benefit came to me. I saw Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder advertised, and secured a sample, which gave such speedy relief that I continued the use of the medicine up to four bottles, when I found myself absolutely and completely cured. For these four bottles I had to pay $2.40, where for ten years I had been spending dollars upon dollars every year getting nowhere." Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

Beets for Pigs.

No other kind of root is so greedily eaten by pigs as the beet. It may not have so much nutrition as the potato, but what it has is sweet, and therefore is palatable. Even the fattening hogs will eat some beets every day, and should have them. But their best use is as green feed for sows that are giving milk. It will increase the quantity greatly.

A Cheese Reversal.

The fact that but a few years ago our country exported over $16,500,000 in cheese, and Canada $3,150,000, while the last season Canada exported over $13,000,000 in value and our country even less than $3,000,000, speaks more eloquently of the great need of improving our product than any words we can offer.—American Agriculturist.

Remember—only such medicines were admitted for exhibition at the World's Fair as are accepted for use by physicians, in the practice of medicine, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and Ayer's Pills being included in the list. They are standard medicines.

BOMBAY IS ISOLATED.

Very Heavy Rains Have Flooded Out the Railway Tracks.

Bombay, July 31.—Except for the telegraph lines, this city is isolated at present from the outside world. Very heavy rains have fallen of late and the country in the vicinity of the city is flooded. The railways are so far under water that it is impossible to run trains over them. It will be considerable time before traffic can again be resumed, as the waters have sapped the foundations of bridges, and it would be unsafe until repairs are and the lower part of the town is effected to run trains over them. A water main in the city burst yesterday submerged.

It has been held that consumption is hereditary, and the fact that one person of a family had died of consumption was considered a sure sign that others of that family could not escape it. This is partly true and partly untrue. A man with weak lungs is likely to transmit that weakness to his children. But there is no reason in the world why the weakness should be allowed to develop. Keep the lungs full of rich, red, wholesome blood, and the weakness will disappear. Decaying tissues will be thrown off, and new material will be added until the lungs are well and perfectly strong again. This is the thing that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does. This is what makes it cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption where it is taken according to directions. It searches out disease germs wherever they may be in the blood, and forces them out of the system. It supplies the blood with rich, life-giving properties. It makes the appetite good, digestion perfect. Send 31 cents in one cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

VITALITY in MEN Restored

Failing Sexual Strength in Old or Young Men can be QUICKLY and PERMANENTLY cured by me to a healthy, vigorous state. Sufferers from

Nervous Debility
Weakness

and all wasting diseases, should write to me for advice.

I have been a close student for many years of the subject of weakness in men, the fact is, I was a sufferer myself. Too bashful to seek the aid of older men or reputable physicians, I investigated the subject deeply and discovered a simple but most remarkably successful Remedy that completely cured me, and fully enlarged me from a shrunken, stunted condition to natural size and strength. I want every young or old man to know about it. It takes a personal interest in such cases, and no one need hesitate to write me, as all communications are held strictly confidential. I send the recipe of this remedy absolutely free of cost. Do not put it off, but write me fully at once, you will always bless the day you did so. Address,

GOOD ENDORSERS.

Every business man understands that no matter how valuable the signature on a note may be, his confidence is greatly increased if the note is well endorsed.

This is equally true of articles other than notes. It is particularly true of pianos. The musical public always likes to know if a piano is well endorsed.

The Mason & Risch Piano is undoubtedly endorsed by more eminent names than any other instrument made in Canada. Here are a few of them:—

Madame Albani	Franz Lizst
Sir A. C. McKenzie (Principal Royal College of Music)	F. H. Torrington
Dr. Bridge (Organist Westminster Abbey)	S. P. Warren
Otto Bendix	Edouard Remenyi
Frederick Archer	W. Waugh Lauder
Mrs. Longmore	Signor D'Auria
	Watkins Mills
	Edouard Scharff

These are but few of the many eminent admirers of our pianos. We could go on and fill a column but we think this enough to establish our claim to be well endorsed.

An examination of our instruments is cordially solicited no matter how remote your idea of purchase may be.

Our prices are reasonable, quality considered, and our terms elastic enough to suit anyone.

Books to Sell!

Thousands of them, representing all classes of literature. We'd rather sell them all than buy new ones. Don't care if we had to buy the same over again—we like to be buying and selling. So, for the fun of the thing, we're going to sell five times as many books next week as we have sold this. Hence these prices:—7c, 10c. 12½c, 15c, 17c, 20c, 25c. Peterborough Bookstore.

Thursday Half Holiday.

Business men are some of them complaining of the interruption of business caused by the Thursday half holiday, and many farmers, who had failed to read the papers, not knowing of the half holiday, have come to town to make purchases and were, of course, disappointed. Unless these conditions improve it is probable that this is the last summer that the half holiday system will be in force.

The Cheap Trip to Ottawa.

One of the cheapest excursions ever run out of town is the one advertised for Aug. 20th to Ottawa to witness the opening of the Dominion Parliament. Return tickets $2.75, good going on evening trains on the 19th and morning trains on the 20th and returning to the 22nd. This is a fine opportunity to witness the opening of the new Parliament under the Laurier-Mowat Government, as well as to see the sights around the beautiful Capital of the Dominion at this season of the year. 1d

MR. J. W. GARVIN'S CLOSE SHAVE.

He is Mixed up in a Bad Runaway Accident.

Whilst Mr. J. W. Garvin, District Agent of the North American Life Ins. Co., was visiting his agent Mr. Campbell, in Lindsay, during the week he had what may be considered a narrow escape from being badly hurt.

Mr. Garvin and Mr. Campbell were driving into the country behind the latter's spirited horse, when the coupling rod between the rear and front axle gave way. The front spring, instead of remaining upright, was dragged backward and assumed a flat position as it held the axle and box of the buggy together. The front of the buggy was thus thrown down and the top consequently dropped so far forward as to completely cage in the two occupants of the buggy. By a long, steady pull the horse was slowed up, but just as it was almost stopped the strain on the rear axle caused it to give way and the hind wheels were released, letting the back of the box down on the ground. This opened up a way of escape and the two gentlemen quickly sprang out and by their united strength on one line brought the horse into the fence. The buggy was ruined, but Mr. Garvin and Mr. Campbell both got off without injury.

A COW DROWNED.

A Peculiar Accident Whereby a Cow Lost Its Life Yesterday.

Yesterday morning a cow lost its life through an accident of the most peculiar nature.

It had been purchased by J. J. Howden for butchering and was being brought in from Armstrong's farm, on the opposite side of the river. The animal was very shy and wild, and in order to restrain its movements a rope was fastened around its horns and attached to its leg for the purpose of preventing it from running too rapidly.

When just opposite lock No. 4 of the Trent Valley Canal the cow suddenly made a rush for the river and before it could be stopped it had made its way out to such a depth that its head, being, as stated, tied down, was submerged. Before any action could be taken towards loosening the rope the animal dropped over dead, having drowned. Whether the cow intentionally committed suicide or not is a point for a jury to decide.

Mr. Schumann is an expert at this sort of work and his demonstrations will be of great interest to the members of the profession in town.

FELL INTO THE DRAIN.

Mr. James Bradley Meets With a Severe Accident.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. James Bradley met with a very severe accident whilst laying pipe in the drain from the basement of Westlake's new livery stable on Water street to the sewer.

Mr. Bradley was carrying down a heavy tile on his shoulder into the cellar, and in the darkness tripped over some obstacle and went headlong to the bottom of the drain, the pipe striking him heavily on the head in the fall.

It was found that several severe cuts had been inflicted, and Mr. Bradley was taken to Madill's drug store where the wounds were dressed.

WEATHER NOTES FOR JUNE.

July now closed has been a very hot month, having three day at 92 degrees, and two days at 90 degrees; again, fifteen days between 80 and 90 degrees; still further, ten days between 70 and 80 degrees, and only one day below 70 degrees, leaving the mean temperature of the month at 67.8 degrees, that is, morning and noon observations. Although Toronto has repeatedly given thunder storms we had a poor share of them, only falling 2 50/100 inches of water. August has come in cold and chilly, the thermometer only indicating 53 degrees above zero this morning.—THOMAS TELFORD.

O'BRIEN—GRIFFIN.

A Wedding in the Far West—The Bride Well-known Here.

The Groton, (North Dakota), Independent, contains the following account of the wedding of a young lady well-known in the county, and a former resident:

A very pretty wedding took place Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. S. J. Griffin. Mr. M. Otis O'Brien, of Little Falls, Minn., and Miss Emma Griffin were united in marriage by Rev. J. Scott Batt, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

At 2.30 p.m., the bridal party entered the parlour to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Miss Emma Johnston. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. S. J. Griffin. The bride wore a dress of cream crepon, trimmed with chiffon and pearl, and carried a beautiful bunch of white roses. The groom was dressed in the conventional black.

The ceremony was performed with the ring, amid the fragrance and beauty of sweet peas, and the house as well as the table was decorated with white and pink peas, the work of the most intimate friends of the bride.

Miss Griffin is well known and highly esteemed in the community, having taught school in this city and vicinity for six years. The many beautiful gifts she received speak of the many and warm friends she has made.

After the ceremony the guests sat down to a table fairly loaded with the good things of this life, and handsomely decorated with pyramids of sweet peas.

A reception was held from 6 to 8 p.m., which was attended by about seventy-five guests. They were served with ice cream and were each given a package of wedding cake. There was a wedding scrap book in which all the guests wrote their autographs.

The happy couple left on the 9:45 train amid a shower of rice. After a few days at Big Stone and Minneapolis, they will go to their home at Little Falls.

DOMINION ELECTION PROTESTS.

Twenty-Six Conservative Seats and One Liberal Attacked.

(Special to the Examiner.)

TORONTO, ONT., Aug. 1.—Election protests were entered this morning at Osgoode Hall. The seats protested were:—London, held by Beattie; East York, held by McLean; East Durham, held by Craig; West Toronto, two seats, held by Osler and Clarke; North Ontario, held by McGillivray; North Bruce, held by McNeil; East Simcoe, held by Bennett; South Brant, held by Henry; East Northumberland, held by Cochrane. In the cases of East York and North Ontario the seats are claimed by the defeated Liberal candidates. Disqualification of the sitting members is asked for in every case for alleged personal breaches of the election law.

NOTE.—Of the above ten all are Conservatives, and of course all represent Ontario constituencies. Other protests previously entered in Ontario are all against Conservatives:—McCleary, of Welland; McLaren and North Perth, making at present 12 seats in Ontario. In Quebec the seats reported as protested are Quinn, St. Anne's Division, and Roddick, St. Antoine Division, Montreal, Conservatives, and Fortin Laval, Liberal. In New Brunswich the seats protested are all Conservatives—Kaulback, Lunenburg; McInerney, Kent; Powell, Westmoreland; McAllister, Restigouche; Ganong, Charlotte. In Nova Scotia Demmock, Colchester, Conservative. In Manitoba, Macdonald, Winnipeg; Roche, Marquette, and Boyd, McDonald, Conservatives. Northwest Territories, Davin, Conservative, Assiniboia West.

Thus according to reports of protests received up to this afternoon twenty-five Conservative elections have been protested and one Liberal.

He makes sworn statement to the above facts before J. W. Seymour Corley, July 10, 1896.

August Prices.

August is the last month of Summer—the end of the clearing-out season when Summer Goods must give way to Fall Stocks. We cannot afford to carry over one season's goods to the next. We must keep a perennial freshness about our store, you can buy everything in our summer lines with very little consideration for what it cost us. Take Wall Paper for instance. An ordinary Wall Paper advertisement in August is about as unlooked for as snow in August. People have almost stopped buying and trade is at low-water mark. But there's a way to stimulate activity even in Wall Paper, and by almost giving away the goods, and doing it agreeably, we think we can crowd this store with buyers during this last of the summer months.

Wall Paper.

"What's the matter" with papering the home now instead of waiting until fall? Many families have closed up their homes and are away summering, giving a better chance for the work to be better done and without confusion and discomfort. What a pleasure it would be to return to the brightness of the newly prepared home. Now's the time! when Wall Paper can be bought for half the price it will be in the fall and when it costs less to put it on.

Coal Advanced.

Owing to the state of the coal market in the United States, we are compelled to advance coal to $5.75 per ton for August delivery. Ours is the purest hard coal mined, being free from sulphur, iron and slate, burns to a white ash, and lasts as long, if not longer than any coal on the market. A coal dealer who sold some of our coal last season in town and claims to have some left over, is offering it at $5.50. If the coal is our coal, we advise the people of Peterborough to take coal from him, it is cheap, and is better coal and will give better satisfaction than the coal he is selling at $6 per ton. His Lordship Bishop O'Connor on a Tour Through his Diocese.

As is known, His Lordship Bishop O'Connor is absent on a tour through his Diocese, and the following letter, covering that part of the journey embracing a visit to Manitoulin Island, is taken from the Catholic Record:

When I closed my last letter His Lordship was to leave for the next Indian mission. It was by land to South Bay, by way of Wikwemikongaing. I will not attempt to describe the journey—it was too rough. Such roads, such huge rocks, I never drove over! It was Monday morning; the rain fell slowly, but in spite of all this the Indians were in good numbers. The buggy had been prepared some time previous, canopied and decorated with all the showy colours and the good taste of which the Indian is capable. The driver was a jolly good fellow, but too easily led. He allowed his neighbor to send us on a new road—that is to say over an open space in wood where the stumps were cut kind of low. However he managed a team well, and landed us safely at Wikwemikongaing. We were met by the whole populace, and received with military honours. High mass was immediately sung by one of the most active and I am sure one of the oldest missionary priests in the world—eighty-six years of age and fifty-four years of missionary life. Then followed the confirmation of eight children.

Here we changed horses to continue our journey to South Bay. The change of horses by no means made the journey easier. But to make bad worse, when leaving the village I was presented with a flag by the chief, a big, burly fellow, whom notwithstanding my unwillingness to bear it, I dare not refuse. We were followed by the elite of the village to South Bay, where we arrived late in the afternoon. While the children were examined and prepared the two villages organized a football match. The game was interesting and well played scientifically. After the mass and confirmation of twenty-three children the next morning we retraced our steps over the much-dreaded road to Wikwemikongaing.

The next morning we set out by boat to West Bay. Sailing north we rounded Ignatius Pt., west of William Island. Then north by north-west to Burnt Island, through the O'Connor pass, escaping Casey Island; then south by west, passing Goat Island, Strawberry Island and Little Current to Best Bay. What fun it is to ride on board of the Santa Maria! It is the personal property of the Rev. Father Paquin, S.J., and suitably named after the great Santa Maria. It is as dear to the Indians of Manitoulin as the Santa Maria was to the Cubans. It brings the glad tidings of Christ crucified to these poor and much degraded Indians.

We arrived at West Bay early in the evening on Wednesday. His lordship gave confirmation to twenty-two children the following day, after which we set out for Shisbigwaning. This is a desolate, crumbling village, the most backward of all the missions. Here his lordship again gave confirmation on Friday morning and immediately set sail for Algoma, to catch the train for Garden River. Garden River is among the best, if not the best, of the Indian missions. It is a town of five or six hundred inhabitants, and nicely situated on the banks of the Garden river. It possesses a fine church and a school which it is hoped will bring the children to some knowledge of the nineteenth century; although it is extremely difficult for a day school to handle with success Indian children. They need the discipline of a boarding school to rid them of their rude and crude habits and to implant in them habits of foresight and industry.

After high mass on Sunday forty children were confirmed, who were carefully prepared by their zealous pastor, Father Artus. Then his Lordship took the train to Sault St. Marie, where he left me till he would return from the North Shore missions.

Infant Mortality.

Lactated Food Saves Babies' Lives.

The frightful rate of infant mortality in Canada shows plainly that there is something lacking in the knowledge of how to care for babies.

When a physician is called to attend an ailing infant he invariably finds that the infant must be better fed.

Too many infants are crammed with heavy indigestible foods that ruin the digestive organs. Too many are fed from day to day with mother's milk, impure and often diseased.

Mothers should endeavour to find out at once if they are using the proper food for their babies. If the babies are not healthy and not growing as they should, they ought to be fed at once on Lactated Food, which is as healthful as the purest breast milk, and as cheap as the most ordinary food.

Lactated Food is a life saving food for all infants and children, and receives the heartiest approval of the best medical men.

GOUGH BROS.,
The Wonderful Cheap Men

AN EXCELLENT PERFORMANCE.

A Pack of Dogs and a Number of Ponies Display Their Intelligence.

An example of what patience, perseverance and kindness will accomplish, when applied with reason to the fulfillment of a certain object, is given by the performance of Norris Bros.' trained dogs and ponies. The exhibition of intelligence is wonderful. These animals display knowledge almost human in character. Of course, what they do is drilled into them by persistent instruction, but their performance shows to what a high condition of perfection it is possible to educate four footed animals. To see members of the human race perform feats of skill always call for approval, but the feats of dumb animals are more worthy of commendation from the lords of creation.

It was a large and critical, but appreciative, audience that gathered in the large canvas pavilion last night to witness this wonderful performance. A pack of sixty dogs and a dozen beautiful ponies furnish the entertainment, more pleasing to some than any amusement a troupe of human beings could furnish. The features are as numerous and varied as it is possible to conceive them. The performance opens with a fancy drill by eight ponies. First, a pony enters the ring and pulls a bell, at which one pony at a time enters and takes up position. The roll is called and each pony answers "present" when its name is pronounced by nodding its head. The drill is well performed. Before dismissing the troop, some of the ponies are asked to show various forms of affection for their master. This they do in a gentle manner. Some of these animals can do almost anything but talk. One pony spelled out its name, drawing the letters out of a row placed before it. It also told its age, number of days in a week, number of working days in a week, number of meals received daily, distinguished colours, brought articles it was sent for, etc. Another did some long jumping. Some performed difficult, others laughable, feats.

More attention has, apparently, been given to the dogs, as a greater number of them performed tricks. Some walked erect on hind feet, others on their fore feet, two feet on one side of the body, climbed ladders, rode on ponies, jumping over banners, through paper covered hoops, etc., while on their hind legs. The clown dogs were very funny and evoked no end of laughter by their mirth-provoking tricks. One of the cutest tricks was that performed by a little pug dog, which walked a tight rope. A trick goat followed suit. Then a monkey tried the trick and did it in true acrobatic style, carrying a balance pole and completing the act by a gymnastic performance on the rope. The performance concluded with a grand pyramid, in which nearly all the ponies and dogs, monkey, trained peacock, etc., took part. Just prior to this a pack of grey hounds gave a fine exhibition of long and high jumping.

Not the least enjoyable part of the novel entertainment is the selections rendered by the brass band. Although numbering only ten pieces, the members are always well in touch and harmony, playing with subdued softness and notable execution.

A white Shetland pony, the only one in America, a pure white Newfoundland dog, a Portugal cattle dog and a huge St. Bernard dog are special features.

AWAY OUT IN SOUTH AFRICA

Canadians Hold a Meeting in Dr. Brennan's Office.

Mr. Will Crowe, formerly of town, sends THE EXAMINER a copy of the Johannesburg Standard and Digger's News, from the Transvaal, South Africa.

The following item is clipped from the issue of June 27th, concerning a meeting which was held in the office of Dr. Brennan, also formerly of Peterborough:—"There was a fairly attended meeting of Canadians at the office of Dr. Brennan, Commissioner street, on Sunday, with the object of deciding upon some suitable mode of celebrating Dominion Day—1st July. Dr. Brennan was in the chair. The matter was fully discussed, and it was resolved that the Canadians of this town would meet at a dinner to take place on the night of the first prox., and the following executive committee was appointed:—Mr. D. Stevenson, chairman; Dr. Brennan, vice-chairman; Messrs. W. W. Spafford, E. Morgan, W. H. Crowe, W. Connolly, J. S. Eakin, J. W. Taylor and W. Gosnell, with Mr. J. C. Chevers as secretary. Another meeting will be held at Dr. Brennan's office on Wednesday evening at 7.30, at which the executive committee will present a report."

A RAVENOUS WORM.

Mr. Stothart, of Stothart Bros., Smith, left with THE EXAMINER a bottle containing samples of a worm which has created considerable havoc with a 12-acre field of mangolds. The worms, which are green and range in size, according to age, from one-sixteenth to an inch in length, entered this field at the east side and swept clean about half an acre, including weeds, and threatened to clean the whole field, but were checked by the use of paris green. The voracious worm specimens were submitted to Mr. Wherry, an active member of the "Grub Society" and he has furnished the following report:—

The specimens examined are the larvæ of a very common species of butterfly, the checkered white (pontia protodice.) This species, closely allied to the common cabbage butterfly, gives rise to three broods—a spring brood, a summer brood and an autumn brood. The butterfly is of medium size, of a general white colour, the fore wings being marked with dark checks, and the margins with a row of fine triangular marks. The larva which feeds on cruciferous plants such as cabbage, turnips, beets, mangolds, is a great pest. The most efficient means for its destruction is spraying with Paris green, except of course in the case of infested cabbage, when such application entails danger.

General Manager.

Many a boy starts out in life with the firm determination of conquering the world. He means to achieve success and wealth and fame. His intentions are good, and his will is strong. If he has the bodily strength to carry him through, his efforts will be crowned with achievement. Bodily strength and health are his greatest capital. Without them he can hope for nothing. How many young men and young women are cut off just when the future seems brightest and fullest of promise! They are taken away by the disease which causes over one-sixth of all the deaths in the world—the disease which doctors call consumption. Consumption has been considered incurable, and the medical profession has never made a greater mistake than this. There is absolutely no reason in the world why consumption should be fatal—why it should be even serious. It is a disease of the blood, and can be cured absolutely and always by purifying and enriching the blood. The only exception to this is the case where the disease has been neglected and improperly treated until it is stronger than the body—until the body has become so weak as to have lost the ability to recuperate. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption if used according to directions. It also cures all lingering coughs, bronchial and throat affections. There is no reason why the child of consumptive parents need ever have consumption if its blood and lungs are strengthened by the proper use of the "Discovery." All who have any reason to fear consumption, should read the chapters on that disease in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. This great medical work of 1008 pages, profusely illustrated, has reached a sale of over 680,000 copies. It will be sent free of charge on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to cover cost of customs and mailing only. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

A TRIPLE ALLIANCE.

That has Won in Every Conflict—The Three Great South American Remedies Never Fail in the Cure of Rheumatism, Kidney Disease and the Worst Forms of Indigestion.

The three great South American Remedies have been called into conflict with many a desperate enemy, but the case is yet to be recorded where they have not come out the victor. If we take South American Rheumatic Cure, the story of the patients who have been cured by it reads like a fairy tale. Mr. D. Desautels, of Peterborough, suffered so terribly from rheumatism that he was blistered by doctors ten different times, in as many different places, with the hope of driving the disease from the system. His hands were drawn out of shape and the fingers almost destroyed. His left leg had to be encased in a plaster of Paris cast for months. One week after using South American Rheumatic Cure this patient was like a new man, and in a short time was completely cured.

When South American Kidney Cure is called into question, unlike pills and powders and medicines of that kind, it immediately dissolves the uric acid and hardened substances that constitute this disease, and the system rid of these a cure is soon effected. Mr. D. J. Locke, of Sherbrooke, Quebec, says he spent over $100 in treatment for a complicated case of kidney disease, but received no relief. After taking a few doses of South American Kidney Cure he felt wonderfully helped, and, to quote his own words, "I have now taken four bottles, and consider myself completely cured."

The worst forms of indigestion were cured by the use of South American Nervine. It acts on the nerve centres located at the base of the brain, from which come all nervous troubles and disorders of the stomach. Mrs. A. Stapleton, Wingham, Ont., says:—"I had been troubled for a number of years with nervous debility, indigestion and dyspepsia, and had been treated by a number of the best physicians in Canada and England. I was advised to take South American Nervine, and must say if I had not done so I would not have been alive to-day. I will never be without it." Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

A $75,000 BLAZE.

The Central Mills at Niagara Falls Were Burning, But the Rollers Turned Just the Same.

Niagara Falls, Ont., July 31.—At the Central Milling Co., Niagara Falls, N.Y., some 80,000 bushels of wheat was burned and $15,000 damage done to the building. The mill is the largest in Western New York and has a capacity of 15,000 barrels per day and is a large four-storey building. The fire originated in the tower of the elevator shaft and is supposed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion. The fire department kept the flames within the shaft and store bins below. The mill, during the fire, did not shut down, but kept on turning its rolls. The loss is estimated at $75,000, fully covered by insurance.

AN EXCEPTIONAL SALE.

St. John is Much Interested in the Recent Medical Discovery.

St. John, N.B., July 20.—The many cases of marvellous restoration to health from various forms of kidney trouble which have been constantly appearing in the daily press of the Dominion have for some time awakened the liveliest interest here, and the remedy by which the cures were effected namely. Dodd's Kidney Pills are obtaining great celebrity throughout the province. The appearance of the testimonials of Drs. Rose and McCormick stating the benefits which they had personally derived from their use was considered a sufficient sign of the merits of the remedy, and the other interesting and wonderful cases which since been chronicled had caused the specific to have an exceptional sale.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn' says: "Shiloh's Vitalizer 'Saved my Life.' I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For dyspepsia, liver or kidney trouble it excels. Price 75c. Sold by John Nugant, 369 George Street.

GOLD MINING IN ONTARIO.

Ontario Inspector Blaght Returns From a Tour of Inspection—The Work is Booming Along Finely.

Toronto, Aug. 1.

Mr. A. Blaght, Ontario inspector of Mines, returned yesterday from an inspection of the Northwestern mining districts of the Province. He reports increased activity in the mining regions, and especially in the gold districts of the Lake of the Woods and Rainy Lake. He reports the Sultana mine as running with a force of 65 men, a very rich body of ore having been struck at a depth of 175 feet. About $3,000 worth of gold per week is being taken out. A chlorination plant for treating concentrates has just been added.

At the Regina mine between 80 and 90 men are at work. The stamp mill is running 10 hours a day and one shaft is down 150 feet. The property is being vigorously developed.

At the Foley mine on Shoal Lake active work is going on. A complete plant is in course of erection for treating ore.

About 20 men are at work at the Ferguson mine, four miles from Mine Centre. Two shafts have been sunk and the two will be connected by a drift. The vein is two feet wide and the outlook encouraging.

A fine vein is being developed in the Golden Gate property. An open cut 35 feet deep has been made upon it, and the vein is about four feet wide. About 100 tons of ore from this property was treated in the mill at Gale Hill mine, half a mile distant, the yield being $1500. Ten men are at work.

A ten-stamp mill is on the point of being started at the Empress mine on Jack Fish Bay, where 300 or 400 tons of fine grade ore, running $15 to $20 per ton, were on the dump. A number of veins have been uncovered and prospects are that it will prove a well-paying mine.

At the Crystal gold mine near Lake Wahnapitae, 12 men are at work and some fine samples of ore have been taken out.

The prospect named the "Last Chance" in Rathbun Township is undergoing development, five or six men being at work. The promise of this mine is good, fine gold being easily obtained.

The Canadian Copper Co.'s mines are all being operated by a strong force, 425 men being at work, and the output of ore being 500 tons a day. The smelting plant has been practically duplicated. The company has recently opened up a fine body of ore a short distance from Copper Cliff.

The Chicago Nickel Co., in Drury Township, has recently been reorganized and is actively at work with a force of about 40 men. A fine plant has been erected at a cost of $100,000. Four thousand tons of ore are on the roast heaps and an additional smelter of 120 tons capacity is about to be erected. The company has recently undertaken a large contract for the disposal of its matte.

STRIKE AT THE TWIN SHAFT.

The Coal Company Cuts the Wages of the Men at the Dangerous Work of Recovering the Victims.

Wilkes-Barre, July 31.—Quite a sensation was caused in Pittston yesterday among the surviving friends of the Twin shaft victims by the discontinuance of the rescue work, which up to 7 o'clock in the morning had been going on ever since the entombment of the men on Sunday, June 28, last. The cause of the work being stopped is the reduction of the workmen's wages, and for this reason they are on strike. The shift came up at 7 o'clock in the morning as usual and two of them were told that their services would be no longer required. All the others were informed that they would hereafter receive but $1.90 and $1.70 per day—some of the men to receive the former and others the latter pay. The men refused to go in for these wages, and hence the rescue work is at a standstill.

Foreman Griffith Roberts was interviewed concerning the reduction, but he refused to talk on the matter.

The Pittston relatives and friends of the entombed men feel very indignant that the work has been discontinued.

General Manager Law was seen in the afternoon. On being questioned as to the reduction of wages, he replied that there is a limit to the company's pocketbook. He stated that there would be no difficulty in securing men at the cut wages, though at the same time he admitted that the work was most dangerous. He said the company had no desire to stop the work, although it has not the slightest hope of ever recovering a body. It will be continued, he says, until water is struck or a dangerous body of gas.

Thos. Slater has a message for every man on page 3. Don't fail to read it.

A BUDGET FROM OTTAWA.

Valuations of Ore Shipped From the South Kootenay Mines—Immigration Seems to be Slow This Year.

Ottawa, July 30.—(Special.)—H. M. S. Icarius has left Victoria, B.C., for Behring Sea. The cruiser will co-operate with United States vessels in patrolling the area covered by the Paris award.

The customs valuation of ore and bullion shipped from mines and smelters in South Kootenay from Jan. 1 to July 1, this year, is $1,732,620.

Mr. Laurier wired the local Liberal Association to-day his consent to arrangements for a reception to be given him here on the 5th of August.

In the bye-elections eight Ministers were elected by acclamation, leaving 4, besides two in the Senate and the vacant portfolio of Interior, to be provided for. Mr. Tarte's nomination has been postponed until Aug. 3, and Fielding's in Queen's-Shelburne until the 5th. Mr. Blair will likely go into the Senate until a Commons vacancy occurs in New Brunswick, and Mr. Paterson will probably run for North Grey.

The writ for the bye-election in North Grey will not be issued until the Ministers arrive in the Capital, so that a returning officer may be appointed at once by order in council.

Since the opening of navigation 2311 vessels have passed through the Canadian Soo Canal.

An official of the Interior Department estimates that immigration to Canada to date this season is fully 5 per cent. below the arrivals of last spring. This shows that unless a great improvement takes place by autumn this will be one of the dullest immigration seasons in many years.

Surveys of the Trent Valley Canal are being made from Trenton to Frankfort and from Lake Simcoe to Georgian Bay. Work is being pushed on the sections already under contract. Between four and five millions will be the cost of completing the system from Lake Ontario to Georgian Bay.

DAMAGE BY FLOODS.

Railways Blocked Owing to a Tunnel Caving in and Washouts—Houses Irreparably Damaged.

Wheeling, W.Va., July 30.—The heavy rain of this morning caused immense damage to property in this vicinity. Small creeks became raging torrents and bridges were swept away. The rain began at 2 o'clock and continued until 6 this morning. Farm houses were flooded and crops irreparably damaged. On the Ohio side the Wheeling & Lake Erie, the Cincinnati & Pittsburg and the Cleveland, Loraine & Wheeling Roads were blocked by washouts near Martin's Ferry, and it will be several days before they can run trains. The Baltimore & Ohio suffered considerably. Eaton's tunnel caved in at both ends while a passenger train was going through, but fortunately the mishap did not cost any lives. A number of trestles were washed out on this road and it will be several days before any trains can be run through. The tracks were flooded and all trains were delayed.

Five Men Were Killed.

New York, July 30.—An oil vat of the Eagle oil works at Caven Point, Jersey City, caught fire at 1 o'clock this afternoon. Five men were killed.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS ALWAYS CURE

AFTER TEN YEARS SUFFERING

Two Box Cure

Milverton, 29th July, 1895.

Gentlemen,—For the last ten years I had been troubled with kidney disease, being so bad at intervals that I could not lie in bed at night nor stoop to the ground.

I had tried all the remedies I could find without effect, but heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills and procured a box.

I am most happy to say it for my own sake as well as for others that I am perfectly cured after using four boxes.

CANCER CURED
—AND A—
LIFE SAVED
By the Persistent Use of
Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"I was troubled for years with a sore on my knee, which several physicians, who treated me, called a cancer, assuring me that nothing could be done to save my life. As a last resort, I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after taking a number of bottles, the sore began to disappear and my general health improve. I persisted in this treatment, until the sore was entirely healed. Since then, I use Ayer's Sarsaparilla occasionally as a tonic and blood-purifier, and, indeed, it seems as though I could not keep house without it."—Mrs. S. A. FIELDS, Bloomfield, Ia.

WHERE IS THE TIGER NOW?

The Tammany Hall Executive Meets in New York To-Night.

New York, July 30.—The Tammany Hall Executive Committee will meet to-morrow night, and as John C. Sheehan says, "You will have to wait and see what they do."

William P. St. John says the Bryan men will form a complete political machine in the State and the Tammany braves are left wondering what part in the campaign the Wigwam is going to play. The clamor in the districts for endorsing the Chicago ticket seems to point out the inevitable, though many leaders hope that the inclination of the silver managers to go ahead without Tammany will have a tendency to deter action until at least overtures are made to that organization.

The Democratic Club.

New York, July 30.—In accordance with the resolution adopted at the meeting of the Democratic Club last night, the following gentlemen have been appointed by ex-Gov. Flower to consider what action shall be taken by the club relating to the platform and the ticket nominated at Chicago and to report thereon to the club at its meeting in September: John Vincent, Charles A. Jackson, Roger Foster, John McAnerney, F. H. Chapin, A. A. Ailing, Isadore Strauss, John Fox, William Bulzer and James Linsey Gordon.

TWEED TOPICS.

Mrs. James Davenport Makes a Statement for the Benefit of Others.

Mrs. Davenport is well-known in Tweed, and this is how she spoke to our representative concerning Doan's Kidney Pills. Said Mrs. Davenport:—

"I have suffered for some years from dizziness, puffing under the eyes, pains in the side and back, sleeplessness, poor appetite, and, in fact, was in a bad state generally.

"I took two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at P. K. Newton's drugstore, and experienced immediate relief from their use.

"I am now very much better indeed; appetite improved, pain almost disappeared and I feel stronger and healthier in every particular.

"I can heartily recommend them to all sufferers from kidney trouble."

Words of Wisdom.

Officers of agricultural societies who have not yet published their premium lists will do well to heed the following words of wisdom from the London Farmer:

On former occasions we have pointed out the absurdity of offering championship prizes for the best animals in the different sections. A case illustrative of this occurred at Eastbourne. In the sheep section the Duke of Devonshire's piece of plate was offered for the best ram or ram lamb in the yard. There were four entries, and the three judges stuck out respectively for their different breeds. The matter did not reach the point of bitterness, but it was sufficiently evident that the decision would require to be made by as disinterested a party as could be procured under the circumstances. The question really resolves itself into not one of merit, but one of breed partisanship. This spirit cannot be alienated from these contests, and it invariably follows that the judges disagree, and the umpire gives his decision, as his predilections towards a big or a little, a wool-producing or a beef-producing breed, may be encouraged in his every-day experience.

A GORGEOUS DISPLAY

Was That Witnessed at Halifax—Splendid Display by the British Warships.

Halifax, N.S., July 30.—One of the greatest features of the carnival program was the harbor illumination tonight. It began shortly after dark and was on a magnificent scale. It was a whole carnival in itself. Electricity, fireworks, Chinese lanterns, gas, bonfires, electric searchlights, ship's lanterns and everything that could make a spark or a glimmer contributed to the display. The opening overture was a salute from the heavy guns in the fort on George's Island. The first gun was fired at 8.30 o'clock and instantly 500 lighted balloons were released from a barge in the harbor and made a beautiful picture in the ascension. Some of these were 25 feet long and their use was a new idea in illumination. The torch was applied to the first bonfire on the harbor shores during the time the balloon ascensions were taking place and nine other bonfires, ranging along the Eastern shore from Fort Clarence to Black Rock, were fired in short succession thereafter. The first display of fireworks then took place from the lumber yards, a second occurred from a point in the centre of the harbor, and after the procession of illuminated craft had been formed and got in motion, and a third display took place at the same time upon the return of the illuminated procession, after rounding the ships of war moored off the dockyard. The grand pyrotechnic display consisted of Roman candles massed together fired at one and the same time, filling the atmosphere with stars and rings of gold, red, green, crimson, amber, and azure; Phoenix batteries, which displayed colored balls of every shade, afterwards turning to a second battery containing nests of fiery serpents; golden fountains, discharging immense gold and silver showers, resembling a fountain of living fire, mines assorted in varieties of floral serpents; meteoric golden spray, colored stars, rockets and a great variety of other pieces.

The moving procession of gaily-lighted and decorated boats was an exceedingly pretty and striking one. The boats were all supplied with colored fires, which were burning constantly. A great number of steamers, yachts and small boats took part in the parade, which was divided into three sections.

Four searchlights were operated from the British warships Tartar and Intrepid. H.M.S. Crescent was lighted at this time from stem to stern and to the masthead with an immense number of incandescent lamps. It was similar to the illumination which attracted so much attention on H.M.S. Blake in New York three years ago.

On the arrival of the procession of boats at the warships a signal in the form of a shower of rockets changed the illumination of ships to blue lights, and for 15 minutes they continued under this form. Another shower of rockets at the expiration of the quarter or an hour restored the incandescent illumination.

At 10.30 o'clock the blowing up of an old barque took place in the middle of the harbor. The doomed barque was piled with several hundred sugar barrels, containing a great quantity of explosives and chemicals, and was fired by submarine battery, illustrating the submarine defences of the Port of Halifax.

ABOUT THE LIVER.

A lazy, slow or torpid liver influences the whole system, causing biliousness, sick headache, sallow complexion, languor and dullness. Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the liver, purifies the secretions and cures all forms of liver troubles. We say so and here is the proof:—

I hereby wish to thank you for the great benefit derived by me from your Burdock Blood Bitters. For three years I was troubled with liver complaint and tried everything to no purpose. I had almost given up hope until one day I determined to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I can say now that marked improvement resulted from the use of the first bottle and at the end of the sixth bottle I discontinued its use, being completely cured.

Mongolian Coolies are Taking the Bread From the White Man's Mouth in British Columbia.

Vancouver, B.C., July 30.—A monster petition to the Federal Government, praying for the further restriction of Chinese immigration to Canada, is being circulated. The petition will contain over 10,000 names when it is sent to Ottawa. The petition recites that Chinese labor is driving out the white workingman; that the United States, realizing this, has excluded the Mongolian coolies, and that Canada should adopt measures to keep them out. It urges that a tax of $500 be levied upon each Chinaman entering the Dominion.

Jameson's Trial Closing.

London, July 27.—Sir Edward Clarke and Sir Frank Lockwood, counsel for Dr. Jameson, and the other defendants now on trial for the Transvaal raid, occupied the morning with their pleas for the defendants, and the late Attorney-General Webster presented the Government's case to the jury. It is thought that the case will be given to the jury this afternoon.

HOW THE SUN LIFE FULFILS ITS PROMISES.

A Matured 10 Year Endowment.

Profits Paid by the SUN 21 per. cent more than the Estimates.

The following letter, which speak for itself, was received by the undersigned this morning from a gentleman in Brockville, whose ten year endowment which he held in the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada matured last week and was paid him. The Sun is modest in promises but UNEQUALLED IN RESULTS. The public are benefitted by results, not by promises unfulfilled

BROCKVILLE, November 7th, 1895.

W. H. HILL, Mgr. Central Ontario Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, Peterborough, Ontario:—

DEAR SIR,—I should have acknowledged the receipt of yours enclosing cheque for endowment policy No. 12,871 before, only I wanted to write something more than a mere receipt. I am pleased to hear of the continued prosperity of the "SUN" and it speaks well for your Company when the profits are greater (by 21 per cent.) than you as the Company's representative promised or rather estimated, as was the case with this policy.

I hope your Company will continue to prosper and I often regret that I do not carry more Insurance than I am doing. I might have carried twice as much as I do when at Minden without any great effort, still what little I do carry I feel is perfectly safe being in the "SUN."

I must thank you for your promptness and kindness regarding this policy just settled. I hope we will both be alive and well when the new one I now hold will be due in 1905 and assuring you of very best wishes, I remain,

Yours Sincerely, (Signed) F. R. C.

The above voluntary testimonial is significant and shows in a most practical way the SUN'S standing as a profit paying institution.

THE CANADIAN APPLE.

World.

The Fruit Growers' Association of Ontario ought to make an effort to place a larger quantity of Canadian apples in the markets of the Eastern States and Great Britain. Mr. F. W. Glen in a letter to the Secretary of the Association, published in The Canadian Horticulturist, gives some valuable hints as to how the sale of our apples can be largely increased in the United States. We believe it is a fact, as stated by Mr. Glen, that Canada produces a better apple than any other section of this continent. With us the apple is looked upon as a very ordinary kind of a fruit, but as a matter of fact there are few fruits superior to the best varieties of the apple kingdom. The Canadian apple ought to have a world-wide reputation. It is of course already very well known in Great Britain, but its qualities are rare and its fame is worthy of being carried to all parts of the world. The Canadian apple trade should be run on the same business principles that have done so much for the Canadian cheese industry. Mr. Glen points out that there are far less difficulties to overcome in opening and retaining a market in the United States for 10,000,000 barrels of prime Canadian apples, at high prices, than there was in creating a market for 155,000,000 pounds of prime cheese or 100,000 head of prime fed stall cattle in Great Britain. The cheese and cattle net the producers not more than fifteen million dollars, while it is claimed the apples will net least twenty millions and cost less to produce. Success in the business depends upon selection, packing, quality, condition and appearance when exposed for sale. If it is a fact, as we believe it is, that no country can produce a better apple than Canada, then the cream of the world's business in apples is ours if we will only cultivate it. Canadian apples retain their firmness, brisk acid flavour, crispness and appetising quality longer than those grown in warmer countries. We undoubtedly have the climate. What our fruit growers should devote their attention to is the cultivation of the best varieties and the marketing of them on the most approved system. The Canadian farmer will secure a competency sooner by the exercise of intelligence than by the use of muscle.

Another Week's Sudden Deaths.

If the situation were not so serious one might say in the matter of sudden deaths from heart failure that each week is a record breaker over that which has preceded it. There never was a time when greater need existed for hoisting the red flag of danger and appealing to men and women in all conditions of life to keep within convenient reach a bottle of Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. With the slightest symptoms of heart trouble relief is secured within a half an hour of using this medicine. The case of Mr. L. W. Law, of Toronto Junction, who suffered from smothering spells for eighteen months, being permanently cured by this great medicine, is only one of thousands of instances that could be cited. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

THE TURF.

Ten thousand people were at the Cleveland trots yesterday. The sensational performance of the day was the work of Miss Jennings, a chestnut mare owned by Dave Phillips, of Bradford, Pa. She won the 2.25 pacing, going three wonderful heats, and reduced her record to 2.08¼.

ACQUATIC.

Jake Gaudaur will sail for England next Wednesday to get ready for his race against Stanbury over the Thames course. The Canadian champion will be accompanied by Dr. W. S. McDowall, the Chicago sculler, who was beaten for the Diamond Sculls at Henley last month. It is probable that Jake and the doctor will sail on the same boat with Richard Dissette, who is going to make final arrangements regarding the stake and date of the race.

CRICKET.

A. H. Collins, of Toronto, who has charge of the English eleven to do battle against Canada on September 7, is being flooded with letters from gentlemen who are of the opinion that they should be given a place on the eleven. The "Duke" was under the impression that he knew every cricketer of note in Canada, but this match has unearthed men who, if their letters be true, must have played on some prehistoric international eleven. Those who have accepted places on the English eleven are: John Horstead, of Chatham; C. Cobbould, of Grimsby; F. W. Terry and M. A. Walker, of London, and Fleet, the Hamilton pro.

Strength for the Aged.

As age advances the recuperative power of the body decreases. Fatigue clings like a burr to the already depleted store of energy, still further wasting and dissipating it, and in consequence the elderly find it very hard to keep their spirits up to the "doing" point. An anchor of hope and safety is found in the energizing action of Maltine with Coca Wine, which imparts almost magically, strength and vigor to the failing powers, and through its nutritive and tonic properties, renews those functional activities upon which depend health of body and vigor of mind. Maltine with Coca Wine rapidly restores appetite, improves digestion, imparts tone and vigor to the nervous system; in a word is a strength-giver of unequalled excellence. Maltine with Coca Wine is prescribed and recommended by physicians. All druggists sell it.

"SKINNY" IN HARD LUCK.

An individual hailing from Peterborough by the name of Skinny, claiming to be a retired British soldier, interviewed the Chief, says the Port Hope Times, this afternoon in reference to a railway ticket to Toronto. Skinny states that he has been in Peterborough for about three weeks, ten days of that time being spent in an hospital. Now he is trying to get to Toronto, where he has some friends, in order to procure work. Skinny got a ticket to Toronto.

Skinny is probably the man who was kicked for nosing around the Convent here, and whose strange (?) bruises formed the subject of sensational articles in our two contemporaries.

"A Stitch in Time."

A dose of Ayer's Pills has saved many a fit of sickness; but when a remedy does not happen to be at hand, slight ailments are liable to be neglected, and the result, frequently, is serious illness; therefore always be supplied with Ayer's Pills.

NIECE'S TERRIBLE FEAR

That He Would Become Insane and Kill His Wife and Children.

Windsor, Ont., July 31.—Harry Clark Niece, of the Township of Colchester North, was brought before Magistrate Bartlett by his wife, who alleged that he had formerly been confined in a lunatic asylum and that he was again becoming dangerous. Niece told the court that he had become discouraged over his farm, his crops having been destroyed by the rain, and that he wanted to be locked up as he feared that if he were left at liberty he would kill his wife and children. He was committed for examination as to his sanity.

ITS FAME SPREADING.

A New Remedy in General Use in Manitoba and the Northwest.

WINNIPEG, July 27th—The effects of the regular wave of sickness which sweeps over this portion of the Dominion in the spring are noticeable in the increasing amount of the druggists' sales. There has been quite a run on the kidney remedy now so well known under the name of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The recovery from Bright's disease of Mr. Arthur Coley, of Somerset, through their use, an account of which appeared in the papers, gave a considerable impetus to the sale, and the remedy has become indispensable in many Manitoba households, its fame having penetrated into the remotest parts of the province and Northwest Territories.

That hacking, persistent cough can be quickly cured by using Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It cures all throat and lung troubles.

AIR AS A MOTIVE POWER.

The Experiments a Success--Compressed Air Cars to Run Regularly.

New York, July 31.—Compressed air was the motive power that propelled two surface cars from Fort Lee Ferry to the Harlem River last night over the 125th-street branch of the Third Avenue Railway. It was the third time the cars had been run from river to river to test the fitness of the Hardie compressed air motor. Two cars were run over the road to give the newspaper men a chance to see how the new motor works. The test was a great success and the cars will probably be put into regular service Saturday or Monday.

Dropped Dead in London.

London, Ont., July 31.—D. T. Ware, one of the oldest men in London, dropped dead at his home, 472 Parke-avenue, about 1 o'clock this afternoon. He was born at Lancaster, near Hamilton, but had resided in London nearly all his life.

thinness

The diseases of thinness are scrofula in children, consumption in grown people, poverty of blood in either. They thrive on leanness. Fat is the best means of overcoming them. Everybody knows cod-liver oil makes the healthiest fat.

In Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil the taste is hidden, the oil is digested, it is ready to make fat.

When you ask for Scott's Emulsion and your druggist gives you a package in a salmon-colored wrapper with the picture of the man and fish on it—you can trust that man!

TURKISH MISRULE.

The Czar Has Had His Eyes Opened

REGARDING ARMENIA AND CRETE

A Revolution at the Russian Court Which Has, it is Said, Shorn Prince Lobanoff of Some of His Powers as Foreign Minister—The Czar's Health.

New York, Aug. 2.—Harold Frederic cables from London to The Times: It is more than surmised in official circles here that there has been a sort of palace revolution in Russia, and that Prince Lobanoff, if not overthrown, has been divested of his unlimited power as Foreign Minister. He has been from the beginning hand in glove with the German Emperor, so much so as to justify the original suspicion that his appointment was managed from Berlin. The credit for his defeat is now given to the Czar's mother, who never has forgotten that she is a Danish Princess and who hates all things German. Whether she likes all things English is not so clear. But for the moment at least English statesmen think the way may be opened for a more effective pro-Christian policy in the Levant.

It is understood that between his Greek, English and Danish relatives the young Czar has been brought to know the truth about Armenia and Crete, and to say that Russia shall no longer play the monstrous part of the Sultan's supporter in these crimes against civilization. Upon this new basis, I am told, fresh negotiations are now proceeding among the powers, and it is not impossible that Germany may find herself alone, or at best with only Austria's lukewarm assent, in the position of backing up Turkish misrule. If all this be true, and there are numerous indications that it is, then at last something can be done to break the shameful deadlock in the east.

It is known that the Czar's health continues bad and that a distinct anxiety exists lest it may never improve. He and his wife are coming westward about a month hence, visiting Vienna first. Several dates have been announced, but it is said that the exact time is still unsettled. Beyond the understanding that Darmstadt, Copenhagen, Berlin and London are also on the imperial program nothing is known. Paris is feverishly excited as to its chances in this list, and it is difficult, certainly, to see how it can with decency be left out. Yet it is also obvious that the Parisians would make a demonstration which would throw the whole or the rest of the journey into the shade. For this reason it is now suggested that the Czar will go to all the other places first, then interpose a period of quiet seaside rest somewhere, perhaps Norway, and then make the French visit a thing by itself.

Nothing is clearer about Nicholas than that he is devoid of military ambition. His associations are not with soldiers and he has a strong aversion to the martial element in the ceremonials of court life. This fact makes it possible to view the organized disturbances in Macedonia with less apprehension than would have been aroused a few years ago. That they are being produced under the auspices of the Macedonia Committee, which gets its money chiefly from Russian sources, is nowhere doubted. There is a feeling, however, that if the Czar lives and maintains even a nominal grip on things these mischief-makers will not be allowed to go to the length of provoking a war. Unhappily there is always a large margin of chance in Russian politics, and if one palace clique can upset Lobanoff another may hoist him to the head of affairs again and, no matter how pacific the Czar may be, there is a powerful army influence always pulling in the other direction.

A PEACE MOVEMENT

The Irish Factions Will Hold a Convention

AND TRY TO SETTLE DIFFERENCES

A Genuine, Earnest Effort Will Be Made at Dublin Next Month in the Interest of Harmony—Mr. Dillon Would Support Any Acceptable Leader.

New York, Aug. 2.—The Sun's London correspondent says: I have been authorized to make an announcement which contains the only hope of the revival of the cause of self-government for Ireland. It is welcome news that a genuine, earnest effort will be made at Dublin, a month hence, to harmonize all factions in the ranks of the Irish Nationalists. Messrs. Dillon, Healy, Redmond and all their followers are willing to admit that there is no hope of the accomplishment of the object for which all are supposed to be striving, until the disputes which have divided them since the death of Mr Parnell, are abandoned and their forces are united under a single leadership once more.

It is, of course, impossible to gain this fusion without important personal and other concessions on all sides. These concessions the great majority of the Irish Nationalists in Parliament are not only ready but anxious to make. They will make them at the convention to be held next month in Dublin. Meantime, the preliminary announcement of their purpose is contained in the following statement, prepared by Mr. John Dillon, after consultation with his associates, and handed to me for publication in the United States and Canada.

"The National convention which is to meet at Dublin on Sept. 1, was summoned with a view of affording an opportunity to all who desire to see unity restored among the Irish Nationalists, to come together and lay down a platform in support of which Irish Nationalists throughout the world might act together. With that object in view, the proposals for the convention were made so wide as to embrace all Irish Nationalists who desire to give a fair trial to the constitutional methods.

"It is now manifest that, so far as Ireland and the Irishmen in Great Britain are concerned, the convention will be the most representative which has assembled since the split of 1891, and it will have, as compared with previous conventions, the advantage of the presence, at its deliberations, of many representative Irishmen from other parts of the world. Its decisions must, therefore, have great weight with the Irish race, and lasting influence on the future of the Irish movement.

"The convention was not summoned in the interests of any section or of any individual, as is plainly shown by the rules which have been laid down for the admission of delegates, under which every organized body of Irishmen who are sympathisers with the Home Rule movement have a right to be represented. Clergymen of all denominations and all representative Nationalists holding positions conferred by the votes of their fellow-citizens are entitled to attend. The Parnellite party have also been invited to take part in making arrangements for the convention.

"For my own part, if, at the convention, or subsequently, as a result of its proceedings, any man could be agreed upon under whose chairmanship all the Irish Nationalist members of Parliament would unite, I should, as I have always stated, be most willing to support him in the office. It seems to me that if any section of Irish Nationalists decline to take part in this convention, the duty will be thrown upon them of stating to their countrymen how, in their judgment, can be effected that reunion in the National ranks which is of the first importance to the progress of the National cause.

"I shall not undertake to prophesy what the result of these overtures from the most numerous section of the Irish Nationalists in Parliament will be. I wish to emphasize the fact that this peace movement is genuine and sincere, and that any faction which resists it will assume a grave responsibility before the Irish race. It may, perhaps, resolve itself into a question of personal leadership, and it must be admitted that the difficulties will be great, because there exists no commanding figure, in or out of Parliament to whom all factions can turn. There is some talk of inducing Mr. Sexton to return to politics as a compromise leader of the consolidated forces, but the so called Dillon party, who are in the van of the present peace movement, have no candidate to propose."

Canadian Banks are Not Importing Gold Owing to Any Nervousness as Stated in New York Despatches.

Montreal, Aug. 2.—(Special.)—The despatches from New York to the Canadian papers stating that Montreal banks were withdrawing gold from the United States on account of the nervousness in the Dominion over the currency question in the neighboring Republic are not borne out by facts. On the contrary, the leading banks here deny that gold is being brought into Canada for the reasons given in the despatches in question. The general manager of the Bank of Montreal was found in his office, and certainly did not betray the slightest degree of uneasiness while discussing the question.

"We have not brought any gold into Canada for a good while," said Mr. Clouston, "and it is not probable any is coming in for the reasons alleged in the Toronto and New York despatches. However," concluded the banker, "the sound money men should not be too sanguine over the result of the Presidential campaign, as over-confidence might put them into a hole."

Mr. John Galt, who has lately been appointed manager of the Merchants' Bank of Canada in New York, arrived in Montreal yesterday, and was likewise interviewed by your correspondent. Mr. Galt states that whatever gold is being brought into Canada is certainly not for speculative purposes, but rather for the legitimate requirements of the Canadian banks. At the present season the banks cannot sell New York funds and they bring in gold at a much cheaper rate. A good deal of our exports, such as cattle, butter and cheese, is now going forward, and Mr. Galt was not aware that any more than the ordinary quantity of gold was coming in. The legitimate requirements of the banks were considerable at midsummer, and this was all there was to the story of a withdrawal of gold by the banking institutions of Canada.

"What is the feeling in New York financial circles just now?" Mr. Galt was asked.

"Things," he replied, "are at a standstill and little will be done until the election. A feeling of great uncertainty exists, and although the gold men express the greatest confidence in McKinley's return there is in spite of this fact a strong feeling in favor of free silver."

Mr. Galt also referred to the great combination of bankers in New York who had pledged themselves not to export gold, and these men are bringing all possible pressure upon others to act in the same manner.

"And will they succeed?" asked the correspondent.

"Well," replied Mr. Galt, "I am of the opinion that they have a big contract in hand, although they are doing their best to help the United States Government in the present financial difficulty."

Mr. Kennedy of the Bank of Nova Scotia, who was seen later in the day, said that they had brought in $300,000 during the month of July. This had nothing whatever to do with speculation but simply to meet the requirements of their legitimate business.

ANOTHER AWFUL COLLISION.

Two Trains Strike on the Illinois Central Railroad—Two Killed and Seven Were Injured.

Clinton, Ill., Aug. 1.—A wreck occurred this morning on a curve near Birbeck, six miles north of Clinton, on the Gilman branch of the Illinois Central Railroad. The nor and southbound mail and passenger trains came together in collision. Two persons were killed and seven injured, some of them injured seriously.

The dead are:

Engineer Charles Birckneck, of Clinton.

William Baker, mail agent, Springfield.

The injured are: Conductor Perkins of the southbound train; Miss Louise Martin of Kankakee; Mr. Lovell, Mr. Baker, Walter Evans, Mr. Woodward, Mr. McAvoy. Most of these are from Springfield, Ill.

The two engines were wrecked, the mail car was splintered and two baggage cars were totally destroyed. The wreck was caused by a disregard of orders on the part of the crew of the northbound train.

Atlantic City Disaster.

Atlantic City, N.J., Aug. 1.—Now that the excitement has more or less subsided, the actual fatalities and injured in Thursday's railroad accident are definitely known. The dead number 44, and 43 persons were seriously enough hurt to be taken to the hospital. Of those in the hospital 28 were so far recovered to-day as to be able to go to their homes. Of the 15 persons remaining in the hospital several are suffering from terrible injuries, the nature of which makes their recovery doubtful.

The interest now centres in the coroner's inquest on Monday, at which something definite towards fixing the responsibility for the accident will be brought to light.

Condition of the Sufferers.

Atlantic City, N.J., Aug. 2.—Up to this evening there had been no further deaths among the victims of Thursday's railroad collision. On the contrary, there was a marked improvement in the condition of all but two or three. Mrs. Faunce Fralinger of Philadelphia, whose leg was amputated, and for whom no hope was entertained, was much better to-day and now has a chance for life.

Mrs. Brannin of Millville and Frank Morale are hovering between life and death, with small prospects of living.

The Coroner's Inquest.

Coroner McLaughlin is thoroughly in earnest in his determination to sift the accident to the bottom and fix the blame for it where it belongs. He has issued subpoenas for 25 or 30 witnesses. The most important witness will be called to-morrow. Among these will be George Houser, the signal tower man who gave the right of way to the excursion train and the danger signal to the Reading express, and who is now under $500 bail to answer for his appearance, Engineer Greiner of the excursion train, Fireman Hallihan of the Reading train and Superintendents Deyo and Dayton of the Reading and West Jersey Railroads.

THEIR SKULLS CRUSHED IN

Discovery of a Brutal Double Murder at a Summer Boarding House Near Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Aug. 2.—A brutal double murder was discovered this morning in an orchard in the rear of a summer boarding house in the suburb of Narbeth. Ewert McDarnell, aged 25 years, and Mary Brown, aged 25, both colored, were found lying on the ground side by side with their skulls crushed in. The woman was a servant in the boarding house and McDarnell is said to have been her husband, although she was known by the name of Brown. The woman was a flirt, and it is supposed some lover of hers killed the couple. The police claim to know the name of the man whom they suspect of the murder and expect to have him under arrest shortly.

SOUND MONEY DEMOCRATS

Will Hold a Convention for the State of Illinois on August 25.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—The Sound Money Democracy of Illinois will hold a State convention. This step was formally decided upon yesterday by the State Executive Committee. Chairman Ewing was directed to prepare a call for the convention to be held in Chicago, Aug. 25, to nominate a full State ticket and elect delegates to the anti-Free Silver National Convention. There is considerable talk in Democratic circles that Chairman Heinrichsen of the Democracy State Committee will exercise his authority as Secretary of State to prevent the gold Democrats using the name "Democratic" on the ballots with any attachment.

A NEW REGIME.

It is evident that the Canadian people did what may be called an excellent stroke of business when they secured the services of Mr. Tarte as the head of "a great spending department." Not only is he determined, says the Globe, to rid the department of the mouldering branches and vigorous suckers that have been allowed to accumulate during the late regime, but he will stop as far as possible the defalcations that were planned and partly carried out during the recent campaign. He has already discovered sufficient to justify the general mistrust of the public toward the late administration and to prove the wisdom of the change effected at the polls. The famous Langevin block, built in 1883, and in which all the contractors had to buy the right of entrance from Mr. Charlebois at that gentleman's price, left a lingering claim for extras to the extent of $100,000. Mr. Charlebois, who levied toll on other contractors entering the building, had been pressing that claim, and it had been denied by the Government till about a month before the general election. On May 20th last the matter was taken up by the late Conservative Government, and it was decided to waive the right of the Crown and grant the demand for the extra $100,000. An order in Council for the payment of the money was passed July 6, after the Ministry had virtually no right to transact anything more than routine business, and Mr. Tarte has already reported to his Excellency that it be cancelled. Another generous order in Council was passed for the benefit of Messrs. Murray and Cleveland, a firm of contractors who had a disputed claim for $80,000. Their claim had not been approved by the architect of the department, but it was decided to waive the rights of the Crown in that case also. Mr. Tarte's promptness in moving to secure the revocation of that order in Council will add $80,000 to the amount he has already saved for his department. The Connollys also came freely within the scope of the Government's campaign generosity. Two years ago the Government settled with them for $20,000. But in May last there was a discovery of a claim, in which the Ministry could waive the rights of the Crown and give them $60,000. After three days' judicial consideration by Judge Burbidge they secured a judgment for $45,000. These are among the things which Mr. Tarte has already discovered, and the Government of which he is a member is scarcely yet installed in office. Wherever the generous bequests in the last will and testament of the defunct Government have not been paid no effort will be spared to intercept them, and in that work Mr. Tarte's phenomenal energy will be of great value to the Dominion.

The members of the late Government were the trusted representatives of the people. Wherever they have waived a claim with the intention of defrauding those interests they had sworn to protect, the people may be forced to suffer the loss. Nations, like individuals, must suffer the consequences of bad judgment in the selection of servants and representatives But many of the defalcations now under way are not too far advanced to be stopped In the practical, as in the financial, administration of the Public Works Department there has been a prodigal waste of public money. Party debts were paid by departmental salaries, the men receiving them having absolutely nothing to do. The pay sheet of the department seem to have been loaded after the manner of Contractor St. Louis' operations on the Lachine bridge. As a result of Mr. Tarte's investigations and his consultation with the leading officials of his department the salaries of 130 alleged employees will be stopped Aug. 1. The Conservative estimate of the Department of Public Works is but inadequately expressed by the name, "a great spending department. They seem to have regarded it as a great wasting department, or a great stealing department. Although the leading Conservative newspapers were silent while all these things were going on, they are approving of Mr. Tarte's course in instituting a different regime. The Montreal Gazette's Ottawa correspondent describes at length the method adopted by Sir Hector Langevin, the employment of a large staff of clerks, who were really permanent but entered as temporary. Their services were paid for from the votes for the construction and maintenance of various public works. "Thus, a clerk," says The Gazette, "when he received his check at the end of the month, would find to his surprise that he had been shovelling snow at Rideau Hall, or doing work in Stoney Mountain Penitentiary, or perhaps building a breakwater at some place in the Maratime Provinces." The policy, as the Gazette points out, was most unjust to the clerks, many of whom occupied responsible positions. It was, moreover, a policy under which the most glaring abuses could be easily concealed. Canadians know to their cost the perpetual tendency of the late Government toward the misuse of the public funds. With a system in the Public Works Department that lent itself readily to the concealment of such crookedness, it would be a matter for surprise if Mr. Tarte did not find an unwieldy pay-roll to be trained down. He is eminently the right man in the right place. There is scope for his abundant energy and untiring watchfulness in rectifying the abuses that have been growing up for years, and in administering the affairs of the "great spending department" on sound business principles.

CROOKEDNESS in administration and a disregard of the public interest on the part of the late Dominion Government are being unearthed almost daily, and these facts show that the people were justified in "turning the rascals out." For instance, a timber limit at the head of Lake Tamiscamingue, held in trust for the Indians, was sold for $12,000, while it is said to be worth $100,000 and would bring, in stumpage and dues, $30,000. The Liberal Government will take early steps to have the various limits of this kind throughout the Dominion properly valued, so that when a sale is made something like the market value may be realized. There will be no more slaughter of timber limits and robbing of the Indians for the benefit of Conservative heelers. In government administration, as in ordinary life, a penny saved is a penny gained.

THE ESTIMATES FOR 1895-96.

(Bradford Expositor.)

A report has been started by the Ottawa correspondent of a Tupperite organ that the Laurier ministry will lay before Parliament, when it meets three weeks hence, the estimates prepared by ex-Finance Minister Foster for the financial year, 1896 97. The announcement has been the subject of somewhat angry comment by opposition journals, but for all that we hope the report is correct. Under existing circumstances it is the privilege and duty of the Liberals not merely to submit their predecessors' estimates to Parliament, but to have them passed by the House of Commons with as little change as is absolutely unavoidable. There are several reasons why this course should be adopted.

In the first place there will be very little time for the new Finance Minister to prepare new estimates. Mr. Fielding, though he has been long in public life, has never been in the Dominion parliament. Moreover, he is now fulfilling the constitutional requirement in his case by seeking election to a seat in the House of Commons. As the work of the session is limited to passing the supply bill, it would be absurd to prolong it for the mere purpose of preparing new estimates when those already brought down are available.

Presumably, Mr. Foster, in accordance with his usual custom, made ample provision in these estimates for the whole public service. It is not at all likely that he was in a parsimonious mood when he prepared them—he very seldom was. To pass the estimates pretty much as they stood in January last, would serve the purpose of putting on record the Supply bill, not merely the amount the Tupper government intended to spend, but also the amount the Laurier government will spend, which may be very much less. It does not at all follow that because money is voted it must be spent, but voted it certainly should be as nearly as possible on the scale intended by those who prepared the list of appropriations.

The presence of Mr. Foster in the new House of Commons is an additional reason for submitting the estimates as he prepared them. He has been for two parliaments in charge of the portfolio of finance. He is not a particularly brilliant man, but in that interval he has acquired a certain aptitude for financial work. If there is any doubt as to the advisability of an appropriation for a new service, or of voting so much money for an old one, he will be able to explain why the amounts have been fixed as they are, when the Liberal critics, who used to give them so much trouble, ask for all sorts of information which Mr. Fielding may not be able to give them.

Finally, the irony of history requires that the retiring profligates should be placed in the uncomfortable position of having to choose on which of two horns of a dilemma they will impale themselves. If they allow their own estimates to pass without protest, they will afford their successors a splendid margin for retrenchment; if they protest against passing them without cutting them down they will be bound to explain why they prepared them on so liberal a scale. The stars in their courses are working for Mr. Laurier and the Liberals.

St. John, N.B., Aug. 3—Mr. Robt. Moore, residing in Indiantown, a suburb of this city, has recently made what is allowed by all who are acquainted with the facts to be a most remarkable recovery. He has been a sufferer from a serious complaint of the kidneys for over seven years, and during that time has suffered excruciatingly. He has also suffered considerably in pocket, having paid large sums for medical advice. Quite recently he happened to read of the many cures effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and with commendable promptitude made a trial of them, with the result that after taking three boxes of the remedy he was entirely restored to health.

WAS POOLE DROWNED?

The Tara Photographer's Mysterious Disappearance From a Skiff Near Port Elgin—May Have Fallen Overboard.

Southampton, Ont., Aug. 1.—On Friday evening about 7 o'clock Mr. F. N. Poole, photographer, of Tara, hired a rowboat from the Park boat house. He was seen by the Chanley Island light-keeper about 8 o'clock about a mile south of the pier rowing towards Port Elgin. The rowboat was picked up yesterday about six miles out in the lake by the schooner Coronet and brought to this port. Mr. Poole's cap and coat and one oar were in the boat. The boat had no water in it. Mr. Poole is supposed to have fallen overboard and been drowned.

"Mamma, was that a sugar-plum you just gave me?" asked little Mabel. "No, dear, it was one of Dr. Ayer's Pills." "Please, may I have another?" "Not now, dear, one of those nice pills is all you need at present, because every dose is effective."

That hacking, persistent cough can be quickly cured by using Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It cures all throat and lung troubles.

ENGLISHMEN BEATEN.

Gaudaur's Crew Won Easily at Halifax.

HALIFAX CREW CAME IN THIRD.

The Old Country Oarsmen Made Some Gallant Effort, But the Gaudaur Crew Had the Race in Hand All the Way--Time of Race 18.35.

Halifax, Aug. 1.—"It's the most magnificent race I ever saw," said Edward Hanlan, the one-time world's champion, as he watched the struggle an hour before dark this evening between the contestants for the Halifax prizes in the four-oared international aquatic event that ended the summer carnival. It was a grand sight under the setting sun as the crack crews of England and America rowed toward the finish line almost abreast, the Britishers straining every nerve to put their bow in front, while the Canadian-American four, maintaining the easy, comfortable style of rowing with which they started, held their own in beautiful form, then rushed ahead as their antagonists weakened, and crossed the line a winner by over five lengths.

When the crews were sent out about 7.10 o'clock there was a light ripple on the water, but not enough to interfere with high speed. Five fours started as follows: English crew—Bubear, Haines, Barry and Gibson.

Canadian-American — Gaudaur, Durnan, Hackett and Rogers.

Halifax—Lynch, Holland, Shea and Brannan.

St. John—Daly, Clarke, Patchell and Lambert.

Bedford—Heffler, Vanbuskirk, Boutilier and Boutilier.

The Casey crew of Boston and the McLeod-Sullivan crew of St. John failed to show up. All five boats effected a fine start, catching the water pretty well together, but the St. John men, pulling a very heavy stroke, forged to the front for a few minutes they seemed to hold a slight advantage over the others, but it was of brief duration. Three of the other four boats pushed past them before an eighth of a mile had been covered. These were the Canadian-Americans, the Englishmen and the Haligonians. Gaudaur's four, with graceful, steady and never-varying stroke, took the leading position as soon as the real struggle began, and they lost it only once while the race lasted. Dipping their oars at the rate of thirty-seven times to the minute, they never seemed to increase or decrease their stroke, but went ahead like a piece of superbly-regulated mechanism until the contest was finished. Down the whole length of the course, to the turn, one and a half miles from the start, they were closely pressed by the Halifax and English crews, but they never lost their position until the turn had been made, and then regained it so quickly that it was easy to see they were the superior crew, destined to capture the thousand-dollar prize. Half a mile from the start the Bedford crew, already a quarter of a mile behind the others, dropped out. At this point Bubear's boat was leading Halifax by two lengths, with St. John following closely. The Canadians were just then getting clear of the Englishmen, and the fishermen four of Halifax were setting the pace, forcing the others to work hard or drop astern. The local crew, rowing splendidly, gained slowly on the Britishers until one mile from the start they were about [illegible] three boats apart, the turning buoys so close together that to a spectator a quarter of a mile away they seemed to be neck and neck.

The Canadians had been doing a little bad steering, and to get around their own buoy they had to make a long turn. Had they so chosen they could have turned an extra buoy almost straight in their course, one that was intended for a crew which failed to start, but they did not take advantage of it. Had they done so they would have straightened for home with a good lead.

The Englishmen were rowing so hard that their object apparently was to exhaust the Gaudaur crew. But the latter were evidently in too good condition, and the only opponents they had to fear were exhausting themselves. As it was, the Canadian-American team squared for home a length to the good. Halifax got around so rapidly that it set out on the home stretch with a slight advantage over the Englishmen, with the St. John men between three and four lengths behind. When half a mile of the home trip had been covered Gaudaur's men led by two lengths over the fishermen, whose bow was still a few feet in advance of the bow of Bubear's boat. St. John, which had been losing ground fast, was then a quarter of a mile astern. A quarter of a mile further on the Englishmen got even with the Haligonians, then forged ahead and bent all their energies to overtaking the leaders. The fishermen at this point appeared to be doing rather badly, but the Bubear team was drawing up on the Canadian boat, which had increased its lead to over four lengths.

The Englishmen gained, but the gain was very slow. Half a mile from home they put forth a supreme effort, increasing their lead on Halifax and drawing toward the Canadians at a rapid rate. A third of a mile from the finish they had cut down the gap to one and a half lengths, and before the last quarter was reached the two were almost abreast. In these positions, with the bow of the English boat less than a length from the bow of the Canadians', the two approached the finishing line, rowing a splendid race. Bubear and his mates were, however, very tired, and were unable to keep up the pace. Again the Canadian four drew away, then slowed down a little, apparently satisfied they could win without trouble. Half a dozen lengths from the line the Englishmen fouled a stakeboat which had floated out of place. For a few moments they stopped rowing, losing more than a length, while Gaudaur's men crossed the line between five and six lengths ahead. The time was 18.35. The Englishmen finished in 18.45, and the Halifax crew in 19.20. The St. John crew was beaten by about half a mile. The time of the crews at the turn was not taken, but it was made in about eight minutes.

The race was witnessed by a large crowd on shore and the water, but the number of people was not nearly so great as gathered yesterday to witness the contest when it had to be postponed.

Gaudaur will start at once for England, leaving New York on Wednesday, and will have three weeks to train for his match with Stanbury for the championship of the world. There was some uneasiness here about Stanbury's deposit, but word came all right yesterday that Gaudaur's $250 had been covered in The London Sportsman office. Gaudaur will take with him a new Ruddock shell. He wired Mr. Dissette last night that he was in the best of health and spirits. Mr. Dissette will go to New York to-morrow, while several Canadians will cross the water next month to see the race, which is on Monday, Sept. 7.

KILLED HIS AGED FATHER.

A Horrible Story From the Mining Village of Darragh, Near Greensburg, Pa. —The Culprit Jailed.

Greensburg, Pa., Aug. 2.—At the mining village of Darragh, near the Madison coal works, last night about 12 o'clock Patrick Coyle, a miner, aged 70 years, was pounded and choked to death by his son Walter Coyle, aged about 30 years. Mrs. Coyle, the mother of the murderer, was an eye-witness to the crime, and on her knees pleaded for the life of her husband, but finally was compelled to flee. Young Coyle's wife recently became demented, and was sent to an asylum, Coyle's parents taking charge of her infant. Young Coyle came home last night and was reproached by his father for drinking and neglecting his child, and the murder followed. The mother gave the alarm, and a number of miners of the neighborhood came in, and, after a desperate struggle, overpowered the murderer. The sheriff was sent for and took Coyle to jail.

The Dead.

London, Aug. 2.—Right Hon. Sir William Robert Grove, LL.D., F.R.S., the eminent scientist, inventor and jurist, died in London to-day aged 85 years.

It has been held that consumption is hereditary, and the fact that one person of a family had died of consumption was considered a sure sign that others of that family could not escape it. This is partly true and partly untrue. A man with weak lungs is likely to transmit that weakness to his children. But there is no reason in the world why the weakness should be allowed to develop. Keep the lungs full of rich, red, wholesome blood, and the weakness will disappear. Decaying tissues will be thrown off, and new material will be added until the lungs are well and perfectly strong again. This is the thing that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does. This is what makes it cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption where it is taken according to directions. It searches out disease germs wherever they may be in the blood, and forces them out of the system. It supplies the blood with rich, life-giving properties. It makes the appetite good, digestion perfect. Send 31 cents in one cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated.

NEW SCRIPTURES DISCOVERED.

Old Gnostic Writings, Hitherto Unknown Even in Name, Unearthed at Cairo—The Gospel According to Mary.

London, Aug. 2.—Several most important discoveries have just been made in Cairo bearing upon the history of the Christian Church in the first two centuries of the era. Among them is a manuscript from the fifth century, which is a Coptic translation of three original Gnostic writings of the second century. Its value consists not only in the fact that it hands down old Gnostic writings that have hitherto been unknown even by name, but, above all, in the circumstance that one of them was known to Irenaeus and epitomized by him without any statement of the source from which he had derived it. The discovery of this manuscript enables us for the first time to test the accounts of the Gnostic system as given by the church fathers in the light of the original manuscript. It contains three independent treatises entitled "The Gospel according to Mary, or the Apocryphon of John;" second, "The Wisdom of Jesus Christ;" third, "The Practice of Peter." The "Gospel of Mary" is the document used by Irenaeus, and consists mainly of the Revelation of John. "The Wisdom of Jesus Christ" consists of questions addressed to Him by His disciples and His answers. "The Practice of Peter" is a narrative of one of Peter's miracles of healing.

GOLDWIN SMITH'S OLD SONG.

He Writes on the American Political Situation in The Saturday Review and Scolds England.

New York, Aug. 2.—Mr. Harold Frederic cables from London to The Times: Goldwin Smith, in The Saturday Review of to-day, has a long article, "American Political Situation," which he views with characteristic gloom. He makes the point that if Canada was in the union, her vote would turn the scale in favor of honest money, and scolds England for continuing to sever the northern fringe of the continent from its natural affiliations, and to attach it to Europe, whereas, if Canada had a voice in the councils of her own hemisphere, she would be helpful to all concerned.

Korns. Korns.

There are more than one sort of korns. Some korn is planted in the ground and the other sort don't need planting; they grow quite naturally on men's toes and don't need hoeing. This kind of korn has two sorts—one gentle or tender like until Bill Jones steps on your foot, when it gets boiling and swears like everything; the other is hard headed and makes a row all the time, especially when your boots are on. I don't like korns and use the extracting medicine, Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, which removes them painlessly in twenty-four hours.

GOOD ENDORSERS.

Every business man understands that no matter how valuable the signature on a note may be, his confidence is greatly increased if the note is well endorsed.

This is equally true of articles other than notes. It is particularly true of pianos. The musical public always likes to know if a piano is well endorsed.

The Mason & Risch Piano is undoubtedly endorsed by more eminent names than any other instrument made in Canada. Here are a few of them:—

Madame Albani	Franz Lizst
Sir A. C. McKenzie (Principal Royal College of Music)	F. H. Torrington
Dr. Bridge (Organist Westminster Abbey)	S. P. Warren
Otto Bendix	Edouard Remenyi
Frederick Archer	W. Waugh Lauder
Mrs. Longmore	Signor D'Auria
	Watkins Mills
	Edouard Scharff

These are but few of the many eminent admirers of our pianos. We could go on and fill a column but we think this enough to establish our claim to be well endorsed.

An examination of our instruments is cordially solicited no matter how remote your idea of purchase may be.

Our prices are reasonable, quality considered, and our terms elastic enough to suit anyone.

The boys go by train to Huntsville, Muskoka, and from thence will paddle through Peninsula Lake, the Lake of Bays, Trading Lake, Raven Lake, Baskong Lake, Gull River, Burnt River, Turtle Lake, Balsam Lake, Cameron Lake, Sturgeon Lake, and Pigeon Lake to Stony Lake. The party will be joined on Wednesday at Dorset by Mr. Arthur Piper and Dr. C. H. Piper, of Toronto. The boys will camp at convenient points en route and will consume about two weeks, etc., in their cruise, which will be a varied and pleasant one, no doubt. The party glories in the breezy title of "The Zephyr Club."

NO DISEASE GERMS IN THE OLD SEWER.

Frequent Flushing has Kept it Purified—So Says the M. H. O.

The fact that the old sewer on George street will be re-opened at the time of the construction of the new one has raised many fears amongst the citizens as to the result. It has been stated that the old sewer would give forth to the air disease germs when exposed, and it was apprehended that the resulting danger would be great.

Dr. Clarke, the local medical health officer, was interviewed in reference to the matter this morning, and stated that he had been consulted in connection with the sewer by a number of the town councillors, and to one and all he had the same answer, which was to the effect that in his opinion the frequent flushing to which the sewer had been subjected had kept it purified to a very great extent. There has never been a great deal of sewage pass into it in the first place and very little of this was of a nature to generate disease.

The doctor is in favour of having the work carried on as quickly as possible, as he is of the opinion that during the warm weather there will be far fewer people on the streets than in the fall, when the summer tourists and cottagers return and business picks up. If any disease emanates from the old sewer, is would be fully as dangerous, he thinks, in the fall as in the summer.

The work on the George street portion of the sewer will be undertaken this week, Contractor Bogue states, and, once begun, it will be pushed forward with all the rapidity possible, an extra force of men being employed for this purpose.

A TRAMP ARRESTED.

He Made Things Lively at the C. P. R. For a Time this Morning.

The police were called to the C. P. R. station this morning to arrest a tramp who was making himself very obnoxious.

It seems that the "tie counter" feeling hungry had asked for food at the C. P. R. boarding car which happened to be in the yard. Not liking the manner in which the request was preferred, and being often tormented by such gentry, the cook bade the tramp be off. Thereupon, the cook states, the tramp fell upon him and emote him grievously.

The arrest was easily accomplished, and the tramp is now sobering up in the cells, as he was very drunk when captured. He will be charged with assault, vagrancy, and with being drunk and disorderly, and will likely be caught on one, if not all, of the charges.

—Clerks of the peace will supply copies of the new marriage act at ten cents each. Hitherto such acts have been published only in the volumes of the statutes, at the price of $1 or $1.50, one result being the great ignorance among all classes as to the laws which they are expected to obey.

—Women and children do not need male escorts to attend the Great Wallace Shows. Polite attendants are employed to protect and direct them, see that they secure good seats, and that they are not molested by boisterous characters. There are never any but well behaved crowds at the Wallace Show. At Peterborough, August 10th.

Parade Indicates the Show.

Be sure to be out for the parade of the Great Wallace Shows. It is a solid mile of glittering pageant, with many grand and artistic tableaux, beautiful women, handsome men, all gorgeously attired, and the finest horses ever seen anywhere. There are a number of bands, a herd of elephants, a caravan of camels and scores of open dens. The parade is a true index to the show; so see for yourself in advance whether this one is worth paying to attend. At Peterborough on August 10.

A MISSIONARY TOUR.

A Brief Account of Rev. J. C. Davidson's Northern Trip.

Rev. J. C. Davidson gave a short report of his missionary journey at St. John's church yesterday evening and at the Mission in the morning.

Mr. Davidson left Peterborough on July 7th and visited the mission of South Burleigh, which is in charge of two clergy and two lay readers, and where a new church is being erected in the village of Buckhorn. Here he was joined by Rev. F. H. Hartley, when both drove to Apsley where service was held in the well-appointed church.

Thence Mr. Davidson went to St. Stephens, Chandos. In the northern part of this mission the Rev. C. Lord is doing a most self-sacrificing and enterprising work—spending his life among the poorest of the settlers, and befriending them in every way.

From here Mr. Davidson proceeded to Paudash Lake, where an interesting meeting in a log school house was held. Travelling onward he was driven in a farm wagon over twenty miles of very rough roads to the village of Esonville, the headquarters of the mission of Cardiff and Monmouth, where he remained from Saturday until Wednesday, holding services in Esonville, Wilberforce, Gooderham, Tory Hill and Ursa. At this last mentioned station, a new church has been built, but is not as yet seated. All the services which were held on the Sunday were crowded to overflowing. Then he took a trip on the I., B. & O. railway as far as Irondale, where he ascertained that no services of any description had been held for some time, though there was a church which has been built for 7 years. No service had been held in it until the opening services preached by the Rev. J. C. Davidson last week. This church was built principally through the efforts of C. J. Pusey, Esq., manager of the I, B. & O. Railway. The next halt was at the village of Kinmount, whence the party were driven to Minden, which place nestles beautifully in a fertile valley, on the banks of the Gull river. The land here is fertile and there are general evidences of prosperity. From there Mr. Davidson proceeded to the mission at Coboconk, where he spent the Sunday. There are three stations—Coboconk, Victoria Row and Head Lake. All of these have large congregations and much interest is evidenced.

In all Mr. Davidson travelled some 300 miles, paid about 135 personal visits and baptised eight persons. He also administered Holy Communion twice and held 22 services, at which he addressed 1,000 persons in all. In every parish visited, at the conclusion of the address, Mr. Davidson publicly presented the books which had been subscribed for by the parishioners in Peterborough. There were more than 100 in number, with several other presents, all of which were most gratefully received. The books were inscribed with a written inscription, stating they had been given as a token of brotherly interest by the parishioners of Peterborough, and as a memorial of the visit of their rector.

The lecture has been delivered with much success in Cleveland.

August Prices.

August is the last month of Summer—the end of the clearing-out season when Summer Goods must give way to Fall Stocks. We cannot afford to carry over one season's goods to the next. We must keep a perennial freshness about our store. For these reasons, you can understand how it comes that you can buy anything in our summer lines just now with very little consideration for what it cost us. Take Wall Paper for instance. An ordinary Wall Paper advertisement in August is about as unlooked for as snow in August. People have almost stopped buying and trade is at low-water mark. But there's a way to stimulate activity even in Wall Paper, and by almost giving away the goods, and doing it agreeably, we think we can crowd this store with buyers during this last of the summer months.

Wall Paper.

Pretty Patterns, for ordinary rooms, that could never be bought for less than 5c. and 6c. per roll, our August price 3½

100 Opaque Window Blinds, all shades, the most desirable cloth made for blinds, never were cheaper than 50c, our August price..... .39

"What's the matter" with papering the home now instead of waiting until fall? Many families have closed up their homes and are away summering, giving a better chance for the work to be better done and without confusion and discomfort. What a pleasure it would be to return to the brightness of the newly prepared home. Now's the time! when Wall Paper can be bought for half the price it will be in the fall and when it costs less to put it on.

STONY LAKE ITEMS.

Items of Interest from this Popular Summer Resort.

Lakefield News.

During the past week the weather has been exceptionally fine for campers and cottagers at Stony Lake. The cottages are now pretty well filled, and a large number of people are spending their holidays there. The steamboats are well loaded every day with parties coming and going. The new arrangement with the boats is working in a very satisfactory manner, it being very beneficial for all. A trip can be made from Lakefield either in the morning or afternoon, and return the same day, or else get down early the next morning.

A meeting of the Stony Lake Cottagers' Association was held on Monday afternoon at five o'clock at Juniper Island in response to a call which was made last week.

Mr. J. Hall and family and Miss Jacobs and Miss Cullis, of Port Hope, are spending a few days at the lakes.

Mr. and Mrs. W. McDonald and Master Charles are spending a week at their cottage.

On Monday last a party of young people went up to Juniper Island for a two weeks' outing. Among the party are Miss Graystock, Otonabee; the Misses Fox, of Peterborough, Miss M. White, Miss Frise and Miss Alma Cox; Mr. W. Kent, Port Hope; Mr. Solomon and J. H. Frise, Brighton; Mr. S. Ridpath and Mr. W. Cox.

Miss Brown, of Rochester; Rev. Mrs. Clark, of Peterborough; Mr. and Miss Tucker, of Montreal; Miss Tucker, of Peterborough, are guests at Dulce Domum.

Miss Trollope and Mr. Trollope, of Peterborough, are the guests of Mrs. C. D. Crawford.

Miss Dawson and party, of Peterborough are at Stony Lake for a few weeks.

Mr. C. D. Crawford has now the largest flagpole in Stony Lake. It was raised by Mr. J. Griffin this week and measures 70 feet in height.

Mr. P. Reynolds and family are now occupying their cottage, "Cedar Lodge."

One of the Norwood cottagers had an experience on Tuesday which he will not soon forget. While lying on the grass near his cottage reading a very interesting volume a large black snake stole up one of his pant legs. The reader was quite unconscious of the presence of his unwelcome guest until he felt the cold clammy skin against his flesh, when he sprang to his feet and with a mighty kick—no doubt the physical effort of his life—sent his snakeship flying and in the excitement of the moment the volume went after it. A guest at the cottage rushed to assistance of his host and the reptile was despatched with the aid of a good sized "birchin."

Mrs. J. Griffin and Miss Griffin are at Eagle's Nest for a few weeks.

Mr. East and party, of Toronto, arrived on Saturday night for an outing.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Baptie, spent a few days on Juniper Island.

Quite a number of Toronto people are staying at "Viamede Cottage," Mount Julian, and are having a good time.

Messrs. W. Leonard and I. Robinson are engaged in enlarging Mr. J. B. McWilliams' cottage at Burleigh.

Mr. E. R. Tate and party are spending a few weeks at his cottage.

A party composed of the Misses Gordon, Miss G. Wallace, Miss Beatty Ferguson, Miss Bentley, and Messrs. S. Ridpath, F. W. Tanner, of Toronto, G. Gordon and S. Stubbs, are spending a few weeks at "Oaklands."

Mr. Greenwood spent Sunday at Mr. Wynne's cottage, Sandy Bay.

A party of pedagogues are camped on Eagle Mount and all appear to be putting in a good time.

The party of Rochester people camped at Lovesick dam are having a good outing and are enjoying themselves thoroughly in fishing and boating.

A Shameful Practice.

Many tooth preparations contain substances that speedily destroy the enamel and beauty of the teeth. For this reason the greatest care should be exercised in the selection of a dentrifice. Ivorine for the teeth is offered with the assurance that it is absolutely free from any objectionable ingredients. An admirable cleanser is Ivorine, imparting dazzling whiteness to the teeth, firmness to the gums, and renders the breath sweet and fragrant.

BLOOMERS.

Don is not Favourably Impressed With Them.

Don writes from Europe to Saturday Night as follows on the bloomer question:

"I see in the fashion columns of a contemporary the statement that bloomers have gone out in Chicago. That bloomers have come in anywhere is the most startling and inexcusable thing that I can imagine in connection with the vagaries of women. Two or three weeks ago I had an exceedingly good opportunity of noticing those who are supposed to be the best bloomer-dressed women in the world. In Paris a woman on a bicycle not arrayed in bloomers is as great a curiosity as the bloomer dame is in Toronto. Despite everything that Paris has been able to do to adorn baggy trousers for women, the female who wears them is a fright. To see her is to avoid her acquaintance and to cause the initiated man to wonder why when he sees a pretty ankle and half an inch of white skirt, he should imagine that all the garmenture of the other sex to be a sort of a fairyland made up of starch and lace, and pretty colours, and garters, and gorgeous things unknown and indescribable. To see a woman in bloomers is to be disillusionized. On twelve miles of boulevard and back again I paid particular attention to the women, young, middle aged and old, who passed on wheels. I may not be able to describe what their collars and cuffs and blouses were like, but I know they had the most shapeless lot of legs with them that was ever seen outside of a butcher shop. I lost what little admiration I had for Parisian women, for at ankle and garter the limb seemed to be about the same size, and the flapping, miserable bags that they wore made it impossible to observe any features of the quickly moving panorama except those in the meridian south of the saddle.

At one of the boulevard cafes I was particularly struck with the pretty face of a brunette bicyclist, but when I saw her gathering her legs under her chair and trying to knot them up and get them out of sight I knew she was an English-speaking person unused to her "pants," and I was flattering my race that its women had a remnant of modesty, when I saw her get up and was able to size up the stockinged toothpicks which she had been trying to hide, and the cause of her secrecy. It is not good for a man to go about and observe that women who have shapeless legs are desirous of concealing them except in the fashionable craze, whilst those who have prettily turned limbs can sit with most charming and innocent unconsciousness while rude men are glaring at their hose. Isn't it apt to lead the observer into the belief expressed by the old distich:

If you can stand the dizzy gait, go it;
If you have a pretty stocking, show it.

LACROSSE.

The Port Hope Times speaks as follows concerning Thursday's game of lacrosse:

The closest and most exciting game of the eastern division of the Canadian Lacrosse Association will be played between the Ontarios of Port Hope and the Athletics of Peterborough on the Athletic grounds, next Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Ontarios are in the best shape that they have been this season, practising diligently night after night, and are eager to show Peterborough that they are still their superior in lacrosse. The weak places of the team have been carefully studied, and everything that will tend to make the team the strongest local combination ever seen on a Port Hope lacrosse field has been done.

No doubt some anxiety may be evinced by Port Hopers as to the success of the home team on account of their recent defeat in Peterborough; but this will immediately vanish when it is remembered that the Ontarios' strongest player, Richardson, besides Weir and Hayden were not playing in that game. The game will be close—we want it so—but there is small, if any, doubt that victory will rest with the Ontarios of ours.

The team this year is, for the first time in six years, purely local, and they are continually surprising the old lacrosse players by the ability they are exhibiting both in handling their sticks and in strong combination play, the home particularly being able to hold their own.

Much interest is added to the coming game by the fact that if Peterboroughs are victorious they will have won the championship of the eastern district; if they lose the Ontarios will have tied them, the championship, in such a case, being probably decided by two home matches, played respectively in Peterborough and Port Hope, the total number of goals scored in both determining with whom supremacy will rest.

A great day is anticipated here, Peterborough bringing in a band and a large aggregation; Cobourg also sending up their complement of lacrosse enthusists. Another addition to the already strong attraction is the roofing of the grandstand and the addition to be made to its seating capacity. Order will be maintained by two extra policemen.

The Ontarios have had a grand record in the past, which will undoubtedly be maintained in the future. Throughout their career their victories have been many, their defeats few; and we feel confident that our boys, our pride, looking so handsome in their pretty suits, will next Thursday show the public that their old time glory is not on the wane.

A SHORT LOVE STORY.

Two lovers in their joyful hearts,
Went out the other night,
To take a walk in love's embrace—
The moon shone clear and bright;
Time, kind and gentle, moving on,
Their youthful hearts entwine;
In one sweet throb of glorious thought
In love and truth combined.
Hands pledged in kind endearing voice,
Upon their future life;
He as a husband, loving kind,
And she a happy wife.
In naming time they both agreed,
And at no distant day,
When friends and comrades all will meet
Their kind respects to pay.

CHURCH CHIMES.

Next Sunday evening Rev. J. E. Trotter will preach a farewell sermon to his congregation.

Mr. Mulligan sang "De Profundis" at St. Andrew's last night, in fine voice and finished style.

The Rev. J. H. McGinnis of Hastings, will exchange services with Rev. H. Symonds next Sunday.

Miss Sophie Cameron delighted St. Paul's congregation yesterday morning, with her charming rendering of the "Holy City."

Yesterday was the anniversary of St. Peter in chains, the Patron Saint of the Cathedral. A sermon appropriate to the occasion was delivered by Ven. Archdeacon Casey.

Last evening at the George street Methodist church Mrs. McGuire and Miss Lumsden sang a solo, with nice effect, entitled "Saviour Breathe an Evening Blessing." During the offertory Miss Clara Bellegham took the solo part in "Hiding in Thee," while the choir, seated, joined in the chorus. The Rev. W. R. Young, at the conclusion of the sermon, last night, spoke of the many kindnesses, of which he had been the recipient, from the hands of his congregation. He will have the balance of August, after Wednesday night, to recuperate his health. Probably he will go to Stony Lake.

Number Thirteen.

For those who believe in the fatality of the number thirteen, the American quarter-dollar is about the most unlucky article they can carry on their persons. On the said coin there are thirteen stars; thirteen letters in the scroll which the eagle holds in its claws; thirteen feathers compose its wing, thirteen feathers are in its tail; there are thirteen parallel lines on the shield, thirteen horizontal stripes, thirteen arrow-heads, and thirteen letters in the words, "quarter-dollar."

A Sure and Simple Protection from Cold.

Good meals and warm clothing are of more value—if you haven't got them—than anything else. World wide fame seems of small account if you are hungry or the wind is whistling through your body. So any new feature which makes comfortable clothing possible for everyone is of more real importance to us than the discovery of a new planet. This explains the great popularity of Fibre Chamois, an interlining made from pure spruce fibre, which gives a perfect healthful warmth without adding weight or bulk. The reason is that it is an absolute non-conductor of either heat or cold. The rawest winds can't get through the clothing lined with it, nor will it let the natural heat of the body escape. So that it insures comfort in all weather for a trifling expense.

Coal Advanced.

Owing to the state of the coal market in the United States, we are compelled to advance coal to $5.75 per ton for August delivery. Ours is the purest hard coal mined, being free from sulphur, iron and slate, burns to a white ash, and lasts as long, if not longer than any coal on the market. A coal dealer who sold some of our coal last season in town and claims to have some left over, is offering it at $5.50. If the coal is our coal, we advise the people of Peterborough to take this coal from him, it is cheap, and is better coal and will give better satisfaction than the coal he is selling at $6 per ton. From Tree to Newspaper.

A British contemporary mentions an interesting experiment which was tried by a progressive newspaper, the aim being to show in how short a time the entire process of paper making and printing could be accomplished. A poplar tree in the forest was taken as a beginning. To drop, chip and load in a boat the necessary quantity of wood took three hours; manufacturing of pulp occupied twelve hours; making the pulp into paper took five hours; transporting the manufactured paper to the newspaper office eighty minutes; while, to finish up with, on the paper thus produced with the utmost speed one thousand copies of the journal were printed in ten minutes, making in all for the whole process, from inception to completion, just twenty-four hours. —Paper Digest.

Some Curiosities of Seeing.

A correspondent of Nature inquires whether anybody has ever noticed that young children sometimes make drawings of objects upside down. He tells of two boys who, at an early stage in their artistic efforts, drew locomotives with the wheels up and the smokestack down, and one of these boys always preferred in looking at a picture to hold it upside down. The correspondent thinks this may have some relation to the fact that images on the retina of the eye are reversed. He also relates the experienc of a lady in India who often noticed that natives, on taking up a photograph to look at it, replaced it upside down.

Not For Charley.

Charley—I don't see why you should be so hard-hearted, doncher know? I'm not a bad fellah, and when they say I'm a little light at the top, why they don't know."

Alice—What did you ever do, Charley?

"I won evwy booby pwize at our whist club last wintah, and it has some cwack players, I can tell you."

"I can believe it, Charley, and if I were a booby prize I would feel that we were made for each other. But as it is, I'm going to be somebody's first prize."

Something New in Straws.

Artificial straws made of paper are beginning to take the place of the natural product for absorbing summer drinks. The paper in this imitation straw is rolled into shape and then covered with paraffine. While these straws are about the same price as the real straws, they seldom contain leaks, and are therefore more satisfactory.

Retribution.

"A child," said the oracular young person, "can ask questions that a wise man cannot answer."

"There's one satisfaction," said the man of family, "he can't ask very many of 'em without getting sent to bed."

Financial Discussion.

"Riches," said the boarder who dearly loves proberbs, "riches have wings."

"I think my money has feet," said Asbury Poppers.

"Feet?"

"Yes. I know it often runs out."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

She Moved.

"Does fault finding have any effect on your girl, Mrs. Housewife?"

"Oh, yes. I told my girl the other day to move 'round faster."

"And did she?"

"Yes. After that she skipped."—Detroit Free Press.

And Put It in the Bill.

"The doctor has ordered me to take a trip abroad and to return immediately."

"For what reason?"

"So he can cure me of seasickness."

Very Willing.

Heiress (engaged to an actor)—And, oh, Algy, will you give up all the old ties?

Actor (with spirit)—You bet I will, darling.

Before the finished fruit come bud and blossom. Bud grows into blossom and blossom into fruit. And so girlhood merges into womanhood and the woman into motherhood.

The two most critical times in a woman's life are the times which make the girl a woman, and the woman a mother. At these times, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is of incalculable value. It turns danger into safety and pain into ease. It is a medicine which has but one object. It is good for but one thing. It strengthens and invigorates the organs distinctly feminine, it promotes regularity of the functions, allays irritation and inflammation, checks unnatural, exhausting drains, and puts the whole delicate organism into perfect condition. Almost all of the ills of womankind are traceable to some form of what is known as "female complaint." And this generally begins either at the time of puberty or childbirth, or at the "turn of life."

There are not three cases in a hundred of woman's peculiar diseases that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will not cure. Thousands of grateful women have been rendered healthy and happy by its use, and the experience and testimony of many of them has been included in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser.

When Dr. Pierce published the first edition of his work, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, he announced that after 680,000 copies had been sold at the regular price, $1.50 per copy, the profit on which would repay him for the great amount of labor and money expended in producing it, he would give away the next half million free. He is now distributing, absolutely free, 500,000 of this most complete, interesting and valuable common sense medical work ever published—the recipient only being required to mail to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, at Buffalo, N. Y., 21 one-cent stamps to pay cost of customs and mailing only, and the book will be sent post-paid. It is a veritable medical library, complete in one volume. It contains over 1000 pages and more than 300 illustrations. The Free Edition is precisely the same as that sold at $1.50 except only that the books are bound in strong manilla paper covers instead of cloth. Send now before all are given away. They are going off rapidly, therefore, do not delay sending immediately if you want one.

JAMESON CAN HAVE HIS BEER.

The All-Important Question of the Raiders' Fare in Prison Has Now Been Settled.

London, July 31.—In the House of Commons to-day Sir Matthew White Ridley, the Home Secretary, announced that Dr. Jameson and the other prisoners who were convicted of taking part in the Transvaal raid will be treated as first-class misdemeanants during their terms of imprisonment.

The Home Secretary announced in the House yesterday, in reply to questions asked on the subject, that the court alone could order that the prisoners be treated as first-class misdemeanants, and that no such order had been issued. He added, however, that if had not been decided whether the royal prorogative would be exercised, and an order in the Queen's name issued that the prisoners have better treatment than ordinary convicts.

Dr. Jameson and his colleagues will now be allowed to have their meals brought to them from outside of the Wormwood-Scrubbs prisons, where they are confined, will not have to wear the usual prison garb, will not have to do any menial work and will be allowed to have small quantities of beer and wine.

Steel Manufacturers in Conclave.

New York, July 31.—A special meeting of the Steel Manufacturers' Association, as the pool or combination organized last April is called, was held to-day at the Holland House. About 30 persons were present, representing 27 counties in the pool. The meeting, which was in executive session, lasted from noon until 3 o'clock. Those present were uncommunicative and it could not be learned what business was transacted.

ITS FAME SPREADING.

A New Remedy in General Use in Manitoba and the Northwest.

WINNIPEG, July 27th—The effects of the regular wave of sickness which sweeps over this portion of the Dominion in the spring are noticeable in the increasing amount of the druggists' sales. There has been quite a run on the kidney remedy now so well known under the name of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The recovery from Bright's disease of Mr. Arthur Coley, of Somerset, through their use, an account of which appeared in the papers, gave a considerable impetus to the sale, and the remedy has become indispensable in many Manitoba households, its fame having penetrated into the remotest parts of the province and Northwest Territories.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn' says: "Shiloh's Vitaliser 'Saved my Life.' I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For dyspepsia, liver or kidney trouble it excels. Price 75c. Sold by John Nugent, 389 George Street.

DROWNED IN THE LAKE.

Boat Accidentally Upset Yesterday Afternoon—John Dempster Was Drowned and James McGregor Rescued.

Toronto, Aug. 1.

Two young men named James McGregor and John Dempster were sailing on the lake, opposite the Exhibition grounds yesterday afternoon, when by some means the boat upset, and both were thrown into the water. A. E. Gooderham's yacht Cleopatra was near the scene of the accident and was promptly headed for the place where the two men were struggling in the water. Before the vessel reached the spot, however, Dempster had sunk, and although search was kept up for some time after McGregor was taken on board, nothing could be seen of his unfortunate companion. McGregor was taken to his home, 263 Major-street. He seemed unable to tell how the accident happened.

The victim of the fatality lived at 826 Bathurst-street. His friends made application last night to have the scene dragged, in hope of recovering the body. Mr. Frank Langrell of the City Commissioner's Department, will undertake the task, but there is little prospect of success, as the boat upset some distance from the shore.

THE CROPS IN MANITOBA.

Good Progress Has Been Made During the Past Two Weeks.

Winnipeg, July 31.—Crops during the last two weeks have made good progress, and favorable reports have been received, particularly from points on the M. & N. W. In some sections harvesting will begin a week earlier than last year.

HIS SWEETHEART DIED

And Louis Hanrahan of Detroit Could Not Live Without Her.

Detroit, Mich., July 31.—Louis Hanrahan, 25 years of age, son of Sergt. Hanrahan of the police force, shot himself this morning through the left breast. He is in the Emergency Hospital and cannot live. He left a pathetic letter for his parents, saying that he could not live without his sweetheart, who died very suddenly yesterday.

FRANK AGAN'S RACE.

Robert J., Joe Patchen and Other Cracks Beaten at Cleveland.

Cleveland, July 31.—Fifteen thousand persons saw Frank Agan win the greatest pacing race of the year to-day at the Glenville track, defeating Robert J., Joe Patchen and Badge in straight heats. He lowered his own record twice, and, incidentally, the pacing record of the track. The big bay stallion was wildly cheered after each performance, and he richly deserved all the plaudits, for he won the race on its merits.

The best time was in the second heat, which was done in 2.04.

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW.

New York, July 31.—Bradstreet's to-morrow will say; General trade throughout the Canadian Dominion remains quiet—very dull. The exception is at Halifax, where business is fair in wholesale lines. Toronto merchants report the usual mid-summer dulness, and expect a revival in the fall. Jobbers at Montreal are less confident as to an early revival in business, and report country orders smaller than in the like period of 1895. Cotton and woollen mills throughout the Dominion are running short time, and stocks are accumulating. Shoe manufacturers at Quebec report few orders ahead. There are 37 business failures reported from Canada this week, six more than last week, 13 more than the corresponding week last year, and only six more than in the same week of 1894. Bank clearings at Winnipeg, Hamilton, Toronto, Montreal and Halifax amount to $17,252,000, compared with $20,350,000 last week and $17,532,000 in the corresponding week of July, 1895.

Covers for Summer Beds.

Cottage quilts are now gay weavings at a low price, which resemble the homemade efforts of our grandmothers. These spreads are especially sold for summer house use and the rooms of young women. Older ones prefer the embroidered white variety.

With any of these coverings are used square white linen "shams." They have hemstitched two-inch borders. The best are hand-embroidered in white, and have center monograms or single letters of white from three to four inches in length.

No other sort of "sham" is on sale for use with any of the spreads described. In general, the distinguished feature of this season's shams is the narrow hem; of the spreads, the flowered designs rather than the figured. One looks in vain for that little checkerboard variety upon which in childhood, with oyster crackers, we used to play games with imaginary opponents, when we were too ill to get up.—Philadelphia Press.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak, shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness, I promise you perfect secrecy and as I do not wish to expose myself either, please address, simply: P. CANCER CURED
—AND A—
LIFE SAVED
By the Persistent Use of
Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"I was troubled for years with a sore on my knee, which several physicians, who treated me, called a cancer, assuring me that nothing could be done to save my life. As a last resort, I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after taking a number of bottles, the sore began to disappear and my general health improve. I persisted in this treatment, until the sore was entirely healed. Since then, I use Ayer's Sarsaparilla occasionally as a tonic and blood-purifier, and, indeed, it seems as though I could not keep house without it."—Mrs. S. A. FIELDS, Bloomfield, Ia.

POPPY'S MISTAKE.

My poppy knows a yot of fings,
An' genyally he dets 'em wight—
How guns is made, and how is kings,
An' why it isn't dood to fight.

Why dollies all has yeller hair,
An' what's the beas name for a cat,
An' nothin's nicer dan a pear,
An' yots of ovver fings yike dat.

But sometimes poppy makes mistakes,
Au' I've found out one jess to-day.
He said 'at I was sweeter'n cakes;
He did jess as he went away.

An' I've been suckin' on my fumb
For pretty nearly ever since,
An' I don't find no sweetness come—
Ain't ven sweet's a pickled quince.

An' when he comes up home to-night,
I'll climb wight up upon his knee,
An' show him dat he wasn't wight,
An' how cake's sweeter fur dan me.

Georgia's Greatest Marvel.

Clyde Brooks has never eaten a watermelon.

He's 14 years old, and he's a negro. And he's from Athens.

Messrs. J. J. and J. E. Maddox discovered and captured him. A day or two ago there was a watermelon cutting in progress at their store, and the dusky young Athenian happened along. Joe Maddox invited him to have some of the fruit so dear to every other negro's heart.

The boy declined and Mr. Maddox grabbed him. Mr. Maddox knew that the wild man of Borneo was a drug on the market as compared with a freak of this kind, which fortune had thrown into his hands.

While Clyde says he's only 14, he appears fully 17. Whether it's Athens or no watermelon that's responsible he says he don't know. He says he has only made one attempt to eat the fruit, and he found that it "didn't agree with his appetite." He took a mouthful of melon on one occasion, but declares he couldn't swallow it. He is very fond of cantaloupe, however.—Atlanta Journal.

Indiscreet Kindness.

Miss Peggy Watson, a village notable in her day, always tried to say the pleasantest things she could; she admired and praised, and did all in her power to make people happy.

She was afraid that Mrs. Berry felt sensitive about being deaf, so when she sat near her one day at the Sewing Society she said smiling:

"I don't think you're very deaf, Mrs. Berry."

"What did you say?" asked Mrs. Berry.

"I don't think you're very deaf!" repeated Miss Peggy, somewhat louder.

"I don't understand you," said Mrs. Berry, becoming nervous.

"I don't think you're very deaf!" cried Miss Peggy in a loud, high voice.

"Please say that again," urged poor Mrs. Berry.

And then Miss Peggy, with the kindest of intentions, had fairly to shout in her friend's ear:

"I don't think you're very deaf!"—Youth's Companion.

Inconsiderate.

First Lady—Do you see that man over there? Well, I want to tell you about him. He's a most insulting creature. I got into the electric car the other day, and he gave me his seat. After I had been seated perhaps for a mile or so, he comes up to me and says he, "If you are rested, marm, I think I'll take my seat again."

Second Lady—Mercy! What did you say?

First Lady—Say? I said nothing; but I gave him such a look!

Second Lady—And served him right. The presumption of the monster.—Boston Transcript.

USE OF THE SENSES.

Habit and Experience Play a Part in Seeing and Hearing.

If we ask ourselves just how it is that we see, hear and receive impressions from the senses we shall soon discover two things. The first is that the explanation "we see with our eyes," "we hear with our ears," etc., is not quite satisfactory. It is easy enough to explain how certain rays of light impinge on the retina of the eye, and certain waves of air on the drum of the ear; but how these purely physical things are converted into purely psychical things of sight and hearing no one can explain.

Our second discovery will be that it is not by the eye alone that we see, or by the ear alone that we hear. Memory, or, rather, experience or habit, plays a great part in all sensations, though we do not often notice it, unless our attention is drawn to the fact by some circumstance that puts experience at fault and thus produces a sense illusion.

Have you ever noticed, for instance, how experience helps you to recognize the position of sounds? If one made a noise at a little distance from you you could instantly tell from what direction it came, because experience has taught you to judge of this matter through the very slight difference in the intensity of sound in your two ears. An experiment will readily prove this.

Stop up the left ear firmly with cotton wool and go into a dark room with some one else who carries a bell. Let the other person strike the bell in different parts of the room, yourself remaining still. No matter where the bell is, it will always seem to you to sound on your right side, even though it may actually be near the left ear. Persons deaf in one ear can never tell whence a sound comes. It takes two ears to do this.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Electric Traction for Railroads.

In order to rebut the frequently made claim that a locomotive can make as great a mileage as an electric motor, W. Baxter, jr., shows what is done in actual practice, and at the same time makes the distinct statement that such a company as the Pennsylvania railroad could effect a saving of over $6,700,000, or 16.4 per cent. of its operating expenses, by the adoption of electricity. On the railroad named there are 1,103 freight engines, giving a mileage of 20,406,358 annually. In the passenger service there are 478 locomotives, and the total miles run per year by passenger trains is 14,908,800. Figuring on the basis of 90 per cent. of the engines in use, the miles run per year would be 34,670, and on an 80 per cent. basis, 30,000 miles. Trolley cars are making an average speed of less than ten miles per hour run from 45,000 to 50,000 per year. At this rate, motor cars drawing freight trains at 15 miles per hour, could easily cover 65,000 to 75,000 miles per year, and those used for passenger work, and making an average speed of 30 miles per hour, could run over 100,000 miles per year. If so much greater yearly mileage could be made by electric motors, it follows that the wages of motormen would be very much less than the wages of enginemen per train mile, the daily compensation not being higher, and the distance covered being far greater. After going fully into every cost of operation and maintenance of the two systems, Mr. Baxter established the fact of the superior economy of electric propulsion for trunk lines.

Patent Laws in Different Countries.

A patent granted in the United States for an invention which has been previously patented in a foreign country will be so limited in time as to expire with the foreign patent. Or, if there be more than one foreign patent, the right in the United States will expire with that foreign patent which has the shortest term. In no case, however, will a United States patent be continued in force for a greater period than seventeen years.

The British Government make no examination to determine the validity of a device for which a patent is asked, but takes it for granted that every invention is new, and grants a patent to every applicant, leaving his claim, if contested, to be subsequently determined by the courts.

The German patent office makes a careful examination of all applicants for patents and rejects such as appear to lack novelty, or have been introduced to public use or placed on sale before a patent was applied for.

ABOUT THE LIVER.

A lazy, slow or torpid liver influences the whole system, causing biliousness, sick headache, sallow complexion, languor and dullness. Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the liver, purifies the secretions and cures all forms of liver troubles. We say so and here is the proof:—

I hereby wish to thank you for the great benefit derived by me from your Burdock Blood Bitters. For three years I was troubled with liver complaint and tried everything to no purpose. I had almost given up hope until one day I determined to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I can say now that marked improvement resulted from the use of the first bottle and at the end of the sixth bottle I discontinued its use, being completely cured.

The Bicycle and Marriage.

If the charge be true that the bicycle is practically lessening the number of marriages every year, it is not the fault of the wheel, but the fault lies in making it a fad and an aim rather than a means to an end. Even proper amusements over indulged in may unfit young ladies or young gentlemen not only for the pleasures of matrimony, but for all the duties of life.

It is hardly fair to blame the bicycle for faults which would appear in human nature under any circumstances, while, on the other hand, to say that an unfortunate marriage is due entirely to the fact that the parties met while both were awheel is worse than no excuse. Common sense is a very great factor in the selection of a life partner, and the circumstances of the first meeting should, as a rule, have no appreciable effect upon the result.—Rev. J. H. Parks, D.D., in New York Journal.

THE STRIKE IS ON AGAIN.

Trouble at the Brown Works in Cleveland Has Been Renewed—A Man Shot and Fatally Wounded.

Cleveland, Aug. 2.—The strike is on again at the Brown Hoisting Works. Friday night all the union men who had gone back under the agreement were called out. The men assert that they were deceived by the way in which the agreement was construed to them. The agreement was a complete surrender on the part of the men. When the works shut down last night there was a threatening crowd outside, and the police were hurried to the scene. Aside from the jostlings of non-union men, however, there was no disturbance.

Two companies of militia and every available policeman was ordered to the Brown works by Mayor McKisson shortly before noon yesterday, in anticipation of trouble when the men came out at noon.

At 12 o'clock a crowd of 25 non-union men left the works without police escort. They were intercepted by three or four men, who followed them at a distance. The looked out men threw rocks at the men they were following.

This so excited the latter that just before reaching Clinton-street several of them pulled revolvers and commenced shooting. John Prinz of No. 1186 St. Clair-street, a union moulder, employed at city foundry No. 2, while walking up the Cleveland and Pittsburg Railroad tracks was shot three times. One bullet passed under his heart and through an arm, below the elbow. Before reaching the hospital he became unconscious and it was feared that he would die at any moment. Prinz is 28 years old, married, and has two children.

CONFESSED TO MURDER.

Frederick Hildebrand Suicides After Confessing That He Killed a Man for Which Another Awaits Death.

Baltimore, Aug. 2.—The convict known as Frederick Whitney, who committed suicide at the Maryland Penitentiary yesterday, appears by his confession to have added murder to his long list of crimes. Friday afternoon Whitney told Warden Weyler that his real name was Frederick Hildebrand, and that his home was in Detroit, Mich.

The "hold-up" of City Councilman Swindell, for which Whitney was serving an 18-years' sentence, occurred on March 23, 1895.

In his confession he said that while fleeing from the Baltimore detectives he killed and robbed a man in Altoona, Pa., in April of last year.

"While we were in Altoona," declared Whitney, or Hildebrand, "we assaulted a man on the street, murdered him, and robbed him of his money, quite a large sum. For this murder another man was arrested, tried and convicted."

The warden tried to get more information from his prisoner, but failed. He set apart an hour for a further conference with Hildebrand, but the opportunity for which the prisoner had long waited presented itself yesterday, and the unfortunate man threw himself from a window and dashed out his brains on the flagging, 30 feet below.

Information from Altoona states that on April 5, 1895, Henry Boaneka, a reputed miser, was murdered. A man named Wilson was arrested and convicted of the crime, mainly on circumstantial evidence, and is now awaiting the death sentence.

John B. Williams, who was implicated in the Swindell "hold-up" in this city, and is serving an 18-years' sentence in the penitentiary, confessed to Warden Weyler to-day that Hildebrand's statement was true. "Hildebrand killed old man Boaneka," he said, "and secured $11,000. I helped him count the money. We buried it near Altoona."

Ottawa, Aug. 2.—(Special.)—A shocking accident occurred on the construction work of the Ottawa, Arnprior and Parry Sound Railway on Friday evening. A brother of St. Pierre was probably fatally injured. The bodies of the three victims were horribly mangled.

WHO IS THIS MAN?

He is Supposed to Have Jumped Off a Kincardine Steamer—Was His Name Schamehorn?

Stoke's Bay, Ont., Aug. 1.—The man drowned at Boat Cove yesterday, seven miles north of here, is supposed to have drowned himself off the steamer Harry Baird of Kincardine. He gave the captain his name as John W. Crittenden and sent a card to the postmaster at Windsor, Ont., and signed it "Wesley Schamehorn." He told the captain he was married and was a carpenter by trade. He spoke of leaving his clothing 12 miles from Windsor, also a tool box. He had no money; had a jack-knife, two-foot rule, watch chain, with keys, and a book found on the body has the name "William Schamehorn, last house on William-st.," and "Stephen Schamehorn, Napoleon-road."

Description—Fair, light black corded suit, height about 5 feet 7 or 8 inches, weight about 145, sandy mustache, age about 35 or 40 years. The body was buried to-day. If friends wish further particulars correspond with Constable Schute, Stoke's Bay.

Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., and Miss Grace Wilson.

WEDDING MARKED BY SIMPLICITY

The Bride Looked a Picture of Beauty and the Groom Looked Worried—Telegrams of Congratulation—No Wedding Breakfast—Will the Old Man Relent?

New York, Aug. 3.—Cornelius Vanderbilt, jr., was married to-day to Miss Grace Wilson. Not a member of the Vanderbilt family was invited to the wedding, which was notable for its simplicity. Perhaps never in the history of the Vanderbilt or Wilson families has a quiet wedding been solemnized. It was 11.15 when Mr. Vanderbilt, jr., reached the Wilson house at 511 Fifth-avenue. He was dressed in black frock coat, with light striped trousers. He found awaiting him his bride-elect, Mr. and Mrs. Orme Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Wilson, R. T. Wilson, jr., Robert Goelet, jr., and Frank Polk of Boston, one of his classmates. This comprised the wedding party. Shortly before noon the Rev. William H. Pott, assistant rector of St. Thomas' Church, entered the house.

The rear drawing room had been daintily decorated with a few choice cut flowers early in the morning and at noon everything was in readiness for the ceremony, when the Rev. Mr. Pott took up his position at the eastern end of the room. A moment later young Mr. Vanderbilt entered, accompanied by his best man, Mr. Polk. The few guests then grouped themselves to the left of the minister. Soft strains of music from a stringed orchestra announced the coming of the bride.

Miss Wilson, attended solely by her father, marched down the main hall and through the centre archway leading to the rear drawing room. She looked a picture of beauty in her pure white wedding gown, a creation of French art. She wore a veil of old English lace, reaching to the bottom of her gown. It was fastened by a magnificent wreath of diamonds surmounted by a bunch of orange blossoms. As soon as Miss Wilson entered the room, the groom stepped forward and, taking her by the hand, they both stood before the officiating minister. In five minutes it was all over and Miss Wilson was the wife of the son of one of America's greatest millionaires. There were no ushers, and many of the conventionalities attending such weddings were omitted. After the ceremony those present offered their congratulations to the young couple.

No wedding breakfast having been prepared, Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt retired to apartments upstairs and donned their travelling apparel. The bride put on a light blue striped gown, ornamented with a lace cape. She wore a large straw bonnet, gaily trimmed with flowers, and her face was covered with a white veil. Mr. Vanderbilt wore a large checked suit of light material with a brown derby hat.

At 12.35 the bride and groom, followed by a shower of rice, left the house and entered a coupe in waiting at the door. The groom looked pale and worried. The bride's face was radiant with smiles, and as the carriage drew away from the door she threw kisses to the little group of wedding guests who had assembled to see the couple off.

The bride and groom were driven to the Grand Central Station and it is understood they will go to Saratoga. It is said they have no plans for the future. They may be abroad for a year, but this has not been decided.

Hardly had the ceremony been finished before telegrams of congratulation began arriving. They were principally from friends of the Wilson family, but some of Mr. Vanderbilt's chums remembered him. From across the water came cablegrams of congratulation from the Prince of Wales, the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough, the Earl and Countess of Pembroke, and others of the nobility.

The groom's gift to the bride was a large diamond heart, composed of some 30 extremely brilliant diamonds, with a beautiful sapphire in the centre.

The Vanderbilt-Wilson engagement was announced last May, and June 4 was the day set for the marriage. Society was startled to learn that the contemplated union had not the approval of the Vanderbilt family and that the young man had been threatened with disinheritance if he contracted the alliance. On June 2 Mr. Vanderbilt, jr., was taken ill with rheumatism, which resulted in a postponement of the wedding. Then came the news that the elder Vanderbilt had been stricken with paralysis, brought on, it was said, by worry over his son's persistent determination to wed Miss Wilson. There were many stormy scenes, it is said in the Vanderbilt mansion between father and son, which culminated in the young man notifying his father that he would marry the girl of his choice at any cost.

Mr. Vanderbilt's objection to the marriage was on account of the youthfulness of his son, who is but 22 years old, while Miss Wilson is six or seven his senior. Mr. Vanderbilt further contended that his son had not seen enough of the world and society to be able to wisely choose a wife at this period, and his objections to the union were purely out of consideration for the son's welfare.

The attachment between Mr. Vanderbilt and Miss Wilson began last summer, when they spent much time in each other's company. The father sent the son to Europe to cure him of his love, but he was not many weeks abroad before he was joined by Miss Wilson and her married sister.

Young Vanderbilt and Miss Wilson were again much together in Europe, which resulted in their love culminating in to-day's marriage.

Miss Wilson has been noted for her beauty. She is a tall blonde with blue eyes and a peachlike complexion.

The wedding was another link in the chain of brilliant matches made by the children of Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Wilson. Soon after the family came to this city, a score of years ago, Ogden Goelet, the multi-millionaire, married the eldest daughter. Marshall Orme Wilson, one of his sons was the next to wed, his choice being Miss Caroline Astor, daughter of the late William Astor, and a sister of John Jacob Astor.

Cornelius Vanderbilt, jr., is the eldest son of Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt. He was graduated from Yale. He is tall and slender with dark hair and gray eyes. Unless the father persists in his threat to disinherit him, the son will eventually come into possession of an immense fortune, as Cornelius Vanderbilt is supposed to be worth $200,000,000. Young Cornelius is in good favor with wealthy members of the family and he will probably, under any circumstances, receive a large sum from this source.

SHE FELL FROM THE TRAIN.

Mrs. Ralston of Pittsburg Killed on Her Way to Buffalo to Meet the Man She Was to Marry.

Oil City, Pa., Aug. 3.—Yesterday afternoon as Engineer Edwards of the fast freight was rounding a sharp curve near Kennerdall, 30 miles south of Franklin, he saw something lying beside the track. The train was stopped and the crew went back and found the bruised body of Mrs. Eliza Ralston, a prominent Pittsburg woman, who fell from the Alleghany Valley express the night before, while on her way to Buffalo. She had lain there 14 hours.

Mrs. Ralston was going to Buffalo to meet an affianced husband, a man named Mason. She was missed from her train and a search was made, but no sign was found until she was discovered yesterday afternoon. An engine was called and she was taken, bruised and bleeding, to Oil City. She was barely able to tell her name and died some hours later.

Mrs. Ralston was a wealthy woman and her benefactions were large. She owned considerable property in Pittsburg and Buffalo. She was a sister-in-law of Jennie Ralston, principal of the Ralston Normal School in Pittsburg. She lived at 5 Shingles-street. Henry Ralston, her former husband, was a very well-known man in Pittsburg, and was at one time a very rich man.

No clue is given as to how she fell off the train. Her disappearance was discovered by finding she was not in her berth. Nothing was on the train but her clothing.

Few of her acquaintances in Pittsburg knew she was going to be married. An extensive trip had been planned as her wedding tour.

THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE WERE OUT.

The Band of the Toronto Highlanders Won the Marching Competition and the 77th Battalion Band Carried Off the $300 Prize for Second-Class Bands.

Hamilton, Aug. 3.—(Special.)—Amid the glow of ideal summer weather, the band tournament promoted by the 13th Regiment Band opened to-day, and from 9 o'clock this morning until a late hour to-night the strains of melodious music were to be heard in every quarter of the city. During the forenoon the various bands paraded the streets, and thousands of people were out to hear the music.

At 12.30 all the bands assembled on the Court House-square, to get in readiness for the marching competition. W. B. Rogers, leader of the 7th Regiment Band of New York city, was the judge, and he was stationed at a point of vantage near the Gore.

The Queen's Own Band of Toronto, playing the regimental march, was the first to pass the judge's stand, and these followed in the order named: The Royal Grenadiers' Band of Toronto, playing the Illinois Battle Ship March; the 29th Battalion Band, Berlin, playing the Naval Parade March; the 48th Highlanders' Band, Toronto, to the tune of the Albion March; the 77th Battalion Band, playing the Fifth-avenue March; Oxford Rifles Band, Woodstock, playing the Victoria March; the E. B. Eddy Band, Hull, playing the Artists' March; Galt Citizens' Band, playing the 10th Regiment March; and Brantford Citizens' Band, marching to the music of the Merry Gleaners.

The prize in this marching competition was a gold-headed ebony baton, donated by Davis & McCulloch, and Judge Rogers awarded it to the Band of the 48th Highlanders.

At the conclusion of the competition a procession was formed, headed by Peel's Band, Hamilton, and the march to Dundurn Park commenced. At this pretty resort fully 4000 people had gathered to listen to the competition between the second-class bands, the following being entered: 77th Battalion Band, Dundas; Oxford Rifles Band, Woodstock; The E. B. Eddy Band, Hull; Citizens' Band, Galt; and C.O.F. and Citizens' Band, Brantford. W. B Rogers was the judge, and each band was obliged to play two selections. The immense crowd manifested a deep interest in the competition, which proved keen and close.

The first prize, $300, was carried off by the Seventy-seventh Battalion Band of Dundas; second prize, $150, was won by Woodstock Citizens' Band; Galt Citizens' Band captured third prize, $100; fourth prize, $60, was awarded the E. B. Eddy & Company Band of Hull; and fifth prize, $40, was received by the Brantford Citizens'.

Judge Rogers said he was somewhat surprised at the excellence of the bands, but he had slight fault to find with the tempo of the selections and intonation of all the bands.

The prizes were presented by Ald. Colquhoun in the unavoidable absence of Mayor Tuckett.

After the result of the two afternoon events had been made known, W. B. Rogers, accompanied by the Thirteenth Regiment Band, played a cornet solo in the most skilful manner, and the first day of the tournament was brought to a close by the combined bands playing "Nearer My God to Thee," beautifully arranged by George Robinson, bandmaster of the 13th Regiment Band.

THAT IMMENSE LOCK.

The New U. S. Government Lock at Sault Ste. Marie Was Formally Opened Yesterday.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Aug. 3.—The new 800-foot Government lock was informally opened this morning at 10 o'clock, when the upper gates were opened and Government boats Hancock and Andy Johnson and the river and harbor tug Antelope entered. The boats were crowded with invited guests, and 2000 spectators congregated on either side of the big lock to witness the event. The craft in the harbor had all of their bunting flying, and as the boats went on to the lock there was a pandemonium of whistles for at least five minutes. Intermediate and upper lock gates only were used. The chamber was filled in about 13 minutes, not all the valves being opened at first, and it was emptied in eight. The gate machinery worked well, the lower gates closing in three minutes. Col. Lydecker, Lieut. Kavanaugh and other Government engineers were on board the Hancock.

Davis Barnum, who was in charge of the car; Dennis Porter of Louisville and George Fagin of Lexington were slightly injured, and Charles Brock of Louisville was seriously injured. The horses were on the road from Freeport, Ill., to Louisville, where they were to rest preparatory to resuming their racing. Those injured were: May Queen, 7 years old, no record; Haleorker, 2.12; Sally Bronson, 2.17¼; King Henry, Minnie B., colts; Defoe, 2.15; Buster, 2.12¼. The railroad company also sustained heavy loss.

THE PATRON FACTION.

Leaders Gathering in Toronto to Arrange For the September Convention.

J. L. Haycock, M.L.A., leader of the Patrons in the Ontario House, and Grand President Mallory of the order have been at the Grand Union for a day or two arranging for the Patron convention to be held in September.

The ubiquitous Ned Farrer and Past Editor Wrigley of The Farmers' Sun dined with these officers several times.

Capt. W. L. Smith is, by the way, the new head of The Farmers' Sun, and it is understood that Dr. Goldwin Smith, who has procured a large financial interest in the re-organized organ, will be a regular contributor to the editorial columns of the paper.

THE UNITED STATES DANGER.

The Weekly Financial Review of Henry Clews & Co., New York, thus deals with the financial situation in the United States:

"The financial situation is complicated by the fact that the preliminaries to the election have developed political surprises which are profoundly unsettling. Previous to the conventions, public interest centered entirely in the silver question. The Democratic Convention, however, contrary to all expectation, has sprung upon the country a set of new issues of a fundamentally threatening nature. The Chicago platform has exhibited a condition of wide-spread discontent seeking remedy in measures threatening to our institutions and hostile to the Federal Constitution. With some modification of expression, the socialistic and anarchical tendencies which have taken such deep hold across the Atlantic have found bold utterance by our party leaders. So pointedly and so violently have these tendencies found expression in the Chicago and Populist platforms as to produce wide party ruptures and introduce into politics a new set of issues of the gravest character. It would not be prudent or safe to treat this irruption of revolutionary ideas as a mere transient outbreak of ignorant discontent. It is that; but it is also something more. Lying beneath it is the great industrial revolution arising from the introduction of steam and of machine instrumentalities of production. That change has been attended with a large and universal reduction in prices, which has fallen with some inequality upon the different classes, and has been especially severe upon the farming and planting interests. The complicated operation of these causes has not been perceived or understood; and their effects have been blindly attributed to the cessation of the coinage of silver and to mere party policies. Instead of waiting until the great industrial development has worked out its beneficial results, and until all interests have found their true relations in the new conditions, the millions of the West and South who know little of economic conditions or questions, have been misled by a false diagnosis and find in the industrial revolution nothing better than an occasion for political revolution. Thus, the first effect of a great economic change is to arouse an ignorant resistance to its progress, and to defeat a higher organization within the industrial world by introducing disorganization into the political world.

This is the significance of the revolutionary tendencies in politics which have found expression at the Democratic and Populistic Conventions. Few comprehend these aspects of the situation: and therefore there is a general alarm at the signs of the times, and most men are anxiously asking—what next?"

And the circular goes on in a soothing strain to allay the panicky feeling.

"Does the situation of the hour really mean anything more than that we are going to occupy ourselves with a new set of political issues? When it takes long years of discussion to bring a sober-minded nation to revolutionize its political institutions, is it not rather premature to instantly fall into panicky alarm at the crazy utterances in the Chicago Convention? Europe is permeated with various forms of organized hostility to its existing political institutions; but have the plottings and gatherings of these malcontents ever caused a fall of one per cent. in the price of consols or rentes? A little more confidence in the stability of our institutions and in the patriotism of our citizens would save us from a great deal of needless discounting of our investments and from much needless abstention from the development of our wealth. Some of these days, we shall look back upon these current spasms of alarm and wonder how we could have so far lost our self-confidence and self-respect."

Mrs. S., says: "I had been suffering from rheumatic pains for months. Miller's Compound Iron Pills cured me."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE Chatham Planet calls the members of the "new Grit Government," "flies on the wheel." Some Opposition organs seem to think Mr. Tarte is pretty "fly," anyway—he is the fly in the Opposition ointment.

THOSE who are exploiting Sir Charles Tupper as the successor of Lord Aberdeen as Governor-General, seem to forget that we are living in Canada under a limited monarchy and that an autocracy under Sir Charles Tupper would not be according to the spirit of our constitution.

MR. TARTE is a revolutionist. He says that public business must be conducted on business principles, and what is more, he is practising what he preaches. This is so disgusting an inroad upon Conservative methods that it's no wonder the Mail and Empire regards Mr. Tarte as a most dangerous man—to the Opposition.

IT is said that Sir Oliver Mowat intends to submit for decision to a proper tribunal the question as to which has the right to to name Queen's Counsels—the federal or the local governments. If it is claimed by Sir Oliver that the right rests with the Federal Government, it is probable that the decision will be the first in support of the Dominion Government's contention on a constitutional question.

THE Department of Public Works was described by the Conservatives as a great spending department. In practice they made the definition fit; under Mr. Tarte and Liberal government it has already won the title of a great saving department. Mr. Tarte has already saved by revoking orders-in-council directing illicit payment of the public funds, more than twice the amount needed to pay the salaries of the entire Cabinet for a year.

THE last Parliament was in existence five years and five months—the Conservative Government hung on to office as long as possible, and they will very probably hang off a good deal longer than they imagine. The people had good cause for giving them dismissal, and the more departmental affairs are investigated the greater the evidence of corruption, waste, extravagance and incompetence, and the greater justification is afforded for the popular verdict of the 23rd of June.

THE Montreal Gazette insists that the Government should revise the tariff, which means, says the Herald, that the Gazette's friends, the combinsters, should not be allowed to plead their case before their new judges. The Liberal Government has promised to give the combinsters a chance. It is willing to give every man a chance—farmer, workingman, manufacturer and others. It has determined to devote just six months to the purposes of enquiry. The Conservative Government of '78 took that much time to frame the National Policy. The Conservative Government of '93 consumed a year in revising it. The Gazette alone insists that another revision could be effected in a day.

THE Brantford Expositor has adopted THE EXAMINER'S nomenclature, pronouncing Mr. Laurier's policy the "Rational Policy." Anent this the Expositor says: "A rational policy is the true national policy. It means not merely lessening taxation as the result of retrenchment, but adding to the population of the country those who will increase its wealth and share its burdens. Increasing taxation and stationary population have paralysed Canada; the advent of a new regime with new ideas, new motives and a new policy has already sent new lifeblood coursing through the body politic and replaced the gloom of despair by the light of hope. Much may reasonably be expected from the "Rational Policy."

WHO IS MARY SMITH?

She Said She Was From Canada and Tried to Suicide in a Hotel in Newark, N.J.

New York, Aug. 3.—A woman registered yesterday at the Park Hotel, Newark, N.J., as Mary Smith. She said she was from Canada. She attempted to commit suicide first by asphyxiating herself, and, this failing, by hanging. She was found unconscious and removed to a hospital, where it was said to-night there were strong hopes of her recovery. A. M. Bishop, a New Haven lawyer, discovered Miss Smith. She was his client, and he intimated that she was wealthy. Lawyer Bishop declared that no expense would be spared in treating the woman at the hospital. He admitted that she had threatened to commit suicide, but he would not give her reasons for her desire to end her life. He said he had been summoned to Newark by a telegram sent by her.

Burned at Sea.

Manilla, Aug. 3.—The British ship Flora P. Stafford, Captain Smith, from Newcastle, N.S.W., April 22, for this port, caught fire at sea and was abandoned on June 8, in lat. 6N., long. 130E. Four of her crew are missing. The Flora P. Stafford was a Nova Scotia ship, her hailing port being Windsor, where she was owned by C. S. Smith. She was 189 feet long, 40 feet beam and 24 feet deep. She was of 1234 tons burden.

Korns. Korns.

There are more than one sort of korns. Some korns is planted in the ground and the other sort don't need planting; they grow quite naturally on men's toes and don't need hoeing. This kind of korn has two sorts—one gentle or tender like until Bill Jones steps on your foot, when it gets boiling and swears like everything; the other is hard headed and makes a row all the time, especially when your boots are on. I don't like korns and use the extracting medicine, Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, which removes them painlessly in twenty-four hours.

HAD BEEN DEAD FOR DAYS.

The Body of James McDonald of Petrolea Found Yesterday.

Petrolea, Ont., Aug. 3.—The body of a man was found in the upper floor of J. & J. Kerr's paint shop about half-past 2 this afternoon. Chief Jackson was notified and went to the place. He found James McDonald, a noted house painter, lying on his right side, with his head resting on a block of wood; body straight, showing no signs of a struggle. The deceased was reclining as if asleep, but on close examination and the odor from the body it was clear that he had been for some days dead. The man died from heart failure.

COMMENDABLE PROMPTITUDE.

A Resident of St. John, N.B., Makes a Successful Trial of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

St. John, N.B., Aug. 3—Mr. Robt. Moore, residing in Indiantown, a suburb of this city, has recently made what is allowed by all who are acquainted with the facts to be a most remarkable recovery. He has been a sufferer from a serious complaint of the kidneys for over seven years, and during that time has suffered excruciatingly. He has also suffered considerably in pocket, having paid large sums for medical advice. Quite recently he happened to read of the many cures effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and with commendable promptitude made a trial of them, with the result that after taking three boxes of the remedy he was entirely restored to health.

That hacking, persistent cough can be quickly cured by using Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It cures all throat and and lung troubles.

OUR EXPORT TRADE.

The Total for the Past Fiscal Year is Two Millions Above the Record Since Confederation.

Ottawa, Aug. 3.—(Special.)—The quarterly blue book issued by the Department of Trade and Commerce has just been distributed. It contains the unrevised returns of the exports and imports for the fiscal year 1895-6. These are the same as were published a fortnight ago, but comparison of the previous year's export returns, as compiled from month to month, with these given in the Trade and Navigation Blue Book, shows the latter to be greater by about $3,200,000, and the latter are the officially revised returns This difference is due to the practice adopted in the Customs Department of adding a certain percentage to cover the amount estimated to be returned short at the several outports in Quebec and Ontario during the year. Now the unrevised statement shows the exports during 1895-96 to have been $118,140,504. To this will be added about $2,400,000 for unreported exports to the States in the two provinces mentioned, which will bring the total export for the fiscal year up to $121,540,000, which is by nearly two million dollars the largest on record since Confederation. The revision of these returns will alter the figures but slightly, not enough certainly to affect the general result. The percentage which is added to cover unreported exports was arrived at by a series of comparisons of our reported exports with the United States' return of imports from Canada, the latter being invariably about two and a quarter per cent. in excess. This discrepancy between our account of what we send to the States and the U.S. returns of what they import from Canada is due to the fact that, whereas our small exports are not reported, the Americans look sharply after every dollar's worth imported, so as to secure the duty.

There will be a meeting of the Executive of the Dominion Rifle Association here on Wednesday evening, and one of the most important matters to be dealt with is the ammunition to be used at the annual prize meeting, which commences Aug. 31. A member of the Executive said yesterday that there were three classes of ammunition to choose from, the Canadian ammunition of 1894 make and the Imperial makes of 1895 and 1896. The 1895 ammunition is the output of the Royal Laboratory. Only one description will be used, so that all competitors will be on even terms so far as the ammunition is concerned. The meeting of 1896 promises to be the biggest on record.

LOVE LEADS TO MURDER.

One Boy at Findlay, O., Shoots His Rival For a Young Lady's Hand.

Findlay, Ohio, Aug. 3.—George Miles, aged 13, was shot and killed by Amos Decker, aged 18, in this city this evening, and a large posse of officers and excited citizens are pursuing the murderer, who escaped to the country on horseback. The crime was so deliberate that Decker will hardly escape the fullest penalty if captured by the pursuing officers. Decker and Miles were rivals for the hand of a young lady, and the feeling between them was very bitter.

THEY FEIGNED INSANITY.

How Two Members of the Notorious Dalton Gang of Arkansas Made Their Escape From Officers.

Washington, Aug. 3.—The alleged lasane convicts named Cheney and Cidwell have escaped from the Government Asylum on the outskirts of the city. They were members of the notorious Dalton gang of Arkansas. Cheney had been sentenced to 24 years and Cidwell to four in King's County, N.Y., Penitentiary. They were both supposed to be suffering from melancholia and were brought here for treatment in charge of a warden and two deputies of the penitentiary. While they were in the hall of the hospital and the papers were being examined the shackles were removed by the deputy. Cheney promptly took advantage of the fact and jumped out of a window and Cidwell followed, leaping through another window. Cheney was captured yesterday, but Cidwell has not been caught. The impression is that the melancholia was simulated with a view to escape.

ITS FAME SPREADING.

A New Remedy in General Use in Manitoba and the Northwest.

WINNIPEG, July 27th—The effects of the regular wave of sickness which sweeps over this portion of the Dominion in the spring are noticeable in the increasing amount of the druggists' sales. There has been quite a run on the kidney remedy now so well known under the name of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The recovery from Bright's disease of Mr. Arthur Coley, of Somerset, through their use, an account of which appeared in the papers, gave a considerable impetus to the sale, and the remedy has become indispensable in many Manitoba households, its fame having penetrated into the remotest parts of the province and Northwest Territories.

MR. TARTE'S ELECTION

The Hon. Gentleman Goes in Without Opposition.

LARGE GATHERING AT ST. JOHNS.

The Minister of Public Works Addresses the Multitude in Stirring Terms—Shows Up the Corruption Which Has Permeated the Department Over Which He Presides.

St. John, Que., Aug. 3.—A large number of the electors gathered here today to hear the Hon. J. I. Tarte, Minister of Public Works, discuss the political situation. No opposition was offered, and after all the legal requirements had been complied with and he was declared elected by acclamation for St. John and Iberville, the Minister made a splendid speech. He went fully into the record of the late Minister of the Public Works Department, and reiterated the charges made recently in Knowlton. He charged that the late Minister had committed political frauds in connection with the Connolly, the Murray and Cleveland, and the Charlebois claims. Mr. Tarte said he had it on the evidence of the engineers, Messrs. Coster and Munro, quite recently, that though Connolly had put in a claim of $70,000, the Department did not owe him $8000; and that not one cent was due to Murray and Cleveland.

Mr. Tarte asserted that $2000 had been spent by the Department during the late campaign in corrupting the electors of Ottawa, $500 having been paid for moving a little shed, and $1500 for digging a little drain.

Mr Tarte, in the course of his peech, took occasion to deny the statement made by La Patrie of Montreal, on Saturday, that Hon. Mr. Laurier was about to send a delegate to Winnipeg to treat with the Roman Catholics on the school question.

Before concluding, the hon. gentleman spoke regarding the large Government majority in Quebec, and said that Hon. Mr. Laurier occupied the same position at the head of the province as did Sir George Cartier. He would, while carefully guarding the rights of his native province, see to it that justice was done to the other provinces of the Dominion.

Hon. Mr. Tarte made the announcement that the Premier would visit England this fall, and took occasion to eulogize his leader, who, he claimed, was, after Mr. Gladstone, the greatest parliamentary orator of the day.

Mr. Tarte's speech was a most able effort, and he was frequently cheered during its delivery, loud and prolonged applause greeted him as he resumed his seat.

AT SHOEBURYNESS.

The Canadian Artillery Men Are Keeping Up Their End in Good Style as Far as the Competition Has Gone.

Shoeburyness Camp, Aug. 3.—A good deal of interest centres in the artillery competition taking place here, and it will be gratifying to Canadians to know that the representatives of the Dominion are keeping up their end as far as the contest has gone.

The program includes group firing, No. 1 Garrison Artillery Competition (ranging); No. 6, G.A. competition (a shift); No. 5, position artillery competition (disabled ordnance). Capt. Myles is in command of this event. His men are: Sergt.-Major Spry, Sergts. Lawlor, Balfour, Wilkinson, Hood, Spence, Morrison, Theakstone, Warring, Corp. Weir and Gunner Bramah. The last two were drivers. The time allowed was five minutes and the team did the work in 5 minutes 30 seconds. They were loudly applauded on finishing.

In the Shoeburyness repository competition, which took place to-day, and which consisted of the dismounting of a 64 pounder, its removal to a distance, and its remounting upon a new carriage, the maximum time allowance for the work being 15 minutes, the Canadian Artillery team completed the task in 14 minutes 49 seconds. The Canadians were heartily cheered for their rapid work. Only two teams succeeded in removing and remounting the gun in less time than that done by the foreign teams. The presence of the Canadian artillery is drawing an unusually large attendance to the competition.

The Canadian team is as follows: Lieut.-Col. Cole, 2nd Garrison Artillery, is commandant, and Capt. Myles, Toronto Field Battery, is adjutant. Sergt.-Instructor Bridgeford, R.C.A., Quebec; Bomb. William Nott, R.C.A., Quebec; Gunner Jos. Rousseau, R.C.A., Quebec; Gunner A. Bramah, R.C.A., Kingston; Sergt. J. H. Marshan, 1st Regiment C.A., Halifax; Sergt. W. H. Theakstone, 1st Regiment C. A., Halifax; Sergt.-Major W. Fellows, 2nd Regiment C.A., Montreal; Q. M. Sergt. W. A. McGuinness, 2nd Regiment C. A., Montreal; Sergt. And. P. Morrison, 2nd Regiment C.A., Montreal; Bomb. John J. Dickson, 2nd Regiment C.A., Montreal; Sergt. R. W. E. Gillis, 2nd Regiment C.A., Montreal; Corp. T. J. McGowan, 3rd Regiment C.A., St. John, N.B.; Bomb. J. A. Pollock, 3rd Regiment C.A., St. John, N.B.; Sergt. M. H. Sprague, 4th Regiment C.A., P.E. Island; Sergt.-Major J. C. Cornish, 5th Regiment C.A., Victoria, B.C.; Sergt. J. A. Thomas, 5th Regiment C. A., Victoria, B.C.; Bomb. W. H. Lettice, 5th Regiment C.A., Victoria, B.C.; Sergt.-Major A. K. Van Horne, Yarmouth Company, Yarmouth; Q. M. Sergt. T. A. Hood, 2nd Field Battery, Ottawa; Corp. Weir, 2nd Field Battery, Ottawa; Sergt. R. Balfour, 7th Field Battery, Welland Canal; Sergt.-Major James Spry, 8th Field Battery, Toronto; Sergt. T. W. Lawlor, 12th Field Battery, Newcastle; Sergt. T. C. Spence, 16th Field Battery, Guelph; Sergt. Wilkinson, 16th Field Battery, Guelph; Sergt. John Warring, 4th Field Battery, Hamilton.

DEAR EDITOR:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail, in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak, shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness, I promise you perfect secrecy and do not wish to expose myself either, address, simply: P. PICKED UP IN MID-OCEAN.

The Steamship La Bourgogne Had Quite a Time Rescuing the Crew of the Wrecked Barque Ernest.

Quarantine, S.I., Aug. 2.—The French Line steamer La Bourgogne, from Havre, arrived at quarantine this morning with the crew of the German barque Ernest, taken from that vessel in mideocean. On July 28 the Ernest was sighted, showing signals of distress. The La Bourgogne was headed toward the Ernest in order to render assistance. The wind was blowing a strong breeze from the west and the sea was heavy and exceedingly ugly. Lieut. M. Motay, in charge of a lifeboat, was sent to ascertain the trouble. In lowering the boat the falls unhooked, and a huge wave washed the lieutenant overboard. After considerable delay and difficulty, the lieutenant was picked up. In the meantime a second boat was lowered in charge of Third Lieutenant M. Beupter, and both boats proceeded to the wreck, and after several trips the captain and eleven seamen were rescued. The La Bourgogne resumed her voyage after a delay of four hours. The abandoned vessel was the barque Ernest, Captain Ahrens, from Carnarvon, for Shediac, N.B., in ballast. She had ten feet of water in the hold.

"Mamma, was that a sugar-plum you just gave me?" asked little Mabel. "No, dear, it was one of Dr. Ayer's Pills." "Please, may I have another?" "Not now, dear, one of those nice pills is all you need at present, because every dose is effective."

It gives a stylish chic effect to skirts, sleeves or wraps, which is not only graceful but lasting. Neither crushing, moisture or long wear will spoil its splendid stiffness, and it is so light in weight that it suits equally well your filmy summer gowns or heavy outing suits—never adding a burden to oppress you in hot weather.

You may wear out the dress, but you can't wear out the style when you use the genuine Fibre Chamois with the Red Star label on each yard.

MR. DAN HENNESSY'S BROTHER WAS NOT MURDERED.

The Descriptions of the Two Men Do Not Tally in the Least.

It will be remembered that Mr. Daniel Hennessy, of town, received word some time ago of the murder of his brother in Topeka, and his many friends will be pleased to know that enquiry reveals the fact that the man who was murdered is no relation whatever, although he bears the same name as Mr. Hennessy.

The appended letter, which clears up all doubts in the matter, has just been received by Mr. Hennessy, who is greatly relieved, as the description does not in any particular apply to his brother:—

Mr. Daniel Hennessy.

DEAR SIR,—Yours of June 20th received, asking full particulars of Joseph Hennessy, and I want to say right here that it must have been delayed somewhere or you would have received your answer sooner. Joseph Hennessy was a single man about 35 years of age. He was a small man and said he weighed only 125 pounds. His complexion was sallow, hair nearly black and had blue eyes. His occupation was anything he could find to do, but seemed to prefer working about hotel or restaurant kitchens—on account of his rheumatism he could not have his feet damp. He said he was raised on a farm near Peterborough. He has told me how many brothers and sisters he had but I do not remember. He also told me he was away some years and went back again, but I do not remember the date. I believe what he told me about it and if you ever had a brother Joseph who was a wanderer, he is the one. If you did not then there must be another Hennessy family near Peterborough.

I will enclose another account, cut from a paper that was sent to us by some one who must have known of his being here.

In religion he was raised a Catholic, but the hard life he has lived and knocking about in a cold, inhospitable world, often without food or a place to sleep, has caused him to become a disbeliever in any religion.

I do not know of anything else that you will wish to know. If I can give you any more information I will gladly do so.

C.P.R. CAR SHOPS.

New Construction Shops Said to be in Contemplation — Why not Have Them in Peterborough?

A report states that the C.P.R. has in contemplation the erection of large shops for the manufacture of their own rolling shops. It is stated further that Mr. Shaughnessey and Mr. Abbs, master car-builder, have been visiting several points that seemed to afford suitable sites. The report is of Toronto origin, and of course it points to the possibility of Toronto Junction being the point selected.

Would it not be advisable for the manufacturers' committee of the town council in conjunction with the proper committee of the Board of Trade to look into the matter and urge Peterborough's advantages as a site for such works. Perhaps the options that were secured on considerable property in the west end about two years ago might be renewed. Peterborough would be a splendid site for the new C. P. R. car shops if they are to be built.

BALL AND CHAIN GANG.

The Mayor Would Like to put Some of the Tramps to Work.

It goes hard with a tramp if he comes before Mayor Yelland. Yesterday afternoon at a special session of the police court one of the gentry for assaulting the cook in the C.P.R. boarding car, was sentenced to six months in the Central, whilst his two companions will each put in a month at the county goal.

His worship was inquiring last night if a chain and ball could not be attached to the legs of some of these worthless specimens of humanity whilst they were put to work on the streets with a taskmaster and whip to drive them, as is done across the border. A special act of parliament, however, would be needed to legalize action of this kind, wholesome though it might be.

Of later sorts the yield will be much below the average, and altogether insufficient to affect our requirements from your side, and our London markets should be prepared to receive fruit from America and Canada at a much earlier date than for many years past.

GRAND CONVENTION OF IRELAND'S SONS

TO BE HELD IN DUBLIN IN SEPTEMBER.

Enthusiastic Meeting of Local Irishmen —Addresses on the Subject — List of Delegates Selected — Object of the Convention.

At the Catholic Association rooms last night a meeting of the Irishmen of Peterborough and vicinity was held for the purpose of appointing delegates to the grand convention of Irishmen to be held in Dublin on Sept. 1st.

There was a large and enthusiastic attendance. Ven, Archdeacon Casey occupied the chair.

Speeches in regard to the significance of the great gathering were made by the Chairman, Rev. Father Fitzpatrick and Messrs. Cahill, Quinlan and others. The remarks expressed sympathy with the movement.

Resolutions were adopted, voicing the fullest sympathy of the meeting with the objects and aims of the Federation, namely the restoration of unity in the Irish Parliamentary Party, and the restoration of the confidence of Irishmen throughout the world in that party and the renewal of their support.

Then came the election of delegates and the following gentlemen were selected: His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, Ven. Archdeacon Casey, and Messrs. Cahill, Quinlan, J. Dolan, M. Coughlin, M Riley, Wm. Clurton, R. B. McKee, L. M. Hayes and Dr. McGrath.

A meeting will be shortly held to make final arrangements for the visit of the delegates.

In regard to the convention the New York Sun's London correspondent says:—I have been authorised to make an announcement which contains the only hope of the revival of the cause of self-government for Ireland. It is welcome news that a genuine, earnest effort will be made at Dublin, a month hence, to harmonize all factions in the ranks of the Irish Nationalists. Messrs. Dillon, Healey, Redmond, and all their followers are willing to admit that there is no hope of the accomplishment of the object for which all are supposed to be striving until the disputes which have divided them since the death of Mr. Parnell, are abandoned and their forces are united under a single leadership once more. It is, of course, impossible to gain this fusion without important personal and other concessions on all sides. These concessions the great majority of the Irish Nationalists are not only ready but anxious to make. They will make them at the convention to be held next month in Dublin. Meantime the preliminary announcement of their purpose is contained in the following statement prepared by Mr. John Dillon, after consultation with his associates, and handed to me for publication in the United States and Canada.

The National Convention, which is to meet at Dublin on Sept. 1, was summoned with a view of affording an opportunity to all who desire unity restored among the Irish Nationalists, to come together and to lay down a platform in support of which Irish Nationalists throughout the world might act together. With that object in view the proposals for the convention were made so wide as to embrace all Irish Nationalists who desire to give a fair trial to the constitutional methods. It is now manifest, so far as Ireland and the Irishmen in Great Britain are concerned, the convention will be the most representative which has assembled since the split of 1891, and it will have, as compared with previous conventions the advantage of the presence at its deliberations of many representative Irishmen from other parts of the world. Its decisions must, therefore, have great weight with the Irish race and lasting influence on the future of the Irish movement.

The convention was not summoned in the interests of any section or of any individual, as is plainly shown by the rules which have been laid down for the admission of delegates, under which every organized body of Irishmen, who are sympathizers with the home rule movement, have a right to be represented. Clergymen of all denominations and all representative Nationalists, delegated by the votes of their fellow citizens, are entitled to attend. The Parnellite party have also been invited to take part in making arrangements for the convention. For my own part, if, at the convention or subsequently, as a result of its readings, any man can be agreed upon under whose chairmanship all the Irish Nationalist members of Parliament would unite, I should, as I have always stated, be most willing to support him in the office. It seems to me that if any section of Irish Nationalists decline to take part in this convention the duty will be thrown upon them of stating to their countrymen how, in their judgment, that reunion can be effected in the national ranks which is of the first importance to the progress of the national cause.

"I shall not undertake to prophesy what the result of the overtures from the most numerous section of the Irish Nationalists in Parliament will do. I wish to emphasize th fact that this peace movement is genuine and sincere, and that any faction which resists it will assume a grave responsibility before the Irish race. It may, perhaps, resolve itself into a question of personal leadership, and it must be admitted that the difficulties will be great, because there exists no commanding figure, in or out of Parliament, to which all factions can turn. There is some talk of inducing Mr. Sexton to return to politics as a compromise leader of the consolidated forces, but the so-called Dillon party, who are in the van of the peace movement, have no candidate to propose."

Books to Sell!

Thousands of them, representing all classes of literature. We'd rather sell them all than buy new ones. Don't care if we had to buy the same over again—we like to be buying and selling. So, for the fun of the thing, we're going to sell five times as many books next week as we have sold this. Hence these prices:—7c, 10c, 12½c, 15c, 17c, 20c, 25c. Peterborough Bookstore.

Coal Advanced.

Owing to the state of the coal market in the United States, we are compelled to advance coal to $5.75 per ton for August delivery. Ours is the purest hard coal mined, being free from sulphur, iron and slate, burns to a white ash, and lasts as long, if not longer than any coal on the market. A coal dealer who sold some of our coal last season in town and claims to have some left over, is offering it at $5.50. If the coal is our coal, we advise the people of Peterborough to take this coal from him, it is cheap, and is better coal and will give better satisfaction than the coal he is selling at $6 per ton. August Prices.

August is the last month of Summer—the end of the clearing-out season when Summer Goods must give way to Fall Stocks. We cannot afford to carry over one season's goods to the next. We must keep a perennial freshness about our store. For these reasons, you can understand how it comes that you can buy anything in our summer lines just now with very little consideration for what it cost us. Take Wall Paper for instance. An ordinary Wall Paper advertisement in August is about as unlooked for as snow in August. People have almost stopped buying and trade is at low-water mark. But there's a way to stimulate activity even in Wall Paper, and by almost giving away the goods, and doing it agreeably, we think we can crowd this store with buyers during this last of the summer months.

"What's the matter" with papering the home now instead of waiting until fall? Many families have closed up their homes and are away summering, giving a better chance for the work to be better done and without confusion and discomfort. What a pleasure it would be to return to the brightness of the newly prepared home. Now's the time! when Wall Paper can be bought for half the price it will be in the fall and when it costs less to put it on.

The Street Inspector's report was received, stating that the total amount spent on the streets during July was $1,206.00.—Received.

Councillor Moore inquired how much money would meet the requirements of the Street and Bridge Committee this year.

Councillor Langford stated that about $5,000 had already been spent, exclusive of $3,000 for the improvement of lower George street, for which provision had been made the year before. About $12 000 would be required altogether, or $15,000 inclusive of this special work.

Councillor Best stated that only $11,000 has been given the Street and Bridge Committee last year.

Councillor Moore wanted to know where the other $7,000 would be spent.

Councillors Langford and Weir both explained that considerable heavy work yet remained to be done, including a great deal of sidewalk construction.

EXPERIMENTAL PAVING.

The Street and Bridge Committee recommended as follows through its chairmain, Councillor Langford :

1. That this committee be authorized to put down sample pieces of concrete sidewalks around the town buildings and at one or two other points.

2. Also that the town purchase the gravel from the cellar of a house to be built on McDonel street by Robert McGregor for W. H. Manning and pay therefor 20 cents a yard, the gravel to be delivered where required under the direction of the Street Inspector.

3. Your committee, having received a report from the Town Engineer in regard to the bridge over the creek on George street, and acting on his opinion that the contractor is not responsible for the break in the north wall, recommend that Robert Grant be paid the balance of the contract price for constructing the bridge.

4. That the Engineer be instructed to give a sketch plan of a glance pier to guide the water more directly into the opening of the bridge on George street, with an estimate of the cost of constructing it.

5. In reference to the letters of Mr. Stone on behalf of William Breckenridge and of William Collins, your committee awarded the contracts for street watering in accordance with what they believed to be the interests of the town and see no reason for further action. The Street Inspector has instructions to divide the town's teaming work among the owners of teams so far as is can be done

6. We recommend a narrow sidewalk be laid on the east and west sides of Louis street.

—Adopted.

Mr. Best and Mr. Moore suggested in regard to experimental paving, that vitrified brick be also experimented with. The idea was to experiment to see at what cost the work could be done by local labour.

Councillor W. H. White asked if the contractor was not responsible for the George street bridge job, who was ?

Councillor Langford explained that the Committee had gone down to the bridge and gone under it on a raft. By probing with a rod it was ascertained that the bottom at one corner under the abutment had been washed out by the spring freshet. The contractor, he thought, could not be blamed under the circumstances.

Mr. Best stated that the foundations had not been laid deep enough. As the contractor pointed out at the time piles should have been used.

Councillor Moore thought that last year's Council was entitled to the censure of the town for allowing a bridge to be built with so narrow a span—a span which, situated at the mouth of the creek, should have been the widest was the narrowest of any bridge over the creek by five or ten feet. This was done against the advice of the town engineer, and was a bad piece of engineering.

Councillor Best's explanation of the matter was that it was found impossible to get girders twenty-five feet in length of more than fifty pound weight to the foot. This was not thought to be strong enough to bear the street railway, and as the Central Bridge Works had girders twenty feet in length and of the weight of 100 lbs to the foot they were taken.

The discussion completely exonerated the town engineer from any blame in the matter, as it was not upon his specifications that the bridge was built, his plans calling for a span of twenty five feet.

FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT.

The Fire, Water and Light Committee recommended through Councillor W. H. White, in the absence of the chairman :—

1. That the Gas Company be requested to disconnect the gas mains from all gas lamps standing on the streets, in order that the lamps may be removed.

2. It was also recommended that the drivers of the fire teams be given a week's holidays.

3. The committee received tenders for a new contract for street lighting, but desired further time before making a recommendation to the council.

Adopted.

THE LICENSE COMMITTEE, through Councillor Weir, in the absence of its chairman, Councillor Hughes, recommended :—

That a refund of $15.00 be given Frank Anthony, on the license fee of peddling paid by him, and that refunds of $20.00 each be given to Nicholas Minicola and Frank Leplante on the peddler license fees paid by them, and that cheques for these amounts be issued.

Adopted.

THE SEWERAGE COMMITTEE,

through Councillor Best, the Chairman, recommended :—

1. That all persons having drains connecting with the George street sewer shall disconnect them when notified by the Town Engineer or Inspector of Sewers so to do, and shall keep them disconnected until notified by one of the officers named that they are ready for use. This will be necessary whilst these drains are being prepared for connection with the new sewer.

2. That the Town Engineer be instructed to close portions of George street to traffic, as required, while the sewer is being constructed and to put up notices as well as barriers to keep traffic off the portions of the street so closed.

—Adopted.

BY-LAWS.

Councillor Moore introduced a by-law to exempt farm lands in the corporation from taxation for certain expenditures. The by-law received its several readings and was passed.

NEW PAVEMENTS.

Councillor Moore thought that if experiments were to be made in regard to the laying of new pavements that Councillors Langford and Best be a committee to visit other towns with the object of seeing what success had attended the laying of granolithic pavements. Mr. Moore put his suggestion in the form of a motion, which was seconded by Councillor Weir and carried.

Councillors W. H. White and Best moved that the Waterworks Company be instructed to place a fire hydrant on Albert street as petitioned for, about half way up the street.

Referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

Councillor Best and W. H. White moved that the Water Company be instructed to continue their pipes along Lock street and place a hydrant on the corner of Lake and Romaine streets, as passed by the council of 1892 and 1894—Carried.

Councillors Moore and Sawers moved that when the council adjourned it be for two weeks. He wished to have the council together to consider the estimates. The lighting of the streets could also be considered at the same time—Carried.

THE VILLAGE FATHERS.

Meeting of the Ashburnham Council Last Evening.

There was barely a quorum present at the meeting of the village council last evening, the members in attendance being Reeve Burnham and Councillors Johnston and Craig.

COMMUNICATIONS

were received and disposed of as follows :

From R. Hamilton and others asking that Elizabeth street be watered from the Otonabee bridge to Stewart street. — Received.

A BROWNIE LEGEND FOR LITTLE FOLK.

"I spy, I spy, Brownie Buttonbowl
"Last spied is "it." I touch goal,
"I spy, I spy, Brownie Pigeon wit,
"Home free! Home free!
"Brownie Bunch is "it"
"One, two, three, ready, ready, ready-y-y
"If you're ready you must be caught,
"All around the goal or not!"

Saucy Brownie Nimbletoes with a sly wink
Hides in a mushroom fringe of the palest pink;
His wee "brither brownies," playing many a freak;
Peep from goldy buttercups, smiley and sleek,
"One, two, three, ready, ready, ready-y-y
If you're ready you must be caught,
All around the goal or not!"

Through the misty morning fields comes an egress-bag,
Old Mother Goosey Gander with a paper bag,
She deftly picks the mushrooms juicy with the dew,
Would you believe it she picks the brownie too!
One, two, three, ready, ready, read-y-y,
Alas, alas, I tell you what,
It's not around the goal he's caught!

When her bag is full to market she goes
With her crisp nice mushrooms and brownie Nimbletoes,
There she tempting spreads them out upon a stall,
Thus she frees the brownie from his prison thrall.
One, two, three, ready, ready, read-y-y,
It was too bad! The dreadful thought
Makes him so vexed that he was caught!

So he cuts a caper with a wicked grin
And with a button mushroom he hits her on the chin
Puts his naughty tongue out as far as it would go
Just to show the mushroom he didn't care, you know!
One, two, three, ready, ready, read-y-y,
He will take good care that he will not
Again in such a way be caught!

With a final somersault, then he flies away
Back to the burnies where the brownies were at play
That they may wreak their spite in trickery galore
By hatching future mischief at Goosey Gander's door.
One, two, three, ready, ready, read-y-y,
Ready or not then shall be caught—
Whether she likes the fun or not!

But he finds his "brithers" sitting in a row,
On a prickly thistle leaf the picture of woe,—
Sees such huge tears dropping from their faces wan
For their missing Nimbletoes they are so woe-begone.
One, two, three, ready, ready, read-y-y,
They're not ready, they won't be caught
All around the goal or not.

But those tears soon vanish, and their hearts grow light,
With hop, step and jump, Lo! he comes again in sight
They shriek at his grimaces of lordly disdain
To mend their woes they are playing soon at hide and seek again.
"One, two, three, ready, ready, read-y-y,
If you're ready you must be caught,
All around the goal or not!"

A Shameful Practice.

Many tooth preparations contain substances that speedily destroy the enamel and beauty of the teeth. For this reason the greatest care should be exercised in the selection of a dentrifice. Ivorine for the teeth is offered with the assurance that it is absolutely free from any objectionable ingredients. An admirable cleanser is Ivorine, imparting dazzling whiteness to the teeth, firmness to the gums, and renders the breath sweet and fragrant.
